Edward Singer is deputy state fire warden for this district, and a part of his duties is to investigate the cause and origin of any fires that occur in his district to the state Fire Marshall. Ed. was present at the Singer fire on Oct. 13th, 1914, but had not made any report of this fire up to Dec. 7th, 1916. Shoot a report out of you Ed so the people will know just how that house caught fire twice the same day. We have heard that it caught from rags and water, and we would like a report of how the water caught on fire a few hours after the rags caught on fire, as we want this evidence to use on the part of the defendant in them three cases that you and the worthy sire of a worthy son commenced against us last June.

DRAINAGE PLANS.

Plans for the straightening and deepening of the Red Lake river from the outlet of the lakes to Thief River Falls were presented by O. L. Dent of Bemidji at the Thief River Falls drainage meeting embodying also the construction of a retaining dam at the outlet of the lake, the cost of which was estimated to be about $300,000.

This sum it is proposed to divide equally in four parts. The power interests, the river and harbor interest, the state of Minnesota and the lands of the white man and the Indian—each of the latter bearing an eighth.

Water power interests were represented at the meeting and to a certain extent indicated that they would be willing to stand a share of the expense, but that they could not afford a quarter of the cost. Senator D. P. O'Neill then advocated that if he could influence the state legislature he would do so to the end that if the undeveloped water power rights refused to pay their just share, then these rights should be taken from them and revert to the people.—Oklee Herald.

While we have been bitterly opposed to any farther assessment against the settlers lands for drainage purposes, yet an assessment of this kind would be so light that it would scarcely be felt, and the benefits to be derived so great that it would not be for our best interests to oppose it. We speak from a tax payers stand point, as we have three hundred and two acres of land liable to assessment, and there is only one acre of it that can in any way be lost or badly affected by Red Lake River floods. But we desire to remain in and make our home in Pennington county, and do not propose to stand idly by and see our neighbors drowned out of the country, if there is any possible way to prevent it. We must all unite and pull together now, as this is a critical time for the future wellfare of this part of northern Minnesota.

THE SAFETY HABIT

you know the Railroads are talking a good deal these days about the "Safety Habit." It is not a safety razor or a safety bicycle, It's safety for the lives intrusted to their care.

The principle applies to the banking business. Our bank employes the Safety Habit at the outset-safety to the depositors money intrusted to our care. Every dollar left with us will be taken care of. Safety is our watch word. We would like to have your account on this basis.

SHORT COURSE.

The annual short course of the Thief River Falls High School will open on Monday, Jan. 8th, at the Lincoln building, and will continue in session three months.

The character of the work will be practical and immediately applicable to affairs of every day life. The studies offered will be reading, spelling, penmanship, business English and correspondence, practical and business arithmetic, agriculture for boys with special emphasis on stock breeding and judging, sewing for girls, farm law, elementary accounting, manual training. The instruction will be given by a special teacher, assisted by the industrial teachers in the school.

The course is open to all persons over sixteen years of age, regardless of their former standing in school, but no student regularly enrolled in the local schools this year can transfer to the Short Course. It serves its best purpose and can accomplish the greatest good for those young men and women who have not attended school for several years and who now feel the need of some practical school training.

There is no expense; everything is free to all comers.

Only one school in the state had a larger Short Course enrollment than Thief River Falls and it is hoped that the 1917 class will be as large.

It is desired that those who intend enrolling notify the undersigned as soon as possible. Rooms and board can be secured at reasonable rates.

What's Doing in Minnesota

Stillwater.—Forty men, employes of the Connolly Shoe factory, went on a strike here, following a disagreement with officials over a wage contract.

Albany.—Four men are in jail and the police are searching for two more as a result of an assault on John Brinkman, village marshal, when the officer attempted to arrest one of them.

Brainerd. — Pouring kerosene on a kitchen fire resulted in serious burns to Mrs. J. W. Sewell here. With the aid of her children, Mrs. Sewell wrapped rugs about herself, stifling the flames.

Mankota.—Topics of vital interest to the medical profession were discussed by prominent speakers at the annual meeting of the Southern Minnesota Medical association, which was held here last week.

Minneapolis. — Minnesota farmers were urged to grow more apples by C. S. Harrison of York, Neb., and E. G. Lee of St. Paul, speakers at the annual meeting of the Minnesota Horticultural society at the West hotel.

Washington, D. C.—Customs receipts in the district of Minnesota, including the ports of St. Paul and Minneapolis, in November, were $53,292.64. The receipts for the district in November, 1915, were $54,831.19, showing a decrease this year of $1,538.55.

Duluth.—After working all day a party of rescuers recovered the body of Rudolph Torgrin, aged 28, who, with Miss Margaret Swendby, aged 23, was drowned in Pike Lake. "Mr. Torgrin undoubtedly sacrificed his own life in an attempt to save Miss Swendby," said Gilbert Bates.

Duluth—"I am innocent of any crime in the strike of Mesabi range miners, and so are my fellow workers. Being as innocent as they, I feel my place is with them to share their lot. So I return to prison." Schmidt was released from jail November 25, on $2,000 bonds to go to his home at Scranton, Pa., where his wife lay dangerously ill.

Brainerd.—It has been announced that James M. Elder of this city, appointed by Governor Burnquist as a member of the National River and Harbor conference in Washington, has gone to the meeting with instructions from the local Chamber of Commerce to urge that the Mississippi river be opened for navigation as far north as Grand Forks.

Minneapolis.—Laura Hintze, 16 years old, of Spring Valley, and Carl Potthoff, 12 years old, of Jordan, have been presented at the annual meeting of the State Horticultural society in the West hotel with the gold medals which the government awards annually to the two members of the Boys' and Girls' Home Garden and Canning club who make the best showing for the year.

Virginia.—An ultimatum was announced at the Industrial Workers of the World mass meeting by Elizabeth Gurley Flynn that if any of the eight defendants charged with the murder of James Myron, Duluth deputy sheriff, were convicted on any charge in the face of any evidence or circumstances, the Mesaba iron range miners would lay down their tools for 24 hours.

Thief River Falls.—C. G. Selvig of Crookston was re-elected president of the Red River Valley Dairymen's association at the final session here of the thirteenth annual convention. All the other officers of the association also were re-elected, including first vice president, J. Jensen, of Clearbrook; second vice president, A. B. Stensgaard of McIntosh; secretary, L. J. Houske of Halstad; treasurer, C. M. Davidson of Climax.

Minneapolis. — Applauding tumultuously as each of the 10 speakers privileged to extoll Dr. Cyrus Northrop, president emeritus of the University of Minnesota, paid tribute to him as an educator, scholar, builder, moulder of character and friend, at a testimonial dinner given in his honor, nearly 500 representative Minnesota men registered the esteem and appreciation they were unable individually to voice.

Bemidji, Minn.—Rejoicing over their victory in the recent election, the "fathers of Amendment No. 1" assembled here as delegates to the seventh annual meeting of the Northern Minnesota Development association. Only one element of dissatisfaction was manifest in the celebration—that the promoters had not asked for more than the $250,000 fund with which to develop Minnesota lands. President C. R. Middleton of Baudette called the convention to order.

St. Paul. — Tentatively adopting drafts of seven separate bills for introduction in the next Legislature, the State Efficiency and Economy Commission named a committee of four to put unfinished bills in shape and submit a preliminary report to Governor Burnquist, and adjourned until December 30, when it plans to finally ratify its program and begin a campaign. Chairman A. J. Rockne, L. C. Spooner, Thomas H. Girling and T. J. McGrath, make up the committee named.

Georgetown.—Two persons were killed and five others injured in two auto accidents near here, when the two machines skidded, struck the railing of a bridge near here and plunged into the creek beneath. The first accident occurred about 9 o'clock and the second about an hour later.

St. Paul.—Preparations are being made by the State Pharmaceutical association to accommodate 750 delegates to the annual convention in St. Paul, February 13 to 15. The local arrangements committee, which met at the [illegible] hotel decided on The Saint [illegible] convention headquarters.

BANKS' CONDITION NEVER WAS BETTER

STATEMENTS UNDER LATEST CALL SHOW HEALTHY GAINS IN ASSETS AND DEPOSITS.

MILLIONS NEEDED FOR "U"

Budget Tentatively Adopted by Regents for Presenation to Legislature by Governor—Provision Made for Consulting Engineer.

St. Paul.

On statements under the November 17 call showing gains of about 20 per cent in deposits and nearly 16 per cent in assets for the year, A. H. Turrittin, state superintendent of banks declared that Minnesota state banks collectively were never in more satisfactory condition.

Comparisons were made public of the statements on the recent call with those under date of November 10, 1915—almost exactly a year.

Deposits on the latest date were $210,841,522.80 or $34,152,194.60 greater than on November 10, 1916, according to the tabulation just finished. Assets totalled $243,978,727.71, showing a net increase of $36,508,757.45. The item of loans and discounts increased from $164,350,723.26 to $191,828,005.31, a gain of $27,477,282.05. Sixty-eight new state banks were chartered during the year.

Five Millions for "U."

A budget totaling $5,139,000 has been tentatively adopted by the board of regents of the University of Minnesota for the maintenance of the university for two years This budget was to be submitted to Governor Burnquist for presentation to the Legislature with a probability that he would call another conference of regents for reduction.

Provision was made in the budget for the employment of a consulting engineer in the extension department. His services will be free to Minnesota cities and towns.

A ten-year contract was made for electric power, terminable at any time under a graduated penalty if the high dam proves available for the development of power for the university.

The establishment of a college of commerce was postponed indefinitely. Large cuts were made in the appropriations for practically all departments with the exception of the arts college, which President Vincent characterized as the weakest point.

Xmas Fire Warning Out.

With the approach of the holiday season as shown by the store window displays, Robert W. Hargadine, state fire marshal has issued warning against carelessness. "It is most urgent that everybody keep in mind the fire hazard," said Mr. Hargadine "These displays were installed in anticipation of the Christmas business, and while many of the window dressers adopted noninflamable materials for decorative purposes, there still is room for improvement."

To Choose Vincent's Successor.

Pierce Butler of St. Paul, Fred B. Snyder of Minneapolis and C. W. Glotfelter of Waterville have been appointed at a meeting of the university regents as a committee to seek a successor to President Vincent. The committee received no instructions other than to use its own judgment as to method and to get the best man available. It is understood that the committee leaves soon on a tour that may take it to many of the universities of the East and Middle West.

Dr. H. M. Bracken, executive officer of the board, has so anounced, adding that the supply is now available. The expense of the solution is estimated at about 2 cents for each treatment.

State to Lend $1,500,000.

The state board of investment has voted to receive applications for loans up to a limit of $1,500,000, the amount estimated to become available before Aug. 1, 1917. It was decided also to receive applications for loans for the construction of county roads. Board rules were amended to provide for meetings on the first and third Mondays of each month, to expedite business. William E. Lee of Long Prairie presented the application of Reynolds, Todd county, for a loan of $17,000 with which to build two roads.

Cross Danube Between Silistra and Tchernovoda, East of Capital—Berlin Claims 112,000 Men Made Prisoners During Drive.

London, Dec. 12.—Little fighting except by the artillery is in progress on any of the fronts except in Roumania. Here the Teutonic Allies, according to Berlin, are still making progress against the Roumanians in Eastern Wallachia. Petrograd asserts, however, that the Roumanians northeast of Bucharest along the road running from Ploechi to Buzeu have turned on the offensive and driven the Austro-Germans back westward. To the north along the Transylvania-Roumania frontier Petrograd reports progress for the Russian troops and Berlin admits the capture by the Russians of a height south of the Trotus valley.

Bulgars Menace Roumanians.

A move by the Bulgarians which may prove a menace to the Roumanians retreating eastward from the Bucharest region is reported by Berlin. This is the crossing of the Danube between Silistra and Tchernovoda, southeast and east of Bucharest. If it was made in large force, seemingly an impediment will be placed in the way of the retirement of the Roumanians and possibly some of them may be caught between the Bulgarians driving north across their line of retreat.

Roumanians Lose 112,000 Men.

Semi-official advices from Berlin say the Roumanians have lost approximately 112,000 men made prisoners since Roumania's entry into the war and suffered casualties estimated at about 300,000.

Washington, Dec. 11—The American Indian no longer is a vanishing race; but under improved health conditions is increasing in number according to the annual report of Commissioner Sells of the Indian bureau. There were 209,224 Indians when the report was written, an increase of 1,522 over a year ago. The general death rate this year was reduced from 35.55 in one thousand to 23.33.

Federal Road Aid Law Praised.

Chicago, Dec. 8.—The new federal aid law is by far the most practical piece of highway legislation ever considered by the United States, said John A. Hazelwood, presiding officer of the Northwestern Road congress. "This law is reasonably free of 'pork barrel' features," Mr. Hazelwood said, "in that it provides a fair system of distribution and construction of adequate types of roads under supervision. The legislature must pass laws to enable the states to provide their share of the necessary funds."

PROTEST TO GERMANY ON DEPORTATION OF BELGIANS

Washington, Dec. 11—The American government's formal protest to Germany against the deportation of Belgians for forced labor as a violation of the principles of humanity, has been made public by the State department.

Text of Formal Protest.

America's formal protest follows:

"On November 29, Mr. Grew, our charge at Berlin, was directed to obtain an interview with the German chancellor and read to him the following:

"'The government of the United States has learned with the greatest concern and regret of the policy of the German government to deport from Belgium a portion of the civilian population for the purpose of forcing them to labor in Germany and is constrained to protest in a friendly spirit but most solemnly against this action which in contravention of all precedents and of those humane principles of international practice which have been long accepted and followed by civilized nations in their treatment of noncombatants.

"'Furthermore, the government of the United States is convinced that the effect of this policy, if pursued, will in all probability be fatal to the Belgian relief work, so humanely planned and so successfully carried out, a result which would be generally deplored and which, it is assumed, would seriously embarrass the German government.'"

VILLA SOLDIERS FIRE AT ENVOY IN CHIHUAHUA.

Refugee Confirms Report of Fight West of City Between De Factos and Rebels.

El Paso, Texas, Dec. 11.—Details of an alleged attempt of a Villa soldier to assassinate Captain Calvert Scobell, British consul in Chihuahua City, Mexico, during Villa's occupation of the city were reported by a Mexican refugee who arrived here. According to the refugee, who is said to be responsible, the Villa follower called Captain Scobell to the door of the consulate and fired point blank at the Englishman.

Consul Dodges Behind Door.

Captain Scobell succeeded in dodging behind the door, the refugee said. The man then fled from the house.

Captain Scobell has been in charge of the American affairs in Chihuahua City since the American consul was ordered to the border.

This refugee also confirmed the report of fighting west of Chihuahua City between the Carranza forces under General Carlos Ozuna and a Villa command. The fighting never assumed the importance of a battle, the Mexican said.

Woman, Walking on Track, Killed.

Pine City, Minn., Dec. 11.—Mrs. Ole Lyseth was struck and instantly killed by a northbound Northern Pacific passenger train near here. Mrs. Lyseth, who lived on a farm, had taken the railroad tracks to walk to town, a distance of one mile.

Farm Banks To Issue Bonds.

Washington, Dec. 8.—The federal loan banks are ready to declare a $100,000,000 bond issue. The issue will be made shortly after the new banks open probably during February. The bonds will be issued in denominations of from $25 to $1,000 and will bear between 4 and 5 per cent interest. Officials of the board announced more than 50,000 farmers have applied for mortgage loans, aggregating approximately $150,000,000, or more than 17 times the amount of money which will be immediately available.

BUCHAREST FALLS BEFORE INVADERS

TEUTONS CONTROL HALF OF ROUMANIA AFTER HUNDRED DAY CAMPAIGN.

PLOETCHI ALSO IS CAPTURED

Von Falkenhayn and Von Mackensen Pursue Defeated Armies Northward Toward Jassy, Where Capital of Nation Is Now Located.

London, Dec. 8.—Bucharest, the capital of Roumania, is in the hands of the forces of the Central Powers.

Exactly 100 days after the declaration of war by Roumania against them finds the Teutonic Allies in control of about 50,000 square miles of Roumanian territory—virtually one half of the kingdom running from the Transylvanian Alps northwest of the capital to the Danube south of it and a large part of Dobrudja.

Teutons also are still on the heels of the retreating Russian and Roumanian armies which have been endeavoring to hold them back.

Teutons Capture Ploetchi.

Simultaneously with the announcement of the fall of Bucharest, came the news of the capture of the important junction of Ploetchi, north of the capital, the conquest of which places in the hands of the invaders the last railroad in the west and gives to them the head of the line running northward to Jassy, where the capital of Roumania is now situated. No details have yet come through concerning the climax to the great drive of the armies of General von Falkenhayn and Field Marshal von Mackensen, or whether the Roumanians and Russians succeeded entirely in making their escape behind the Bucharest line.

With the fall of Bucharest the Central Powers are now in possession of four capitals of Allied states, the others being Brussels, Belgrade, and Cettinje.

WITH CUPID AT THE HELM

Sample of Conversation When Enamored Couple Set Out on Voyage Over True Love's Course.

The enamored couple were sitting entirely too close together for comfort and security on the lamp, and the sofa was turned low.

He kissed her on the very tip of the nose,—a place he had never kissed her before.

"Archie," she reproved him roguishly, "don't be foolish-goolish."

And then, by the frown on his low but natural forehead she knew that Archie's feelings had suffered.

"Oh, my own big bibby-baby!" she cried. "I have hurt you!"

"No, it'l goldfish," he replied foolishly, "the hurt I feel is because I know it hurts you to feel that you have hurt me."

"No, no, Archie-starchy. Do not let that hurt you for a moment. My hurt is because I know it hurts you to feel that I have hurt myself by hurting you."

"My sugar-coated angel! My hurt is because you are hurt over feeling that I am hurt because you feel that you have hurt me and—Oh, kid, let's go to the movies."

Which they did, and acted like a pair of goops.—Detroit Free Press.

Change of Jobs.

"I suppose if your candidate had been elected some radical changes would have been made in the government?"

"Yes," replied the party worker, in a melancholy tone. "We had good men picked out for all the important places."

If some people were to speak their minds it wouldn't take them long.

Wrong Impression.

"Football is a great game," said the enthusiast.

"No doubt about that," answered the elderly gentleman, "but it sometimes puts false notions in a young man's mind."

"How is that?"

"He's apt to think after he has made a phenomenally long run for a touchdown, or kicked a goal from the field, that there is nothing else in life really worth doing."

Preposterous Suggestion.

"John, aren't you going to get an overcoat for the winter?"

"Overcoat!" exclaimed Mr. Miffles. "What do I want with an overcoat? An overcoat won't keep our automobile from freezing up in cold weather."

Familiar Names.

It is said that William Shakespeare, the well-known London teacher of singing, was recently a guest of Frederick Bacon at the latter's home in Pomona, Cal. Now, Mr. Shakespeare's rudy, smiling face is the personification of geniality, and his rather high-pitched speaking voice is in keeping with his looks. The story goes that shortly after his arrival in Pomona he stepped up to the post office window and inquired:

"I say, my dear sir, would you kindly tell me if you have any letters for William Shakespeare, care of Mr. Bacon?" The young man at the window eyed the smiling countenance, took note of the voice and remembered the epidemic of Shakespeare tercentenary celebrations breaking out all over the country, he answered:

Like A Boy at 50 Bubbling Over With Vitality—Taking Iron Did It

Doctor says Nuxated Iron is greatest of all strength builders—Often increases the strength and endurance of delicate, nervous folks 200 per cent. in two weeks time.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Not long ago a man came to me who was nearly half a century old and asked me to give him a preliminary examination for life insurance. I was astonished to find him with the blood pressure of a boy of 20 and as full of vigor, vim and vitality as a young man; in fact a young man he really was notwithstanding his age. The secret he said was taking iron—nuxated iron had filled him with renewed life. At 30 he was in bad health; at 46 careworn and nearly all in. Now at 50 a miracle of vitality and his face beaming with the buoyancy of youth. As I have said a hundred times over, iron is the greatest of all strength builders. If people would only throw away patent medicines and nauseous concoctions and take simple nuxated iron, I am convinced that the lives of thousands of persons might be saved, who now die every year from pneumonia, grippe, consumption, kidney, liver and heart trouble, etc. The real and true cause which started their diseases was nothing more nor less than a weakened condition brought on by lack of iron in the blood. Iron is absolutely necessary to enable your blood to change food into living tissue. Without it, no matter how much or what you eat, your food merely passes through you without doing you any good. You don't get the strength out of it and as a consequence you become weak, pale and sickly looking just like a plant trying to grow in a soil deficient in iron. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary nuxated iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. I have seen dozens of nervous, run-down people who were ailing all the while, double their strength and endurance and entirely get rid of all symptoms of dyspepsia, liver and other troubles in from ten to fourteen days' time simply by taking iron in the proper form. And this after they had in some cases been doctoring for months without obtaining any benefit. But don't take the old forms of reduced iron, iron acetate or tincture of iron simply to save a few cents. You must take iron in a form that can be easily absorbed and assimilated like nuxated iron if you want it to do you any good, otherwise it may prove worse than useless. Many an athlete or prize-fighter has won the day simply because he knew the secret of great strength and endurance and filled his blood with iron before he went into the affray, while many another has gone down to inglorious defeat simply for lack of iron.—E. Sauer, M. D.

NOTE.—Nuxated Iron, recommended above by Dr. Sauer is not a patent medicine nor secret remedy, but one which is well-known to druggists and whose iron constituents are widely prescribed by eminent physicians everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach; on the contrary it is a most potent remedy in nearly all forms of indigestion, as well as for nervous, rundown conditions. The manufacturers have such great confidence in Nuxated Iron that they offer to forfeit $100.00 to any charitable institution if they cannot take any man or woman under 60 who lacks iron and increase their strength 200 per cent. or over in four weeks' time, provided they have no serious organic trouble. They also offer to refund your money if it does not at least double your strength and endurance in ten days' time. It is dispensed by most druggists. If your druggist or general store is without a supply, ask them to get it for you.—Adv.

Under the Mistletoe

by De Lysle Ferree Cass

A COIFFURED mesh of copper-colored hair, half disarranged, yet as scientific as a spider's web—humid melting eyes, luminous with a light born only of itself—a dimpled pitfall on one cheek where art and nature blend indistinguishably—red, red moist lips beneath which the ardent blood of maidenhood throbs strongly like a runner's pulse—a seductive sweep of velvety throat, with the delicate tracery of veins showing faintly violet—a tempestuous bosom—

And around all this, Two Arms—a Man's.

GOOD WISHES

By FORTUNE FREE.

SOMEONE said that the richest person was the one who was fullest of good wishes for others and who received their good wishes in return. Wishing others well did him or her all the good in the world, and the good wishes in return were powerful for good. Don't we find it so ourselves? No one can do without them. They are our dearest possessions.

Montague Williams, the celebrated British barrister, once related the story of a rather unlovely old gentleman of miserly habits and rejoicing in the nickname amongst the urchins of the neighborhood of "Old Pickbones." Generosity was not one of his virtues, and if he wished any human creatures well he kept it a secret to himself. He was a man who seemed impervious to all good wishes—a solitary old grudger who cared nothing for the good or the bad wishes of any human creature. When he died, however, it turned out that he had been by no means as thick-skinned as he seemed. He left a will in which he bequeathed money to different persons, and ten thousand pounds to some unknown individual whom he directed his solicitor to discover if possible. That person had been accustomed to send him yearly an anonymous post card with just, "Best wishes at this time to you."

The writer gave no clue as to who he was. Did the old gentleman tear the cards up or throw them into the fire? Not a bit of it. He had carefully preserved them—tied them up in a nice packet. "If the writer can be discovered," he ordered in his will, "I bequeath him ten thousand pounds for his good will."

I would dearly have liked for the sender of those post cards to have got that money, but all efforts to find him proved unavailing.

One cannot help wishing well to the person who wishes others well. Good wishes are the biggest bond on earth. Isn't it a delightful thing to think that others are thinking of us?

The well-wisher is thinking of us. He also puts his good thought for us into words: "I wish you every good luck," or something of that kind. It is like a grasp of a hand pressing ours. It blesses both the giver and the receiver. I don't know which gets the most out of it.

There are times when the world breaks out into a mighty shout, as it were, of good wishes. Christmas time is the great season. Never had we more need of them than at this coming Christmas time. It is an enormous opportunity for the good wisher to make his power felt.

❧ ❧ ❧

It is a curious and beautiful thing about this Christmas spirit that year after year it leads us to attempt the all but impossible, in order to give pleasure to others; while in the end everyone's joy is the result, not of what he has received from others, but of what he has done for them.

❧ ❧ ❧

Taking Him at His Word.

Hem (opening a fancy box)—What do you think of the new necktie?

Shimmer—Gee, it's a marvel of beauty. Where'd you get it?

"I got it from one of my aunts for Christmas, but I have decided to give it to you. Put it right on and wear it."

"Aw, go on! Can't you take a joke?"—Youngstown Telegram.

The One-Idea Man.

It pays to stick to one thing. Only those persons in whose lives some one great purpose outweighs everything else rise above the shoulders of the crowd. Concentration does it. Strugglers in the commercial world are reminded that "the man who minds his own business will soon have a business of his own to mind." Paul had a passion for one thing, as he said, "Forgetting the things which are behind, and stretching forward to the things which are before, I press on toward the goal unto the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus." And Paul succeeded, by holding to that one thing, so that his life was glorified by the presence of Christ, and made fruitful to the rest of the world, as few if any other lives of the Christian era. Have you decided what your one goal is?—Sunday School Times.

Christ can give even a profane swearer a new heart—and also a new vocabulary. Cussing men are a menace.

War and Health.

The effect of war conditions upon the health of the poorer classes is noted by Dr. L. A. Davies, medical officer of Woolwich, England, in his annual report. Improved working conditions in that munitions region count to some degree favorably, but the emotional strain of grief and fear more than overbalances clean floors and good ventilation. The increased use of alcohol may be traced to such emotions. Accidents have occurred as a result of the dark streets ordered as protection from air raids. Poor ventilation in cellars, where hiding becomes necessary, may, Doctor Davies considers, account for the increase in respiratory diseases. Fear and shock have doubtless shortened also the life of those enfeebled from old age. They have caused many complications in childbirth cases.

A mother who suffers kidney trouble, finds it hard to keep up her daily work. Lameness, backache, sharp pains when stooping and "blue", nervous or dizzy spells, make home life dreary. Active kidneys bring back vigor, health and a pleasure in family duties. If the kidneys are weak try a box of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Canadian Farmers Profit From Wheat

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

The war's devastation of European crops has caused an unusual demand for grain from the American Continent. The people of the world must be fed and wheat near $2 a bushel offers great profits to the farmer. Canada's invitation is therefore especially attractive. She wants settlers to make money and happy, prosperous homes for themselves by helping her raise immense wheat crops.

You can get a Homestead of 160 acres FREE and other lands at remarkably low prices. During many years Canadian wheat fields have averaged 20 bushels to the acre many yields as high as 45 bushels to the acre. Wonderful crops also of Oats, Barley and Flax.

Mixed farming as profitable an industry as grain raising. The excellent grasses full of nutrition are the only food required for beef or dairy purposes. Good schools, churches, markets convenient, climate excellent.

Military service is not compulsory in Canada, but there is an extra demand for farm labor to replace the many young men who have volunteered for the war. The Government is urging farmers to put extra acreage into grain. Write for literature and particulars as to reduced railway rates to Supt. of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or

Notwithstanding the Red Lake River flood conditions of last season, rust and blight of the crops, there are only a small portion of our farmers that are not ready to try another season in Pennington County. Every country has it's drawbacks, and while our part of the country had its share the past season, there is likely to be a change for the better next year. The past season has taught our farmers that they must diversify more, and not depend wholly on the wheat crop. Look at the present prices of potatoes and beans, clover and timothy seed and pay a little more attention to the production of these crops. Corn has been a very discouraging crop for the past two years, but it may be better next year. Stock is always a sure source of income, but the farmers have been depending too much on wild hay, and instead of breaking up their wire grass producing lands and seeding them down to timothy and red top tame hay, they have cut this poor hay year after year. and sold their stock at any old price, instead of being able to demand the top market price the same as southern Minnesota farmers do for their tame hay fed stock. But consider that the southern Minnesota farmers went through the same conditions that the northern Minnesota farmers are now going through, when they were pioneers, and lived in sod shanties, where now stands the handsome farm residence with the orchard back of it, the big stock barns, and the silos. They learned by experience that they must change their methods of farming, and while lots of them fell by the wayside, those who remained and profited by the experience of others, reaped their reward by stepping from poverty and money borrowers to prosperity and money loaners,

"Must act now, if Federal Building is wanted," says the Bemidji Sentinel. We don't blame Bemidji for trying to land a Federal Building for their city, but in the meantime it seems to us that it is about time for the Commercial Club of Thief River Falls to pinch themselves, and see if they are awake. The City Attorney of Bemidji has instructed the people to write their Congressman urging him to try and get an appropriation through this session of Congress. Their Congressman will of course ask the aid of the other Congressmen from the northern part of the state to assist him to get the appropriation, and what else could our Congressman Steenerson do but to assist them, if there was no claim from his district to have this Federal Building located at Thief River Falls. You fellows down there at Thief River Falls slept while Bemidji stole the Normal School, which belonged to you. Now do not take another nap, while they get this Federal Building. Wake up! Take this matter up with our Congressman Steenerson at once. He is ready to help you, but let him know that you claim this building for Thief River Falls.

There is no question of doubt that some important changes will be made in the make up of President Wilson's Cabinet on March 4th. One is likely to be Secretary of the Navy Daniels. If he remains in office we will soon not have much of any navy to be secretary of, as the boys that are now in it will retire on the expiration of their time, and advise their friends not to enlist. There are also one or two other changes which had ought to be made, but as we were no supporter of the present administration, we offer no suggestions,

Charles E. Hughes will resume the practise of law in New York. If he can make money as fast as W. J. Bryan did after he was defeated by McKinley, the salary as President of the United States will sink into insignificance so far as gathering ordinary silver and gold dollars go.

NEW POLICY NEEDED IN GOVERNMENT RAILWAY CONTROL

Helpfulness and Encouragement Urged by Alfred P. Thom.

CREDIT MUST BE IMPROVED

Increase of Transportation Facilities Necessary to Secure Relief From High Cost of Living May Thus Be Provided For by the Railroads.

Washington, Nov. 28.—A new policy of government railroad regulation, based on constructive principles of helpfulness and encouragement instead of upon principles of repression and punishment, was urged by Alfred P. Thom, counsel for the Railway Executives' Advisory Committee, the first witness on behalf of the railroads before the Newlands Joint Committee on Interstate Commerce, which has instituted a general inquiry into the problems of railroad regulation.

"It is proposed by the joint resolution of Congress," said Mr. Thom, "to go into a comprehensive study of the whole subject of transportation, to make a new assessment, after 29 years of experiment, of its history, its present conditions and its future needs. The railroads accept the view that regulation is a permanent and enduring part of government in America and that the first duty of the carriers is to the public. That duty is to afford reasonable facilities on reasonable terms and at reasonable rates, and this must be done before any private interests can be considered."

Certainty, Safety and Sufficiency.

Mr. Thom contended that the real interest of the public is in being assured of certainty, safety and sufficiency of transportation facilities, rather than in rates. The first consideration of the public is to obtain transportation facilities. What the cost is, is in reality a second consideration, he said.

Mr. Thom proposed an increase of transportation facilities as a method of securing relief from the high cost of living. "There have been less than 1,000 miles of new railroad constructed in the United States during the past year," he said, "less than in any year since 1848, except the period of the Civil War, and yet the cost of living is daily advancing owing to a shortage of supplies which might be remedied by securing access to new areas of production.

Credit Must Be Improved.

"This leads to the consideration as to whether railroad credit is as good as the public interest requires. It is impossible for railroads to earn enough to supply the necessary new facilities from current revenue. They must be provided from credit. Investors cannot be coerced, but must be attracted."

Among the conditions affecting railroad credit which deter investors he mentioned the following:

"First, Railroad revenues are not controlled by investors, but are fixed and limited by governmental authority and not by one but by several governmental authorities, which do not recognize responsibility for assured results to investors and are uncoordinated.

"Second, Railroads cannot control and the government cannot and does not limit the expense account.

"Third, The present system of regulation is based on a policy of regulation and correction and not on a policy of helpfulness and encouragement.

"Fourth, The outstanding obligations of the railroads have already exceeded the financial rule of safety and involve a disproportionate amount of obligations bearing fixed charges.

"Fifth, The investor must accept a subordinate obligation or security with no assurance of a surplus of earnings to support it.

"Sixth, Other competitive lines of investment present superior attractions.

"Seventh, The railroad business is largely controlled by political instead of business considerations.

Look Forward, Not Back.

"We may debate about what has caused the present conditions," said Mr. Thom, "but we cannot debate about what the people need. The President has taken the view that we must look forward in this matter and 'make a fresh assessment of circumstances' in order to deal helpfully and intelligently with the problem. Abuses are no more prevalent in the railroad business today than in any other business humanely conducted. The great question now is whether the existing system of regulation gives the public reliable assurance of sufficient present and future railroad facilities.

"Those who oppose any change must make their appeal on the ground that the present systems assure the public of the continued adequacy of transportation facilities. If they do not, no argument based on the desirability of the present dual system of regulation will be accepted by public judgment. The question of 'states' rights' is not involved. If the regulation of transportation facilities privately owned should fail government ownership must follow, and then all power of the states over the railroads would disappear.

"Let us debate this question, then, not upon any mere theory or jealousy as to the distribution of governmental power, but upon the large issue of what the public interest requires in respect of the assurance of adequate transportation service."

THE LOCAL NEWS

We wish all our readers a very Merry Christmas.

School closes to-day for the holiday vacation.

We publish notice again this week of the Thief River Falls Short Business Course.

Carl Elg has been busy this week hauling telephone poles from Highlanding to Erie.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter McAndress visited friends and relatives at Thief River Falls this week.

Henry Arndt and Will Vaughan are busy getting out their year's supply of fire wood, from the Alfred Hammarsten timber north of Sunbeam.

A bridge across the Red Lake River at Highlanding is now assured, and the people will soon have one bridge across this river in the eastern part of the county.

There is to be a big Christmas ball at the Wojnarowski Hall in Hickory township next Tuesday evening, December 26th. All are invited to attend.

To-day is the shortest day of the year, and the days will begin to lengthen, and the cold to strengthen, but it will have to hustle to beat the past week for strong cold weather.

G. B. Tveit has rented the Asbjernson farm in Mayfield township, as Mr. Asbjernson will take charge of a big farm west of Fisher belonging to his brother, a physician of Grand Forks N. D.

Several of the Mayfield farmers are complaining that they failed to get any payment for the last cream they sold to the Kratka Creamery this fall, under the Singer management. We asked them if they got their cream cans back, and they said "yes," and we told them they were lucky.

SINGER AS A DEPUTY FIRE WARDEN.

On October 13th, 1914, Edward Singer was a Deputy Fire Warden for this District. The law makes it his duty to make a report of all fires that occur in his district to L. F. Johnson of Bemidji. Yet up to December 16th of this year he had made no report of this fire. He promptly reported a fire that occurred on October 21st of the same month on Section 26, Town of Star, who discovered the Star township fire, who reported it to Mr. Singer and all about it. Yet we find by the records that there was no report made of any fire that occurred on Section 17, town of Deer Park, on the 13th of the same month, although our Deputy Fire Marshal was personally present, and the state records shows that he was drawing a salary from the state of Minnesota as fire warden at this time. Why was not this report sent in, as the law requires?

But Mr. Singer finally loomed up as complaining witness before the last session of the Grand Jury, as complaining witness for an indictment against Hunt for publishing articles that might lead people to believe that Singers had been guilty of the crime of arson, Oh the poor abused innocents! Too bad! Too bad!

MAYFIELD DOINGS.

Several young folks are expected home for the holidays.

W. G. Hunt was a business caller in Mayfield yesterday.

SHORT COURSE.

The annual short course of the Thief River Falls High School will open on Monday, Jan. 8th, at the Lincoln building, and will continue in session three months.

The character of the work will be practical and immediately applicable to affairs of every day life. The studies offered will be reading, spelling, penmanship, business English and correspondence, practical and business arithmetic, agriculture for boys with special emphasis on stock breeding and judging, sewing for girls, farm law, elementary accounting, manual training. The instruction will be given by a special teacher, assisted by the industrial teachers in the school.

The course is open to all persons over sixteen years of age, regardless of their former standing in school, but no student regularly enrolled in the local schools this year can transfer to the Short Course. It serves its best purpose and can accomplish the greatest good for those young men and women who have not attended school for several years and who now feel the need of some practical school training.

There is no expense; everything is free to all comers.

Only one school in the state had a larger Short Course enrollment than Thief River Falls and it is hoped that the 1917 class will be as large.

It is desired that those who intend enrolling notify the undersigned as soon as possible. Rooms and board can be secured at reasonable rates.

FUND OFFERED FOR RELIEF WOULD AID IN BRINGING PEACE

ROCKEFELLER FOUNDATION INVESTIGATOR URGES CONGRESSMEN TO RAISE $500,000,000 FOR WAR SUFFERERS.

SAYS ACT WOULD CREATE POPULAR DEMONSTRATIONS

Wilson Does Not Intend to Make Another Move Until He Is Fully Informed as to Reception Accorded the Teutonic Proposal in the Allied Capitals.

Washington, Dec. 19.—Frederick C. Walcott of New York, who recently investigated conditions in Poland and Belgium for the Rockefeller foundation, told a number of senators and representatives who met at the home of Miss Mabel T. Boardman, of the Red Cross, that a fund of $500,000,000 collected in this country and offered for relief of non-combatants in Europe would be a powerful peace influence at this time.

He said such an act would tend to create great popular demonstrations for peace among civilian populations of warring nations, because they would be anxious for the assistance in rehabilitating their homes and restoring normal living conditions.

Wants Popular Contributions.

Mr. Walcott suggested that a fund of that size should be raised by combined popular contributions and congressional appropriation. Considering the wealth of the United States, he declared it was not an exorbitant sum to give. Since 1914 the estimated aggregate income of the United States has been $80,000,000,000, he said, and the combined offerings for war sufferers has amounted to $40,000,000, or one-twentieth of 1 per cent of the income.

United States Takes First Step.

With the forwarding of the notes of the Central Powers proposing peace negotiations, the United States government performed its role of intermediary and took the only immediate step contemplated by President Wilson.

Now everyone in official and diplomatic quarters here is awaiting with profoundest interest some word indicating what nature of replies may be expected from the Allied powers. It is believed that the speech before the British parliament to be made tomorrow by Premier Lloyd-George will set forth England's attitude, and the hope is generally expressed here that the premier's illness will not prevent him from speaking.

No Move by Wilson Now.

No further light was shed on the purpose of the American government. There is every indication, however, that the President now does not intend to make another move, at least until he is fully informed as to the reception accorded the Teutonic proposal.

FLOUR TAKES LONG TUMBLE AFTER WHEAT PRICES FALL

Wholesale Quotations in Minneapolis Are $8.60 a Barrel—German Peace Move Responsible.

Minneapolis, Dec. 18.—Flour took a long tumble in the wake of the day's great break in the price of wheat.

The 14-cent decline in wheat had its reflection in a 40-cent decline in flour. Wholesale quotations at the close of the day were $8.60 a barrel. The drop in wholesale figures had its effect also on retail prices. Sacks of flour that sold for $2.50 a few weeks ago could be bought yesterday at $2.25.

Friday was the fourth day of a panicky condition in the wheat market in all the market centers of the country. Germany's peace move is held responsible.

ENGLAND TO CALL NEW ARMY OF MILLION MEN

Vote of Credit of $2,000,000,000 Bringing Total for War Up to $18,000,000,000 Moved in Commons.

London, Dec. 15.—A war office supplementary estimate provides for an additional million men of all ranks in the army for the year ending March 31, 1917—making a total of 5,000,000 for that 12-month period.

Great Britain is on the eve of taking further war measures. In the house of commons a vote of credit of £400,000,000 was moved, bringing the total for the war up to £3,532,000,000 nearly $18,000,000,000.

Crops Set Record for Value.

Washington, Dec. 18. — All records for value of the country's important farm crops were exceeded this year despite the smaller size of the crops. Their value was placed at $7,641,609,000 by the Department of Agriculture in its final estimates of the year that is $1,750,000,000 more than the same crops were worth last year. Higher prices, due partly to reduced production and partly to the demands for American food from the warring nations in Europe, were responsible for the vast increase in value.

VON BETHMANN-HOLLWEG

Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg made public Germany's peace proposals in a speech delivered in the reichstag.

PROSPECTS FOR PEACE

Germany has sent in effect an invitation to Entente Powers, neutral nations acting as messengers, to join in parley to discuss possible basis of peace.

Semiofficial announcement was made in the United States outlining terms that Allies may gain some idea of Germany's probable concessions.

Newspapers of Entente Powers hasten to deride or denounce suggestion of Central Powers, and question their motives.

Second thought reveals undercurrent of sentiment among allied officials and people to consider Teutonic proposal at full worth, and possibly reply by making known officially for the first time the objects of the Entente Powers.

If this is done, Germany will in reality have accomplished Bethmann-Hollweg's real object—the "smoking out" of the Allies' peace terms.

It would then be up to Germany and her Allies officially to make known their probable terms, thus reaching basis for intelligent comparison with the Entente's terms and discussion of prospects of ending the war.

If the Allies by even faintest hint indicate they may consider Teuton Powers' proffer, it is belief in Washington President Wilson immediately will propose an armistice that fighting may be halted while discussion is under way.

'NO REPEAL OF ADAMSON LAW'

SPANK BOTH SIDES IF NECESSARY, SAYS AUTHOR.

Representative Looks Optimistically Upon Efforts of Roads and Brotherhoods to Get Together.

Washington, Dec. 19.—Reports that railroad and brotherhood heads in peace conferences have planned to propose the repeal of the Adamson act and the substitution of a working agreement of their own making for it, aroused Representative Adamson, author of the law, to declare that Congress would "spank both sides to the controversy if necessary."

Mr. Adamson, who is the House representative of President Wilson in railway legislation matters, is willing to co-operate in any plan employes and employers may evolve for the interpretation of his law as applied to working conditions, but will vigorously oppose repeal of it as he thinks will the majorities of both houses.

"Congress will not agree to any repeal of the Adamson law," he said. The measure was passed in good faith and it is a constitutional enactment regulating hours of labor and not wages.

"I hope that the negotiations between the railroads and their employes will result in an agreement which will not make further legislation necessary, but Congress will see that the public gets a fair deal. If it becomes necessary to spank both sides, we'll spank them, though I hope that won't be necessary."

BRITISH DEFEAT TURKS IN REGION OF KUT-EL-AMARA

Take Offensive in Mesopotamia and Occupy Enemy Positions on Hai River.

London, Dec. 18. — British troops have taken the offensive in the region of Kut-el-Amara, in Mesopotamia, and have occupied Turkish positions on the Hai river, south of Kut-el-Amara, says an official statement. In the offensive movement the British crossed to the right bank of the Hai river and took Turkish trenches near Kala Haji Fahan, two and a half miles from Kut-el-Amara.

Progress in High Price Inquiry.

Washington, Dec. 14.—Progress in the government's inquiry into the high cost of living is confined largely to collection of information relating to the subject and to the study by the Department of Justice of existing laws to determine whether they are adequate to enable them to cope with the situation. Attorney General Gregory announced he would determine within a few days, after further study of data, whether he would recommend to the President that Congress be asked to pass additional legislation.

HOUSE COMMITTEE WILL RECOMMEND 'DRY' AMENDMENT

MEMBERS VOTE IN FAVOR OF SUBMITTING QUESTION TO POPULAR VOTE—PROHIBITIONISTS JUBILANT.

ULTIMATE ADOPTION OF RESOLUTION PREDICTED

Issue Brought to Attention of Senate When Sheppard Bill to Prohibit Manufacture and Sale of Liquor in District of Columbia Becomes Unfinished Business.

Washington, Dec. 16.—Nation-wide prohibition took a long stride toward congressional consideration when the House judiciary committee unexpectedly voted to recommend adoption of the resolution to submit a constitutional amendment forbidding the manufacture and sale of liquor for beverage purposes in the United States.

Even the most enthusiastic champions of the amendment had not expected favorable action so soon from the committee which, at the last session, voted to postpone its consideration indefinitely.

Prohibitionists Are Jubilant.

That the resolution will progress far through the various legislative stages of Congress at this session is problematical. Administration leaders doubt that it will reach the senate in time for action.

Prohibition advocates are jubilant, however, and predict ultimate adoption of the resolution and reference of the amendment to the legislatures of the various states at a much earlier date than they heretofore had hoped for. A two-thirds majority in both houses is required.

Issue Brought Before Senate.

Coincident with the committee's action, the prohibition issue was brought directly to the attention of the Senate when the Sheppard bill to prohibit the manufacture and sale of liquor in the District of Columbia became unfinished business to be kept before the Senate until disposed of. As an amendment to this bill, Senator Underwood has proposed a referendum to the male voters of the district. Senator Kern of Indiana has added a proposal that women should also participate in the referendum.

RUSSIA REJECTS PEACE PROPOSAL OF TEUTONS

Considers German Proposal Fresh Proof of Weakness and a Hypocritical Act.

London, Dec. 18.—A dispatch to Reuter's Telegram company from Petrograd says: The Duma has unanimously passed a resolution against the acceptance of the German peace proposals, after a spirited speech by the minister of foreign affairs.

The text of the resolution, as received here, follows:

"The Duma, having heard the statement by the minister of foreign affairs, unanimously favors a categorical refusal by the Allied government to enter, under present conditions, into any peace negotiations whatever.

"It considers that the German proposals are nothing more than fresh proof of the weakness of the enemy and a hypocritical act from which the enemy expects no real success, but by which it seeks to throw upon others the responsibility for the war and for what happened during it, and to exculpate itself before public opinion in Germany."

NOTED PSYCHOLOGIST DIES WHILE LECTURING

Hugo Munsterberg of Harvard University Passes Away Suddenly in Classroom Filled With Girls.

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 18.—Hugo Munsterberg, professor of psychology of Harvard university, died suddenly Saturday while lecturing before a class at Radcliff college.

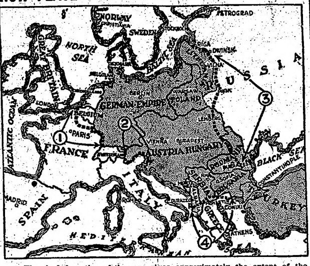
Professor Munsterberg, on the lecture platform, was seized with what appeared to be a fainting spell. Some of the young women members of his psychology class, of whom there were 60, went to his side and then called on the college physician, Dr. Jewett. The latter reached the stricken teacher just before he expired.

With his last breath the professor attempted to quell the disturbance which spread through his class of girls as he fell to the floor. Professor Munsterberg was born June 1, 1863, in Danzig, Germany.

Says Commerce Problem Is Vital.

Evansville, Ind., Dec. 15.—Future relations of the public and the government toward interchange of commerce in this country was pronounced by Alfred P. Thom, counsel of the railway executives' advisory committee, one of the most important problems society ever has confronted. Mr. Thom made the statement in an address here before the Central States' conference on Rail and Water Transportation. "Our first suggestion is that there shall be a system of compulsory federal incorporation," said Mr. Thom.

HOW PEACE TERMS WOULD REMAKE EUROPE



The shaded portion of the map gives approximately the extent of the combined area of the central powers as Berlin will demand it be fixed at any peace conference to be called.

The construction of the two kingdoms of Poland and Lithuania as buffers against Russia on the east is to be demanded. The dismemberment of the conquered Balkan states would be done as best serves the interests of Austria-Hungary, Bulgaria and Turkey.

1. Western battle front, from North sea to Switzerland.
2. Austro-Italian battle front, from Switzerland to the Adriatic sea.
3. Eastern and Roumanian battle fronts, from Baltic sea to Black sea.

Teutons in Making Peace Offer Disclaim Further Responsibility

Berlin, Dec. 14. — Following is the text of the note addressed by Germany and her allies to the hostile governments.

"The most terrific war ever experienced in history has been raging for the last two years and a half over a large part of the world—a catastrophe which thousands of years of common civilization was unable to prevent, and which injures the most precious achievements of humanity, but our aims are not to shatter or annihilate our adversaries.

"In spite of our consciousness of our military and economic strength and our readiness to continue the war (which has been forced upon us) until the bitter end, if necessary, at the same time, prompted by the desire to avoid further bloodshed and make an end to the atrocities of war, the four allied powers propose to enter forthwith into peace negotiations.

Want Honor Guaranteed.

"The propositions which they bring forward to such negotiations and which have for their object a guarantee of the existence of the honor and liberty of evolution for their nations are, according to their firm belief, an appropriate basis for the establishment of a lasting peace.

"The four allied powers have been obliged to take up arms to defend justice and the liberty of national evolution. The glorious deeds of our armies have in no way altered their purpose. We always maintained the firm belief that our own rights and justified claims in no way control the rights of these nations.

"Progress Is Threatened."

"The spiritual and material progress which were the pride of Europe at the beginning of the Twentieth century are threatened with ruin. Germany and her allies, Austria-Hungary, Bulgaria and Turkey, gave proof of their unconquerable strength in this struggle. They gained gigantic advantages over adversaries superior in number and war material. Our lines stand unshaken against ever repeated attempts made by many armies.

"The last attack in the Balkans has been rapidly and victoriously overcome. The most recent events have demonstrated that further continuance of the war will not result in breaking the resistance of our forces and the whole situation with regard to our troops justifies our expectation of further successes."

"If, in spite of this offer of peace and reconciliation, the struggle should go on, the four allied powers are resolved to continue to a victorious end, but they disclaim responsibility for this before humanity and history. The imperial government, through the good offices of your excellency, ask the government of (here is inserted the name of the neutral power addressed in each instance) to bring this communication to the knowledge of the governments of (here are inserted the names of the belligerents).

RUSSIANS BOMBARD BALLCHEK

SQUADRON ATTACKS BULGAR BLACK SEA PORT.

Slav Ships Return Unharmed—Petrograd Reports Repulse of Teutons on Moldavian Front.

Petrograd, Dec. 18.—Successful bombardment of Ballchek, on the Bulgarian Black sea coast, by Russian warships is announced in an official statement. Despite attacks by enemy shore batteries, sea planes and submarines, the Russian attacking squadron was unharmed.

Russian troops have repulsed an Austro-German force which was attempting to advance in the Oitzus valley on the Moldavian front of Roumania.

The bombardment of Ballchek, the statement explained, was with a view to destruction of mills supplying the Bulgarians with flour.

The Russian attempt occurred Wednesday. The attacking vessels were fired at in turn, but the enemy gained no result.

TUG FAILS TO SAVE VESSEL

Brazilian Bark Lost During Storm Off New Jersey Coast.

New York, Dec. 18.—The Brazilian bark Nethtis with 12 men on board was lost during the snow storm off Barnegat on the New Jersey coast, according to Captain Moroea of the tug Garibaldi. The Nethtis was a tow of the Garibaldi on her way here from Maranham, Brazil, to be converted into a steam vessel.

Cleveland Faces Milk Famine.

Cleveland, Ohio, Dec. 16.—President H. W. Ingersoll of the Northern Ohio Milk Producers' association, with headquarters at Elyria, announced that unless Cleveland dealers complied with the terms of their contract by night a milk embargo would be put into effect this morning. The association has 5,000 members in the rural counties adjoining the city and claims to control 75 per cent of the milk supply. A contract made last fall provided for payments the fifth and twentieth of each month.

ALLIES MAY OUTLINE TERMS

SENTIMENT FAVORING MOVE GROWS IN ENGLAND.

Informal Exchange of Views on Hollweg's Proposals Already Begun by Entente—Opinions Differ.

London, Dec. 16.—A steady increase in sentiment that the Allies in refusing German peace plans should set forth their own terms of peace is manifest here. Notwithstanding the continued illness of Premier Lloyd George, it is known that the Allies through the foreign office, have already begun an informal exchange of views on Von Bethmann-Hollweg's proposals.

There are three views entertained as to the course which the Allies should adopt in answering the German note, based on the realization that they must carefully avoid the pitfalls of the Teutonic nations. These plans are:

First—A blunt rejection of the note. The advocates of this course are convinced that this will be the only way to prevent the situation being maneuvered to advantage of Germany.

Opponents of the plan hold, on the other hand, that it would be a serious mistake not to meet the issues raised by von Bethmann-Hollweg.

Second—That Germany name her terms on the assumption that these terms, yet to be made known officially, may really be worth considering and might be considered without damage to Allied prestige.

Third—That the Allies do not ask Germany's terms, but detail their own sentiments of peace, their terms and conditions.

Ship Sunk By Unknown Craft.

Norfolk, Va., Dec. 15.—With about a third of its starboard side torn away, and 46 of its passengers and crew injured, the Merchant and Miners steamer Powhattan lies sunk three miles southeast of Thimble Shoals light, almost on the spot where it was struck by an unknown ship while making its way to sea, en route from Norfolk to Boston. While speeding toward the shore after the accident, the Powhattan took in water so rapidly one of its boilers exploded, nine men of its fireroom crew being hurt.

CANADA AGAIN A PRIZE WINNER

Highest Premiums Awarded at Many Exhibitions.

The Fall fair season is past and a retrospect of them shows that Western Canada is stronger than ever in the matter of exhibits, and has taken more than her usual share of the prize money. From Western Canada to Texas is a long look, from Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba to the southwestern corner of Texas is several days' journey, but the enterprising farmers from this new country to the northwest were wide awake to the possibilities that waited them at the International Dry Farming Congress held at El Paso, Texas, a few weeks ago, to bring to the attention of those in that far-off corner what the land of Western Canada could do in the production of grains and roots from its soil. And what did these farmers do? The first thing was to carry off the first prize and sweepstakes for wheat. That was a foregone conclusion, for it has now become an established fact that nowhere else in the world is there grown wheat of the high character and market value of Western Canadian wheat. The same may be said of oats, of barley and of rye. But when it came to notice that Western Canada took first prize for alfalfa, it was then that more special attention was given to the products from Western Canada. It showed that in that country there lies the opportunity for supplementing the wonderful native grasses, so full of nutrition that with the tamed varieties, among them being alfalfa, the cattle with no other food were fattened and fitted for the shambles. Western Canada's worth was proved as probably the greatest mixed farming portion of the continent. When the steers from the Western Canadian prairies reach the Chicago stockyards they bring the top price and outweigh those from other places where grass fattening is the process. But it was not only in grains that Western Canada carried off the highest honors at the El Paso exhibition. Potatoes, parsnips, beets, carrots and rutabagas also took the highest honors. In root production this country is becoming favorably known.

The question often arises as to markets. There is always the highest price awaiting the producer, and as soon as the Hudson Bay Railway, now about completed, reaches the Bay, there will be an additional outlet for the product of the farm. The Pacific coast route, via the Panama canal, will give another outlet of which full advantage may be taken. With virgin land selling at from $15 to $20 per acre, and improved farms at reasonable prices and on easy terms, there is no better opportunity for the man with limited means and a desire to secure a home at the least cost in a country where he can soon become wealthy, as thousands of others have done, than in Western Canada. To the man with less means and who is prepared to accept a farm of 160 acres free, the Dominion Government offers him his choice in districts that have land of the highest type, but at present being from ten to twenty miles from a railway.

The Peace River Country, now being opened for settlement and reached by railway affords excellent opportunity to the homesteader. To secure information as to Western Canadian lands write the Canadian Government agent, whose name appears elsewhere in this paper.—Advertisement.

No Hurry.

"Do you think a boy's parents ought to tell him there is no Santa Claus?"

"They don't have to. The time comes soon enough when he assumes an air of superior wisdom and imparts the information to his parents."

Great Difference.

"What's the difference between a Socialist and a plutocrat?"

"There are many, but the leading one is that the former fights for his principle and the latter for his interest."

Inconvenient.

"Maybe not, but no poor man can afford to hire a lawyer to prove that it isn't."

A woman's love for dress and dressing is apt to keep her husband guessing.

Her Happy Christmas

by Clarissa Mackie

THE schoolteacher at Rock Gulch dismissed her pupils with a smiling face. Behind the smiles lurked unshed tears. When the last youngster had vanished down the snow-covered trail, Bernice leaned her head against the window frame and the hot, rebellious tears flooded her soft gray eyes.

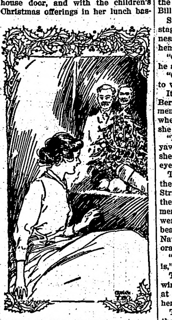
How she hated this far western country, with its crude ways, its dowdily dressed women, its unpolished men, and, above all, its loneliness! It was all so different from New England—and yet she fled from Massachusetts to hide a heartache.

"There is something wrong with me," she sighed at last. "It can't be the country or the people—they are kind and generous—it's the way I feel! How can I cure the ache and the homesickness for things that may never be?"

No answer came to her out of the swiftly falling winter twilight.

Perhaps the knowledge that a wedding was taking place in Boston at that very hour confused her reasoning powers. The man had ceased to love her and she had offered him his freedom and he had accepted it, and so, being without near relatives, Bernice had found a position out here in Montana. This was her first Christmas in Rocky Gulch.

After awhile she locked the schoolhouse door, and with the children's Christmas offerings in her lunch basket, the lonely little schoolma'am set off down the trail toward the Tucker place, where she boarded.



"Merry Christmas!" All Three Said in Unison.

It was snowing hard now and the trail was rapidly disappearing under the white blanket. In the deepening gloom dark shapes appeared, approaching and receding, but they proved to be the pine trees fringing the steep slopes.

Far below, the lights of the town gleamed through the darkness and then vanished, and Bernice, plunging out of the path to avoid a deep drift, took a wrong turning and soon acknowledged to herself with a frightened sob that she was lost on the mountain in a raging blizzard.

Hours afterward, she sank exhausted at the foot of a pine tree and dropped her head on her outstretched arms.

"I will rest for a few minutes," she murmured drowsily.

* * * * * * *

Down in the town Mrs. Tucker waited supper that Christmas eve until nine o'clock. Then little Willie Tucker sleepily announced that Mrs. Halliday had invited teacher to spend the night and eat Christmas dinner at the Halliday ranch. Chiding Willie for his tardy information, Mrs. Tucker hastened to the telephone and called the Halliday ranch; but the wires were all down, and so the anxious little woman decided that the teacher had been unable to send word about her change of Christmas plans, and went about the trimming of the Tucker Christmas tree with renewed activity.

* * * * * * *

Bernice opened her eyes in the living room of a warm log cabin. Gay Navajo blankets hung from the walls and covered the broad couch on which she reclined before a blazing fire of hickory logs.

Two men were bending over the fire; one was stirring something in a bright tin saucepan, something hot and steaming which he poured into a tumbler and brought to her bedside.

"Hello!" he smiled. "Awake are you? Drink this mess and tell us how it all happened."

Bernice smiled back into a bronzed face that inspired instant confidence. He was young, with very blue eyes and very brown hair.

Bernice obediently drank the steaming mixture and snuggled down in the blankets and went to sleep.

"I wonder who she is, Jim," said the last comer.

"She came to us out of the storm—a little snowbird," murmured Jim Butler.

Billy Smith smiled shrewdly.

"Little Snowbird will be missed on Christmas eve," he said. "Some one is probably looking for her now, so don't set your heart on her, Jim."

Jim laughed softly.

"Oh, get out, you old idiot!" he grinned. "Can't a chap sentimentalize a bit on Christmas eve without your getting silly? I was thinking it will be a sorry Christmas for this little girl, and this blizzard looks good for all day tomorrow!"

"Sure thing—so I'm going out to cut a Christmas tree for her," said Billy struggling into his heavy coat.

"You're an angel," laughed Jim, getting out an ax.

He had never seen Bernice Avery before the moment when he had stumbled over her snow-covered form. He had carried her to the cabin three miles up the mountain and given Billy Smith the surprise of his adventurous life.

James Butler was a timber expert in the employ of the government and Billy was his right-hand man.

Suddenly the door opened and Billy staggered in, powdered with whiteness, carrying a small, symmetrical hemlock tree.

"Our Christmas tree for the kid," he said solemnly.

"Good," chuckled Jim, and they set to work.

It was Christmas morning when Bernice awoke again. Dimly she remembered the events of the night and when full realization came upon her she sat up in bed and looked around.

"Dear me, how horrid I feel!" she yawned sleepily, and at that instant she saw the Christmas tree and her eyes popped wide open.

The little tree stood on a table near the fire, propped with heavy stones. Strings of popcorn festooned it and there were puzzling tinseled ornaments—nuts covered with tinfoil. There were a Mexican quirt, a pair of gayly beaded Indian moccasins, a roll of Navajo blankets and some apples and oranges.

"I wonder whose Christmas tree this is," marveled Bernice.

The sun was streaming through the windows when Jim and Billy knocked at the door and entered in response to her call.

They had arrayed themselves in their best garments and they glanced expectantly from the girl's shyly smiling face to the gay little tree.

"Merry Christmas!" all three said in unison, and then laughed in gay friendliness.

"It looks so Christmasy in here," said Bernice: "I'm afraid I've stumbled upon somebody's Christmas tree."

Jim laughed. "Oh, that's your tree!"

"Mine?" she stammered.

"Yes—it was Billy's idea—your being away from home and everything. These are just trifles we had around the house. Please don't cry!" he protested as tears filled the lovely eyes of his guest.

"But you don't know how beautiful it is," she sobbed. "I was hating Christmas this year—I was so lonesome—and everything!"

She told them how she had disliked the West, not dreaming it could hold such kindness, and in return both men became very gruff indeed and Billy sternly insisted upon her coming out and eating her breakfast of cornbread, bacon and coffee. Jim said nothing, but his eyes were eloquent.

It was late afternoon when the storm ceased so that they could put on snowshoes and set out down the trail toward the Gulch, Bernice hugging her precious gifts close to her heart.

"It's the happiest Christmas I ever had," she told Jim, with eyes all ashine.

"And you don't hate the West and its people?" he smiled.

"No, indeed!"

"Then—perhaps—you will like it well enough to stay here always!" he blurted, and then in a panic of bashfulness he dashed away from the Tucker's front gate, leaving Billy sole witness to Bernice's blushes and telltale eyes.

"We'll have another Christmas tree next year—we three—and it won't be any accident either," predicted the guide shrewdly.

Billy's prophecy was fulfilled, and Bernice's happy Christmas was followed by many more in the country which she learned to love because Love had really sought and found her there.

St. Paul.

More than 368,000 acres of state-owned swamp land in St. Louis, Lake and Cook counties are opened for sale and settlement by the filing of final selections under railroad grants, according to State Auditor J. A. O. Preus. The announcement, he added, is of great importance to the counties affected.

Showing a total of 4,711,278.18 acres conveyed to the state under the swamp land act passed by Congress March 12, 1860, the auditor reports that 2,892,141.30 acres, or more than half, were given away to railroads to encourage building projects.

The figures relate only to swamp land grants, a recent report by D. F. Jurgensen, chief engineer of the state railroad and warehouse commission, having shown that the state in early days donated land actually worth about $65,000,000 to secure the construction of railroads that cost less than $40,000,000.

The total area now released includes 245,622.82 acres in St. Louis county, 76,623.85 in Lake and 46,426.75 acres in Cook county.

Towns understood still to be in the running are Cambridge, Litchfield, Cokato, Shakopee, Watertown, Cleveland and Sandstone. The decision is to be reported to the incoming legislature, which then will have to make an appropriation for building. The site probably will be selected within 30 days.

Senator McGarry said that the bill will provide for a superintendent to direct the development work, under an advisory board of seven members, of which the governor and state auditor will be ex-officio members.

Relinquish Right to Damage

If the State of Minnesota is to take any part in the improvement of the Red Lake river, farmers along the streams will be required to sign relinquishments of any rights to damages because of the dirt removed by the dredges being dumped on their land. Senator D. P. O'Neill has this week requested all the newspapers in the county to call attention to this fact in order that the farmers affected will understand the situation when asked to sign such relinquishments. The state must be assured that no future expense will entailed before there is any possibility of its going ahead with the work.

The state finds this precaution necessary because previous experience has proven that it is unsafe to go ahead without these eastments. It is only a short time ago that trouble was experienced because of this oversight. Certain farmers in Kittson county caused considerable expense by claiming damages because of the dirt dumped onto their land through the digging of a ditch, and the state was put to much extra expense.

It is for the purpose of avoiding trouble of this kind that these relinquishments are requested.—Thief River Falls Times.

Fetch on your release; we are ready to sign, and we don't think there is a realestate owner on the river that would refuse to sign, as it would be better to loose a small amount of land by having the dirt dumped onto it, than to loose whole townships by being drowned out.

LET US GET ONE BRIDGE FIRST.

As soon as the Kratka people discovered that the County Commissioners were going to build a bridge across the Red Lake river at Highlanding they immediately petitioned for a bridge near Kratka. This is all right and proper, but if it takes them as long as it did us to get permission to build a bridge across Red Lake River at Highlanding, they are about three years ahead of time with their petition to the board of County Commissioners.

The board of County Commissioners can not construct any bridges across Red Lake river, without an act being passed by Congress. Before we could do anything to get an act passed we had to get plans and specifications drawn by a competent engineer, which we did at our own expense. We then took the matter up with Congressman Steenerson, and it took three sessions of Congress before he finally succeeded in getting the act passed at the last session of Congress, granting permission to build the bridge at a certain heighth on a certain section line. We are willing to render our Kratka friends any assistance we can to help them to get an act passed by Congress to build a bridge across Red Lake river in their town, but until they get that act passed by Congress the County Commissioners can not put a bridge across Red Lake river in their township.

The Town of Hickory is also an active candidate for a bridge across Red Lake river in their township, but have not yet had any act passed granting them permission to construct a bridge. In the meantime they can come down to Highlanding and Kratka township can come up to Highlanding and cross the river on the same bridge, which is the most central location for a bridge in the eastern part of the county, and the only place that there has been any permission granted by the government to build a bridge east of Thief River Falls.

Now that there is full permission granted to build a bridge across Red Lake River at Highlanding, and the county is nearly unanimously in favor of this one bridge being constructed at once, it is up to the Commissioners to issue bonds for the construction of this bridge the first of the coming year, as the future generation will have the most use of a good substantial bridge across the river at that point, why not issue bonds and let them pay for it, instead of taxing the present pioneers of this country, who are now taxed about to the limit for drainage and other improvements. We merely offer the above suggestion, but as a business proposition, this river running the whole length of this County, dividing the north from the south part of the county has been left in its present condition long enough, and there is now no possible excuse for not putting this bridge across the Red Lake river at Highlanding as soon as it can be built, so we can tell strangers coming into the country that Pennington county has at least one bridge across the Red Lake river east of Thief River Falls.

AN INFARE DINNER.

It Used to Be an Important Fun For the Newly Wedded.

Were you ever invited to an infare dinner? You are familiar with "house warming" that is as likely take place in midsummer as any other season, and if you are a business man you cannot have escaped the demand for a floral tribute when some new firm has embarked in your particular line of trade or profession.

But the chances are that if you know anything definite about an infare dinner you are either too old to care about discussing it or you are of Scotch or North of England origin, unless, of course, you happen to have spent most of your life in Indiana. In the latter event you learned all about a charming custom from your mother or grandmother.

In rural Indiana the old ceremonial has even yet not gone the way of most of the ceremonial practices of our ancestors, for it is still observed in a modified form. However, there is no sinister meaning attached to its omission, as was the case two generations ago.

In the days of our grandparents if the groom's mother failed to invite the bride to the infare dinner the day following the wedding it meant one thing and one thing only—that she was not to be regarded as a member of her husband's family. The dinner was usually a more elaborate affair than the wedding supper at the bride's father's house the previous evening. It was served at high noon and included the entire bridal party, although in Scotland the bride was supposed to leave all her own kindred behind when she went to eat the dinner cooked by her mother-in-law.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

JAPAN'S WOLFISH DOGS.

Famed For Their Savage Ferocity and Tenacity of Grip.

Most of the dogs in Japan are of native breed and are quite different from the dogs in western countries. Like the Japanese horses, they are smaller. As the Japanese have ever been an agricultural people, hunting dogs were not known, nor did they have any use for watch dogs, as they kept neither flocks nor herds. The Japanese dog, therefore, is a domestic animal, to the breeding of which no particular attention was given, thus producing a mongrel type.

A great many years ago one of the shoguns became interested in the breeding of dogs, so more care was given to developing a good type. Many of the daimyos, thinking that they would stand in better favor with the shogun, presented him with presents of anywhere from ten to twenty dogs. At one time the emperor had over 5,000 at Kamakura.

The average native dog of Japan has a savage, wolfish aspect, with flat head, pointed muzzle and short, erect ears, with bushy, foxlike tail. They are bold and obstinate in disposition and never know when they are beaten. A Japanese once gave a live dog to his pet tiger as a treat. But the animal, realizing the situation before the tiger did, seized the tiger by the throat and choked it to death before it could defend itself, though the dog also died from its wounds. The Japanese dog is thus far famed for its unexampled ferocity and tenacity of grip, something like the western bulldog.—Japan Magazine.

Byron In an Ugly Mood.

I have not yet read Byron's "Conversations," but there was an anecdote in one of the extracts which confirms what I heard long since, but which I could not depend on before. He had an aversion to see women eat. Colonel —— was at Byron's house in Piccadilly. Lady Byron in the room, and luncheon was brought in—veal cutlets, etc. She began eating. Byron turned around in disgust and said, "Gormandizing beast!" and, taking up the tray, threw the whole luncheon into the hall. Lady Byron cried and left the room.—Told by Haydon, the Painter.

Her Retort.

"Possibly," she retorted, "but just the same I don't go around with a crank."—Indianapolis Star.

THE LOCAL NEWS

Evan Sund was a caller at this office to-day.

James O'Brien made a trip to Goodridge on last Friday.

Edwin Lande who has been working in the pineries, returned to his home last week.

Miss Une Miller, the Highlanding school teacher is spending her two weeks Christmas vacation at Thief River Falls.

Miss Ella and Marie Causin attending high school at Thief River Falls, are spending their Christmas vacation with their parents.

We have been busy this week getting out our winters supply of fire wood, and expect to get out our summer's supply next week.

The Christmas program given in the Highlanding school house by the Kratka and Highlanding school children was largely attended, and a very fine program was given.

Herbert Causin who is in the furniture store business, at Alexandria, Minn. spent the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Causin.

On Tuesday afternoon and evening about six inches more snow fell, making us about a foot of the beautiful now. This will be sufficient to make good sleighing.

A case was tried in Judge Thoreson's Court yesterday, between John Homme, plaintiff, and Town of Highlanding, defendont, to decide who should pay for oil used on a road grader in 1915.

One of the present greatest needs of Pennington county is a substantial bridge across Red Lake river at Highlanding, and the way is now open to construct it, and we expect to hear of our County Commissioners making a move toward the construction of this bridge at an early date.

Judge R. J. Montague, pioneer attorney of Crookston, and former Register of the U. S. Land Office at that place, died at Duluth last Friday from the affects of an operation. The remains were brought to Crookston for burial. He leaves a wife and family of grown up children, his son James now being one of the prominent attorneys of Crookston.

The Highlanding creamery is preparing for a big run next season, as there has been a big increase in the number of cows, tributary to the creamery the past year. One of the principal drawbacks to the patrons of the south side of Red Lake River, has been the difficulty of getting cream across the river, a condition that will be done away with this summer, as soon as the new bridge is built.

The Plummer mail carrier seems to have much difficulty in making his regular trips from Plummer to Rhoda, by way of Lillo. This is too long a trip for any one team to make in one day over the present roads, and the sooner Mr. Mail Carrier makes preparations to change teams at Rhoda, the better it will be for him, as he has contracted to carry that mail on a certain time schedule, and the people want their mail service.

MAYFIELD DOINGS.

Mr. T. O. Langie made a business trip to Oklee last Saturday.

Ole Hegland returned from the woods to spend Christmas at his home.

Some of the young girls who have attended school in Moorhead, returned Thursday to spend Christmas with their parents.

MUST HAVE EXTENSION OF TIME.

In 1918 the principal on the ditch bonds on ditch 42 and 47 becomes due, and payments there on must commence, The people of this locality are not in financial condition to pay these bonds at the present time, anymore than they would be to pay the mortgages that are on their farms. There are always three classes of people in any locality. One class never look into the future enough to consider that these bonds will soon be due and that they have not the money to pay them, and are likely to lose their homes. Another class throw their thumbs into their vest and say, "Let's pay them off," while another class fully realize their position and are willing to pay, but want more time, and the use of this money to improve their farms, and would rather pay the interest on the bonds for five or ten years more. Our next legislature and particularly the members from the northern part of the state should see to it that a law is passed making it easy for a majority of ditch tax paying farmers on a certain ditch to get an extension of time for payment, as it is for a farmer to get an extension of time on a realestate loan, if his security is good. This would work no injury on any ditch tax payer who wanted to pay up his principal, as he can do that at any time under the present law.

Kills nine wolves.

Moorhead, Minn. Dec. 20—Nine ravenous wolves were the victims of the unerring marksmanship of Matt Barrow, a farmer residing in the vicinity of Park Rapids. They were chasing Mr. Barrow's flock of sheep when discovered and Barrow succeeded in killing them all without losing a sheep.

Scarcity of food is thought to be the reason for this seeming recklessness on the part of the pack for they persisted in the chase regardless of the crack of the rifle and the death of their members.

With a $7.50 bounty on wolves and their pelts easily worth $5 each Mr. Barrow netted about $112.50 for a few minutes work.—The Crookston Times.

ANNUAL MEETING.

John O. Swanson, Secretary.

Gunder Hegland made a short call at Langie's Christmas day.

Osmond and Evind Moy have returned to spend Xmas at home.

The Ladies Aid of the north section will meet at Grunde Austad's home, on January 3rd 1917.

NOTE'S RECEPTION IN EUROPE HOLDS WORLD'S INTEREST

ALLIES NOT EXPECTED TO MAKE EXTENDED ANSWER TO PROPOSALS RECEIVED FROM CENTRAL POWE..S.

TO DISCUSS WHOLE PEACE SUBJECT IN REPLY TO U. S.

Secretary Lansing's Two Statements, Which Caused Flurry After Wilson's Note Was Dispatched, Are Cabled Abroad So As To Emphasize President's Attitude.

Washington, Dec. 26.—Nothing official has come from Europe to show when the belligerents will reply to President Wilson's note urging discussion of peace, or what the nature of the responses may be. The London news dispatches indicating an early reply was unlikely because of the necessity of consultation between the Allies agreed with the view prevailing here.

It is thought here that the Allies might not make extended answer to the proposals of the Central powers, but would deal with the whole peace subject in their response to the United States.

Apparently the administration, having dispatched the note and in the interest of caution having taken steps to see that no misconstruction abroad was placed on the President's purpose, now is carefully watching the expressions of opinion, particularly in the British press.

Hostile Views Moderated.

As the attitude of the Teutonic Allies had been clearly foreshadowed in advance and the President, in the note, specifically disclaimed any association with that attitude, the interest of American officials centered on the reception of the note in the Allied countries and among the European neutrals.

It was recalled, as the London dispatches, most of them hostile, arrived, that similar expressions greeted the original proposals of the Central Allies, but that the views were moderated in the British press and among the Allied diplomats here after reflection and discussion.

Lansing's Statements Cabled.

To preclude any possibility of misconstruction of the President's purposes from the flurry of Thursday caused by Secretary Lansing's two statements, both were cabled to American diplomats abroad in neutral, as well as belligerent countries, so they might be prepared to state correctly the President's attitude toward the governments to which they are accredited. They are intended to offer official evidence, if it be needed, that the President's note is exactly what it purports to be on its face.

The suggestion from London that the manner of replying to the President's note will differ from the form of replies to proposals of the German Allies corresponded with official expectations.

Relations With Germany Improved.

The German view here is that whatever the reply of the Allies the relations between Germany and the United States will have been immeasurably improved, probably to the point of assuring careful steps by the Berlin government to avoid any such conditions as lead up to a crisis which threatened a break in diplomatic relations. That view which holds the advantage of comity with the greatest of neutrals will be so forcibly impressed upon the people of the Central empires that it will not again be endangered.

Note Accepted in Good Faith.

Allied diplomats, while they apparently had decided to accept the President's attitude in good faith had not wholly disposed of their fear that it might rebound to the advantage of their enemies. It was reiterated in all official quarters that there is perfect understanding between Secretary Lansing and the President and whatever might have appeared as discord in interpretation of the note to the belligerents had been disposed of by the issue of the Secretary's second statement and the steps to inform the foreign governments of the facts.

NOTE WELCOMED IN GERMANY

WILSON'S PEACE EFFORT IS PRAISED IN VIENNA.

Ambassador Gerard Is Besieged by Newspapermen Who Seek Additional Information.

Berlin, Dec. 26.—The announcement of President Wilson's peace endeavor, received through the Associated Press, was accorded a tremendous welcome in Berlin.

The impression of official and newspaper circles appeared in the noon editions under large display headlines as the all-important news of the Christmas season, reviving the interest in the German peace overtures which has sunk to a low point under the influence of the preliminary declarations of statesmen of the Allied powers.

Gerard Besieged by Reporters.

The American embassy, to which the ambassador, James W. Gerard, returned late Thursday night from New York, the Associated Press correspondent and the American charge, Joseph C. Grew, were besieged by newspaper men, who sought additional information concerning the President's peace note.

Gerard Talks With Zimmermann.

Berlin, Dec. 23. — James W. Gerard, the American ambassador, conferred with Dr. Alfred Zimmermann, foreign secretary, during which President Wilson's note was discussed. The ambassador was able to give Mr. Zimmermann a general picture of the situation from the American standpoint.

CONGRESS IS TO GIVE PRESIDENT FREE HAND

Not to Hinder Wilson's Attempts to Find Ground Upon Which Europeans Can Meet to Plan Peace.

Washington, Dec. 23.—Congress will let the President have a free hand in his attempt to find a common ground upon which European belligerents can meet to formulate plans for a lasting peace.

Both houses have refused to endorse or take any action on the President's action in dispatching his now historic notes to Europe's warriors.

Senator Hitchcock failed in his second attempt to have the Senate indorse the action of President Wilson. On Senator Gallinger's action the resolution was held up until after the holidays.

STEAMER KANSAN STRIKES MINE OFF FRENCH COAST

The Kansas sailed from Boston December 6 for St. Nazaire. She is owned by the American-Hawaiian Steamship company of New York. Her gross tonnage is 7,913.

The Kansan carried horses for France, in addition to a general cargo. It was the Kansan that first reported the activities of the German submarine U-53 off Nantucket on October 9.

Plant Closes; Wage Loss $1,400,000.

Detroit, Dec 23. — Beginning today the Ford Motor company will close its plant for seven days in order to relieve the railroad congestion here, that carloads of food and fuel may be handled. Forty-two thousand men are made idle by the order, meaning a wage loss of $1,400,000 for the week.

"No! No! No! British Paper's Reply.

London, Dec. 23.—The general public had their first news of President Wilson's note from the morning papers and the matter was the one topic of conversation on incoming trains and in the country. The evening papers, which do not print editorials, came out with big headlines which expressed their views. The Evening News, the afternoon edition of the Daily Mail, heads a reprint of the comment of the morning with the one word "No" and under it "Our answer to President Wilson."

TEXT OF WILSON'S NOTE

Woodrow Wilson

Washington, Dec. 22.—Here is the identical text of the note sent by President Wilson, through Secretary of State Lansing, to all the warring powers:

"The President of the United States has instructed me to suggest to the (here is inserted a designation of the government addressed) a course of action with regard to the present war which he hopes that the government will take under consideration as suggested in the most friendly spirit and as coming not only from a friend but also as coming from the representative of a neutral nation whose interests have been most seriously affected by the war and whose concern for its early conclusion arises out of a manifest necessity to determine how best to safeguard those interests if the war is to continue."

Notes to Central Powers.

At this point the texts vary. In the notes to the Central Powers this paragraph follows next:

"The suggestion which I am instructed to make the President has long had it in mind to offer. He is somewhat embarrassed to offer it at this particular time because it may now seem to have been prompted by a desire to play a part in connection with the recent overtures of the Central Powers. It has, in fact, been in no way suggested by them in its origin and the President would have delayed offering it until those overtures had been independently answered but for the fact that it also concerns the question of peace and may best be considered in connection with other proposals which have the same end in view. The President can only beg that his suggestion be considered entirely on its own merits, and as if it had been made in other circumstances."

Paragraph for Allies Only.

In the note to the Allies the following paragraph takes the place of the one just quoted:

"The suggestion which I am instructed to make the President has long had it in mind to offer. He is somewhat embarrassed to offer it at this particular time because it may now seem to have been prompted by the recent overtures of the Central Powers. It is, in fact, in no way associated with them in its origin and the President would have delayed offering it until those overtures had been answered but for the fact that it also concerns the question of peace and may best be considered in connection with other proposals which have the same end in view. The President can only beg that his suggestion be considered entirely on its merits and as if it had been made in other circumstances."

Then all the notes proceed identically as follows:

"The President suggests that an early occasion be sought to call out from all the nations now at war such an avowal of their respective views as to the terms upon which the war might be concluded and the arrangements which might be deemed satisfactory as a guarantee against its renewal or the kindling of any similar conflict in the future as would make it possible frankly to compare them. He is indifferent as to the means taken to accomplish this. He would be happy himself to serve, or even to take the initiative in its accomplishments in any ways that might prove acceptable, but he has no desire to determine the method or the instrumentality. One way will be as acceptable to him as another if only the great object he has in mind be attained.

Objects are Virtually the Same.

"He takes the liberty of calling attention to the fact that the objects which the statemen of the belligerents on both sides have in mind in this war are virtually the same as stated in general terms to their own people and to the world. Each side desires to make the rights and privileges of weak peoples and small states as secure against aggression or denial in the future as the rights and privileges of the great and powerful states now at war.

"Each wishes itself to be made secure in the future along with all other nations and peoples, against the recurrence of wars like this and against aggression of selfish interference of any kind. Each would be jealous of the formation of any more rival leagues to preserve an uncertain balance of power amidst multiplying suspicions, but each is ready to consider the formation of a league of nations to insure peace and justice throughout the world.

"Before the final step can be taken, however, each deems it necessary first to settle the issues of the present war upon terms which will certainly safeguard the independence, the territorial integrity and the political and commercial freedom of the nations involved. In the measures to be taken to secure the future peace of the world the people and government of the United States are as vitally and as directly interested as the governments now at war. Their interest, moreover, in the means to be adopted to relieve the smaller and weaker peoples of the world of the peril of wrong and violence is as quick and ardent as that of any other people and government. They stand ready and even eager to co-operate in the accomplishment of these ends when the war is over with every influence and resource at their command.

"But the war must first be concluded. The terms upon which it is to be concluded they are not at liberty to suggest, but the president does feel that it is his right and his duty to point out their intimate interests in its conclusions, lest it should presently be too late to accomplish the greater things which lie beyond its conclusions, lest the situation of neutral nations, now exceedingly hard to endure, be rendered altogether intolerable, and lest more than all, an injury be done civilization itself which can never be atoned for or repaired.

President Feels Justified.

"The President therefore feels altogether justified in suggesting an immediate opportunity for a comparison of views as to the terms which must precede those ultimate arrangements for the peace of the world, which all desire and in which the neutral nations as well as those at war are ready to play their full responsible part. If the contest must continue to proceed towards undefined ends by slow attrition until the one group of belligerents or the other is exhausted, if million after million of human lives must continue to be offered up until on the one side or the other there are no more to offer; if resentments are to be kindled that never can cool and despairs engendered from which there can be no recovery, hopes of peace and of the willing concert of free people will be rendered vain and idle.

"The life of the entire world has been profoundly affected. Every part of the great family of mankind has felt the burden and terror of this unprecedented contest of arms. No nation in the civilized world can be said in truth to stand outside its influence or to be safe against its disturbing effects. And yet the concrete objects for which it is being waged have never been definitely stated.

Stated in General Terms.

"The leaders of the several belligerents have, as has been said, stated these objects in general terms. But, stated in general terms, they seem the same on both sides. Never yet have the authoritative spokesmen of either side avowed the precise objects which would, if attained, satisfy them and their people that the war had been fought out. The world has been left to conjecture what definite results, what actual exchange of guarantees, what political or territorial changes or readjustment, what stage of military success ever would bring the war to an end.

Peace May Be Very Near.

"It may be that peace is nearer than we know; that the terms which the belligerents on the one side and on the other would deem it necessary to insist upon are not so irreconcilable as some have feared; that an interchange of views would clear the way at least for conference and make the permanent concord of the nations a hope of the immediate future, a concert of nations immediately practicable.

"The President is not proposing peace, he is not even offering mediation. He is merely proposing that soundings be taken in order that we may learn, the neutral nations with the belligerent, how near the haven of peace may be for which all mankind longs with an intense and increasing longing.

Believes Spirit Is Understood.

"He believes that the spirit in which he speaks and the objects which he seeks will be understood by all concerned, and he confidently hopes for a response which will bring a new light into the affairs of the world."

Germans Think Allies Are Bluffing.

Berlin, Dec. 21.—Germany regards speeches of statesmen in England, France and Russia as a bluff to impress Berlin with the Entente's determination. The Entente governments cannot do otherwise in view of their past statements although they are really anxious now for peace. This was the view reflected in all walks of life following Premier Lloyd George's answer to the imperial German chancellor in his speech. Berlin is not pessimistic despite the London statement.

Exciting Day on Stock Market.

New York, Dec. 23.—The stock market on Thursday went through what with a single exception was the most exciting day in its history. President Wilson's note to the belligerents, followed by Secretary Lansing's first explanatory statement of its extent were the occasion of frenzied selling which in volume of scope fairly dwarfed all the operations that followed the peace proposals from Germany. Prices were slaughtered to the extent of 5, 10 and 15 points, and in one case 13

WILSON ASKS ALL BELLIGERENTS TO EXCHANGE VIEWS

SENDS FORMAL NOTES TO WARRING NATIONS WITHOUT PROPOSING PEACE OR OFFERING MEDIATION.

BELIEVES ENTIRE WORLD WILL UNDERSTAND MOTIVE

Latest Development in Rapidly Moving Events Toward Discussion of Peace Comes as Great Surprise to Officials at Washington —Want Soundings.

Washington, Dec. 22. — President Wilson has appealed to all the belligerents to discuss terms of peace.

Without actually proposing peace or offering mediation, the President has sent formal notes to the governments of all the warring nations suggestions that "an early occasion be sought to call out from the nations now at war such an avowal of their respective views as to the terms upon which the war might be concluded and the arrangements which will be deemed satisfactory as a guaranty against its renewal or the kindling of any similar conflict in the future, as would make it possible frankly to compare them."

Notes to All Belligerents.

Wholly without notice and entirely contrary to what administration officials have described as his course, the President has dispatched the notes to all the belligerents and to the neutrals for their information. Summarized in the President's own words, as contained in the notes, his attitude is as follows:

"The President is not proposing peace, he is not even offering mediation. He is merely proposing that soundings be taken in order that we may learn, the neutral nations with the belligerents, how near the haven of peace may be for which all mankind longs with an intense and increasing longing. He believes that the spirit in which he speaks and the objects which he seeks will be understood by all concerned and he confidently hopes for a response which will bring a new light into the affairs of the world."

Note Is Surprise to Officials.

This latest development in the rapidly moving world events toward a discussion of peace was not permitted to become known until after the notes were well on their way to the American ambassadors in the belligerent capitals and probably already in the hands of some of them.

It was a most distinct surprise to all official Washington, which had been led to believe that with the formal transmittal of the proposals of the Central Powers the officers of the United States would await further moves between the belligerents themselves, and that certainly in view of the speech of Premier Lloyd George, and the announcements in Russia, France and Italy, further action by neutrals would depend upon the next careful and delicate moves of the belligerents.

WAR TO END WHEN OBJECT IS ATTAINED--LLOYD GEORGE

Premier Says Allies Will Not Enter Parley Without Knowledge of Germany's Terms.

London, Dec. 20.—England and the Allies do not propose to enter into peace negotiations without knowledge of Germany's proposals. This was the decision announced in the house of commons by Premier Lloyd George.

Lloyd George quoted the words of Abraham Lincoln "The war will end when its object has been attained under God; it will never end until we achieve the object."

"The Imperial German Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg did not use a single phrase indicating he was prepared to accept the only terms upon which peace is possible," Lloyd George declared.

"We do not propose to put our heads into a noose, with the rope's end in Germany's hands," the premier added. He also said that without reparation peace would be impossible, and that no proposals for peace had been made.

Wilson May Appoint Woman.

Washington, Dec. 20.—According to information which seems to be credited in informed circles, President Wilson has under consideration the appointment of Miss Ida Tarbell, as a member of the federal tariff commission. It has been understood that two of the three democratic members will be Professor Frank William Taussig of Harvard university, and Daniel C. Rohr, formerly assistant postmaster general, who was clerk to the house committee on ways and means when it drafted the Underwood tariff law.

MORE WHEAT, MORE CATTLE, MORE HOGS

Land Values Sure to Advance Because of Increasing Demand for Farm Products.

The cry from countries abroad for more of the necessaries of life is acute today; tomorrow it will be still more insistent, and there will be no letup after the war. This is the day for the farmer, the day that he is coming into his own. He is gradually becoming the dictator as it becomes more apparent that upon his industry depends the great problem of feeding a great world. The farmer of Canada and the United States has it within himself to hold the position that stress of circumstances has lifted him into today. The conditions abroad are such that the utmost dependence will rest upon the farmers of this continent for some time after the war, and for this reason there is no hesitation in making the statement that war's demands are, and for a long time will be, inexhaustible, and the claims that will be made upon the soil will with difficulty be met. There are today 25,000,000 men in the fighting ranks in the old world. The best of authority gives 75 per cent and over as having been drawn from the farms. There is therefore nearly 75 per cent of the land formerly tilled now being unworked. Much of this land is today in a devastated condition and if the war should end tomorrow it will take years to bring it back to its former producing capacity.

Instead of the farmer producer producing, he has become a consumer, making the strain upon those who have been left to do the farming a very difficult one. There may be agitation as to the high cost of living, and doubtless there is reason for it in many cases. The middleman may boost the prices, combines may organize to elevate the cost, but one cannot get away from the fact that the demand regulates the supply, and the supply regulates the price. The price of wheat—in fact, all grains—as well as cattle, will remain high for some time, and the low prices that have prevailed will not come again for some time.

After the war the demand for cattle, not alone for beef, but for stock purposes, to replenish the exhausted herds of Europe, will be keen. Farm educators and advisers are telling you to prepare for this emergency. How much better it can be done on the low-priced lands of today, on lands that cost from ten to twenty dollars per acre, than it can on two and three hundred-dollar-an-acre land. The lands of Western Canada meet all the requirements. They are productive in every sense of the word. The best of grasses can be grown with abundant yields and the grain can be produced from these soils that beats the world, and the same may be said of cattle and horses. The climate is all that is required.

Those who are competent to judge claim that land prices will rise in value from twenty to fifty per cent. This is looked for in Western Canada, where lands are decidedly cheap today, and those who are fortunate enough to secure now will realize wonderfully by means of such an investment. The land that the Dominion Government is giving away as free homesteads in the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta are of a high class; they are abundant in every constituent that goes to make the most productive soils. The yields of wheat, oats and barley that have been grown on these lands gives the best evidence of their productiveness, and when backed up by the experience of the thousands of settlers from the United States who have worked them and become wealthy upon them, little more should be required to convince those who are seeking a home, even with limited means, that nowhere can they secure anything that will better equip them to become one of the army of industry to assist in taking care of the problem of feeding the world. These lands are free; but to those who desire larger holdings than 160 acres there are the railroad companies and land corporations from whom purchase can be made at reasonable prices, and information can be secured from the Canadian government agent, whose advertisement appears elsewhere in this paper.—Advertisement.

War Profiteers.

Apropos of the $4,000,000 increase in wages that the Chicago meat packers have granted to the packing house workers, Prof. Robert Herrick said at the University of Chicago:

"The fortunes of war, the fortunes of war! When a battle is lost or won, we hear a lot about the fortunes of war. But, after all, the real authorities on the fortunes of war are the ammunition makers and the meat packers thousands of miles away from the battle front."

A Giver.

"Are you going to make any gifts?"

"Yes," replied Mr. Growcher. "I'm going to give the canary bird to the cat. Then I'm going to give the cat to the dog and then I'm going to give the dog to the poundmaster."

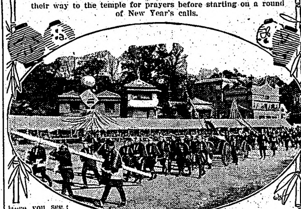
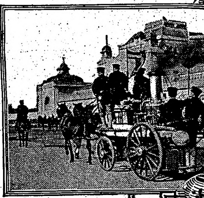
NEW YEAR'S DAY IN JAPAN

New Year's day has come to rank as one of the most popular of the Flowery Kingdom's holidays. As in America it is a day of feasting and good cheer, though oddly tempered by religious observances. The above picture shows three Japanese belles on their way to the temple for prayers before starting on a round of New Year's calls.



Here you see a parade of Tokyo firemen on New Year's day on their way to the drill grounds for the annual inspection, one of the big features in the way of celebrating the first day of the year in every Japanese city of any size. Fire engines and equipment pass in review before the city officials, after which fire drills are performed and the firemen take part in contests of various kinds. The fire engine has only recently been introduced into the Island Kingdom and the modern autotruck is not yet known there. In the lower picture are shown the firemen with their bamboo scaling ladders which are used not only for life-saving and as an elevation from which to direct the water from the hose nozzle, but as a ram with which to knock down buildings too far gone to save and so prevent the spread of the conflagration. The Japanese firemen are wonderful acrobats and perform truly remarkable feats on the tall ladders, scaling them with the agility of monkeys. Men, women and children turn out to watch the exhibitions. Note the odd costumes of this brigade from Tokyo.



NEW YEAR SUPERSTITIONS

When the master enters the house for the first time in the new year he must take something in which he did not take out.

A piece of money placed on the doorstep on New Year's eve and brought in the moment the clock strikes will insure plenty throughout the year.

Never go out on New Year's day until someone has come in.

Throw out all peacock's feathers before New Year's day or you will have bad luck.

When the clock strikes 12 on New Year's eve open both the front and back door of the house, so that all evil spirits may pass out and the good ones pass in. But be sure to close the door as soon as the clock has finished striking, so that the good spirits may not escape.

On New Year's eve take a little money, bread, salt, wood and coal, tie them in a bundle and lay them on the doorstep. If the first person who comes to the door possesses a name whose initials are made up of straight lines, allow him to pick up the bundle and bring it in. Give him a gift, and let him pass out through the back door. Then you will have good luck for another year.

Duluth, Minn.—During the navigation season of 1916, just closed with the arrival recently of the steamer E. B. Morris, coal laden, 9,430,700 tons of all kinds of coal arrived, as compared with 8,376,211 tons in the same period in 1915, according to final figures.

Minneapolis. — Establishment of a bureau of child welfare in the State Board of Control and creation of boards of children's guardians in each county of the state are recommended in a preliminary report from the voluntary commission on revision of Minnesota laws relating to children, presented by Judge E. F. Waite, Minneapolis, as chairman, to Governor Burnquist.

Mankato. — The Blue Earth county group of bankers, at a meeting held in this city, took a strong stand against itinerant investment brokers and resolved to discourage in every way possible the making of investments by local residents in property far from home. They favored the passage of a "blue sky" law, and also a law requiring the licensing of traveling promoters and putting them under bonds.

Minneapolis.—Fred T. Price, convicted of the murder of his wife, Mary Fridley Price, on East River drive, Minneapolis, November 28, 1914, has just been denied a new trial in his appeal to the state supreme court. The higher court affirms the Hennepin county district court order, holds the evidence sufficient to find Price guilty and overrules the assignments of errors in his trial. The case was argued nine weeks ago. The supreme court gave opinions in 20 appeals.

Fort Snelling. — The Second Minnesota infantry regiment, ordered home by the War department, probably will not reach Fort Snelling until late in January. This was indicated in dispatches from Chicago, which said the troops will be among the last of the 16,000 ordered returned from the border.

Duluth. — Herbert William Pearson, scientist and lumberman, died at his home here. He was born in 1850 on Wells Island, St. Lawrence river. His geological research work has taken him into almost every state and to many European countries.

ARE YOUR KIDNEYS WEAK?

Thousands of Men and Women Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

Nature warns you when the track of health is not clear. Kidney and bladder troubles cause many annoying symptoms and great inconvenience both day and night.

Unhealthy kidneys may cause lumbago, rheumatism, catarrh of the bladder, pain or dull ache in the back, joints or muscles, at times have headache or indigestion, as time passes you may have a sallow complexion, puffy or dark circles under the eyes, sometimes feel as though you had heart trouble, may have plenty of ambition but no strength, get weak and lose flesh.

If such conditions are permitted to continue, serious results may be expected; Kidney Trouble in its very worst form may steal upon you.

Prevalency of Kidney Disease.

Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalency of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are among the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patients, who usually content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease may constantly undermine the system.

If you feel that your kidneys are the cause of your sickness or run down condition, try taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the famous kidney, liver and bladder remedy, because as soon as your kidneys improve, they will help the other organs to health.

If you are already convinced that Swamp-Root is what you need, you can purchase the regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles at all drug stores. Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., which you will find on every bottle.

SPECIAL NOTE—You may obtain a sample size bottle of Swamp-Root by enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. This gives you the opportunity to prove the remarkable merit of this medicine. They will also send you a book of valuable information, containing many of the thousands of grateful letters received from men and women who say they found Swamp-Root to be just the remedy needed in kidney, liver and bladder troubles. The value and success of Swamp-Root are so well known that our readers are advised to send for a sample size bottle. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing be sure and mention this paper.

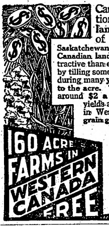
Raise High Priced Wheat on Fertile Canadian Soil



160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

Canada extends to you a hearty invitation to settle on her FREE Homestead lands of 160 acres each or secure some of the low priced lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. This year wheat is higher but Canadian land just as cheap, so the opportunity is more attractive than ever. Canada wants you to help feed the world by tilling some of her fertile soil—land similar to that which during many years has averaged 20 to 45 bushels of wheat to the acre. Think of the money you can make with wheat around $2 a bushel and land so easy to get. Wonderful yields also of Oats, Barley and Flax. Mixed farming in Western Canada is as profitable an industry as grain growing.

The Government this year is asking farmers to put increased acreage into grain. Military service is not compulsory in Canada but there is a great demand for farm labor to replace the many young men who have volunteered for service. The climate is healthful and agreeable, railway facilities excellent, good schools and churches convenient. Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3,1879

"U. S. drawing near the verge of war," says the Duluth Herald, the leading Democratic paper, who supported President Wilson, in the last campaign. We read the news carefully, and we have paid careful attention to every word that has been uttered by President Wilson, during this European war.

Now at this time we wish to serve notice on all European countries, that the little flurry that we had in November, about the election of a president of the United States was a personal matter among ourselves, and that Woodrow Wilson was elected as President of the United States, by a majority of the votes of the people.

"The American people have full confidence in their president to handle the situation which now confronts us as a Nation, and we are solidly behind President Wilson to a man." These words came from an American editor, who used his best efforts to defeat President Wilson for re-election in the late campaign.

The Eleven Towns is authority for the statement that there will be no Grand Jury called at the next term of District Court in Pennington County. Why not call the investigators of crime, Mr. Kjomme? You had them busy at the last term of court prosecuting people, for criminal libel, because they had the courage to expose crime. Now give another Grand Jury a chance to listen to some true evidence against real criminals. The masses of the people of Pennington County are honest, and want all criminals prosecuted, and crimes exposed, and perpetrators of crimes punished, instead of having the power of the law used to suppress crimes, by having people indicted for criminal libel that know of crimes being committed, if they have the courage to tell about it.

At the request of Minnesota newspaper publishers Atty. Gen. Smith has prepared a bill to be presented to the legislature providing for a state owned paper mill on state owned timber lands. Southern newspaper publishers are organizing a paper plant and the National Editorial Assn. is organizing a co-operative paper buying enterprise. It is possible that the paper manufacturers who are boosting prices outrageously may in the end be the losers if all these enterprises succeed.—Norman County Index.

This would be as sure a way to curb the paper trust, as the Stillwater twine plant was to curb the twine trust.

A movement should be made by the next legislature, to have an act passed, to make it possible for ditch tax paying farmers to get an extension of five or ten years time on payment of the principal on ditch bonds, without any great amount of extra expense. The principal on these bonds is an absolute safe investment for the money loaners, and we presume that they would be willing to grant these extensions of time, if an act was passed by the legislature making their principal safe, if they granted an extension of five or ten years time for the payment of it.

That bandit Villa is now apparently the boss of Mexico, at least he is what you might term a lively corpse.

PLAN TO RESUME RAILWAY INQUIRY AFTER MARCH 4TH

Postponement Forced by Press of Congressional Business.

COUNTRY DEMANDS ACTION

Shippers, Investors and Representatives of All Branches of Business Demand Unification of System of Railway Regulation—Roads Ask Fewer Masters.

Washington, Dec. 18.—The Congressional Joint Committee on Interstate Commerce, which has been conducting the inquiry into government regulation and control of transportation, last week decided to suspend its hearings on the subject and adjourned, subject to the call of the chairman, because of the pressure of other work before Congress. According to the resolution creating the committee, it is required to submit a report by January 8th next. It is understood that before that time the committee will ask for an extension of time and that the hearings will be resumed at a later date, when some of those who already have appeared before the committee will be questioned further and a great many others will be heard. It is probable, however, that the hearings will not be resumed until after adjournment of Congress on March 4th. In addition to regular routine business the commerce committees of the two houses are charged with the important duty of preparing and presenting the legislation asked for by President Wilson to make impossible a railroad strike without previous investigation. This will leave little or no time for the consideration of the general questions of railway regulation.

Country Wants Something Done.

Members of Congress and others who are interested in the inquiry undertaken by the Newlands Committee insist that there is no intention of abandoning it.

It seems doubtful, indeed, if the country would permit the matter to be dropped if there were evidence of a desire on the part of Congress to do so. The nation-wide evidences of interest evoked by the initiation of the Newlands inquiry show that the people of the country—shippers, consumers and investors, as well as railway men themselves—are alive to the fact that the railway situation is highly unsatisfactory and that steps must be taken without unnecessary delay to make it possible for the railroads to meet the growing needs of the nation.

From reports received here it seems as though almost every commercial organization and business interest in the country were engaged in studying the railroad question. The Chamber of Commerce of the United States has been conducting an elaborate inquiry into various phases of the subject for many months past. Many local and state commercial bodies in every part of the country have committees engaged in study of the problem and have indicated a desire to come here and present their views. National organizations of manufacturers, lumbermen, coal operators, wholesale and retail dealers, have expressed through resolutions their desire for the unification of the system of railway regulation. The National Industrial Traffic League, speaking from the viewpoint of shippers using the railways, has indorsed exclusive federal regulation providing it is accomplished in such a way as to give full protection and prompt adjustment in matters relating to transportation within the states.

Many Interests Studying Problem.

All these organizations represent primarily the shippers of the country, but they are not the only ones who are taking a hand in the discussion. The investors of the nation, through their own associations and through committees representing the savings banks and other financial organizations, are preparing to show the necessity of improving railroad credit and protecting the rights of those whose money is invested in railway securities. Finally the railroads themselves, being vitally concerned in the improvement of existing conditions, are planning to submit their views through their executives, operating officials and traffic experts and to assert their willingness to accept far reaching federal regulation along lines that will enable them to attract capital and to provide the facilities needed for the prompt and efficient handling of the country's transportation business.

Main Trouble Is Too Many Masters.

Not all of these interests are in accord as to the remedies that should be adopted. There seems to be a general agreement, however, that many of the difficulties which confront the railroads and which make it impossible for them to meet the requirements of the nation's commerce promptly and satisfactorily arise from the haphazard and often conflicting measures of regulation that have been adopted from time to time by the federal government and the forty-eight states and that what is needed is a well ordered, systematic scheme of federal regulation that shall cover the whole country and make it possible for the railroads to provide the extensions and improved facilities so badly needed, while at the same time protecting fully the public interests.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

VOL. XVI. SUNBEAM, PENNINGTON COUNTY, MINNESOTA, FRIDAY, JANUARY 5, 1917. NO.43

THE LOCAL NEWS.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Hyland were Oklee visitors Tuesday.

A number of the people of this vicinity attended Catholic church at Rhoda last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter McAndress called at the LaCounte home on Sunday afternoon.

There will be a masquerade ball at the Wojnarowski Hall on January 18th. Everybody invited.

Ole Skreland and Alfred and Arthur Olson left for the pineries on Wednesday.

The weather has been very fine the past week, and it has been comfortable working outdoors.

Elling Kemmetson visited at the home of his son Karl Klemmetson and family last Sunday.

There was a large crowd in attendance at the masquerade ball held at the Wojnarowski Hall, on Saturday last.

Henry Hyland is busy sawing up the summer's fire wood for the neighboring farmers this week with his gasoline saw rig.

Quite a number of the eleven towns settlers are being tempted to go to the pineries this winter, as wages are very high up there.

Miss Ella, Marie and Elsie Causin, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hyland, Otto and Harry Causin visited at the Elling Klemmetson home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Causin and family, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Parnow and Mrs. Elling Klemmetson had New Year's dinner at the James O'Brien home.

The regular session of the Minnesota State Legislature met at St. Paul, Tuesday, and the first thing they will have to do is to elect a speaker for the lower house.

Miss Elida Klemmetson, Miss Ella, Marie and Elsie Causin, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Parnow, Otto Causin, Edward Klemmetson and Abel Bost were pleasant callers at Sunbeam New Year's evening.

The case of John Homme V. S. the Town of Highlanding tried in Justice Court one week ago yesterday, was decided in favor of Mr. Homme. This was not an attempt made by the township to avoid payment of debts, but it was a question to be determined in court, as to whether they were liable for this claim, and we are of the opinion that Justice Thoreson was right in his decision and would be sustained in District Court.

Mr. and Mrs. William Quirk and family, John Quirk and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Hunt, spent New Year's afternoon and evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Parnow of Kratka township. If some of the people have an idea that the people of the eleven townships have nothing to eat, as Mr. Swanson says, they should have been present at Mr. Parnow's, and partaken of supper and lunch. Mr. Parnow was one of our early homestead settlers, who spent his first winter in a 12x16 shanty. A visit to his farm to-day would convince anyone that Mr. Parnow was living in a land of plenty, with his large stock barn full of high bred cattle, and his granary bins filled with oats grown two years ago. His large comfortable well furnished farm residence also indicates prosperity. Mr. Parnow did not inherit any of this prosperity, as he came here a poor man, and has made what he has got by farming on the eleven townships, and he is far from being in a position of calling on any assistance to "tide" him through the winter.

BORN to Mr. and Mrs. Lars Hyland last Sunday, a fine baby boy.

Willie Bernow gave a social visiting party, at his home last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. William Quirk, were pleasant callers at Sunbeam last Friday.

Alfred Hammersten is having cord wood chopped on his Red Lake River farm, to dry for next winter's market.

We learn that Wm. A. Swanson will move to the southern part of the state in the spring, where he has a big farm rented.

Andrew Nelson will run his saw mill this winter. This will be a good opportunity to get some native lumber sawed. Poplar makes the very best of dimension lumber, and the inch lumber is far superior for roof boards to the poorer grades of fine lumber.

We are sending out a number of subscription statement this week, and we kindly ask those who receive them to please remit this small amount. It is a small amount for you, but when you consider the large number of those delinquent accounts that we are carrying, that it makes a large difference to us.

The Thief River Falls News-Press publishes a lot of New Year's wishes of county officials and business men. So we thought we would make a New Year's wish. Here it is; We wish we could have a good substantial bridge built across the Red Lake River at Highlanding this spring, and are going to do some tall hustling to make our wish come true.

The article in the last week's News-Press rather woke us up to the fact that there might be some people, who had lost their crops suffering for the necessities of life. We have been making inquiries but have found none up to date. If there is an individual living in Highlanding that is unable to procure food for God's sake don't be bashful, let our town board know of your necessity, and they wont extend much sympathy, but they will get you the flour and meat.

MAYFIELD DOINGS.

G. B. Tweit visited the Langie home on last Friday.

Ella and Annie Hegland called at the Langie home New Years.

Ole Hegland made a trip to Hazel on Monday last.

Mr. T. O. Langie was a caller at Plummer last Monday.

Joren and Ella Hegland spent Sunday afternoon at the Lacounts.

Mr. and Mrs. Grunde Austad spent Sunday afternoon at the Langie home.

Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Dahle visited Mr. and Mrs. George Olson on New Years Day.

Gunhild and Olina Langie called at the Hegland home Thursday evening.

Bessie, Joren and Emma Hegland called at the Langie home Saturday evening.

The young folks who spent their Christmas vacation at home left for Moorhead Monday to continue their study.

TEUTONS ANSWER PRESIDENT'S NOTE; ASK CONFERENCE

GERMANY IN FORMAL REPLY TO AMERICAN PEACE SUGGESTIONS PROPOSES MEETING OF DELEGATES OF BELLIGERENTS.

AN IMMEDIATE EXCHANGE OF VIEWS IS SUGGESTED

Berlin Joined By Austria, Turkey and Bulgaria In Urging Conference—Readiness to Collaborate with U. S. to Prevent Future Strife Hinted.

Berlin, Dec. 27.—Germany has proposed a meeting of delegates of belligerents in its answer to President Wilson's peace note.

Its formal reply to the American peace suggestion was made in a note handed to United States Ambassador James W. Gerard at Berlin and at the same time to the American diplomatic representatives at the capitals of the other Central Powers—Vienna, Sofia and Constantinople.

To Prevent Future Wars.

The note also hints that the "great work of prevention of future wars can only be begun after the end of the present struggle of nations," and declares "when this moment shall have come," Germany will be "ready with pleasure to collaborate entirely with the United States at this exalted task."

The German note holds the "most appropriate road to reach the desired result," is an immediate meeting of delegates of belligerent states at a neutral place."

Text of Germany's Reply.

The text read:

"The highminded suggestions made by the president of the United States of America in order to create a basis for the establishment of a lasting peace has been received and considered by the imperial government in the friendly spirit which was expressed in the president's communication.

"The President points out that which he has at heart and leaves open the choice of the road.

"To the imperial government the immediate exchange of views seems the most appropriate road in order to reach the desired result. It therefore begs, in the sense of its declaration made on Dec. 12, which offered its hand for peace negotiations, to propose immediate meeting of delegates of the belligerent states at a neutral place.

"Also the imperial government is of the opinion that the great work of prevention of future wars can be begun only after the end of the present struggle of nations.

"It (the German government) will, when this moment shall have come, be ready with pleasure to collaborate entirely with the United States at this exalted task."

The answer finishes with the usual terms of international politeness.

ALL ABLEBODIED MEN HELD LIABLE TO SERVE IN ARMY

Services Required in War Time Without Further Act of Congress Under Defense Act.

Washington, Dec. 30.—Every ablebodied male citizen of the United States between the ages of 18 and 45 years is held liable for services in the national guard in war time, without further act of Congress, by War department regulations for the government of the guard, issued under the national defense act. In a circular prepared nearly two months ago, but made public Thursday, the Militia bureau directs that where a national guard regiment is called out for war service, a reserve training battalion to fill the vacancies at the front shall be organized out of the national guard reserve and by voluntary enlistment.

The language follows closely that of the national defense act, in which the unorganized militia is defined as including every ablebodied male citizen within the prescribed age limit of those who have declared their intention of becoming citizens.

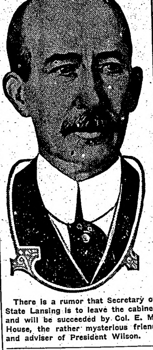
"Sleet" Out of Style, Call It Glaze.

Washington, Dec. 28.—The old fashioned "sleet" is going out of style this winter before the newer "ice storm" and "glaze," weather bureau officials reported in their campaign for more accurate terminology for various kinds of frozen rain. Sleet is officially described as small globules of rain frozen before striking the earth. When rain freezes and forms a glassy coating on the ground, trees and wires, the condition is called a glaze, and when this is severe and accompanied by wind it is reported as an ice storm.

COL. E. M. HOUSE



There is a rumor that Secretary of State Lansing is to leave the cabinet and will be succeeded by Col. E. M. House, the rather mysterious friend and adviser of President Wilson.

DO NOT DENY STRIKE IS NEAR

BROTHERHOOD CHIEFS PUT NEXT STEP UP TO MEMBERS.

Send Telegrams to 400,000 Employes—Displeased With Threatening Attitude of Railroads.

New York, Jan. 1.—Special circulars putting up to the 400,000 members responsibility for the next step to be taken by the railroad brotherhoods in their controversy with the railroads over the application and interpretation of the Adamson act, were sent broadcast by telegraph after a conference of the four brotherhood chiefs here.

Announcement of the action taken was made by William G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, prior to his departure for the West.

Four Chiefs Issue Statement.

He was accompanied by the other brotherhood leaders whose conference with the railway managers Thursday resulted in a disagreement. Earlier in the day the four chiefs issued a statement over their signatures declaring the attitude of the railroads threatened to wipe out the benefits that should accrue to the men from the passage of the Adamson act and asserting that for that reason "the entire situation is to be placed before the membership."

The chiefs refused to say whether the action was a veiled threat of another strike vote such as brought about the eight-hour day legislation.

SLAVS CONTEST EVERY INCH OF GROUND BEFORE TEUTONS

Von Mackensen Reaches Dumitresti and Captures Several Villages and Many Prisoners.

London, Dec. 30.—Russian forces under the command of General Sakharoff, one of the foremost military strategists of the czar, swung from the Galician front to bolster the Roumanians, battered by the sledge hammer strokes of Von Mackensen and Von Falkenhayn, are stubbornly contesting every inch of ground, though attacked from three sides by the invaders.

Field Marshal von Mackensen has reached Dumitresti, about 12 miles northwest of Rimnik-Sarat, and northeast of the town troops under his command have captured several villages.

The province of Dobrudja now is almost cleared of defenders.

CARRANZA WILL NOT RATIFY PROTOCOL; DESIRES PARLEY

First Chief Makes New Appeal for Recall of the Pershing Expedition.

Washington, Dec. 30.—Continuation of the conferences of the Mexican-American joint commission, without regard to the question of withdrawing American troops from Mexico, is proposed by General Carranza in his message refusing to ratify the Atlantic City protocol. Coupled with this suggestion, however, is a new appeal for recall of the Pershing expedition and a declaration that such action by the United States would permit adjustment of all remaining questions "within a week."

Reserve Bank Agent in France.

Paris, Dec. 30.—The appointment of the Bank of England as agent for the Federal Reserve bank of New York is likely to be followed by the conclusion of a similar arrangement with the Bank of France. The Journal says this development demonstrates that the relations between the United States and the Allies are more cordial than might have been believed at the time the Federal Reserve board last month warned United States banks against the acceptance of treasury notes of the belligerents.

SCANDINAVIANS IN NOTES TO WILSON INDORSE HIS VIEW

NORWAY, SWEDEN AND DENMARK SEND IDENTICAL COMMUNICATIONS PLEDGING "DEEPEST SYMPATHY" IN PEACE.

NATIONS MAKE NO DIRECT OFFER OF CO-OPERATION

Holland Is Not Likely to Take Any Action Owing to Feeling There That It Might Appear Unneutral to One Side or the Other.

Washington, Jan. 1. — The three Scandinavian nations, Norway, Sweden and Denmark, through identical notes, the Norwegian copy of which was handed the State department by Minister Bryn, have expressed their lively interest in President Wilson's proposals looking towards the "establishment of a durable peace," and pledged their "deepest sympathy" with all efforts to shorten the war.

Unlike the Swiss government which offered to help in any way, "no matter how modest," the Scandinavian countries make no direct offer of co-operation. This fact attracted particular interest because Norway, especially has been one of the greatest sufferers from the war among the neutrals. The State department made public the Norwegian note without comment and in line with the policy of silence adopted by President Wilson and Secretary Lansing, no other official information concerning peace moves was forthcoming during the day.

Text of Norwegian Note.

The text of the note follows:

"It is with the most lively interest that the Norwegian government has learned of the proposals which the President of the United States has just made with the purpose of facilitating measures looking toward the establishment of a durable peace. while at the same time seeking to avoid any interference which could cause pain to legitimate feelings.

"The Norwegian government would consider itself failing in its duties towards its own people and towards all humanity if it did not express its deepest sympathy with all efforts which could contribute to put an end to the ever increasing suffering and the moral and material losses. It has every hope that the initiative efforts of President Wilson will arrive at a result worthy of the high purpose which inspired it."

Holland Not Likely to Act.

South American nations, it was indicated in diplomatic quarters, will not send communications regarding the President's note on the official understanding that it was addressed to them largely for their own information and not to solicit action.

Holland, whose attitude has been the subject of much speculation, also was said to be unlikely to take any action owing to the feeling there that it might appear unneutral to one side or the other and militate against the location of the eventual peace conference in that country. Beyond the fact that the Spanish cabinet has not yet decided on Spain's action, no further information has come to the Spanish embassy.

As to the belligerents, Turkey's reply to the President's note, practically identical with those of Germany and Austria, was made public by the State department and Bulgaria's is expected.

Allied Reply Is Ready.

Dispatches from London that the Allied reply to the German proposals was ready, and probably would be sent by Wednesday, followed shortly by their reply to the President's note, were read with interest here, but drew no comment.

Entente diplomats still profess to be profoundly puzzled about the fundamental purpose of the President's note and are undecided whether it was designed primarily to promote peace or for America's own guidance. They expect, however, that their government's reply will be short and appreciative.

MEXICO BUYS WAR SUPPLIES

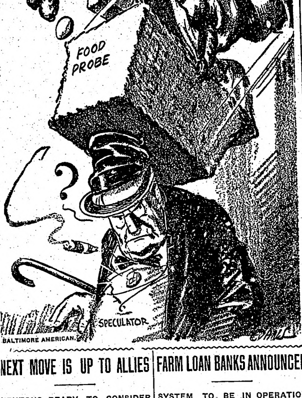
Carranza Sends Million Pesos Gold to Japan for Munitions.

El Paso, Dec. 30.—The Carranza government lately has transmitted a million pesos gold to Japan for war munitions, it was learned here from a well informed source. One shipment of munitions already has been received, according to this source, and the second is due. It is said to consist of artillery shells and field guns, including anti-aircraft cannon.

World Trade Agreement Is Urged.

Washington, Dec. 29.—Congressman Cordell Hull of Tennessee, in a statement just issued, declared that neutral nations should exert their influence to secure the adoption in any peace treaty that may be negotiated between the belligerent powers of a provision for an international trade agreement congress. Mr. Hull announced his intention to introduce a resolution in the house. He believes such an agreement vital to the maintenance of peaceful relations between the powers because of the trade rivalries.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT



BALTIMORE AMERICAN.

NEXT MOVE IS UP TO ALLIES

TEUTONS READY TO CONSIDER ALTERNATIVE PROPOSAL.

President Not to Communicate German Answer to Peace Note Pending Receipt of Message From Allies.

Washington, Dec. 30.—The peace negotiations of which President Wilson is the medium have taken on a much broader scope.

Germany, it transpires, has advised Mr. Wilson that its proposal of a conference of the belligerents is not to be regarded as a condition precedent upon which it consents to discuss peace with its enemies.

Would Not Shun Allies' Plan.

The German government proposed a conference in the belief that such would be the most effective means of ascertaining whether there exists any basis for an agreement to end the war at this time.

If the Entente Allies are opposed to meeting the Teutonic powers in a conference, and have any alternative proposal to make for achieving an exchange of views of peace conditions by the belligerents, Germany stands ready to give the suggestion serious consideration.

The view of the German government, as communicated to the administration, is that if the Allies sincerely desire peace at this time but merely object to the German suggestion of a conference, they will make an alternative proposal.

In this way Germany has informed the president that it does not intend to be blamed for "closing the door in the face of peace." It is willing to negotiate for a peace discussion so long as President Wilson believes there is any possibility of establishing a basis therefor.

Squarely Up to Allies.

The next move, therefore, is put squarely up to the Allies. Not until their reply to his peace note is received will the president be able to determine whether there is a possibility of bringing about a peace discussion, either by a conference or other means.

WAR NOT NECESSARY TO KEEP NATION VIRILE

Biological Knowledge Does Not Support Claim of War Enthusiasts, Scientist Asserts.

New York, Dec. 30.—War enthusiasts who maintain that a nation will lose its inherited, virile virtues by not going to war, are not supported in their story by present biological knowledge, in the opinion of Dr. Jacques Loeb, head of the department of experimental biology of the Rockefeller Institute.

Dr. Loeb addressed the biological section of the American Association for the Advancement of Science on "Biology and the War." He contended that "the struggle for existence" and "survival of the fitest" are no laws of nature in the sense in which the term, "law," is used in the exact sciences.

"The biology of which the war enthusiasts make use is essentially antiquated," declared Dr. Loeb.

Dutch Wish Wilson Success.

The Hague, Dec. 29 (Via London).—Trades unions, social welfare societies, religious bodies of all denominations and other organizations are wishing President Wilson success in what they regard his efforts to bring about peace The Dutch socialist party sent this message: "The Dutch socialist party supports in the strongest way your initiative in favor of peace, and appeals to the belligerent powers to accept your proposal." The newspapers generally regard the situation as being very hopeful.

FARM LOAN BANKS ANNOUNCED

SYSTEM TO BE IN OPERATION WITHIN SIXTY DAYS.

St. Paul Selected As One of Twelve Cities to Be Banking Center Under Plan.

Washington, Dec. 29.—Twelve cities in which are to be located the federal farm loan banks have been announced by the farm loan board, and it is expected that within 60 days the new system will be in operation, ready to make the loans for which applications already are pouring in from every part of the country.

The banks will be established in Springfield, Mass.: Baltimore, Md.; Columbia, S. C.; New Orleans, La.; Houston, Tex.; St. Louis, Mo.; Louisville, Ky.; St. Paul, Minn.; Omaha, Neb.; Wichita, Kan.; Spokane, Wash.; and Berkeley, Cal.

Stock Books Open Jan. 2.

Stock subscription books of the banks will be opened within 10 days, probably about January 2, to be open for 30 days. It is expected, however, that the government will have to supply most of the $8,000,000 capital under that section of the law which empowers the Secretary of the Treasury to make up the unsubscribed stock.

Temporary directors, five of each bank, will be named, probably within the next three weeks, by the board. As soon as the banks have been organized and borrowers have subscribed to $200,000 of the stock of each bank, the temporary directors will surrender their authority to boards of nine directors each, six of whom will be named by the farmer borrowers and three by the farm loan board.

Each Borrower Must Subscribe.

Each borrower must subscribe to stock in the bank from which he borrows to the extent of 5 per cent of his loan and the original subscribers to the capital stock are requested to surrender their holdings as they may be needed to meet this situation.

RESTORED APE MAN, MISSING LINK, SHOWN BY SCIENTIST

"Pithecanthropus Erectus," Declared to Be Accurate Reproduction of Man's Darwinian Ancestor.

New York, Dec. 30. — A machine which "shows how sound looks," a restored "pithecanthropus erectus," which roamed the earth 500,000 years ago as the "missing link," a discussion as to whether man has been on this continent 125,000 years or 300,000, and many addresses on modern economic and humanitarian subjects, made up the interest at the various sessions of the American Association for the Advancement of Science here yesterday.

The 500,000-year-old "pithecanthropus" was introduced to modern society by Prof. James H. McGregor of the department of zoology of Columbia university. He explained that the habitat of "pe," as he was called for brevity was Java. Virtually all there is of the original "ape man" is the skull and jawbone. The restored figure was declared by Prof. McGregor to be an accurate reproduction of man's Darwinian ancestor.

To Await Adamson Law Decision.

New York, Dec. 28.—Pending the decision of the United States supreme court on the constitutionality of the Adamson eight hour law, the railroad managers declare they will not be parties to any action that might tend to nullify or anticipate in any way the court proceedings. The railway workers of the country are being notified that the Adamson law will be ignored by the railroad companies in making up payrolls after Jan. 1 and "until such time as the issue is finally determined in the courts."

The People's Physique.

Some consideration should be given to the effect that the change in locomotion will make upon the physique of the people; for even the farmers are now using the automobile, and the horse is used for little but draft purposes. Will not the race become lax and nerveless that lolls upon soft cushions, protected in every way from the hard joltings of the road? More and more, machinery is brought into service, and less and less physical exertion is required in the carrying on of open-air occupations. Man touches a button, and a gas engine does the rest. This makes things easier; but the question is whether it confers an actual benefit in the end.—Mobile Register.

BATTLE OF SOMME TERMED SWEEPING TRIUMPH BY HAIG

BRITISH COMMANDER ON WESTERN FRONT SAYS GERMAN ARMIES WERE SAVED BY BAD WEATHER.

'ALLIES ABLE TO OVERTHROW GERMANY WHEN TIME COMES'

Leader Believes Anglo-French Troops Can Win War in West—New Armies Enter Battle With Determination and Confidence in Their Power.

London, Jan. 1. — The battle of the Somme is pictured as a sweeping triumph for allied arms in a detailed report by General Sir Douglas Haig which covers operation from July 1 to November 18.

General Haig terms the battle a triumph in which the German western armies were only saved from complete collapse and a decisive defeat by a protracted period of unfavorable weather which prevented the Anglo-French force from taking full advantage of their successful advance. He declares that nevertheless it was a triumph which proved beyond doubt the ability of the Allies to overthrow Germany "when the time comes."

"Allies Can Win in West."

The British commander believes the Allies can win the war on the western front.

"I desire to add a few words as to future prospects," he says at the close of the dispatch.

"The enemy's power has not yet been broken, nor is it yet possible to form an estimate of the time the war may last before the objects for which the Allies are fighting have been attained, but the Somme battle has placed beyond doubt the ability of the Allies to gain those objects.

"The German army, the mainstay of the Central Powers, suffered defeat on the Somme this year. Neither victors nor vanquished will forget this. Although bad weather has given the enemy a respite.

New Armies Confident.

"Our new armies entered battle with a determination to win and confidence in their power to do so. They have proved to themselves, to the enemy and to the world that this confidence is justified."

The opening of the dispatch outlines the origin of the Allies' decision to begin the Somme operations. The principal of an offensive campaign during the summer of 1916 had already been decided on by all the Allies," said the report.

"Various possible alternatives on the western front had been studied and discussed by General Joffre and myself and we were in complete agreement as to the front to be attacked by the combined French and British armies. Preparation for the offensive had made considerable progress, but the date was dependent on many doubtful factors.

Munitions Steadily Increase.

"Subject to the necessity of commencing operations before the summer was too far advanced and with due regard to the general situation, I desired to postpone my attack as long as possible. The British armies were growing in numbers and the supply of munitions was steadily increasing, but a large proportion of the officers and men were still far from being fully trained and the longer the attack was deferred the more efficient they would become.

"On the other hand, the Germans were continuing to press their attacks at Verdun and it was evident that the strain might become too great unless timely action was taken. Accordingly I agreed that the attack should be launched whenever the general situation required it with as great a force as might then be available.

Three-fold Object.

"By the end of May the pressure on the Italian front had assumed such serious proportions that the Russian campaign was opened early in June and the successes gained against the Austrians at once caused a movement of German troops from the western to the eastern front. This, however, did not lessen the pressure on Verdun and therefore it was agreed that the combined French and British offensive would not be postponed beyond the end of June.

"The object of that offensive was three-fold. To relieve pressure on Verdun, to assist our allies in the other theaters of war by stopping any further transfer of German troops from the western front, to wear down the strength of the forces opposed to us."

Jack Rabbit to Cut H. C. L.

Amarillo, Texas, Dec. 30. — Belated reports from the All-Pan Handle of Texas Jack Rabbit drive, held in a united effort to reduce the cost of meat, indicate that not less than 10,000 jack rabbits have been killed in the various drives. Hereford, Texas, reported 1,000 rabbits killed and sold to a Galveston brokerage concern for shipment to New York all dressed. St. Francis reported 500 killed and one drive out of several in Swisher county reports 750 killed. The hunts will continue throughout the week.

What's Doing in Minnesota

Peterson, Minn.—Result of a village referendum conducted here was that Peterson is too common a name in Minnesota. The people voted for a change. "Amidon" was the most favored substitute.

St. Paul. — Governor J. A. A. Burnquist at a recent interview indicated no additional appointments to state offices in Minnesota will be announced before the close of the legislature, but did not commit himself irrevocably.

St. Paul.—State inheritance tax revenue of $730,744.03, collected during the last five months, exceeded by approximately $70,000 that of the entire fiscal year preceding, according to figures given out by State Treasurer Gooding.

Winona.—Theodore Tsatsos, a Winona confectioner, returned to Greece to wed. After the marriage plans had been frustrated twice by death, the ceremony was performed. Friends here have received a cablegram, dated Christmas day, telling of the death of the bride Christmas day.

Minneapolis.—A mining experiment station, to be built at a cost of $175,000, practically is assured for the University of Minnesota this year, it was made known after a conference between Secretary of the Interior Franklin K. Lane and Representatives Thomas D. Schall and Halvor Steenerson at Washington.

Nicollet. — Men prominent in the dairying industry in this state will address the thirty-ninth annual convention of the Minnesota State Dairymen's association at Lake City, January 16 to 19, according to the completed program of the meeting made public here by F. D. Currier, secretary of the organization.

St. Paul. — Approximately 700,000 acres of northern Minnesota land will be subjected to a soil survey if the Legislature passes a bill that Northwest development committee of the Association of Commerce and the Minneapolis Civic and Commerce association will recommend. It will be introduced by Asher Howard of Minneapolis.

Washington, D. C.—Attention is called sharply to the fact that the white pine blister disease has been found in western Wisconsin and along the border of Minnesota by Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the American Forestry association. "The disease has a strong foothold in New England and other northeastern states," said Mr. Pack.

Llano Grande. — John Matchefts of Virginia, Minn., private in Battery D, First Minnesota Field artillery, died here of bullet wounds received after a dispute with James Macenespie, private in the same battery, over the possession of one dollar. Macenespie made his escape after the shooting but was captured later and charged with the killing.

Duluth.—High prices of coal in Duluth have drawn the attention of the federal government, and the department of justice has sent special investigators here to investigate conditions and to learn if there has been collusion of dealers to hold up prices in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. Duluth is the distributing point for the entire northwest.

St. Paul.—The 1917 Minnesota legislature, the 40th lawmaking body since statehood was attained in 1858, convened at the state capitol Tuesday, Jan. 2, at noon. On the opening day the members took the oath of office and the two houses organized. The house was to elect one of its members speaker, and both houses will elect their principal clerks, sergeants at arms and chaplains.

New Ulm. — Representatives from nearly every city in the Red River and Mississippi valleys in the Dakotas and Minnesota are expected to attend the meeting of the Tri-State Flood Control association here January 10. It is expected the delegates will decide upon some plan of flood control to be presented to the legislatures of the three states.

Hibbing. — The so-called Hibbing graft cases were to come up Dec. 30 in district court before Judge Hughes and it was expected arguments attacking the indictments would be heard there. H. B. Fryberger of Duluth was to be the chief counsel for the defense, assisted by Mayor Victor Power of Hibbing, one of the indicted persons, and Joseph Austin of Chisholm.

Minneapolis.—Farmer members of the Legislature are out to obtain a change in the financial policy of the Minnesota State Fair, and in the makeup of the board of directors. To this end they are urging the various county agricultural societies to send their delegates unpledged to the state meeting in Minneapolis, January 9. At that meeting there will be at least three vacancies to be filled. If F. W. Murphy of Wheaton is elected president, as now seems likely, there will be four, for Mr. Murphy's term as director does not expire for two years.

Virginia. — An exciting trip with alleged bootleggers in which weapons were used in making arrests was related by Indian Agent Victor Ellis in Federal court before Commissioner O. A. Poirier at the arraignment of Joseph Voich on a charge of introducing liquor into Indian territory.

Virginia. — Agitation fostered by the Industrial Workers of the World among men employed in the sawmills here of the Virginia and Rainy Lake Lumber company, said to be one of the largest of its kind in the world, employing 1,100 men, may cause the suspension of the plant for the winter.

STATE DEPOSITS YIELD $3,500,000 IN ROYALTIES, TAXES AND OTHER REVENUES.

FAIR PROPERTIES BIG ASSET

Represent Double Original Investment According to Report of Retiring Secretary—Net Cash Gain of $91,779 Made in Four Years.

St. Paul.

In a record breaking year in the iron mining industry in Minnesota that is now ending, the state was directly enriched more than $3,500,000 by royalties, taxes and other revenue derived through the deposits of iron within its borders, State Auditor J. A. O. Preus announces. Approximately 45,000,000 tons of iron ore have been shipped in the last 12 months from state and privately owned mines in Minnesota, according to reports to the auditor.

This great total is far in excess of the 1915 output and eclipses the previous high record of 1913. Shipments from state owned mines reached the 4,000,000 ton record mark, showing that those properties were the scenes of as great activity as the privately owned properties.

"Minnesota owns about one-tenth of the known, developed, marketable ore within its confines," said Mr. Preus. "the total of the last official estimates being 1,481,919,783 tons, of which 143,891,603 tons is in school, university and other state lands. The state receives 25 cents a ton royalty. Out of 30 opened mines, 21 were on the shipping list this year."

Fair Is Big State Asset.

Featuring a statement disclosing "some startling facts regarding the 'terrible burden' the Minnesota State Fair has been to the taxpayers of the state," and showing a net cash gain of $91,779 from the last four fairs, the report of J. C. Simpson, retiring secretary of the Minnesota State Agricultural society has been presented to Governor J. A. A. Burnquist. The secretary asserts that the fair properties are worth $1,728,565, and represent $2.65 for every $1 of original investment.

The comparisons include direct state appropriations of $15,000 a year in 1913 and 1914 and $10,000 a year for the two succeeding years, also net cash gains from fairs of $34,945 in 1913, $12,273 in 1914, $27,133 in 1915 and $16,828 in 1916. Earnings for the four year period total $45,348 in addition, making a total gain of $187,127 as reported.

"It must be gratifying to the people of Minnesota to know that they have such a magnificent institution as the Minnesota State Fair which, in addition to all the benefits they have gained from it, has a property worth $2.60 for every dollar put into it," continues Secretary Simpson. "While it is contrary to the laws of nature to commercialize any educational institution, and make it return money dividends upon capital invested, this has been the case with the Minnesota State Fair."

For Taxation Conference.

A movement has been started by Senator George H. Gardner of Brainerd for the organization of a state conference on taxation among representative men from all parts of the state during the session of the Legislature, probably late in February.

The proposal is for a series of conferences to aid the Legislature in bringing about important and necessary changes in Minnesota laws relating to taxation, as explained by Senator Gardner.

Solves School Problems.

Minnesota gradually is solving her own problem as affecting the encouragement of individual talent among grade school pupils, a modern idea of educational system. The twenty-first annual report of the inspectors of State graded schools, filed with the Governor, shows that whereas one teacher was responsible for forty-four pupils sixteen years ago, the present average enrollment per teacher is twenty-eight.

Blame Demurrage Rates.

Minnesota railroads given an inning in the hearing before the state railroad and warehouse commission on their application for permission to increase demurrage charges on intrastate traffic, introduced testimony by traffic experts that car shortage relief has resulted from higher demurrage rates in other states. The experts denied that the advances of demurrage charges increased railroad revenue.

Solem Gets New Trial.

Ole O. Solem, convicted in Jackson county of the murder of his mother-in-law, Sigri Halderson, it being charged that he gave her poison November 28, 1914, causing her death eight days later, is awarded a new trial on his appeal to the state supreme court. The court reverses the lower court after finding that, while the evidence sustains the conclusion that the death was caused by poison, it is insufficient to sustain a finding that Solem administered it. THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR
HARRIETT G. HUNT, PUBLISHER

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

As a resident of eastern Pennington county, whose home and interests are here, we can not afford to let an article published in last week's Thief River Falls News-Press, written by Mr. Swanson, of Rhoda go unanswered. There is no denying the fact, that a certain number of people lost both this and last year's crop, but that any such conditions exist as pictured by Mr. Swanson, we positively deny, and he had better post up on the poor law, before airing his views in the public press. In the first place the County Commissioners have no more to do with the looking after the poor than President Wilson has. Our sympathies goes out to any unfortunate individual who is unable to procure the necessities of life, and there are provisions made to take care of them by the public at public expense. The Town of Highlanding and other towns of eastern Pennington County are able to provide the necessities of life to any individual or family that are unable to provide for themselves. We do not know how the other towns are situated in this respect but we do know that the Town of Highlanding have got the cash ready in the treasury provided for that purpose, to promptly provide for any poor cases that are brought to the attention of our town board.

So far as the sympathy of the News-Press and the people of Thief River Falls are concerned, we thank them for their sympathy, but they had better use it at home to provide for the people that need help to "tide" them through the winter. We wish also to call their attention to the fact that when the delinquent tax list is published this month, that the town of Highlanding will only occupy a small space in it, as we pay our taxes and can take care of our own poor and so can the other eastern towns of Pennington county.

Now Mr. Swanson if you know of a single case of actual want in your town of Deer Park, make yourself a committee of one to promptly report it to the Chairman of your town board. If there is a single individual in the town of Highlanding that is unable to provide provisions for themselves and families, promptly report it to D. A. Kolestrand, Chairman of this township, and when the town of Highlanding gets so hard up that they can't buy them provisions we will call on Thief River Falls.

We know that the cities and villages would be more than pleased to have that door opened for the County Commissioners to provide for the poor, under the old graft law, which was repealed through the efforts of the Farmers Alliance, and the township system established. But the farmers are not going to let them do it, so make all your complaints Mr. Swanson to the Chairman of the town board of your township, as the County Commissioners have nothing to do with looking after the poor, except the poor people of eastern Pennington County who want a bridge across Red Lake river at Highlanding.

News of great interest to the northwest was given when the Secretary of War formerly endorsed the bill introduced by Representative Steenerson and Volstad of this state. This bill as briefly outlined will permit Minnesota and the Two Dakotas to join with the United States Government in an effort to prevent floods and to control the flood waters in the Red River of the North.

This bill, when it is passed will be the means of saving millions of dollars and thousands of acres of land that otherwise would be inundated at certain portions of each year. It will also be the means of opening up the "land of opportunity" to hundreds of new settlers and will redound to the credit of the states involved in the drainage project and the United States government.

There have been many hearings held in various parts of the state on this question and hundreds of farmers, settlers and business men have attended them and stated to the officials in charge that drainage is the only remedy for this condition that has caused so much damage to the crops.

It is thought that with endorsements of the Secretary of War that this measure will have a quick trip through the House and Senate and that relief will be speedily given the affected region.—T. R. Falls News-Press.

VOL. XVI. SUNBEAM, PENNINGTON COUNTY, MINNESOTA, FRIDAY, JANUARY 12, 1917. NO.44

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

THE LOCAL NEWS

Mrs. Kate Wichterman was a caller at Plummer this week.

Miss Grace Wilde returned to Oslo, Minn. last week, where she is teaching school.

Ye editor went over to Hazel to-day on a business trip, and will return by way of Mavie to-morrow.

Torgie Langie of Mayfield township was over to the Sunbeam farm after dry wood yesterday.

E. P. Heggestuen is getting out his year's supply of fire wood this week, from the Alfred Hammarsten timber.

Miss Elsie Wichterman, who has been attending school at Plummer, is now visiting with her mother, Mrs. K. Wichterman.

Halvor Walla of Kratka township has bought his year's supply of fire wood from Alfred Hammarsten, and is busy getting it out this week

CORD WOOD FOR SALE

I have cord wood for sale at my farm in the Town of Hickory. Price $2,50 per cord. Also have wood for sale at fifty cents a load. P. L. Wojnarowski, Section 7, Town of Hickory.

Several of the Mayfield farmers who were inveigled into selling cream to the Kratka Creamery this past summer, under the management of the wile Stephen, are still waiting for payment for the last cream delivered last fall.

Goodridge are endeavoring to build a creamery this spring. But in taking a careful look into the situation there are many drawbacks to a creamery at that point. First they have the farmer's co-operative creamery at Highlanding to compete with, that has been running for the past seven years. Then they have the Thief River Falls Creamery on the west, that can afford to pay higher prices for cream, with their large patronage. It takes a lot of home patronage enthusiasms to convince a farmer to sell butter fat five cents cheaper at Goodridge than the Thief River Falls price.

At the Highlanding Creamery meeting held last Monday the following officers were elected: Sever Nelson, President, Karl Korstad, Secretary. and Andrew Ellingson, Treasurer. The following were elected Board of Directors: Alfred Hammarsten, Walter McAndress, Arnt Giving and Ole Howard. The Creamery starts the year in a prosperous condition, with all debts paid. They will follow the last season's custom of paying cash for all cream delivered at the Creamery. Provisions will also be made to get the cream across the river from the south side.

The Merchants Bank of Red Lake Falls, seems to have been suffering from a pipe dream to the effect that School District No. 87 had borrowed seven hundred dollars of them. They will undoubtedly wake up when they get a letter explaining the matter to them, which was mailed them to-day, and dun the parties who did borrow seven hundred dollars of them some ten years ago, which is the district in the northwestern corner of Mayfield township. Carl G. Olson now living in the town of Mayfield, was Director of the district at the time, and we as a Notary Public acknowledged the paper for the Board, and tried to persuade them at that time to take a loan from the state, the same as District No. 87 were doing. We hope the bank will get this matter straightened Died: At his home at Elkhorn Wis., on January 1st, Frederick Baker. Deceased was a brother-in-law of the Editor's, having been married to our eldest sister in [illegible]. What about our New Year's resolutions? Are we keeping them?

Miss Leona and Hattie Wilde attended a party at Maaren's in Garnes Thursday evening.

Our teacher, Miss Constance Swenson, returned last Sunday evening, and school commenced Monday.

Mrs. Grunde Austad entertained the Ladies Aid of Ebenezer Church Wednesday. Quite a number of the ladies were present.

Life Belts Aren't Cork.

Most people if asked what life belts were composed of would answer, "Cork." But it isn't so nowadays. Cork life belts are nearly as dead as the dodo. The substance almost always used nowadays is a fibrous stuff called kapok, obtained from a plant that grows in Java. Kapok was used to stuff cushions for many years before the idea was hit on of using its beautifully buoyant qualities for nobler purposes. The most buoyant material known to be in existence is, however, made of poppy heads. Experimental buoys have been made of this material, but not with very satisfactory results. Poppy heads crush too easily to make a perfect substance.—Pearson's Weekly

LUCKY GREENSTONE.

It Is Found Only In a Wonderful Mine in South Africa.

Situated in the beautiful Kaap valley, in the Jamestown district of Barberton, Transvaal, there is a mine known by the name of Verdite. The name was given to it on account of the peculiar green stone found in the mine, which is unknown in any other part of the globe. Articles of jewelry and ornaments are made of verdite, and it has been called the lucky greenstone of South Africa.

The greenstone is a silicate of magnesia, or talc, colored green by nature in the course of its formation. Other silicates of magnesia may be mentioned here, peridot, serpentine, meerschaum and steatite. The mine, or rather hill, consists of three varieties of talc—green, white and black.

But a peculiar fact is that in the black talc there is present pure gold. Some of the finest specimens of gold bearing rock have been found at this mine. Every one knows that gold is found in quartz, pyrites, or even sea water, but scarcely ever has it been mentioned in books that gold exists in talc.

When the verdite rock has gone through the ordinary process of crushing and the gold has been extracted the waste (or what is called the slimes of a gold mine) is used in the manufacture of soap, grease, paint, paper, toilet powders, gas jets, electric insulators, crayons and many other articles of everyday use.

In fact, one might say that everything got from this mine can be used for some commercial purpose.—Chambers' Journal.

Make Most of Good Points.

Few of us can indulge our tastes as we would, so why not make the most of our good points, if we have any, and try to appear as attractive as our limited incomes permit? Women who are making displays and appearances beyond their means will never find in either the satisfaction they anticipate, for at every turn they will meet someone who will outshine them.

Accept your lot and learn to laugh and be happy. Life has treasures in store for each of us, but we shall not find them unless our search for them is made in the right and proper way.

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING

Save your Hair! Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine right now—Also stops itching scalp.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it!—Adv.

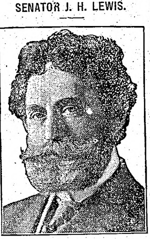
SENATE BACKS PRESIDENT

SENATOR J. H. LEWIS.



Senator Lewis of Illinois replied to Republican criticism of the President's course in sending peace notes to the European belligerents.

SECRETARY TUMULTY NAMED

MENTIONED IN CONNECTION WITH LEAK INQUIRY.

No Direct Charges Are Made and Strong Denial Is Forthcoming from Man Named.

Washington, Jan. 6—Names of members of President Wilson's official family, a "Mr. Bolling," the president's brother-in-law, and men high in eastern financial circles have been brought into the "leaks to Wall street" inquiry by Representative William R. Wood of Indiana.

Wood, author of the resolution asking investigation of whether there was a "leak" on information of President Wilson's peace note, was testifying before the house rules committee.

Makes No Charges.

He qualified his statements with a declaration that what information he had was only hearsay, and specifically stated he was making no charges against anyone.

The name of Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to the president, and Bernard Baruch, a Wall street operator, were linked by Mr. Wood.

Wood also declared that a Washington brokerage firm, F. A. Connolly & Co., of which "a Mr. Bolling," a brother of President Wilson's wife, is a member, had profited by stock transactions during the market flurry. Their deals were transacted by the New York firm of E. F Hutton & Co., Wood said.

Tumulty Makes Denial.

When Secretary Tumulty learned that Representative Wood had mentioned his name, he issued a formal statement demanding a public apology and denying flatly that he even knew of the president's peace note before it was made public.

AMERICAN NEUTRALITY QUESTIONED BY GERMANY

Cologne Gazette Raises Question—Suspects U. S. Is Waiting for Psychological Moment to Enter War.

Berlin, Jan. 4.—The question whether the United States intends to remain neutral, or whether President Wilson is playing for the psychological moment to enter the war, is raised by the Cologne Gazette. The question of American neutrality is now to the fore in the ceaseless talk of the peace situation.

There is no doubt the Germans want America to remain neutral but the Germans are not sure that America wants neutrality. The German public, in its analysis of recent developments, regard the American President as a sphynx.

APPROVES WILSON NOTE ASKING FOR TERMS OF PEACE

ADOPTS SUBSTITUTE FOR HITCHCOCK RESOLUTION AFTER THREE DAYS' DEBATE—ONE DEMOCRAT OPPOSED.

LEWIS SEES U. S. IN WAR IF STRUGGLE CONTINUES

Democratic Whip Makes Sensational Declaration During Discussion in Senate—Resolution as Approved, by Vote of 48 to 17, Does Not Indorse Entire Message.

Washington, Jan. 8. — Approval of President Wilson's request for a statement of peace terms from the European belligerents was voted by the Senate at the conclusion of three days of stirring debate, Democratic leaders suddenly decided to accept a form of resolution that would not commit the Senate to indorsement of the whole of the President's note and 10 Republicans of the Progressive group joined the majority in making the vote 48 to 17.

Senator Martine of New Jersey was the only Democrat to vote in the negative.

Lewis Predicts War.

Discussion of the subject reached a climax with a sensational declaration by Senator Lewis, chief spokesman for the Democrats, replying to Republican criticism of the President's course. Without referring directly to the submarine controversy, the senator said the United States could not keep out of the war if it continued and that America would not again accept misconception of orders or zeal of officers as an excuse for an injury to a citizen or property.

The chief objection urged against the original resolution offered by Senator Hitchcock was that it would indorse the President's offer to join in a movement to guarantee world peace and his declaration of the interest of the United States in small nations. Republicans joined Senator Lodge and others in this connection.

Substitute Resolution.

The resolution adopted was proposed by Senator Jones, Republican, of Washington and was accepted by Senator Hitchcock as a substitute for his own. It resolves:

"That the Senate approves and strongly indorses the request by the President in the diplomatic notes of December 18 to the nations now engaged in war, that those nations state the terms upon which peace might be discussed."

Debate Ends Suddenly.

The compromise ended debate when it appeared certain that action would be deferred.

The Hitchcock resolution read as follows:

"That the Senate approves and strongly indorses the action taken by the President in sending the diplomatic notes of December 18 to the nations now engaged in war suggesting and recommending that those nations state the terms upon which peace might be discussed."

REPLY "AN ARROGANT CRIME"

Kaiser Issues Order to Army—Urges Firm Stand.

London, Jan. 8.—Kaiser William regards the Allies' rejection of Germany's peace terms as "an arrogant crime" and responsibility is on them for further bloodshed, according to an order issued to the German army and navy, reported in Amsterdam dispatches.

The kaiser is quoted as saying that the Allies' "hunger for power" makes them desire destruction of Germany and as urging that the army and navy stand firm as steel to force the peace offered by Germany, but refused.

JUDGE SMASHES BLUE LAWS

North Dakota Jurist Order Newsstands Opened Sundays.

Bismarck, Jan. 8. — When Justice Robinson of the state supreme court found the "blue law" in force so stringently that he could not even buy a newspaper, it so aroused the justice's ire that he issued a written order directing the sheriff and police chief to "allow business places, drug stores, news and cigar stands to remain open on Sunday."

Embargo Arouses Norwegians.

London, Jan. 5.—A Copenhagen dispatch says most of the Norwegian papers have attacked the British minister in Christiania in connection with the embargo on coal proclaimed by Great Britain. The Norske Intelligenszdler reports that the Norwegian reply has been handed the British representative and leaves no doubt that Norway is loyally maintaining the export prohibitions regarding fish and other goods. The Gazette says that there is a great quantity of coal in Norway and no prospect of a shortage.

VILLA LOSES 1,500 TROOPS IN BATTLE FOUGHT AT JIMINEZ

BANDIT LEADER IS DECISIVELY DEFEATED, SUSTAINING LOSS OF FIFTEEN HUNDRED OF HIS FOLLOWERS.

BANDIT GENERAL LOPEZ REPORTED AMONG SLAIN

Villa Flees in Automobile With Government Cavalry in Hot Pursuit—Loot Taken From Torreon by Villistas Is Recovered by Carranza Forces.

Chihuahua City, Jan. 8.—Villa has been defeated at Jiminez by General Francisco Murguia, with a loss of 1,500 rebels dead, wounded and captured, with the noted rebel leader, Martin Lopez, and another Villa general among the slain, according to an official report received here from the Carranza commander.

Villa and his under chief Salazer, were said to be fleeing toward El Valle in an automobile, closely pursued by government cavalry.

Villa Leads in Person.

General Murguia stated that his command pushed back Villa's troops five miles, after coming into contact. Machine guns are credited with playing an important part in the offensive, in which both cavalry and infantry were heavily engaged. Villa, according to the report, personally led repeated cavalry attacks against Murguia's infantry, which were checked with heavy losses.

Besides Villa's losses in men, horses, ammunition, arms and other war material, General Murguia claims the recovery of many carloads of the loot brought by the Villa troops from Torreon.

Villa Flees in Auto.

Government cavalry is said to have killed about 50 members of Villa's body guard, which is protecting him in his escape by automobile.

General Murguia advised his subordinates here that he intends to keep up a hot pursuit, as Villa's forces are badly disorganized. The casualties of the government troops are put at 100 among them several of the higher officers.

Jiminez is 150 miles south of Chihuahua City. Many implements of war were captured by General Murguia's column, the dispatch added.

BANDITS KILL TWO OF POSSE

Band of Fifteen Robbers Fight to the Death.

Nowata, Okla., Jan. 8.—Two members of a posse were killed and one probably fatally wounded in a fight with 15 bandits 18 miles northeast of Nowata.

John Garretson and Marshal Bullock of Delaware were shot and killed and a son of Garretson was wounded.

The 15 men are blamed for recent bank robberies at Vinita, Skiatook, Nowata and Alluwe, in which many thousands of dollars have been stolen.

For Reunion of Christian Creeds.

Washington, Jan. 6.—A private letter from the Vatican received by Dr. A. Palmieri of the Library of Congress, a recognized writer on ecclesiastical subjects, announces that Pope Benedict XV is about to appoint a commission of four cardinals to renew a movement begun by Pope Leo XIII, and abandoned by Pope Pius X, looking to a reunion of Christianity and the cultivation of friendly relations with the Anglican church. A public announcement on the subject from Rome is expected shortly.

ALLIES LOSE DOBRUDJA FORT

ROUMANIANS DRIVEN FROM BRAILA BY TEUTONS.

Central Powers Gain Full Control in Wallachia—All of River Danube in Hands of German Forces.

Berlin, Jan. 8. — The capture of Braila, Roumania, chief commercial city, as officially reported, gives the Teutons full control of Wallachia.

The larger part of the Roumanian province of the Dobrudja now is in the hands of the Central Powers whose armies continue to advance through Great Wallachia into Moldavia.

Braila, an important commercial city of Great Wallachia, and on the west bank of the Danube, has been captured by German and Bulgarian troops. Several villages on the outskirts of Braila also have been occupied and Field Marshal von Mackensen's troops have taken 1,400 prisoners.

Teuton Forces Control.

Virtually all of the River Danube, from its source to its mouth, now is in the hands of the Teuton forces, who control all of the eastern bank and all but a few miles of the western bank. Galatz, 12 miles north of Braila, is the only important Roumanian town on the Danube yet in Roumanian hands.

Advancing through the mountains in Western Moldavia, Austro-German troops have gained additional ground and have captured several hundred prisoners. Between Rimnik-Sarat and Fokshani, Von Mackensen's men continue to progress and have occupied the towns of Slobozia and Rotesti.

SWISS ENDORSEMENT IS NOT UNANIMOUS

Some Opposition to Support of President Wilson in His Move for Peace.

Geneva, Jan. 6.—The Journal Democrate says President Schulthess and former President Motta and De Coppet voted against the recent Swiss note, supporting President Wilson's communication to the belligerents in the form that it was edited and issued, but that they were in the minority in the federal council. There is much discussion in the Swiss newspapers of a statement credited to the Cologne Gazette concerning neutral nations—"That the Swiss confederation has the greatest interest to see peace concluded rapidly because it is now impossible to foresee the future fate of the nations which have remained neutral up to the present."

Inquiry to Ascertain If Combination Exists.

Washington, Jan. 6.—Attorney General Gregory took over the yield of the federal trade commission's inquiry into the print paper market with a view to determining whether there is a paper trust and to instituting speedy civil and criminal proceedings against any manufacturer and others who have violated anti-trust laws.

President Wilson is actively interested in the commission's disclosures and is understood to be following the inquiry closely. A large number of secret reports are included in the data placed in the attorney general's hands.

New Treaty with China Favored.

San Francisco, Jan. 6.—A resolution favoring a commercial treaty between the United States and China to replace the treaty which expired in 1904 was adopted at a meeting of the Chinese "Six Companies," an organization whose membership throughout the country includes the leading Chinese merchants and bankers. The object of the new treaty, it was explained, was the removal of the restrictions which have applied to Chinese of the noncoolie classes. A copy of the resolution was cabled to Wy Ting Fang.

Consolation of a Sort.

Bayard Swope, a New York journalist, was talking about his recent German visit.

"You see in Germany," he said, "innumerable mutilated young men. These young men, no matter how severe their mutilations, are cheerful. They know other young men, you see, who are immeasurably worse off than themselves."

Mr. Swope shook his head.

"Immeasurably worse off," he repeated. And he went on:

"A cheery young Bavarian captain who had lost his sight put the matter to me in a proverb which runs:

"'I had no boots to my feet and murmured, until I met a man upon the road who had no feet.'"

"'Are your intentions toward the widow, serious?'

"'Very, very serious,' he answered, with a sigh. 'I intend, if possible, to get out of marrying her.'"

A Great Discovery

(BY J. H. WATSON, M. D.)

Swollen hands, ankles, feet are due to a dropsical condition, often caused by disordered kidneys. Naturally when the kidneys are deranged the blood is filled with poisonous waste matter, which settles in the feet, ankles and wrists; or under the eyes in bag-like formations.

As a remedy for those easily recognized symptoms of inflammation caused by uric acid—as scalding urine, backache and frequent urination, as well as sediment in the urine, or if uric acid in the blood has caused rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, gout, it is simply wonderful how quickly Anuric acts; the pains and stiffness rapidly disappear.

Take a glass of hot water before meals and Anuric to flush the kidneys.

Step into any drug store and ask for Anuric, many times more potent than lithia and eliminates uric acid as hot water melts sugar.

Ten Billion Tons of Coal.

The Nenana coal field, Alaska, will be tributary to the government railroad now under construction from Seward to Fairbanks. Though the coal of this field is lignite and hence of low grade, yet it has great value as a source of fuel and power for Fairbanks and other Yukon placer camps. The field is about sixty miles south of Fairbanks. It is estimated by the United States geological survey, department of the interior, that the Nenana field contains some ten billion tons of lignite. The Nenana coal field lies in what is known as the Bonnifield region, which also contains some gold placers that have been mined in a small way for the last ten years.

A Minnesota Case

Mrs. Geo. P. Gillette, S. Main St., Zumbrota, Minn., says: "I was laid up in bed for six months with rheumatic pains. My kidneys were in awful shape and my arms were swollen and stiff. My back pained terribly, the kidney secretions passed too freely and were filled with sediment. After excessive doctoring, without benefit, I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills. Six boxes cured me and I have been in good health since."

Far-Sighted Lad.

After considerable questioning, the lad explained that he wouldn't mind going if he didn't have to pass by a lumber yard, which is situated between the grocery and his home.

"Why, you're not afraid of those stacks of lumber, are you?" queried his mother.

"It's not the stacks, mamma, it's what's behind 'em," answered Raymond.—Indianapolis News.

REGENTS HONOR 9 MINNESOTANS

COMMITTEE VOTES SPECIAL RECOGNITION FOR WORK IN AIDING FARMERS.

NEW "U" PRESIDENT SOUGHT

Successor to Vincent Informally Discussed—Outside Candidate May Get Place—Relatives of Hill and Owen Get Memorials.

St. Paul. — Nine Minnesotans have been named for special recognition of distinguished work in the advancement of agriculture in the state by the executive committee of the University of Minnesota board of regents Relatives of J. J. Hill and Sidney M. Owen, deceased, were sent memorial certificates of distinction at the close of the Farmers' and Home-Makers' week in progress at the University farm.

Others to be honored with certificates of distinction are Hans Peter Jensen of Freeborn county, Mathew Henry Hegerle of St. Bonifacius Finley McMartin of Dodge county, Everett Ford Irwin and C. M. Loring of Hennepin county, Seth H. Kinney and Henry Schroeder of Clay county.

The committee voted to attempt to get action on the long-delayed Northern Pacific railroad campus track covering by inviting George T. Slade, vice president, to attend the next board meeting.

Committee members said selecting a successor to President Vincent was discussed informally at an executive session while they were at lunch, but no progress was made. They intimated that having looked over available alumni and faculty members they had begun considering outside candidates.

Timber Disturbance Ends.

Virginia. — Fifty-three woodsmen arraigned in municipal court here were discharged on motion of the county attorney. They were charged with coercion, it being alleged that they were members of the I. W. W. "rebel gang" that drove working lumberjacks from their camps. Unless fresh trouble breaks out in the north woods, the threatened suspension of timber activities because of I. W. W. disturbances appears to be over, was the opinion voiced by lumbermen here.

None of the witnesses could positively identify any one of the prisoners as a man who had made threats of violence or bodily injury to the workers.

E. W. Backus of the International Lumber company, one of the large interests concerned in the threatened trouble, said his information from the affected districts was that the sheriffs of Koochiching, Beltrami and St. Louis counties, and their deputies, are fully in control of the situation and are prepared to furnish complete protection for all men going into the woods to take the places of those lumberjacks who struck or were driven from the camps by the I. W. W. forces.

"With the protection of the men fully arranged," Mr. Backus said, "we have begun sending men to work again and already more than 100 have entered the camps as the first installment needed to fill the 1,000 places left vacant in our camps through I. W. W. activities. We now are able to assure all men who offer to work that they will be fully protected."

Second Infantry Leaves Border.

Llano Grande, Tex. — Minnesota has but one body of militia remaining on the Texas border. With the departure recently of the Second regiment of infantry, the First field artillery of the North Star state is the only organization now on border duty.

The First infantry, one of the finest bodies of troops in Texas, is in camp at San Antonio, and plans are on foot to give it a prominent place in a "crack" division of infantry to be organized by Gen. Frederick Funston.

With the Second infantry went Minnesota brigade headquarters and Brigadier-General F. E. Resche.

Farm Bank Subscriptions Open.

St. Paul. — Subscription lists are to be opened in St. Paul at once for the $750,000 bonds of the St. Paul Federal land bank, one of the twelve banks authorized by the act of Congress creating the Federal farm loan board. The lists will be kept open for thirty days.

Farmers Plan 71 Meetings.

Moorhead. — Among the speakers for 71 meetings of 13 Clay county farmers' clubs arranged for the half year are N. E. Chapman, Charles Wolf and C. R. Knutson, all of St. Paul, according to schedule announced here by P. E. Clement, retiring county agricultural agent.

Washington County Board Elects.

Stillwater. — W. R. Sawyer has been re-elected president of the Washington county board of commissioners. Other selections made were: Charles Cappellan, county physician and poor commissioner; N. A. Nelson, custodian of the courthouse, and John Martinsen, janitor. County Auditor Nelson reported he had conferred with the Ramsey county commissioners relative to expending $3,000 on the Forest Lake road and that they had promised him early investigation of the subject.

Ask Places on Boards.

St. Paul. — Farmer representation on the new board or commission to be established to handle the farm loan business of the state as provided for in Amendment No. 2, recently adopted by popular vote, and on the University Board of Regents, Board of Control, Highway commission, Drainage commission and other bodies dealing directly with the farmers, is urged of the Legislature and the Governor by the Minnesota Federation of Farmers' clubs in resolutions passed at University farm.

Federation Board Named.

A suitable system for handling the loans to state farmers from the school funds under Amendment No. 2 is desired as "quickly as convenient" by the farmers. The motion for the adoption of these resolutions was made by John W. Holiday of Pine City, member of the legislative committee, which also includes A. L. Sayers of Lakeville and Ben Franklin of Roseau.

The federation committee to study the rural credit situation in the state and make suggestions to the Legislature is composed of these three men and President L. H. Bugbee of Carlton and Frank Mueller of Hayfield.

Re-elect Mrs. Gilfillan.

St. Paul. — Mrs. J. R. Gilfillan of Minneapolis was re-elected president of the Minnesota Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage, at the annual meeting in St. Paul. Apart from elections, the address by Charles McLean, Dubuque, Iowa, featured the meeting. Mr. McLean was active in the campaign to prevent the enactment of suffrage bills in South Dakota and Iowa last fall.

"The proposal of the suffragists of Minnesota to secure from your state legislature statutory suffrage is open to all the objections which can be made to constitutional suffrage," said Mr. McLean.

Demurrage Rate Stands.

St. Paul. — The Minnesota Railroad and Warehouse commission has denied the application of Minnesota railroads for permission to increase demurrage charges on all intra-state traffic. The petition was opposed by numerous organizations of shippers. The recent hearing continued a full week.

Judge Ira B. Mills, chairman of the commission, said the railroads failed to show by evidence that increases in demurrage rates would solve the car-shortage problem. He said further that the case was decided on the testimony and on its merits alone.

Pure-Bred Cattle Sold at Auction.

South St. Paul. — Sale of 62 head of pure-bred cattle at South St. Paul under the auspices of the Minnesota Shorthorn Breeders' association was said by members to register the highest recorded auction sale price for stock in the northwest. Marshal's Masterpiece, a bull owned by O. F. Henkel of Kenyon, was sold to R. C. Oliver, McCluskey, N. D., for $1,035, the top figure. A yearling heifer, Banner Blossom IX, selling for $1,010, was second highest. Bids on bulls averaged $250 and those on the cows and heifers $278.50.

Head of Faribault School Dies.

Faribault. — Dr. A. C. Rogers, for 31 years superintendent of the Minnesota School for Feeble Minded and Colony for Epileptics, Faribault, died in University hospital. He had been a patient in the hospital since September. Pernicious anemia, with complications toward the end, caused his death, despite four transfusion operations in as many months. He was 60 years old.

His death removes from the state one of its foremost figures in welfare and medical work and a national authority on mental diseases.

Short Course at Farm School.

Minneapolis.—Men and women from the farms of Minnesota, young and old, attending sometimes by scores, frequently by hundreds, the many meetings at the university farm, represent the interest the tiller of 1917 has in his land and his stock, and the concern the housewife has for her children and for her home.

In every building, almost in every room, there is a class session or club meeting of some sort—pipe fitting attracting the men, waist fitting the women and the farmers' club federation both.

Welsh Endeavorers to Gather.

Lake Crystal.—Lake Crystal, Minn., is to be the meeting place in August for the twenty-seventh annual convention of Welsh Christian Endeavor societies of the synod of Minnesota, Iowa and South Dakota. At a convention held at Lime Springs, Iowa, resolutions were passed favoring statewide prohibition.

Walks in Sleep, Frozen.

Winona. — Clad only in his undergarments, in bare feet and bare-headed, G. J. Beach, 78 years old, during a spell of somnambulism brought on by a siege of illness, was so badly frozen at St. Charles that physicians did not believe he would recover.

Sportsmen Organize Gun Club.

Red Lake Falls. — A large number of local sportsmen have organized a gun club known as the Red Lake Falls Gun Club and Protective association. The local club decided not to join the Minnesota Game Refuge association. Resolutions were adopted urging the legislature to restrict the season on chickens to two weeks, from Sept. 15 to Oct. 1, and on quail, pheasants and partridges, from Oct. 15 to Nov. 1, and to close the season on turtle doves, woodcock, wood ducks and plovers until Sept. 15, 1918.

Cuba's Big Sugar Crop.

The grinding of the greatest sugar crop which Cuba has produced was begun by the "launching" of the new "superdreadnaught" mill at the Cuban-American Sugar company's central "Tinguaro," at Periso, province of Matanzas. This is the largest milling unit yet installed, consisting of five mills and two crushers, driven by three Corliss engines and having a grinding capacity of 125 tons of cane daily. Since then half a dozen other mills have begun to grind, and within ten days every mill in Cuba, to the number of upward of 200, will be turning. Simultaneously will go on the construction of numerous mills to handle the growth of the enormous tracts now being put into sugar to swell the crop of the following year.

"What makes you think you are sprouting wings?" asked mother, as she attached an obstreperous button on the four-year-old.

"Well, when I lay in bed at night I c'n feel where I hurt right here," and he indicated two small shoulder blades.

"Now, Robert, you could not possibly be having wings. Only good little boys can have wings sprouting."

"Well, mother, I must be awful good, then, cauthe I know the wingths are coming out."

And he got into bed, rubbing first one potential wing and then the other.

Canada's Liberal Offer of Wheat Land to Settlers

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

is open to you—to every farmer or farmer's son who is anxious to establish for himself a happy home and prosperity. Canada's hearty invitation this year is more attractive than ever. Wheat is much higher but her fertile farm land just as cheap, and in the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta

160 Acre Homesteads Are Actually Free to Settlers and Other Land Sold at from $15 to $20 per Acre

The great demand for Canadian Wheat will keep up the price. Where a farmer can get near $2 for wheat and raise 20 to 45 bushels to the acre he is bound to make money—that's what you can expect in Western Canada. Wonderful yields also of Oats, Barley and Flax. Mixed Farming in Western Canada is fully as profitable an industry as grain raising.

The excellent grasses, full of nutrition, are the only food required either for beef or dairy purposes. Good schools, churches, markets convenient, climate excellent. Military service is not compulsory in Canada but there is an unusual demand for farm labor to replace the many young men who have volunteered for the war. THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR
HARRIETT G. HUNT, PUBLISHER

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

It now seems to be a difficult matter for the opponents of a bridge across Red Lake River at Highlanding to find any excuse to hang their hat on. Up to the present time we have not been making anything but kind requests for what rightfully belongs to the tax payers of eastern Pennington County, but it will only take about four or five more excuses for the non-construction of this bridge, before we shall start a series of articles showing the people of eastern Pennington County by actual figures what they have paid into the road and bridge fund of Pennington County, and what they have got out of it, which will make some very interesting reading for people in this end of the County, who are of the opinion that Pennington County can not afford to build a bridge at this point.

What will be virtually a hearing of experts on questions concerning the development of rural Minnesota will be held at the Old Capitol, St. Paul, when the All-Minnesota development association meets for its annual session January 18 and 19. Governor J. A. A. Burnquist will open the program and members of the legislature will be invited especially to attend. A policy of state growth sanctioned by members of the association, state officials and heads of state educational institutions will be outlined in addresses and resolutions.

A revision of the state's system of taxation will be suggested at the last day of the meeting, when President Frank L. McVey of the University of North Dakota and Dean A. F. Woods of the Minnesota college of agriculture talk on reduction of taxes on improvements and rural credits. Methods of drainage and flood control, especially in the northern part of the state, will be explained by A. B. Kaecher of Ortonville and A. L. Crocker of Minneapolis.

A bill is pending before congress to exclude alcoholic liquor advertising from the mails. We don't believe any such law is fair and square. When the U. S. government permits alcoholic liquor to be manufactured and issues licenses to dealers to sell said liquor, then we say these dealers should be allowed to advertise their merchandise and if they wish they should be allowed to use the U. S. mails for that purpose.—The Plummer Pioneer.

It seems to be the policy of the present administration to "dig" into the newspaper publishers at every opportunity. First by increasing their postage rate, and then cutting off their advertising patronage.

Villa now seems to again have loomed up, as the Mexican leader, instead of the outlaw bandit. He is setting up a government of his own and will undoubtedly seek recognition from the United States, as Carranza has withdrawn his representative. Wilson may as well recognize the Villa new government, as long as it lasts.

Those I. W. W. "won't work" fellows are certainly raising a big disturbance in the lumber woods this winter, driving men who want to work for fair wages away from their jobs. It seems that it is about time that the State of Minnesota promptly suppressed this armed gang of outlaws.

The large attendance at the annual meeting of the Highlanding Creamery Association indicates that the farmers interest have again changed from the grain field to the docile cow.

While our legislature made haste to appropriate the necessary funds for legislative expenses, they do not seem to be in any haste to appropriate the cash for the payment of the publication of the constitutional amendments last fall. But then the newspaper boys have plenty of money, and don't need it very bad.

ARBOR DAY IN SPAIN.

A Custom That Was Copied From Our Tree Planting Festival.

You are prone to think, since America is the youngest of all the nations, that all our customs are derived from some older people, in whose national life a part of our population had its source. Did you ever hear of an old European country adopting a custom that originated in the United States? When you read of the Fiesta del Arbol in Madrid you are more than likely to assume that it was the tree planting day that gave a suggestion for our annual Arbor day.

Would you be astonished to learn that the Arbol fiesta was patterned directly after our American festival or holiday, when trees are planted by the children of the public schools? That it was copied after our custom is not difficult to establish, for the first festival of this kind was held in Madrid in 1896, having been inaugurated by the young king and his mother. At that time we had been celebrating Arbor day in the United States for more than twelve years.

In that country the event has come to be of real significance, since it is national, whereas in our country it is under the direction of the individual states. Every year the school children are not only commanded to plant young trees, but they are taken to inspect the planting of previous years and are impressed by their teachers with the importance of conserving the forests of their native land. In his first Fiesta del Arbol address King Alfonso announced that the idea was borrowed from the United States, and it was regarded as of so much value that not even the rancor of the Spanish-American war sufficed to interfere with its observation.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

When Cruelty Isn't Cruelty.

The magistrate of the department of Seine-et-Oise, in France, once gave a decision in a claim of cruelty to a horse which is remarkable as a legal subtlety. The law provides that the offense is punishable only when committed in public. If the sore is covered by the collar, he holds, the offense is not committed in public. If it is not covered by the collar there is no cruelty. In either event the case must be discharged.

SAFETY DEMANDS FEDERAL CONTROL OF THE RAILROADS

Only Way to Meet Emergencies of Nation, Says A. P. Thom.

STATES' RIGHTS PRESERVED

Principles Which Railways Hold Should Govern Regulatory System in Interests of Public and the Roads—Compulsory System of Federal Incorporation Favored.

Washington, Dec. 4.—That the interests of national defense require that control of railway lines should rest with the federal government and not with the states was the claim advanced by Alfred P. Thom, counsel to the Railway Executives' Advisory Committee, in concluding his preliminary statement of the case for the railways before the Newlands Joint Committee on Interstate Commerce.

"We must be efficient as a nation if we are to deal successfully with our national emergencies," said Mr. Thom, "and we must appreciate that efficient transportation is an essential condition of national efficiency. If we are to halt and weaken our transportation systems by state lines, by the permanent imposition of burdens by unwise regulation, we will make national efficiency impossible."

States' Rights Would Not Suffer.

Mr. Thom cited many instances in which shippers in one state were injuriously affected by selfish regulations imposed on the railroads by neighboring states. He pointed out that federal regulation would be no invasion of the rights of the states but would be the means of preserving the rights which they acquired when they entered the Union, one of which was the right to the free movement of their products across state boundaries.

What the Railroads Advocate.

The principles which the railroads believe should be incorporated in any just system of regulation were summarized by Mr. Thom as follows:

1. The entire power and duty of regulation should be in the hands of the national government, except as to matters so essentially local and incidental that they cannot be used to interfere with the efficiency of the service or the just rights of the carriers.

2. As one of the means of accomplishing this, a system of compulsory federal incorporation should be adopted, into which should be brought all railroad corporations engaged in interstate or foreign commerce.

3. The Interstate Commerce Commission under existing laws has too much to do and is charged with conflicting functions, including the investigation, prosecution and decision of cases. The latter duties should be placed in the hands of a new body which might be called the Federal Railroad Commission. Regional Commissions should be established in different parts of the country to assist the Interstate Commerce Commission by handling local cases.

4. The power of the Commission should be extended to enable it to prescribe minimum rates and not merely maximum rates as at present. This would increase their power to prevent unjust discriminations.

Justice to Public and Roads.

5. It should be made the duty of the Interstate Commerce Commission, in the exercise of its powers to fix reasonable rates, to so adjust these rates that they shall be just at once to the public and to the carriers. To this end the Commission, in determining rates, should consider the necessity of maintaining efficient transportation and extensions of facilities, the relation of expenses to rates and the rights of shippers, stockholders and creditors of the roads.

6. The Interstate Commerce Commission should be invested with the power to fix the rates for carrying mails.

7. The federal government should have exclusive power to supervise the issue of stocks and bonds by railroad carriers engaged in interstate and foreign commerce.

8. The law should recognize the essential difference between things which restrain trade in the case of ordinary mercantile concerns and those which restrain trade in the case of common carriers. The question of competition is not the only fair criterion.

9. The law should expressly provide for the meeting and agreement of traffic or other officers of railroads in respect of rates or practices. This should, however, be safeguarded by requiring the agreements to be filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission and to be subject to be disapproved by it.

"My legal proposition," Mr. Thom said, "is that the Constitution as it now is gives full authority to Congress to regulate the instrumentalities of interstate commerce in all their parts. If the power of regulation is to reach the public requirements, it must be coextensive with the instrumentalities of commerce."

Mr. Thom explained that the roads are not asking either of the Committee or of Congress any increase in revenues, but that they are merely asking the perfection of a system which will be responsible to any need that may arise.

COURT SETS MONDAY.

The regular term of District Court, for Pennington County sets next Monday. We have not been courting for a number of years, but our old time friends, Edward and George Singer, succeeded in getting an invitation from the last session of the Grand Jury for us to attend court, at this term. We don't like to be in law suits, as our record shows, but about the only enjoyment Singers get out of life is being in a law suit either as a Plaintiff or a Defendant. They are now rejoicing over the fact that the tax payers of Pennington County are to pay the expenses of their recreation at this term of court, even paying their witness fees for appearing to testify against Hunt. However we will endeavor to see to it that they earn their witness fees by fully explaining to a Pennington County jury about how all those lamps came to explode in those heavily insured building, after all the furniture had been moved out.

Our Criminal Ash Heap

(The Evening Tribune, Albert Lea, Minn.)

The annual fire waste in this country amount to about one quarter of a billion dollars, and a large part of this tremendous waste, probably more than half, is due to incendiarism for gain. For this unlikely state of affairs, public sentiment is largely to blame. When suspicious looking fires occur, the popular feeling often expressed, is "The insurance company should worry. We have paid them enough; let them pay their losses." A common expression is often heard, even among hard-headed men—"another fellow selling out to the insurance companies." This is a misnomer. He is not selling out to the insurance companies. The fire bug simply robs the fire tax payers.

Recently, a juror, who with his fellow jurymen had voted to acquit a firebug, told a deputy fire marshal, "We knew he was guilty, but if we convicted him, how could he collect his insurance?" What commentary on common sense and justice!

Lay a hard and fast hold on this fundamental fact, insurance companies only collect and distribute the fire tax, and the stock holders of these companies are bound to make a profit. The public pays all the fire losses; hammer this fact home whenever the fire waste is under discussion!

Public sentiment should be so strongly crystallized against incendiarism that the State Fire Marshal could have active cooperation of every property owner and the courts, in order to bring firebugs to justice.

As to the rates for fire insurance as fixed under our new rating law, the law does not fix any arbitration rate. Any one company, or set of companies, must file variations from the published rate estimates, but the law does provide that all risks of a similar character and exposure shall be rated alike, and that is absolutely right. The main thing that directly concerns the fire tax payers is the reduction of the fire waste, and abolishing as far as possible the "criminal ash heap." The fire tax can be reduced accordingly and very readily in the smaller cities and towns.

Considered one of the finest manuscripts in this country, the "Evangelistarium sive Lectiones ex Evangeliis," illuminated and of French-Carlovingian origin, may be seen in the New York Public library. The manuscript is of vellum and consists of 200 leaves. Its date is set in the neighborhood of 870 A. D. The late twelfth and thirteenth centuries are also represented, and among the works from the fourteenth century is the oldest extant complete manuscript of the Wycliffite version of the New Testament in English.—Argonaut.

SYRUP OF FIGS FOR A CHILD'S BOWELS

It is cruel to force nauseating, harsh physic into a sick child.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask at the store for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Adv.

ACTRESS TELLS SECRET.

A well known actress gives the following recipe for gray hair: To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and ¼ oz. of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off. Adv.

LANDS INDIAN IN BROADWAY

Half Starved Tramp Shod in Moccasins Is Elevated to the "Movies."

A man was strolling, or rather cringing up Broadway the other afternoon, writes a New York correspondent of the Pittsburgh Dispatch. He had high cheek bones, black hair and wore moccasins. He had no overcoat and the collar of his thin sack coat was turned up about his neck and held with a hand blue with cold. Three men standing at the curb saw the man and noted his moccasined feet. "By George," said one, "there's a bit of luck. Go after him, Tony, and tell him to come over to the studio. He's down on his luck and we need an Indian." Tony pursued the shivering figure and told him about the chance at the studio. "Sure, I'll come," said the alleged redskin. "I look like one, but my name is Schwartz. A fellow gave me these moccasins, and I'd be willing to wear a chief's hat and a red blanket if it would keep me warm." And so another Indian went straight to the "movies."

TEUTONIC POWERS MIGHT GIVE TERMS IF U. S. REQUESTED

BELIEVED PROBABLE CENTRAL ALLIES WOULD COMPLY WITH REQUEST FROM PRESIDENT WILSON.

OFFICIAL WASHINGTON SEES NO PEACE AT EARLY DATE

Whether Wilson Will Wait for Germany to Take Initiative in Stating Definite Terms or Will Make Some Move to Give Opening Not Determined.

Washington, Jan. 16.—A statement of terms from Germany and her allies, at least as comprehensive as those set forth by the Allies in replying to President Wilson's note, is the next move hoped for here in the peace negotiations.

Wilson May Make Next Move.

Whether time will be allowed for the Teutonic nations to state their terms on their own initiative, or whether President Wilson will make some move to give an opening, remains undetermined. There are indications, however, that if no statement of the Teutonic terms is forthcoming within a reasonable time, the United States may seek a means to indicate the desirability of such a course.

It is reiterated that the President has not determined on his position. In other administration quarters it has been suggested, however, that the objects which the President had in mind could best be promoted now by the Central Powers publicly declaring their terms.

Officials Waiting Anxiously.

Officials are watching particularly just now the trend of public sentiment abroad and the apparent change since the dispatch of the President's note has proved a source of increasing gratification. There is no indication in official circles, however, that an early peace is thought probable.

Germany Would Name Terms.

First expressions of bitterness in Germany over the Allies' reply are somewhat discounted here, and it is felt there may be a change of sentiment just as there was in the Allied countries in regard to the President's note. It is conceded, however, that for the present popular desire for a prosecution of the war will be quickened.

The German view here is that there is little likelihood of a public statement of specific terms by the Teutonic Allies at this time unless a further move to that end is made by the President. Should a request for such a statement be forwarded to Berlin, however, it is declared Germany probably would comply.

U. S. CRUISER MILWAUKEE WILL BE COMPLETE LOSS

Crew Is All Saved When Four Million Dollar Warship Goes on California Beach.

Eureka, Cal., Jan. 16.—In a fight for their lives against a heavy sea, 439 United States sailors and officers, the ship's full complement, were brought ashore in breeches buoys attached to the cruiser Milwaukee, which rolled and tossed in the surf with possibility of being a total loss on the Northern California coast where she struck.

Navy officers here express the belief that the $4,000,000 cruiser will be a total loss.

The Milwaukee is stuck on the sand only a few hundred yards from the submarine H-3, which grounded a month ago. The cruiser was engaged in an attempt to salvage the submersible at the time of the accident. Not a life was lost and not one man was slightly hurt in the difficult work of rescuing the 17 officers and 317 men.

Teutonic Allies to Issue Manifesto on Kaiser's Birthday.

London, Jan. 16.—It is reported by the Amsterdam correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph company that on the occasion of Emperor Williams' forthcoming fifty-eighth birthday, January 27, Emperor Charles, of Austria-Hungary, King Ferdinand of Bulgaria, and the Turkish heir-apparent, will go to Berlin to attend the birthday celebration and that while they are there the three rulers and the Turkish representative will issue a manifesto to the world placing responsibility on the Allies for continuation of the war. The Sultan of Turkey will not attend the celebration on account of his advanced age.

Sink Sunk Legally, Say Germans.

Berlin, Jan. 15.—The German government here has transmitted to United States Ambassador Gerard a note justifying the sinking of the Norwegian steamship Tripel by a German submarine. The note says: "As stated by the German naval authorities, the Norwegian steamer Tripel on November 10, 1916, was stopped by a German submarine and captured after it had been made certain that its cargo was of steel, and under Italian command, with Geneva as home port of destination. The steamer was sunk

IMPOSSIBLE TO ATTAIN PEACE YET

POSITION TAKEN BY ENTENTE POWERS IS THAT THE TIME HAS NOT YET COME.

NOTE RECEIVED BY PRESIDENT

Will Not Make Known Objects of War at This Time, Though a General Statement of Their Probable Demands Is Made—Germany's Position.

Washington.—Following is the translation of the entente allies' reply to President Wilson's peace note, transmitted to the state department by Ambassador William G. Sharp in Paris:

"Ambassador Sharp to the Secretary of State. American Embassy, Paris, Jan. 10, 1917.

"The allied governments have received the note which was delivered to them in the name of the government of the United States on the 19th of December, 1916. They have studied it with the care imposed upon them both by the exact realization which they have of the gravity of the hour and by the sincere friendship which attaches them to the American people.

"In a general way they wish to declare that they pay tribute to the elevation of the sentiment with which the American note is inspired and that they associate themselves with all their hopes with the project for the creation of a league of nations to insure peace and justice throughout the world.

"They recognize all the advantages for the cause of humanity and civilization which the institution of international agreements destined to avoid violent conflicts between nations would prevent, agreements which must imply the sanctions necessary to insure their execution and thus to prevent an apparent security from only facilitating new aggressions.

"But a discussion of future arrangements destined to insure an enduring peace presupposes a satisfactory settlement of the actual conflict.

"The allies have as profound a desire as the government of the United States to terminate as soon as possible a war for which the central empires are responsible and which inflicts such cruel sufferings upon humanity.

Not Time for Peace.

"But they believe that it is impossible at the present moment to attain a peace which will assure them reparation, restitution, and such guaranties to which they are entitled by the aggression for which the responsibility rests with the central powers and of which the principle itself tended to ruin the security of Europe; a peace which would, on the other hand, permit the establishment of the future of European nations on a solid basis.

"The allied nations are conscious that they are not fighting for selfish interests, but above all to safeguard the independence of peoples, or right, and of humanity.

"The allies are fully aware of the losses and suffering which the war has caused to neutrals as well as to belligerents, and they deplore them; but they do not hold themselves responsible for them, having in no way either willed or provoked this war, and they strive to reduce these damages in the measure compatible with the inexorable exigencies of their defense against the violence and the wiles of the enemy.

"The allied governments believe that they must protest in the most friendly but in the most specific manner against the assimilation established in the American note between the two groups of belligerents; this assimilation, based upon public declarations by the central powers, is in direct opposition to the evidence, both as regards responsibility for the past and as concerns guaranties for the future: President Wilson in mentioning it certainly had no intention of associating himself with it.

"If there is a historical fact established at the present date, it is the willful aggression of Germany and Austria-Hungary to insure their hegemony over Europe and their economic domination over the world.

"Germany proved by her declaration of war, by the immediate violation of Belgium and Luxemburg, and by her manner of conducting the war, her systematic contempt for all principles of humanity and all respect for small states; as the conflict developed the attitude of the central powers and their allies has been a continual defiance of humanity and civilization.

Cites Enemy's Atrocities.

"Is it necessary to recall the horrors which accompanied the invasion of Belgium and of Serbia, the atrocious regime imposed upon the invaded countries, the massacre of hundreds of thousands of inoffensive Armenians, the barbarities perpetrated against the populations of Syria, the raids of Zeppelins on open towns, the destruction by submarines of passenger steamers and of merchantmen even under neutral flags, the cruel treatment inflicted upon prisoners of war, the juridical murders of Miss Cavell, of Captain Fryatt, the deportation and reduction to slavery of civil populations, etc.?

"The execution of such a series of crimes perpetrated without any regard for universal reprobation fully explains to President Wilson the protest of the allies.

"President Wilson desires more: He desires that the belligerent powers openly affirm the objects which they seek by continuing the war; the allies experience no difficulty in replying to this request.

"Their objects in the war are well known; they have been formulated on many occasions by the chiefs of their divers governments. Their objects in the war will not be made known in detail, with all the equitable compensations and indemnities for damage suffered, until the hour of negotiations.

Their Terms Stated.

"But the civilized world knows that they imply in all necessity and in the first instance the restoration of Belgium, of Serbia, and of Montenegro and the indemnities which are due them; the evacuation of the invaded territories of France, of Russia, and of Roumania, with just reparation; the reorganization of Europe guaranteed by a stable regime and founded as much upon respect of nationalities and full security and liberty of economic development which all nations, great or small, possess, as upon territorial conventions and international agreements suitable to guarantee territorial and maritime frontiers against unjustified attacks; the restitution of provinces or territories wrested in the past from the allies by force or against the will of their populations; the liberation of Italians, of Slavs, of Roumanians, and of Tcheco Slovaques (Czech Slavs) from foreign domination; the enfranchisement of populations subject to the bloody tyranny of the Turks; the expulsion from Europe of the Ottoman empire decidedly . . . (apparent omission) to western civilization.

"The intentions of his majesty the emperor of Russia regarding Poland have been clearly indicated in the proclamation which he has just addressed to his armies.

"It goes without saying that if the allies wish to liberate Europe from the brutal covetousness of Prussian militarism it never has been their design, as has been alleged, to encompass the extermination of the German peoples and their political disappearance.

"That which they desire above all is to insure a peace upon the principles of liberty and justice, upon the inviolable fidelity to international obligations with which the government of the United States has never ceased to be inspired.

"United in the pursuits of this supreme object, the allies are determined, individually and collectively, to act with all their power and to consent to all sacrifices to bring to a victorious close a conflict upon which they are convinced not only safety and prosperity depends but also the future civilization itself. "SHARP."

Belgium's Note to Washington.

Washington.—A supplementary Belgian note, which accompanied the entente allies' reply to President Wilson's peace appeal, pays tribute to the sentiment of humanity which prompted the president of the United States to send his note to the belligerent powers, and declares ardent wish to end the war. It refers to the German treatment of Belgium as "barbarous," and alleges the former government, after the occupation of Belgian territory, displayed no better observance of the rules of international law or the stipulations of The Hague convention. The heavy taxation imposed on the country, and the deportation of Belgian workers, are denounced.

Germany Denies Allies' Charges.

Berlin, Jan. 13.—"We offered peace and meant what we said. The offer was spurned. We shall fight on until that peace which might have been gained by diplomacy is won by our sword."

In substance, this is what Germany, speaking for her allies, Austria-Hungary, Bulgaria and Turkey—told the neutral world on Thursday.

The note is, in effect, a reply to the entente's rejection of that offer.

"The form in which they clothe their communication," says the note, "excludes an answer to them." For this reason that which the central powers feel they should make known to the world is told in the message to the neutrals.

Reiteration of the assertion that the responsibility for the continuance of the war, a statement of the central powers' case in the conflict, emphatic refutation of the accusations made in the entente's reply to the peace offer and a renewed expression of "the will to victory" are the main features of the note.

JAPAN CRUISER IS DESTROYED, MANY SAILORS ARE LOST

MYSTERIOUS BLAST WRECKS WARSHIP AND 153 MEMBERS OF CREW MEET DEATH—157 ARE INJURED.

MOST SERIOUS BLOW YET SINCE BEGINNING OF WAR

Naval Strength of Nipponese Nation Receives Its Hardest Blow When Cruiser Is Blown Up in Mysterious Explosion—Officers to Face Court-Martial.

London, Jan. 16.—The most serious blow to Japan's naval strength since her entrance into the world war was struck when a mysterious explosion destroyed the battle cruiser Tsukuba, at Yokosuka, a naval base near Yokohama. One hundred fifty of the crew were killed and 157 injured.

Simultaneously Italy reported a raid on the Teutonic sea forces in the capture of two Austrian submarines. Italy has added her captures to her own torpedo squadron.

Investigation Under Way.

Two other Danish merchantmen and a Nova Scotia fishing boat also were reported torpedoed.

An investigation into the destruction of the Japanese warship is under way. Officers of the ship may face a court-martial inasmuch as practically all of them were ashore when the vessel blew up. Fire of unknown origin that caught in the ship's magazine is believed responsible for the explosion.

Death Toll Is Heavy.

The death toll on the Tsukuba was greatly added to through failure of nearby ships to put out boats quickly enough to rescue scores of injured men who were hurled into the water by the blast and drowned before aid came.

The Tsukuba is one of Japan's latest model battle cruisers. She measured 440 feet and displaces 13,750 tons. She carried a crew of 870 men. The Tsukuba was sent to Hampton Roads in 1907, at the time of the Jamestown exposition.

To Rid Waters of Enemy.

The capture by Italian ships of two Austrian submarines is taken to indicate renewal of energetic efforts on the part of the Allies to rid the Mediterranean and adjacent waters of enemy U-boats that recently have terrorized neutral and Allied shipping.

The gravity of the U-boat raids is emphasized by the report, received from Halifax, N. S., simultaneously with the reports of the submarine captures, that the fishing schooner, Harry Adams, bound for a Mediterranean port, has been torpedoed in the Bay of Biscay. The sailors were forced to take to open boats. They landed Saturday at Ferrot, Spain.

LANSING DECLINES TO DISCUSS NOTE OF ALLIES

Officials Believe Conference Between Warring Nations May Yet Be Arranged.

Washington, Jan. 15. — Secretary Lansing refuses to discuss the Allies' reply or the plans of this government. It was stated officially, however, that whether the Allied reply will be forwarded to the Teutonic powers and the latter's reply forwarded to the Allies, had not yet been decided and probably would not be for several days.

Briefly, officials feel that the Allies have stated terms while refusing a conferenee, whereas the Germans have suggested a conference without stating their terms.

Nevertheless, it is felt that the international situation has been decidedly clarified.

Officials obviously view the future with increasing soberness. President Wilson's original statement in his note that neutrality was becoming intolerable, and Secretary Lansing's statement that the United States was being drawn to the verge of war, were recalled in view of the probability that hostilities are likely to continue.

Commercial U-Boat Reported On Way to New London.

New London, Jan. 13.—According to reports current in well informed marine circles here, the German commercial submarine Deutschland left Bremen Jan. 2 bound for New London. Officials of the Eastern Forwarding company were not in the city and efforts to obtain verification from other sources were unavailing.

Food Production Falls Behind.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Figures furnished by the department of agriculture show that in the last 16 years, during which the population has grown about 33 per cent, there has been a decline in the per capita production of foods constituting about 75 per cent of the country's diet. Officials believe, however, that there is no danger of a food shortage. The output of meat and dairy products fell from 248.2 pounds for each person in 1899 to 219.6 in 1915. Cereals declined from 43.9 bushels to 40.2.

Applying Physics in a Street Car.

One of the fundamental theories you were taught in your high school physics will save you a lot of trouble every day if you apply it.

Straphangers in the street cars lurch forward when the car stops and backward when it starts. It's inconvenient, especially if a 200-pounder hits you.

Remember that place in the physics text—"To every action there is an opposite and equal reaction."

Well, apply it. When the car stops, lean toward the rear. When it starts, lean toward the front.

You lurch because you're the opposite reaction to the car's movement.

Save Your Hair! Get a 25 Cent Bottle of Danderine Right Now—Also Stops Itching Scalp.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its luster, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any store, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, luster and luxuriance which is so beautiful. When Work Is Hard

That kidney troubles are so common is due to the strain put upon the kidneys in so many occupations, such as: Jarring and jolting on railroads, etc. Cramp and strain as in barbering, moulding, heavy lifting, etc. Exposure to changes of temperature in iron furnaces, refrigerators, etc. Dampness as in tanneries, quarries, mines, etc. Inhaling poisonous fumes in painting, printing and chemical shops. OPPORTUNITIES THAT ARE MISSED

Why Wait? Why Not Go to Western Canada Now?

The writer has frequently heard the remark that "after the war we will go to Western Canada." It does not occur to those making the remark that if they wish to secure lands in Western Canada, whether by homestead or purchase, the best time to go is now. After the war the welcome will be just as hearty as ever, but the chances are that land values will increase and today homesteads are plentiful and land is reasonable in price. There is no question about what the land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta will do, what it will give, under proper cultivation.

Farmers in Western Canada are paying for their land holdings with the proceeds of last year's crop. That this is no idle statement may be gleaned from the three following items, which are picked out at random:

"In the spring of 1916 a half-section of land was offered for sale at $17.00 per acre. There were 105 acres of summer-fallow, which because the owner could not at the time find a buyer, were seeded to wheat. A yield of 40 bushels per acre, 4,200 bushels all told, grading No. 1, was obtained. The price the day the grain was sold (which was very early in the season before grain prices advanced to round about $2.00) was $1.60, which brought the handsome total of $6,720.00. Three hundred and twenty acres at $17.00 equals $5,440.00, so that a buyer, by placing less than half of the whole under crop, would have made a profit of $1,280.00."—Robson Messenger, Robson, Sask.

"That the 'Indiana Boys' farm this year raised sufficient crop to pay for the land, all the machinery and all overhead expenses as well as make a handsome profit, is the information given by N. B. Davis, the manager. The wheat yield was over 22,000 bushels. Of twelve cars already sold, nine graded No. 1, and Mr. Davis has sold over 2,000 bushels locally for seed at $2.00. Naturally, when he gets to Indiana he will be a big booster for Alberta."—Bassano Mail, Bassano, Alta.

"Oscar Castalor, who bought land at Blusson after the crop had been put in last spring, for $3,800.00, has threshed 3,000 bushels of wheat, which is worth at present prices about $7,500.00. He refused an offer of $5,000.00 for the land after the crop had been taken off."—Lethbridge Herald, Lethbridge, Alta.

Reports from the wheat fields are highly encouraging and show that the wheat crop of many farmers in Western Canada was highly satisfactory.

Coblenz, Sask.—W. A. Rose has threshed an average of 33 bushels per acre and 83 bushels of oats.

Gleichen, Alberta.—Up to date 237,-812 bushels of grain have been received by local elevators, of which nearly 180,000 bushels were wheat. Seventy-one cars of grain have already been shipped.

Stoop Creek, Sask.—James McRae has threshed 5,400 bushels of grain, 2,000 bushels of which were wheat, grading No. 1 Northern. One field averaged 44 bushels per acre, and a large field of oats averaged 83 bushels.

If information as to the best location is required, it will be gladly furnished by any Canadian Government Agent, whose advertisement appears elsewhere.—Advertisement.

LOVE THRIVES ON EUGENICS

Marriages in Milwaukee Are on the Increase Despite Law Against Unfit.

Marriage goes merrily on in Milwaukee, regardless of the eugenics law, says the Sentinel of that city.

Figures in the county clerk's office show an increase in both 1915 and 1916 over 1914 in the number of licenses issued. The eugenics law, in operation for three years, has had no effect upon the celebration of the time-honored nuptials.

"I still maintain that the eugenics law has been of tremendous benefit to the people of the state," declared Mrs. G. A. Hipke, sponsor for the law. "It is asserted that doctors make only superficial tests of men who come to them for examination before marriage, but I contend that no conscientious physician could pass upon a case which might later bring results that would reflect upon his earlier judgment."

Mrs. Hipke declared that, while she had no present intention of agitating any change in the law she might consider a broadening of the law that would include the women as well as the men in the prenuptial examination.

Songs Inspire Shower of Crockery.

Street singing is an especially Neapolitan institution, and when for the first time one hears beneath his windows the more often than not offkey versions of the snappy, lifting, inexpressibly infectious Neapolitan songs he is enchanted and throws pennies freely. After a week or so of it as a steady diet, day and night, he inclines much more to heavy crockery.—National Geographic Magazine.

SPEARERS CATCH MILLIONS OF FISH

PROFESSIONALS AND AMATEURS PROSPER AS RESULT OF THE FLOOD LAST SPRING.

CROWD EAGERLY TO HOLES

Finny Tribes Which Remained in Shallow Sloughs When Waters Recede Become Easy Victims—Many Tons Shipped Daily.

Winona. — The flood which caused enormous damage in the Upper Mississippi river valley last spring is being reflected in the most palmy days professional and amateur fishermen in this section ever have known. Some are earning as high as $50 a day and tons and tons of fish are being brought here daily.

Water broke through the Burlington road's right-of-way which formed a dyke across the river from Winona. A thousand acres of land were inundated and fish by the millions were carried behind the dyke. Much of the water flowed back into the river as the Mississippi gradually lowered, but the fish remained in the newly created sloughs. They became very thickly populated with fish.

When the recent cold weather developed the shallow sloughs froze solidly and in many cases cut off the air for the fish. Suffocating, they crowded eagerly to the first holes in the ice. Here fishermen have been waiting with spears. Hundreds of the holes have been cut and spearers have taken millions of the fish.

Strike to Send Paper Price Up.

Grand Rapids, Minn. — Pulp wood, which has increased 100 per cent in price the past year, may set a new record soon. Paper men who paid $4 to $4.50 a cord for pulp wood two years ago are paying $8 and $9 at present and predict the price may go to $12 and even higher. The increasing cost of the wood will be reflected in the cost of paper. The great scarcity is due to lack of snow in December and the lumberjack strike agitated by the I. W. W.

Virtually no pulp wood was received until the last of December. This left the mills with a greatly depleted stock on hand. When the lumberjacks walked out recently they crippled two big companies that were devoting considerable energy to the cutting of pulp wood. The strike will bring the cutting of pulp wood this month to a minimum.

U. S. Rail Valuation Flayed.

Asserting that many millions of dollars have been extended, but no practical information gained in the Federal valuation of railroads in the United States, D. F. Jurgensen, chief engineer of the State Railroad and Warehouse Commission, has written Clyde B. Atchison, solicitor for the National Association of Railroad Commissioners, urging that vigorous protest be made at once.

Tentative valuations thus far, with possible minor exceptions, Mr. Jurgensen asserts, are based on a false assumption of the property's non-existence and the necessity of its reacquisition, reconstruction and other like items, a premise that he says was strongly condemned by the United States Supreme Court in the Minnesota rate cases.

Appeal for U. S. Canal Aid.

New Ulm, Minn. — One more appeal will be made to Congress for an appropriation to help finance the construction of the proposed canal to connext Big Stone lake and Lake Traverse, to control the flood waters of the Minnesota and Red rivers, before the plans of the Tri-State Flood Control congress, perfected at a meeting here, providing for relief measures by the three states, are put into practice, it was decided.

Should Congress refuse the request, it will be asked to grant the necessary legal power to Minnesota, North and South Dakota to handle the problem, enabling acts will be solicited of the three legislatures, funds will be subscribed from farmers and individuals, and the work on the canal started at once.

For Feeble-Minded.

Minneapolis. — That the women of Minnesota work for legislation that will provide for the compulsory commitment of feeble-minded to custodial care was the plea which Prof. Maria Sanford made in her talk on "Our Duty to the Feeble-Minded" at the regular monthly meeting of the Minneapolis League of Catholic Women.

"Beware of your duty in this matter," she urged. "There are now in Minnesota about 10,000 feeble-minded persons and more than 300 about the community at large unable to be cared for by the state institutions."

Electors Name Dalzell.

St. Paul. — Minnesota's presidential electors placed their party above their appetites. They elected John Dalzell of Morton to carry their vote to Washington over Walter N. Carroll of Minneapolis on the thirteenth ballot after being deadlocked several hours.

Mr. Carroll offered to use the $30-expense allowance to give a big Republican dinner to the electors, state officials and party chiefs. Mr. Dalzell countered with an offer to turn the money over to the Republican committee.

Heads Agricultural Board.

St. Paul.—George Atchison of Mankato was elected president of the Minnesota State Agricultural society at its closing meeting. With the office goes the presidency of the state fair board of managers. Mr. Atchison won against F. W. Murphy of Wheaton by a vote of 162 to 149½. The split vote is explained by the society's method of voting by counties and member associations.

Charles Patterson of St. Paul was re-elected vice president; Mike Holm, judge of probate in Roseau county, was elected member of the board of governors for a two-year term. This is the unexpired term of Thomas H. Canfield of Lake Park, who recently resigned from the board to become its secretary.

Mr. Atchison's victory was explained, according to delegates afterward, by the fact that he had served for nine years as a member of the board and deserved the promotion, whereas Mr. Murphy was a member of the board with two years of his term yet to serve.

Girl Is Potato Champion.

Duluth. — A girl student in the State Normal school at Duluth is the champion potato grower of Minnesota, as determined in the potato growing contest conducted by the University's agricultural extension division. She is Ruth Ehnstrom of Carlton, 18 years old. Prize winners have been announced by T. A. Erickson, state leader of boys' and girls' club work, promoted by the University and the United States Department of Agriculture.

Miss Ehnstrom is a farmer's daughter. She lives on the farm when not in Duluth, and she tills it, too. "When Adam delved and Eve spun" runs the old verse. Miss Ehnstrom doesn't indorse such a division of labor. She likes to delve and does delve—and it pays her. It is making it possible for her to take the normal course, for she is paying her own way. On one-eighth of an acre she grew 55.12 bushels of potatoes last summer.

To Supervise Private Schools.

Charging that the state, while assuming responsibility for the education of its young people, doesn't know to what extent they are being trained in good American citizenship, C. G. Schulz, state superintendent of education, advocates state supervision of all private schools in Minnesota. Recommendations concerning this subject have been filed with Secretary W. W. Hodson of the state voluntary commission on revision of laws pertaining to children, but the superintendent will not make public the text of his recommendation until it has reached the commission.

Reserve Bank Prospers.

Minneapolis. During 1916 the Ninth Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis earned $238,000 as compared to gross earnings of $96,000 in 1915. The total resources of the bank now are $37,487,000. A year ago the resources totaled $16,466,000. These figures are contained in the second annual report of Chairman John H. Rich. The bank paid a dividend of $57.71.

The bank closed the year with about $12,000,000 of earning assets and with an excellent outlook for 1917 business.

Society of Risk Concerns Meets.

St. Paul. — The Minnesota Association of Mutual Insurance companies has concluded its annual convention here. A. E. Anderson, manager of the Cottonwood County Mutual association, gave the association the results of his company's experiences. The company has now outstanding $8,000,000 worth of risks and has a surplus on hand of $58,000. The premium is 15 cents and is based on two-thirds value of real estate or three-quarters' value on personal property.

Albany, Minn. — Math Perne, weighing 250 pounds, and Herman Cooper, 145 pounds, stepped out of a business place here. They slipped on the sidewalk and both fell, the small man being beneath the heavy one. Cooper suffered three fractures to his left leg.

St. Cloud. — The announcement that the Great Northern railroad will build additions to its shops here costing $100,000 means that its force of men will be increased from 800 to 1,500 or 1,600 in the near future, officials state.

$300,000 Blaze Hits Rochester.

Lowell, Mass.—"For the last three years I have been troubled with the Change of Life and the bad feelings common at that time. The New Method

(BY L. W. BOWER, M. D.)

Backache of any kind is often caused by kidney disorder, which means that the kidneys are not working properly. Poisonous matter and uric acid accumulate within the body in great abundance over-working the sick kidneys, hence the congestion of blood causes backache in the same manner as a similar congestion in the head causes headache. You become nervous, despondent, sick, feverish, irritable, have spots appearing before the eyes, bags under the lids, and lack ambition to do things.

The latest and most effective means of overcoming this trouble, is to eat sparingly of meat, drink plenty water between meals and take a single Anuric tablet before each meal for a while.

Simply ask your favorite druggist for Anuric. If you have lumbago, rheumatism, gout, dropsy, begin immediately with this novel treatment.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR
HARRIETT G. HUNT, PUBLISHER

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

In commenting on our reply to Mr. Swanson, the News-Press seems to want to convey the impression that we are trying to array the country's interests against those of the cities'. That is something that we never did, and if anyone got that impression from our article they are mistaken. We have repeatedly given the people of Thief River Falls, and particularly the bankers of that city credit for being always willing to extend a helping hand to any farmer that wanted their assistance, and now we may make some other individual mad by saying that they have been too liberal in loaning money, and too slack in collecting it for the best future wellfare, of some of the people of this county. We propose to publish facts without regard to whose corns we tread on, and we wish to state openly that it has been so easy to borrow money to live on by mortgaging that there has been no incentive to work and earn it. But after this class of people have exhausted their credit, there is no use to come in flaming head lines that the people of Pennington County are starving to death, and we for one will not stand for any such stuff to go out to the outside world. If Mr. Swanson or any of his neighbors are not able to procure food, let us know and we will promptly see to it that they have plenty to eat, for there is no one in Pennington County going to starve to death, if we did loose one crop, a condition that never happened before, and is not likely to happen again.

As there has been a lot of talk about getting seed grain loans from the state, for flood sufferers we will briefly explain what this means. In the first place Minnesota is rich, But they have no money to give away. Mr. Richardson and others have repeatedly referred to a loan of the state to farmers of Polk County years ago. As we were at that time a pioneer resident of eastern Polk County, we know all about that loan, that was made in 1888. The loan was made for the reason that the farmers had lost their crops by frost and hail. But my dear neighbor it was not made without good security; as the amount of each loan was assessed up against the land. The County Commissioners bought the seed, and the graft business started. They bought any old kind of wheat, full of foul seed, frozen shrunk or any old thing that went by the name of wheat, charged about twenty cents a bushel above the market price to the seed grain borrowers, and assessed the value up against the land of land owners, and took what other security they could get of others. Those who could pay in the fall, paid dearly. Those who could not pay the amount of their loan, was collected from those who could pay. The County Commissioners enjoyed a wave of prosperity, and the poor farmers paid the bills. Investigations were made and it found that there was a big difference in the price paid by the Commissioners for this rejected wheat and the price charged the farmers, but there could not be anything done about it, and every time we hear a state seed grain loan mentioned, we think of those old graft days, and are ready to oppose any proposition that will give one class of people a license from the State of Minnesota to deliberately rob another class.

The flood conditions of the Red Lake and Clearwater Rivers which done such terrible damage last year, have caused both Congressman Steenerson and Senator O'Neill to introduce bills in Congress and the State Legislature to get appropriations for relief, and there will undoubtedly be work commenced to dredge and straighten the Red Lake River this year.

If the State of Minnesota gets as far along as to ask the farmers living along Red Lake River to sign a relinquishment of any claim for damage, by reason of the dumping of dirt onto their land by the dredging and straightening of Red Lake River, we can by that time conclude that the state is going to do something to relieve the flood conditions that has done so much damage along this river for the past two years. We own at least one mile of land lying along the bank of Red Lake River that has such high banks, that the floods have not damaged us to any great extent, but we would walk ten miles to sign a release of any claim for damages, if the state will only take hold and help us to deepen and straighten this river.

We don't care to use space to make any further reply to Mr. Swanson for the reason, that he has dropped the fight against the country in which we live, and has began a personal attack on Hunt and THE SUNBEAM. By doing this he can do no harm, so he is welcome to air his views in a couple columns of the News-Press every week, and we will continue to publish the local news in the future, as we have done in the past. However if Mr. Swanson, or any of his personal friends want to move out of the country "quietly," we will refrain from mention of the fact, if they will give us the "tip."

Suspicious.

"Let me show you 'Love Letters of Wise Men,'" said the clerk in the book emporium.

Legislative Program of Railroads.

From an authoritative source is obtained the following outline of the legislative program which the railroads will ask the committee to consider in its investigation: They will endeavor to demonstrate to the commission that one of the principal defects in the present system of railroad regulation is the lack of coordination resulting from the simultaneous and conflicting regulation by the federal government and by the 48 states. They will, therefore, ask that entire governmental control of the rates and practices of interstate carriers, except purely local matters, be placed in the hands of a federal body so that interstate traffic may be regulated without reference to state lines, leaving to the state commissions jurisdiction only over local matters and local public utilities. As a part of this plan, a compulsory system of federal incorporation is to be recommended, accompanied by federal supervision of railroad stock and bond issues.

A reorganization of the Interstate Commerce Commission will be asked, in order to enable the commission properly to exercise its increased powers. It is also proposed that the preparation and prosecution of cases against the railroads shall be delegated to some other agency of the government, possibly the Department of Justice, so that the commission may devote its energies to its administrative functions.

With the commission thus relieved of some of its present duties and equipped to handle its business more promptly, the railroads will urge that the period during which the commission may now suspend proposed increases in rates be reduced from ten months to 60 days, with provision for reparation to be paid to the shippers if the advance shall be declared unreasonable.

They will also ask that the commission be given the power to prescribe minimum as well as maximum rates so that in meeting complaints of discrimination the commission may order the advance of a rate which it considers too low.

One of the most important recommendations for which the railroads will ask favorable consideration is that the commission be specifically authorized to take into account in rate regulation the effect of rates upon total earnings in the light of expenses.

While the Newlands Committee is required, under the resolution creating it, to submit a report by January 8 next, it is not anticipated that the Committee will have come anywhere near completing its labors then.

When Cruelty Isn't Cruelty.

The magistrate of the department of Seine-et-Oise, in France, once gave a decision in a claim of cruelty to a horse which is remarkable as a legal subtlety. The law provides that the offense is punishable only when committed in public. If the sore is covered by the collar, he holds, the offense is not committed in public. If it is not covered by the collar there is no cruelty. In either event the case must be discharged.

This Player "Quick Study."

For remarkable memory it would be hard to outdo a strolling player of the eighteenth century, of whom Sir William Robertson Nicoll has written. For a wager he once undertook to memorize the whole of the next day's Daily Advertiser and accomplished his task by repeating every line in the journal, news, headings, advertisements and all in perfect order and without a slip.—London Tatler.

Canes at the National Museum.

A collection of canes made of practically every kind of suitable material and representing forty-five foreign countries, as well as twenty-one states of the Union, forms one of the most interesting exhibits at the National museum at Washington. Forty different kinds of wooden canes are on exhibition, as well as canes made of ivory, bone, horn, skin, paper, tin, wire and other substances. In this collection are many canes that are artistic and others that are merely curious in shape, as well as some made for emergency uses. Among the latter are a sketching cane with drawing materials stored in the handle, a number equipped with match safes, mountain climbing canes with sharp spiked ferrules, an officer's "swagger stick" and sword and gun canes of various types. The most interesting feature of the exhibit perhaps is the historical element.—Popular Mechanics.

Health For Canaries.

Even a canary must be cared for judiciously if its life is to be happy. Regular exercise outside its cage is desirable, if its owner has time to look after this exercise. A scrupulously clean cage, fresh water and seed every day, greens of some sort—lettuce, celery, plantain—once or twice a week, and enforced abstinence from sugar, sweet biscuits and other odds and ends that are often fed to birds—these details insure health and, therefore, happiness to the caged bird. Perhaps the fact that it is caged, that it has so few ways of making its wants known, should make its owner more careful of its health than she would be even of the health of a dog or cat.—New York Sun.

Dropping the Aspirate.

Dropping the aspirate in the combination "wh" has the support of three authorities on English pronunciation—the late Dr. Sweet, Professor Rippmann and D. Jones. This "h," by the way, does not follow an initial "w," except in the spelling. What those who do pronounce it really say is "hwich," "hwen," etc. In omitting the aspirate we are merely carrying on a process long established in English. Take, for instance, the words "lady," "loaf," "lean," "laugh," "neck" and "ridge." All were originally pronounced with an initial "h," which has now entirely disappeared. Even more violent consonantal changes have taken place. In "knife," "know," "gnaw" and "write" the initial "k," "g" or "w" was at one time pronounced. "Knife," for example, developed something in this way, "Knife," "tnife," "hnife," "nife," the first consonant being sounded. Not so very long ago "knee" was pronounced "tnee" in Cumberland.—London Chronicle.

Language of Footprints.

Among the Indians the study of human footprints was carried to a fine point. Many of us would be able to say at a glance, "Here goes So-and-so," with perfect accuracy. Even the children would recognize instantly the footprint of a stranger from another tribe. It was claimed by some that character may be read from the footprint, just as some white people undertake to read it from the handwriting, on the ground that certain characteristic attitudes and motions of the body, reflecting mental peculiarities, affect the gait and consequently the pedal autograph. At any rate, our people were close readers of character, and I do not hesitate to say that faithful study of the language of footprints in all its details will be certain to develop your insight as well as your powers of observation.—Charles A. Eastman (Ohiyesa) in St. Nicholas.

Hope and Faith.

Hope is the boy, a blind, headlong, pleasant fellow good to chase swallows with salt; Faith is the grave, experienced yet smiling man. Hope lives in ignorance; open eyed Faith is built upon a knowledge of our life, of the tyranny of circumstance and the failure of human resolution. Hope looks for unqualified success, but Faith counts certainly on failure and takes honorable defeat to be a form of victory. Hope is a kind old pagan, but Faith grew up in Christian days and early learned humanity. In the one temper a man is indignant that he cannot spring up in a clap to heights of elegance and virtue; in the other, out of a sense of his infirmities he is filled with confidence because a year has come and gone and he has still preserved some ray of honor.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

Crest of the Bloody Hand.

The noted English family of the Holtes has for its badge a bloody hand, and this sinister badge commemorates a wager that ended in a crime. Sir Thomas Holte one day in 1612 was hunting. He invited his comrades home with him to dinner, and as he rode along he made a heavy bet on his cook's punctuality. But the cook failed him for once. When he got home dinner was not ready. The jeers of his companions at this failure, together with his huge loss in the matter of the wager, enraged him so that he ran into the kitchen, seized a cleaver and split the cook's head open with it. Afterward his family, to keep this crime alive, adopted for its crest the bloody hand of the cook killer.

A Mild Threat.

The following story is told of the late Dr. Timothy Dwight. In his early days, when he was a tutor in charge of student discipline at Yale—a sort of proctor, apparently—he was called out of his room by some midnight escapade. He was obliged as a matter of duty to pursue the disturbers, and with his long legs he soon found himself gaining rapidly upon them. Thereupon a solemn voice rang out suddenly into the night:

"Gentlemen, if you don't run a little faster I shall be obliged to overtake you."

Russians Light Drinkers.

The Russian realized perfectly well the evil effect of the use of vodka upon his fellow countrymen. We must not share the belief, disseminated by the books of dilettante travelers, that every one in Russia was a hard drinker. Far from it. Certain very considerable sections of the population did not drink at all. Such were the Mohammedans, to whom the prophet of Allah had forbidden the juice of the grape; such were the sectarians among the orthodox, who refrained on principle. Many others as well did not indulge, either from distaste or from conscientious scruples. In fact, statistical evidence shows that the people of the Russian empire consumed decidedly less alcohol per capita than the peoples of many other European countries.—Robert P. Blake in Atlantic.

Automobile Tops.

The practice of running an automobile with the top up when it is not needed is costly, according to tests which I made, says a contributor to Popular Machanics. When the back of the top cannot be rolled up the resistance is especially great. Six miles more were obtained from a gallon of gasoline with the top rolled and covered as compared with having the top up with the back closed. When going against the wind this extra pull is especially heavy, and difficulty in making a hard climb may often be relieved by lowering the top. Careful regulation of the top, using it only when essential, will be found to be a worth while factor in reducing the gasoline bill.

Adjustable Mathematics.

"Figures prove"— began the statistical expert.

"Wait a minute," interrupted Senator Sorghum. "You tell me what question you are discussing and which side of it you are on and I'll tell you without the trouble of going through the calculation just about what your figures are going to prove."—Washington Star.

Same Old Talk.

Charles Dickens once had a talk with Queen Victoria at Buckingham palace. Two of the chief subjects of conversation were domestic service and the increasing cost of bread and beef.

You know the Railroads are talking a good deal these days about the "Safety Habit." It is not a safety razor or a safety bicycle, It's safety for the lives intrusted to their care.

The principle applies to the banking business. Our bank employed the Safety Habit at the outset-safety to the depositors money intrusted to our care. Every dollar left with us will be taken care of. Safety is our watch word. We would like to have your account on this basis.

Why Sash Windows?

Our mode of life is based upon our theories. Our sash windows are probably the most irrational things in creation. They appear to have been first invented in Holland and brought over to England toward the close of the seventeenth century in place of the rational French windows. It must have been a curious person who invented the former, which are often dangerous owing to the breaking of the cords, while a draft is always pouring in between the two sashes. What their advantage is no one can understand. On the other hand, French windows, as will be easily seen anywhere on the continent or in Egypt or elsewhere, may be closed to exclude either draft or noise. Moreover, seldom if ever do we have double windows such as are used throughout northern Europe.—London Science Press.

Too Ill to Walk Upright. Operation Advised. Saved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

This woman now raises chickens and does manual labor. Read her story:

Richmond, Ind.—"For two years I was so sick and weak with troubles from my age that when going up stairs I had to go very slowly with my hands on the steps, then sit down at the top to rest. The doctor said he thought I should have an operation, and my friends thought I would not live to move into our new house. My daughter asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as she had taken it with good results. I did so, my weakness disappeared, I gained in strength, moved into our new home, did all kinds of garden work, shoveled dirt, did building and cement work, and raised hundreds of chickens and ducks. I cannot say enough in praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and if these facts are useful you may publish them for the benefit of other women."—Mrs. M. O. INTERNED GERMAN SHIPS GIVE HELP TO THEIR RAIDER

RIO JANEIRO PAPERS CLAIMS HELP IS FURNISHED BY SHIPS SAILING FROM SOUTH AMERICAN HARBORS.

PRECAUTIONARY STEPS TAKEN BY GOVERNMENT

Are Accused of Flying an American Flag and Two More Are Expected to Make Sudden Dash for Sea With Provisions.

Rio Janeiro, Jan. 22.—The German raider, which still continues its reign of terror among Allied shipping in the south seas, is being supplied with reenforcements and provisions by German merchantmen that have been interned in South American harbors since the beginning of the war, according to the newspaper, A Noticia, here.

One hundred German sailors from the gunboat Eber, interned at Bahia, have fled from Rio Janeiro in the Swedish steamer St. Croix, and have been put aboard the raider, A Noticia alleges.

Fly American Flag.

As proof of its accusations the newspaper prints the story of the commander of the Brazilian steamer Maranboa, who says that outside the port of Pernambuco he met two cargo vessels, accompanied by two auxiliary ships, all German, flying the American flag. The four ships left Pernambuco secretly and without clearance papers.

It is alleged further that the German steamers Hohenstaufen and Caproca have taken on provisions and are set for a sudden dash out to sea.

While the Brazilian minister of Marine has refused to publicly credit the newspaper's accusations he has issued orders that no ships be permitted to depart without clearing papers.

Brazilian Ships Ordered Out.

In addition the coast defense boat Deodore and the scout cruiser Rio Grande have been ordered to cruise between Port Natal and Fernando da Noronha and seize any raider, or supply ships, operating in any manner that might injure Brazil's neutrality.

To supplement the operations of the Brazilian scout ships the British auxiliary cruiser Edinburgh Castle has arrived at Rio Janeiro and will immediately attach itself to the already large fleet of Allied ships now hunting down the German raider.

British Steamer Escapes.

The raider lost a rich prize when the British steamer Vauben arrived safely, according to a report, at the harbor of Bahia.

The Vauban, of 10,660 tons gross sailed from New York January 7 with passengers and freight. Although no passenger steamers had been reported interfered with by the German raider which has been operating in the Atlantic, some uneasiness was felt in shipping circles regarding the Vauban, as her course was taking her into the zone of the raider's activities.

OFFICIAL CONFESSES; OTHERS IMPLICATED

Chicago Police Captain, Under Indiction Involving Former Chief and Negro Alderman.

Chicago, Jan. 22. — Police Captain Stephen K. Healey, indicted in connection with the recent charges of police graft, has confessed, Maclay Hoynes, state's attorney, announces. Mr. Hoyne said Healey's confession implicated ex-Chief of Police Charles C. Depriest, a negro alderman, and others said to have been linked in manipulations of the alleged corruption syndicate.

The announcement was an outgrowth of an investigation undertaken by Mr. Hoyne following charges that former Chief Healey and others conspired to commit bribery and to allow violation of the Sunday-losing laws, and to permit disorderly houses and gambling resorts to operate. Upon these charges, ex-Chief Healey and six others were named in a blanket indictment returned by the grand jury.

Natives Favored for Concessions.

Queretaro, Mexico, Jan. 22.—The constitutional assembly approved an article of the constitution providing that Mexicans shall be given the preference over foreign born citizens in regard to all classes of concessions and for those posts in the government employ, the holders of which must be citizens.

Negro Cooks Could Vote.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 22. — United States Senator Ollie James has given his reasons for being opposed to suffrage. "It would enfranchise 20,000 negro cooks in Kentucky," he told Mrs. C. Henning. She repeated his remarks upon her return from Washington. Mrs. Henning, a suffrage leader in Kentucky, declared Senator Beckham was non-committal, but was opposed to the plan to submit the state suffrage amendment with the referendum on prohibition.

SNOWFALL RECORD SHATTERED

NORTHWEST VISITED BY HEAVIEST SNOWSTORM IN HISTORY.

Wind Reaching Proportions of Gale Is An Accompaniment—Railroad Traffic Paralized.

Minneapolis, Jan. 22.—The storm was general throughout the Northwest with central and southern Minnesota and central South Dakota apparently receiving the most serious portion of it, according to reports received.

Minneapolis passed through the worst snowstorm recorded since the establishment of a government weather observing station in the Twin Cities 40 years ago. Streets and sidewalks were blocked, street railway service demoralized, passenger train schedules were upset and freight traffic stopped by the violence of the storm.

Snowfall Record Broken.

The snowfall here was 17 inches. The deepest previous fall on record for the Twin Cities is 14 inches, recorded about 30 years ago in the old St. Paul observation station.

Accompanying the snow was a north wind that often reached the dimensions of a gale, the maximum speed of the wind having been 42 miles an hour. An average of 30 miles an hour was maintained for the time the snow fell. This caused heavy drifting and was in a large measure responsible for the paralysis of traffic conditions, in all directions.

The storm was central over Utah. It moved in a northeasterly direction, toward the Great Lakes region, and has passed over Lake Michigan and is headed toward the eastern provinces of Canada.

NEUTRAL SAILORS HELD AS PRISONERS OF WAR

So Regarded by Germany When Taken off Armed Ships According to State Department.

Berlin, Jan. 22.—A summary of the German admiralty's official statement on the detention as prisoners of war of neutral sailors aboard armed merchantmen captured by the German naval forces, was cabled to the State department at Washington by Ambassador Gerard.

German official circles profess to regard the case as affording an opportunity for negotiations looking to the settlement between America and Germany of the status of armed merchantmen. Since the men in question are safe and the case is not complicated by the lost of human life optimism over an amicable adjustment is expressed here.

Since the issuing of the German memorandum on armed merchantmen earlier in the war, German authorities have held that a ship which mounts guns, whether they be intended for defense or offense, loses its status as a private commercial craft and becomes a warship. Sailors taking service on such a ship, these authorities contend, lose their neutral status, just as if they had enlisted in the naval forces of a belligerent.

Many Are Indicted.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—Between 25 and 40 indictments, charging conspiracy and bribery have been returned by the October grand jury as the result of State's Attorney Hoyne's investigation into dealings of police officials and the vice-graft ring. Among those who were indicted are Chief of Police Chas. C. Healey, W. B. "Billy" Skidmore, Thomas Costello, "Mike de Pike" Heitler, William Weinstein, Thomas Newbold and Sergeant Barry and other men well known.

His Clutch Slipped.

Harold, age four, was trudging the distance of many blocks with his father to Sunday school, and the long tramp was almost too much for him. The father, glancing back, noticed the small boy's fatigue and, slackening his pace, asked:

"Am I walking too fast, son?"

"No," returned the small boy, puffing and panting breathlessly, "it's me, papa."—Christian Herald.

With the Fingers! Says Corns Lift Out Without Any Pain

Sore corns, hard corns, soft corns or any kind of a corn can shortly be lifted right out with the fingers if you will apply on the corn a few drops of freezone, says a Cincinnati authority.

At little cost one can get a small bottle of freezone at any drug store, which will positively rid one's feet of every corn or callus without pain or soreness or the danger of infection.

This new drug is an ether compound, and dries the moment it is applied and does not inflame or even irritate the surrounding skin. Just think! You can lift off your corns and calluses now without a bit of pain or soreness. If your druggist hasn't freezone he can easily get a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house.—adv.

FRUIT LAXATIVE FOR SICK CHILD

"California Syrup of Figs" can't harm tender stomach, liver and bowels.

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs" that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish, or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleaning" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask at the store for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Adv.

St. Paul. — Combined assets of 1,046 state banks in Minnesota December 27, 1916, were $38,426,178.72 greater than those of 971 such banks on December 31, 1915, according to a comparative abstract from statements on those dates under state calls, as made public by F. E. Pearson, state superintendent of banks. The net increase in deposits during the comparative period was $35,889,227.64.

Minneapolis. — Thomas H. Canfield of Lake Park was chosen secretary of the 1917 Minnesota State Fair to succeed himself, at the reorganization meeting of the state fair board. Practically all the 1916 department heads of the state fair were re-elected.

The agricultural extension division of the university supervises this contest. Verne's yield, in dry, shelled corn, was 123.96 bushels on that single acre.

St. Paul. — The University of Minnesota will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of its founding in 1918. The herald of this celebration will arrive on the university campus next April in the person of the Golden Jubilee Gopher, the college annual now being prepared by the class of 1918. The present junior class plans to spread the gospel of the anniversary this spring and then lead in the celebration next winter.

International Falls. — State Auditor J. A. O. Preus and State Treasurer Henry Rines, on their way from this city to Duluth, were quizzed and for a time threatened with detention by a Canadian immigration inspector here. The state officials had been here conducting a state timber sale.

St. Paul. — That the sentiment for good roads is spreading rapidly in Minnesota is indicated, the State Highway commission says, by the fact that 51 of the state's 86 counties have drawn all the state aid to which they are entitled in 1916. This amounts to $1,370,000.

TO LIVE LONG!

A recipe given by a famous physician for long life was: "Keep the kidneys in good order! Try to eliminate thru the skin and intestines the poisons that otherwise clog the kidneys. Avoid eating meat as much as possible; avoid too much salt, alcohol, tea. Try a milk and vegetable diet. Drink plenty of water, and exercise so you sweat—the skin helps to eliminate the toxic poisons and uric acid"

Warning About Water Pipes.

Now is the time that fires are caused by householders attempting to thaw out service pipes by burning oil-soaked rags and using other ill-advised methods in which an open flame is used. The proper way for the householder to restore an ice-clogged pipe to service is to wrap it with cloth and pour hot water upon it, or, if the freezing is too severe to yield to this treatment, the best plan is to send for a plumber. Apparently this is a minor detail, but attention to it may prevent needless fire loss running into thousands of dollars.—Engineering Record.

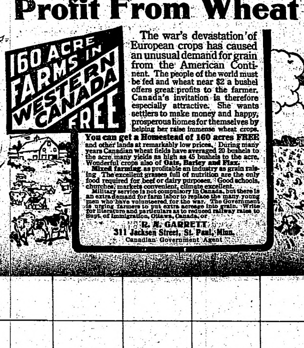
Canadian Farmers Profit From Wheat



160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

The war's devastation of European crops has caused an unusual demand for grain from the American Continent. The people of the world must be fed and wheat near $2 a bushel offers great profits to the farmer. Canada's invitation is therefore especially attractive. She wants settlers to make money and happy, prosperous homes for themselves by helping her raise immense wheat crops.

You can get a Homestead of 160 acres FREE and other lands at remarkably low prices. During many years Canadian wheat fields have averaged 20 bushels to the acre many yields as high as 45 bushels to the acre. Wonderful crops also of Oats, Barley and Flax.

Mixed farming as profitable an industry as grain raising. The excellent grasses full of nutrition are the only food required for beef or dairy purposes. Good schools, churches, markets convenient, climate excellent.

Military service is not compulsory in Canada, but there is an extra demand for farm labor to replace the many young men who have volunteered for the war. The Government is urging farmers to put extra acreage into grain. Write for literature and particulars as to reduced railway rates to Supt. of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or

IN THE MINNESOTA LEGISLATURE

BURNQUIST UNDER FIRE FOR FAILURE TO CHECK BUDGET

EXECUTIVE CRITICIZED FOR ALLEGED PLAN TO SEND IN BUDGET WITHOUT MAKING REVISIONS THERETO.

STATE FINANCE PROBE DECISION OF SOLONS

Resolution for Immediate Inquiry in Financial Affairs of All Departments Passes House Unanimously, Though Meeting Committee Opposition.

St. Paul, Jan. 20.—Storm clouds are gathering in the legislature following the announcement that Governor Burnquist planned to send in the state budget without having made revisions as required by law.

Legislators who helped pass the budget law in 1915, while withholding definite criticism until the governor's forthcoming message is read, are nevertheless planning to unburden themselves of some strong opinions on the matter.

Leaders said that the first important step in the reform of the state's fiscal system and the method of appropriating money would be nullified unless the revisions were made.

Governor Burnquist may make some eleventh-hour changes in his plans to turn the whole task over to the legislature, it is intimated now.

It is pointed out that the desire of the legislature was expressly stated in the budget law, which requires the governor to revise the estimates. It is known that the governor had his message on the subject prepared some time ago. That he may make some last-minute changes is now considered possible, however.

To Probe State Finances.

An immediate investigation of financial affairs of the various state departments was decided upon when the Minnesota House of Representatives, without a dissenting vote, adopted Representative Anton Peterson's resolution for an inquiry by the House committee on public accounts and expenditures.

The resolution provides for the appointment of two expert accountants and a stenographer to aid the committee in its work.

"Dry" Bill Redrafted.

St. Paul, Jan. 19.—Some of the more drastic features of the proposed prohibition constitutional amendment have just been redrafted at a secret conference of dry leaders of the Minnesota House and Senate.

The provisions in the original draft which would prohibit the transportation of liquor were stricken out. Under the amendment as now constructed, any person could have liquor sent to his own home for his own use from outside of the state.

The bill as first introduced in both House and Senate was patterned after the West Virginia law and was said to be "bone dry." It would not permit any one's even having liquor in his possession.

Decide On Concessions.

In order to satisfy the so-called "political drys," in the legislature, those who would not go the limit in preventing people from purchasing liquor for their own use, the legislators having the constitutional amendment in charge decided to make the concessions.

The conference was held at the Saint Paul hotel. Among the legislators present were Senator Gandrud, who introduced the bill in the Senate; W. I. Norton of Minneapolis, Senator Ole Sageng of Dalton, Theodore Christensen of Dawson, George B. Sutherland of Fairmont, chairman of the House temperance committee, and the Rev. George B. Safford, superintendent of the Minnesota Anti-Saloon league.

For State Insurance Board.

A bill creating a state industrial and insurance board of three members at annual salaries of $5,000 each has been introduced in the Minnesota House by Representatives Henry Holmes of Big Lake, Thomas J. McGrath, St. Paul, and John H. Gill of Virginia.

Under the provisions of the bill the governor is empowered to appoint a board of three members

Admits Farmers By "Proxy."

Farmers "by proxy" are made eligible to membership in the Farmers' Forum, an organization of the farmers of both houses, under rules just adopted at a meeting. The rules define the term, agriculturists.

Hearings on Economy Bills.

St. Paul, Jan. 18.—Public hearings on ten efficiency and economy commission bills for reorganization of the state government will be held daily, beginning Jan. 23. This was determined at a joint meeting.

LEGISLATURE MAY VOTE TO REPEAL PRIMARY ACT

First Step to Reform Election Laws Taken—Opinion Unanimous On Necessity for Change.

St. Paul, Jan. 19.—As the first step in reforming Minnesota's election laws legislators are determined either to repeal or amend the so-called presidential preference primary act.

Indications are that a majority of the lawmakers are willing to wipe the statute off the books.

The amendments of the primary election laws providing for a return to a modified convention system and placing the legislature and county offices back on a partisan basis, are the subjects of many informal conferences.

While there is a unanimity of opinion on the necessity for changing the presidential preference primary, there is an evident fear on the part of some senators and representatives to commit themselves on the changes in the regular primary.

Three Important Bills.

St. Paul, Jan. 18.—Three interesting measures have just been introduced in the Minnesota legislature. They are:

A bill providing that women may vote for president and vice president; introduced in the Senate.

A bill to repeal the boxing law; introduced in the Senate.

A resolution providing for legislative investigation of the affairs of the University of Minnesota; introduced in the House.

Backed by Women.

The bill which would permit women to vote for president and vice president was presented by Senators Frank E. Putnam of Blue Earth and Ole A. Sageng of Dalton.

The measure has the backing of the Minnesota State Woman Suffrage association and smaller organizations. Its introduction has marked the suspension, at least for a time, of the protracted fight to obtain passage of a constitutional amendment granting women full suffrage.

Law Subcommittees Named.

Subcommittees of the house judiciary committee have been named by Chairman Albert F. Pratt and all bills going to the committee will be considered first by the proper subcommittee. Daily sessions of the full committee are to take place an hour before the house meets. The subcommittees are as follows:

Substantive Law—Searls, chairman; Christianson, Davies, Konzen, Swanson.

Pleading, Practice and Evidence—A. M. Peterson, chairman; Levin, Gleason, Hammer, Pattison.

Criminal Law—Mueller, chairman; Howard, Reed, Pittenger, Nordlin.

Constitutional Law—Marwin, chairman; Hammer, Child, Levin, A. M. Peterson.

Probate Courts and Probate Law—Bjorge, chairman; Madigan, Moen, Sudheimer, Bjorklund.

Courts and Court Officers—Madigan, chairman; Ryberg, Bjorge, Frye, Stevens.

Real Property and Curative Acts—Reed, chairman; Stenvick, Ryberg, Norton, J. M. Harrison.

Commercial Law and Uniform State Laws—Child, chairman; Davis, Praxel, Searls, Erickson.

Municipal Corporations—Bjorklund, chairman; Mueller, McGrath, Southwick, Davis.

Corporations Other Than Municipal—Pittenger, chairman; Pattison, Siegel, Solem, Sudheimer.

To Bar So-called "Shysters."

So-called "shysters" and "ambulance chasers" will be removed from the bar under the provisions of a bill introduced in the Senate with two other measures recommended by the Minnesota Bar association.

The three bills will be sponsored by the judiciary committee of the Senate. Five other measures recommended by the bar association were considered, but it was found they already had been introduced.

The bill, aimed to check unethical practices by lawyers, provides for censure, suspension or removal from practice of attorneys who employ runners, solicit business persistently, either personally or by means of circulars, or obtain settlement of personal injury cases for inadequate amounts.

For Fund to Oust I. W. W.'s

As a sequel to Senator E. J. Westlake's resolution offered for a legislative investigation of the I. W. W. disturbances and the labor situation in northern Minnesota, the general legislation committee of the state has introduced a bill providing the governor with a fund of $50,000 to be used in emergencies for the suppression of disorders. The unused portion of the fund each year is to be returned to the general revenue fund of the state.

For State Board of Conciliation.

Representative Knutson of Benson has introduced a bill providing for a state board of conciliation and investigation. The members of the board would be appointed by the governor whenever a strike threatens.

Prohibits Sales On Margins.

Another of the bills advocated by farmer members of the legislature has been presented to the House by Representative A. F. Teigen, and would prohibit the sale of grain or stocks on margin or option.

THE BASIS OF CANADA'S RICHES

A Theme Discussed by the Wall Street Journal.

In speaking of Canada a short time ago the Wall Street Journal made the statement that "The basis of Canada's riches is the fertility of the soil, and no freak of warfare can injure that while her grain will increase in demand as the population of the world grows. As an investment field Canada is worthy of consideration." These words are well worthy of attention, especially coming from such a source as this eminent financial journal. With a land area exceeding that of the United States and with tillable areas coming under cultivation, the wealth of Canada's future can scarcely be estimated, while the wealth today is such as to bring her most prominently before the world.

During the past year thousands of farmers in Western Canada sold their crops for more than the total cost of their land. Lands at from $15 to $30 an acre produced crops worth $40 to $75 an acre. Stock raising and dairying were equally profitable.

The year 1915 saw most wonderful crops and magnificent yields over the entire country, and many farmers wiped out indebtedness that had hung over them long before they came to the country, and the year 1916 put them in a condition of absolute independence. A report to hand verified by a high official might seem marvelous, were the particulars not well known, and where are not other cases that would seem almost as phenomenal. This is a southern Alberta story: A farmer wished to rent an adjoining farm on which a loan company held a mortgage. The applicant said he wanted the first ten bushels of wheat, after which he would divide, giving the loan company one-third. After threshing he paid into the bank at Calgary $16 per acre for every acre cultivated, to the credit of the loan company, as their share or their third of the crop. Sixteen dollars per acre rent. His two-thirds was $32 and in addition the first ten bushels of wheat. Land on this same security can be purchased for from $16 to $30 per acre. Wonderful yields are reported from all parts of this district. Recently 4,640 acres of a ranch were sold to an Illinois farmer; 300 acres of wheat in 1916 produced a yield that averaged 42½ bushels of wheat per acre. George Richard, formerly of Providence, R. I., on a southern Alberta farm got 2,052 bushels of wheat from a 50-acre field, or over 40 bushels per acre, and from a 50-acre field of oats got a return of 76 bushels per acre and still had some sheaves left over for feeding.

A report just issued by the Alberta government gives the yield of wheat in the showing of 1916 as 28 bushels per acre; 45 bushels of oats and 30 bushels of barley.

Travelers through Alberta's wheat belt have had revealed to them scenes of agricultural productiveness unapproached in any other part of the world.

Alberta farms, selected with even moderate discretion, have raised men to independence and affluence with records of wonderful development unsurpassed amongst the phenomenal industrial success of which Canada well may boast.

Many almost incredible yields have been reported by reliable authorities, wheat exceeding 70 bushels per acre and oats 145 bushels.

Numerous records show that the cost of farms has been more than repaid by this year's crop. In one instance, land purchased for $3,200 produced wheat which was sold for a little over $10,000.

During the year 1917 there will be an immense amount of labor required to take care of the crop in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

One of the problems which Western Canada has to face every year is the securing of an adequate supply of labor to handle the harvesting and threshing of its big crops. This problem, indeed, is always present in any country that has a big agricultural production; in the case of Western Canada it is enhanced by the comparative sparsity of population and the long distance from industrial districts, which can be expected to offer a surplus of labor.

In Western Canada the present difficulties are increased by the war. A very large number of Western Canada's small population have enlisted for service with the Canadian forces in Europe, and at the present time there is generally speaking no surplus of labor for the ordinary channels of industry, to say nothing of the abnormal demands of harvest time. The situation, however, has to some extent been met by the action of the Canadian militia department, who have released all such men who are still in training in the western military camps and who desire to engage in harvest work for a period of generally one month.

The actual number of men engaged in 1916 in harvest work was between forty and fifty thousand. Wages were higher than usual, running from $2.50 to $4.00 a day with board, and from $35 to $60 a month.—Advertisement.

What the Doctor Knows

KIDNEYS MUST BE RIGHT TO INSURE HEALTH.

Few people realize to what extent their health depends upon the condition of the kidneys.

The physician in nearly all cases of serious illness, makes a chemical analysis of the patient's urine. He knows that unless the kidneys are doing their work properly, the other organs cannot readily be brought back to health and strength.

When the kidneys are neglected or abused in any way, serious results are sure to follow. According to health statistics, Bright's Disease, which is really an advanced form of kidney trouble, caused nearly ten thousand deaths in one year, in the State of New York alone. Therefore, it is particularly necessary to pay more attention to the health of these important organs.

An ideal herbal compound that has had remarkable success as a kidney remedy is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

The mild and healing influence of this preparation, in most cases, is soon realized, according to sworn statements and verified testimony of those who have used the remedy.

When your kidneys require attention, get Swamp-Root at once from any pharmacy. It is sold by every druggist in bottles of two sizes—50c and $1.00.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper. Adv.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR
HARRIETT G. HUNT, PUBLISHER

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn, under the Act of Congress of March 3,1879

As the past year has been very discouraging to our farmers, we as a two share holder of Highlanding creamery stock would suggest that the board of directors give every dollar of the income of the creamery to the patrons who sell their cream to them, less the actual expenses of running the creamery. It can not be said that we are suggesting this from a selfish motive, as we do not expect to have any cream to sell. But as the creamery is now paid for, we are willing to get along without any interest on our money invested, in order to encourage the farmers to depend more on their cows, seed down their farms to timothy and clover, and in a few years be stock holders in banks, instead of money borrowers. Experience has already proven that there is not a better tame hay producing country in the United States than Pennington county, and the sooner our farmers get onto the fact the sooner will the wave of prosperity strike us. So let us encourage them this year by giving them all the profits of the creamery, which will be bread cast upon the waters that will surely return to us.

The European War is no nearer to an end than it was one year ago for about every time the allies give out the news that they have got Germany nearly crushed, up looms Germany stronger than ever.

There is now no doubt but what the Non-Partisan League will be the coming party of Minnesota. One of the surest indications of this is the way the politicians are trying to climb onto the "band wagon."

Court is in session this week at Thief River Falls, and as the editor has been attending it, he could not be at Sunbeam at the same time.

Tranquillity of Liszt.

Liszt was a sweet souled character. One day two of his friends, musicians, resolved to put the maestro into a passion. "Which one of his habits," they inquired, "would most seriously trouble him were he deprived of it?"

"Perhaps," was the answer, "he would suffer most if deprived of a well made bed."

The two confederates, with a louis, bought over a servant to their designs. She was not, it was agreed, to make his bed for that night.

Liszt slept badly and the next morning simply said, "You have forgotten to make my bed."

For two days following she neglected making the bed, and on the third day the maestro simply said:

"I see that you have decided not to make my bed. Well, let it alone. I have come to accustom myself to it."

Shoes That Do Not Wear Out.

Esparto shoes, or shoes made of the toughest and strongest of the coarse esparto fibers, are still worn in Iberia and parts of Portugal. There is no shoe made which will outlast them, not excepting leather shoes. Indeed, one pair of esparto shoes has been known to outwear a dozen tanned hide soles. This is due to their faculty of picking up and retaining in their interstices stony particles. As fast as the pebbles are worn out they are replaced automatically by others. Thus a self soling process is constantly going on. It is not uncommon in some parts of Spain or Portugal to hear the natives boast of wearing a pair of esparto shoes for twenty-five years or more.

Rhetorical Pause.

A would be politician was once speaking before a small assembly in a village. In the course of his speech he introduced some expression which disgusted his hearers, who thereupon started moving away. The orator, seeing this, put up his hands and said:

"Pause, friends!" But the answer he got was from a local wag, who cried amid laughter:

"Aye, an' real dirty ones they are too!"—Chicago News.

TEMPLES OF JAPAN.

Hundreds of Thousands of Them Dot the Island Empire

The choicest examples of the marvelous art crafts of Japan are to be seen in the temples founded by the shoguns of old Japan. A German traveler, visiting the sanctuaries of Shimba, remarks, "One is overwhelmed at each step by the richness of the materials, the prodigality of the decoration, the fineness of details and the solemn magnificence of the entire spectacle." Idols, or sacred images, as they are sometimes called, are much in evidence. Millions of sculptured Buddhas of all sizes, both wood and stone, embellish the buildings and the temple gardens.

There are today more than 200,000 sanctuaries, both Shinto and Buddhist, scattered up and down the island empire. There are 10,000 in and about Kyoto, once the sacred capital of Nippon. For thousands of years it has been a Japanese custom to build a shrine by the roadside where the wayfarer may enter and refresh the soul. Here the rank and file go to pray and woo the favor of the gods. A priest dressed in a long robe of red silk conducts the service, preaching two short sermons for the edification of a handful of women, girls and old men.

In the large temples of the cities a company of priests in white, yellow and brown robes takes part in the services, regularly held on the 1st and 15th of the month, usually in the afternoon or evening. The opening hymns are sung, accompanied by flutes and other instruments. Of late years some of the Buddhist leaders have introduced the organ to aid them in making the temple music more pleasing and inspiring.—Exchange.

THE WORD "CASUALTY."

First Used as a Battlefield Term In the Crimean War.

When did the word "casualty" first assume the modern specialized meaning with which it is associated in war reports? I think it must have been at the time of the Crimean war, for in the latest volume of "Disraeli's Life" I have come across the following passage, dated Sept. 2, 1855: "Lady Londonderry is in despair about her son, who is now in the trenches. * * * Casualties, she says, and, truly, what a horrible word to describe the loss of limb and life!"

The underlining and the comment seem to show that Disraeli, one of the greatest masters of words, found its use unusual. Murray's Dictionary does not give much assistance on the point, for all its quotations, such as one from the Duke of Wellington's dispatches in 1810, "the casualties of the service," do not necessarily imply anything except loss by unavoidable accidents.

My suggestion, however, is borne out by the following from Stocqueler's "Military Encyclopaedia," published in 1853, which says, "Casuals or casualties, a term signifying men that are dead (since first enlisted) or have been discharged or have deserted"—in other words, total losses. No mention is made, it should be noted, of the application of the word to temporary losses caused by wounds. It was Lady Londonderry's use of it in this sense perhaps which Disraeli found strange.—Westminster Gazette.

He Was In a Hurry.

Charles Monselet in his "Curiosites Litteraires" tells of a friend of his living at Bordeaux who, glancing through a Paris bookseller's catalogue, saw the title of a book which he had vainly sought for thirty years. Looking at the clock, he found there was just time to catch the morning express for Paris. Stopping only to take some money from his cash box, he dashed off to the station and arrived at the bookshop in time to secure the prize. As he wrapped up the book the shopman remarked, "I suppose you live in this street, monsieur?" "No; I have just come from Bordeaux," was the reply. The man looked astonished, and the bibliophile discovered that in his eagerness he had traveled 360 miles in dressing gown and slippers and had never noticed any deficiency of attire.

A Bird Much Like a Fish.

The "birds of a feather" that "flock together" do not belong to the penguin family, as they are entirely destitute of feathers, having for a covering a kind of stiff down. Another penguin peculiarity is that it swims not on, but under, water, never keeping more than its head out, and when fishing coming to the surface at such brief and rare intervals that an ordinary observer would almost certainly mistake it for a fish

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Open the Windows.

Statistics show that the death rate for pneumonia, bronchitis, colds and grip is highest in January, February and March. These are the window shut months. The rate is lowest in July, August and September, when the windows are wide open. The rate rises again in October, November and December, when the windows are closing. It does not drop again until April, May and June, when the windows are again opening.

The death rate for the four diseases in winter cannot be reduced to that prevailing in summer, but it can be materially lessened by a more general use of fresh air.

No air that ever blew out of doors is as dangerous or so poisonous as that inside a bedroom with tightly closed windows. Night air is just as pure and wholesome as day air. Fogs and rains are only injurious in so far as they frighten you into closing your windows.

Open the windows and lower the death rate.

Rapid Education.

In "John Barleycorn" Jack London tells how quickly he achieved his reputation as a writer. "Critics have complained about the swift education one of my characters, Martin Eden achieved," says London. "In three years, from a sailor with a common school education, I made a successful writer of him. The critics say this is impossible. Yet I was Martin Eden. At the end of three working years, two of which were spent in high school and the university and one spent at writing, and all three in studying immensely and intensely, I was publishing stories in magazines, was correcting proofs of my first book, was selling sociological articles to magazines, had declined an associate editorship proffered me by telegraph from New York city and was getting ready to marry."

Eskimo Candy.

Tallow is the Eskimo's candy. It is put up in bright red packages made out of the feet of a waterfowl. The women cut off the red feet of this bird, which is called the dovekie, draw out the bones and blow up the skin so as to make pouches, which they fill with reindeer tallow for their little folk. None of the food that the Eskimos eat seems very inviting to us, but they are extremely fond of it and are very apt to overeat. It is said by explorers who have gone into Greenland that it is no uncommon sight to see an Eskimo man who has eaten an enormous meal of the raw frozen flesh of the reindeer, seal or walrus lying on his back and eating blubber until he cannot move.

When Wild Winds Blow.

Most of us are apt to look on a storm as simply a strong wind blowing straight from one place to another. It is not so at all, for a storm wind always blows in a curve, and a storm is not really a wind, but a whole wheel of winds with curving spokes. These curving spokes represent the various winds, all blowing toward the hub. This hub is called the "eye" of the storm. It is the spot at which the barometer is lowest. On the rim of the wheel the barometer is high, and the nearer the hub the lower is the barometer. This wheel of winds is usually several hundred miles across.

Havana.

Havana, or San Cristobal de la Habana, as it was originally named, was the last of seven cities founded in Cuba by the island's conqueror, the Adelantado Diego Velasquez, the date being July 25, 1515. Since that was twenty-three years after Columbus' discovery there cannot be many new world cities older than Havana, assuming that most of the other six in Cuba have since disappeared.

Famous Talkers.

The art of conversation was not always possessed by literary men. Coleridge and Macaulay were said to absorb so much time on an interesting subject that they were generally regarded as bores, whereas Robert Browning, with all his cumbersome poetry, was fascinating in his talk.

THE LOCAL NEWS

The past few days have been extremely cold.

W. H. Wilde made a business trip to Goodridge Wednesday.

Services were held in the Highlanding church on Sunday.

If a cold winter is an indication of a good crop year, we should have a bumper crop this year.

Sheriff LaBree was up this way Tuesday subpeonaing witnesses for the state, in the case of the state of Minnesota V. S. George and Edward Singer for arson.

There will be a hard time dance given at the Wojnarowski hall on Saturday evening February 10th. Good music will be furnished. Everybody go and have a good time

NOTICE!

Through a misunderstanding of a telephone message, we made a mistake on the date of the State and Singer trial. It is set for Tuesday, February 6th.

The Dahle brothers are having a hard time putting up the Highlanding Creamery ice, as the ice on the river is frozen so thick that an ice plow can not dig more than half way through it.

Henry Hyland has been confined to the house for nearly two weeks with mumps, which makes it bad for us, as we had depended on him to care for our farm stock, while we were courting the Singers.

We extend thanks to a large number of our subscribers for cash subscription paid the past two weeks. This is particularly gratifying to us, as it shows that THE SUNBEAM is indorsed by the people in its fight for the right.

Ye editor was compelled to attend District Court at Thief River Falls the greater part of last week, and has to again answer to the call of the calendar next week. We have been in this county since the spring of 1905, and this is our first lawsuit record, but as George and Edward Singer wanted a law suit awful bad, we were compelled to accommodate them.

We are in receipt of a letter from Hon. D. P. O'Neill, in which he says:

St. Paul, Minnesota,
Jan. 29th, 1917.

W. G. Hunt,
Sunbeam, Minnesota.

Dear Sir:—

I am having considerable trouble in the drafting of your bill providing for the extension of the payment of ditch taxes. I am still in hopes of getting one drafted, that will not be unconstitutional, and still broad enough to cover the needs of our people.

Yours very respectfully,
D. P. O'Neill.

DECREASE IN FIRE LOSS.

The report of Robert Harfadine, state fire marshal, shows that there was a decrease in the fire loss of Pennington county of $34,007 during the year 1916, as compared with 1915. We give a large portion of this saving in fire loss to the efficient management of our state fire marshal's office, as they are on the job all the time with warnings to the people to look out for fires and take precautions to prevent them. The newspapers have co-operated with them by publishing their warnings, and our state fire marshal's office has now become more than a name.

Indicted For Arson

An indictment was returned by the Pennington County Grand Jury on last Friday against George and Edward Singer, for arson in the second degree for planning to burn the residence of George Singer at Rhoda, Minnesota, on October 13th, 1914 to obtain the insurance.

A LITTLE HISTORY OF THE CASE

Immediately after the distruction of this building by fire, we promptly notified the Farmers Mutual Insurance Company of Bray, of which we are a farmer member, to investigate the case, as this same George and Edward Singer had been suspicioned of burning a building at Gully, Minn. in 1905 to obtain the insurance. The officials of the company came up and made some inquiries, but finally paid the insurance, and there the matter rested without any further investigation being made of the case. But the farmers, our subscribers, and members of the Bray Mutual urged us to publish articles regarding the fire, which we did, and were indicted on three counts at the June session of the Grand Jury for criminal libel for publishing articles that might lead people to believe that these poor innocents might have been guilty of the crime of arson. This placed us in the position of having to look up evidence to clear ourselves of the charge, and we promptly set about doing it. When our present efficient state fire marshal found that there had never been any report made to his office, he asked us for some of the facts in the case, and sent his representative to Thief River Falls to assist us to make a thorough investigation.

The state representative from the fire marshal's office used a part of the evidence that we had gathered for our defense before the Grand Jury, who promptly returned an indictment for arson in the second degree. The trial of the case has been set for next week Tuesday. Why we were suspicious of this fire was, because, we considered the insurance excessive, of $1000 in the Farmers Mutual. It now appears that he had something like $1300 insurance in an old line company, making something like $2300 insurance on this building. Old George often remarks that he makes his money by speculation, but this time it may prove to be a dear speculation for him.

WILL OPPOSE DITCH.

Thief River Falls, Jan. 29.—At a special meeting held in the Commercial Club rooms here today by voters of the township of North, Pennington county, the matter of opposing Judicial ditch No. 29 was carried by a vote of thirty-nine to twenty-four.

The polls were open from 9 a. m. till 8 p. m. and there was a spirited contest in the matter. The result means that the township officials are empowered to employ counsel and incur such other expenses as are necessary to oppose the ditch, the cost to be borne by the township.

The next step in the program will be a meeting here again on Tuesday, Feb. 13, at which time the other townships east of this city, which are also opposed to the ditch will be represented. Up to the present time the following townships in Pennington county have held meetings and will send representatives to the meeting on Feb. 13: North, Silverton and Reiner, and in Beltrami county the townships of Lee and Hamre.

WOULD KEEP WORLD SAFE FROM FURTHER AGGRESSION

WILSON OUTLINES PLANS FOR WORLD PEACE IN SPEECH BEFORE SENATE

RECOMMENDS THAT U. S. JOIN LEAGUE OF NATIONS—URGES MONROE DOCTRINE FOR ALL COUNTRIES.

PRECEDENT BROKEN BY EXECUTIVE'S TALK

President Addresses Branch of Congress Separately for First Time Since Jefferson—Declares Self In Favor of Peace Without Victory.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Until Monday no president had addressed either branch of Congress separately since Thomas Jefferson in 1801. In fact, no president addressed Congress in joint session since that time until President Wilson revived the custom in 1913.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Speaking, he said, "for liberals and friends of humanity in every nation and of every program of liberty," President Wilson has just outlined to the United States Senate a program of peace for the world, which he believed would keep all the world safe from future aggression.

He declared that the only peace which can last is a peace based upon "equality and a common participation in a common benefit."

The guarantees exchanged, he said, "must neither recognize nor imply a difference between big nations and small."

Lays Down Basis.

He then laid down the following basis for a lasting peace:

Add the authority and power of the United States to the authority and force of other nations to guarantee peace and justice throughout the world.

A peace founded on an equality of rights. A united, independent and autonomous plan.

So far as practicable freedom to all nations for full development of resources and direct outlet to the great highways of the seas.

Freedom of the seas and limitation of naval and military armament.

Explains Course.

The President explained his course by declaring that it was "inconceivable" that this government should play no part in the "great enterprise" of peace. Owing, he said, to the fact that this government did not wish to withhold its services, he felt the people of the United States were called upon "to state the conditions under which they will feel free to render it."

In closing his address, the President said:

"I am proposing, as it were, that the nations should with one accord adopt the doctrine of President Monroe as the doctrine of the world; that no nation should seek to extend its policy over any other nation or people, but that every people should be left free to determine its own policy; its own way of development, unhindered, unthreatened, unafraid, the little along with the great and powerful.

Avoid Alliances.

"I am proposing that all nations henceforth avoid entangling alliances which would drive them into competitions of power, catch them in a net of intrigue and selfish rivalry and disturb their own affairs with influences intruded from without."

Of some form of a league to enforce peace, the President said:

"There is no entangling alliance in a concert of powers. When all unite to act in the same sense and with the same purpose, all act in the common interest and are free to live their own lives under a common protection."

The President declared these to be the American principles and policy.

"We could stand for no others," he declared.

"Peace Without Victory."

The President declared that "the very explicit assurances" regarding peace, received from belligerents, imply that the peace that comes must be "a peace without victory." Victory, he declared, would be peace forced upon the loser, a victor's terms imposed upon the vanquished.

The President's speech to the Senate is already in the hands of foreign governments, it was officially announced. At the same time it was stated there was no need for press agencies here to cable it, leaving the impression that it was available for publication from the foreign governments.

Seeks Senate Approval.

The step is taken by the President, it is understood, following what was regarded as a suggestion in Sir Arthur J. Balfour's recent communication that the most important question facing the Allies is insurance against "future aggression."

Balfour contended that there must be some international sanction to back up treaties and international agreements in preventing or at least making less probable sudden war outbreaks such as that of 1914.

The President seeks the approval of the Senate in promulgating some international agreement by which peace in the future may be enforced. He regards this as the most important step now possible toward eventually ending the great war.

Prolonged Debate Expected.

With future assurances for safety accomplished, he considers a great step will have been made toward bringing about discussion of terms on which peace may be accomplished.

The President made no request for action by the Senate, but appeared before that body "for counsel" as to how he shall proceed.

Owing to a wide difference of opinion among Senate leaders as to the advisability of this country entering into a league to enforce peace, prolonged and acrimonious debate is expected to follow the President's appearance.

President Wilson Who Promulgates Peace Plan

LAW IS HELD CONSTITUTIONAL

SO-CALLED "BLUE SKY" STATUTE UPHELD BY SUPREME COURT.

Means Defeat for Bankers in Their Fight Against Measure to Prevent Fraud in Business.

Washington, Jan. 23.—So-called blue sky laws of Ohio, Michigan and South Dakota regulating sale of securities and designed to bar get-rich-quick schemes were held constitutional by the supreme court in far-reaching decisions affecting similar laws in 26 states. Justice McReynolds alone dissented to the opinions of the court.

May Burden Business.

The court admits that such statutes may burden legitimate business, but holds that the interests of legitimate business are not paramount to the police powers of states to protect their citizens from fraud. Federal court injunctions suspending enforcement of the laws are dissolved.

The laws do not attempt to prohibit unwise investments, but give states authority, through security commissions or banking superintendents, to forbid, within their borders, sales of securities believed dangerous.

Model Blue Sky Laws.

The Michigan and South Dakota statutes were patterned upon the "model" blue sky bill drafted by the national association of attorney generals whose law is also the model for the laws of several other states.

That securities are instrumentalities of commerce and, as such, exempt from state regulation and subject only to national supervision, was the principal contention of bankers, stock salesmen, and corporations attacking the laws.

LABOR FAVORS TIME ADVANCE

Leaders Approve Daylight Saving Plan Proposed.

New York, Jan. 23.—The New York daylight savings committees' plan to advance the clock one hour during the five months beginning May 1 has been approved by the American Federation of Labor through its president, Samuel Gompers, and its executive committee. A bill to put the daylight saving plan of the committee into effect now is before Congress, while a national convention to consider it will be held here January 30 to 31.

NATIONAL GUARD RIDDEN TO DEATH SAYS COMMANDER

COL. FRAINE OF NORTH DAKOTA TROOPS HOLD SACRIFICE OF MILITIAMEN EXCEEDS GOOD ACCOMPLISHED.

HE IS STRONG ADVOCATE OF UNIVERSAL SERVICE

States That National Guard Gave Border People Security They Had Not Felt for Two Years and Real Service Was Rendered—Compulsory Training Indorsed.

St. Paul, Jan. 29.—The nation is riding the national guard to death, thinks Colonel John H. Fraine, commanding the First North Dakota infantry, which has arrived at Fort Snelling, from Mercedes, Texas, for the mustering out process that is expected to send the troops home soon.

"Mind you, I'm not criticizing the administration," said the colonel. "The guard gave the border people a security they had not felt in two years. So far as the border people are concerned they would not have felt more secure if the troops had gone into Mexico. The guardsmen rendered them a real service.

No Permanent Good.

"But the men feel that no permanent good was accomplished. They spent six months on the border at a financial loss to themselves, while their neighbors took their jobs and competitors won their business. They were sent down because they had spent time in preparation. They feel that the burden ought to be more equally distributed.

"The only way to share the work equally is by universal compulsory military training. It would not take a great deal of time. Every man ought to be willing—but willing or not, he ought to be compelled—to put in one evening a week training in some armory and one month each summer in camp for a period of three years. Those who were officers or non-commissioned officers would, of course, have to devote as much more time as necessary.

Would Mean More Armories.

"The men would not have to be paid," the colonel continued. "Men do not do this work for money. But they should not have to stand the expense or any part of it themselves. It would mean more armories. In larger cities it would mean two to four armories, but they would be in use every night in the week."

Congress will not pass a universal service bill, Colonel Fraine reflected, because the people would not stand for it. The public attitude is that of "Let George do it," yet, he said, training would win battles with a saving of thousands of lives lost through a voluntary system, while men would not be asked for more than a comparatively small amount of their time—not for more than it is fair to ask of them—and then only for a short period of their lives.

LABOR LEADERS HONOR HEAD

Triple Celebration in Honor of Samuel Gompers.

New York, Jan. 29.—Labor leaders from all parts of the country gave a dinner here to Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, to commemorate his fiftieth anniversary of activity in labor circles, his sixty-seventh birthday, and his golden wedding anniversary.

Twenty-seven of Mr. Gompers' relatives were present, including his wife and father, Saul Gompers, who is 92 years old and blind.

Among the guests were Alton B. Parker, District Attorney Edward Swann, John Mitchell, chairman of the state industrial commission; Cornelius Ford, United States public printer, and many others of prominence.

ATTEMPT TO WRECK TRAIN

King of Spain Escapes Train-Wrecking Plot.

Madrid, Jan. 29.—An attempt was made to wreck a train on which King Alfonso was a passenger. The royal train, proceded by a freight train, the engineer of which saw an obstacle on the track and removed it. Neither the royal train nor the freight suffered any damage. The spot chosen for the derailment, near Granada, Andalusia, was a particularly favorable one as the road here begins to run down grade. The police have arrested two men, on one of whom was found code letters from Barcelona.

Hibbing Graft Cases Ready for Trial.

Duluth, Jan. 29.—The socalled Hibbing graft cases are to come before Judge Bert Fesler at once at Hibbing. The case against W. J. Ryder, former president of the water and light board, will be first to go to trial. Ryder has been indicted on three counts, forgery, perjury and irregularity, while member of the water and light board. Mayor Victor Powers, also under indictment, urged that his case be tried first for the reason that he is to appear as counsel for the other defendants, but his request was not allowed.

WESTERN CANADA LEADS AS WHEAT PRODUCER

342,000,000 Bushels Wheat in 1915; In 1916 Many Farmers Paid for Their Land Out of Their Crop.

That Western Canada is indeed "Mistress of Wheat" to the extent that its 1915 crop exceeded, acre for acre, the production of any country on this continent is a striking fact proved by the following figures:

In 1915 the Dominion of Canada produced 376,000,000 bushels of wheat, which represented an average yield of 29 bushels to the acre. The United States produced 1,011,505,000 bushels, yield of 17 bushels per acre. The only serious competitors in wheat production in South America were Argentine, with 178,221,000 bushels, or less than 12 bushels per acre, and Chile, with 19,000,000 bushels or 13 bushels per acre.

The three Western Canadian prairie provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta produced between them 342,000,000 bushels out of the total Canadian 376,000,000 bushels. It will be seen, therefore, that, outside of the United States, Western Canada produced considerably more than the combined production of North and South America. Canada is of course a new-settled country, and the fact that the crop of the United States was practically three times as much is no discouragement. The United States has at present more than twelve times the population of Canada in approximately the same area.

To illustrate further the greater productiveness of Western Canadian land, we submit the following figures, showing the 1915 yields per acre in the three provinces of Western Canada and in the states which in that year produced the greatest quantity of wheat. The figures are taken from the U. S. department of agriculture's annual report and from the figures of the Dominion census bureau:

	Bushels per acre 1915
All Canada	29
Western Canada only	29 1-5
Province of Manitoba	28 4-5
Province of Saskatchewan	28 1-2
Province of Alberta	32 4-5
United States, all	17
Montana	26 1-2
Washington	25 1-5
Wisconsin	22 3-4
Ohio	20 2-5
Iowa	19 4-5
Illinois	19
Pennsylvania	18 1-2
Nebraska	18 2-5
North Dakota	18 1-5
Indiana	17 1-5
South Dakota	17 1-10
Minnesota	17
Texas	15 1-2
Virginia	13 4-5
Kansas	12 1-2
Missouri	12 3-10
Oklahoma	11 3-5

In 1916 the crop was not as heavy, but the yields in many districts were very large. So large, indeed, was the acreage under cultivation in 1915 that the resulting crop proved too large to be all threshed the same fall. It overloaded railroads, and made marketing slow. A less amount of fall plowing was done than would have been done in a less heavy year, because the average farmer was too busy with his threshing. All these conditions necessarily reacted upon the acreage seeded in the spring of 1916. Add to this that labor last year, owing to the great number of Canadians who have enlisted, was scarce and high-priced, and one factor in the decreased yield—smaller acreage under crop was evident.

Another factor is that this year Western Canada has experienced, in common with the entire North American continent, conditions that have been less favorable to the production of big crops. The conditions have resulted in smaller yield per acre and reduced grade of grain in certain localities.

The average yield of wheat in the three western provinces is estimated by the government at about 16 bushels per acre, oats 43 bushels, and barley 27 bushels.

The financial value of their crops to Western Canadian farmers has been greater this year than ever before. Owing to the high prices of grain that are prevailing, returns have been received that are extremely profitable. With wheat standing at the present time at over $1.90 per bushel at the Great Lakes, a wheat crop at present figures would pay the farmer, even supposing he had only the average of 16 bushels per acre, over $30.00 per acre. A large number are receiving $50.00 per acre—some have received $75.00, and a few even more than that.

This price of course, is not all profit; it represents the gross return, and the cost of operation must be deducted. but it does not, even at the highest figures, cost more than 65 cents to raise a bushel of wheat in Western Canada, so that the profit can be figured accordingly. It must be emphasized that the acre which produces a $30.00 crop costs in the first case, probably less than that. In the United States the same class of land would cost in many districts from $100 to $200 per acre, and even then a return of $30.00 would be considered extremely satisfactory. In Western Canada the best class of agricultural land, capable of producing crops that in size compare with any country in the world except, perhaps, some European countries, can be obtained at, on the average, from $20 to $30 per acre, with irrigated lands somewhat higher. It is no exaggeration whatever to say that a number of Western Canadian farmers have paid for their land entirely from the proceeds of last year's crop, and this includes men who last year began for the first time.—Advertisement.

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely.

A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sours, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhea. Listen, Mother! MOTHERHOOD WOMAN'S JOY

Suggestions to Childless Women.

Among the virtues of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the ability to correct sterility in the cases of many women. This fact is well established as evidenced by the following letter and hundreds of others we have published in these colums.

Poplar Bluff, Mo.—"I want other women to know what a blessing Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been to me. We had always wanted a baby in our home but I was in poor health and not able to do my work. My mother and husband both urged me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so, my health improved and I am now the mother of a fine baby girl and do all my own house work."—Mrs. ALLIA B. TIMMONS, 216 Almond St., Poplar Bluff, Mo.

In many other homes, once childless, there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong

How Could She Possibly Think Clarence a Coward After Such a Perfect Explanation?

Clarence, age nine, was nothing if not strictly truthful. He faced the contemptuous gaze of Evangeline, age eight, from next door with the steady eye that betokens a clear conscience.

Said Clarence firmly:

"No, Evangeline, I am not a coward."

Evangeline was pitiless.

"Yes, you are—a silly little coward! Why, I saw you running for your life this morning from that red-haired boy who—"

"Evangeline, I was not running away from him. I was simply running to get him somewhere where his mother could not see me smite him."

"Well, did you smite him at last, then?"

Clarence never faltered.

"No, Evangeline; for, when we got out of sight of his house, we were so close to mine that my mother would have seen me do it, and that would have upset her, so I ran indoors to be out of temptation!"

Instant Postum

School teachers, doctors and food experts agree on two points—that the child needs a hot drink, and that the drink shouldn't be coffee.

Postum fills the need admirably and its very extensive use among thoughtful parents, coupled with the child's fondness for this flavory, nourishing food-drink, show how completely it meets the requirement.

IMPORTANT HAPPENINGS IN THE MINNESOTA LEGISLATURE

A Review of Events of the Past Few Days

STRONG PROTESTS AGAINST PASSAGE OF EFFICIENCY BILL

PROPOSED ECONOMY MEASURE MEETS ACTIVE OPPOSITION FROM RAILROAD AND WAREHOUSE BOARD.

COMMISSION NOT ALONE IN OPPOSING MEASURE

One Opponent Claims Appointment of Chief Grain Inspector by Governor Would Take Department Further From People.

St. Paul, Jan. 27.—Strong opposition to the efficiency and economy bill which provides for the divorcing of the state grain inspection department from the railroad and warehouse commission has developed.

The three members of the commission and others appeared before the joint meeting of the House and Senate committees considering the bills to enter protests against its passage. James A. Peterson of Minneapolis, Marcus Lauritsen of Lincoln county and others opposed it.

Charles E. Elmquist, one of the commissioners, said that the chief grain inspector was in almost daily conference with members of the commission. Mr. Peterson said that appointment of the grain inspector by the governor would take the department further from the people.

Further Hearings Coming.

Further hearings on the measure will be held. Members of the Society of Equity are expected to appear to speak for the change.

The resolution was due to come before the House. But Mr. Teigen failed to request immediate consideration.

A communication from the Equity Co-operative exchange characterizing as libelous and untrue certain sections of the Teigen resolution was read into the House records, and on motion of Representative Magnus Johnson, printed in the official House journal.

Provides I. W. W. Probe.

After an acrimonious debate of one hour, during which several representatives were demanding recognition at the same time, a resolution providing for an investigation into I. W. W. activities in Minnesota has been adopted by the House. There were less than a dozen negative votes.

The resolution was introduced by Representative W. D. Washburn of Minneapolis.

Could Compel Attendance.

Mr. Washburn explained that many hundreds of men had been driven from their jobs by the I. W. W.'s and that many of them have not sufficient money to attend a hearing here unless the state makes provision for their expenses.

He also predicted that fear of the I. W. W.'s would prevent many workers who had complaints to register from appearing unless legally summoned. Attendance of I. W. W. leaders at the inquiry could also be compelled under the terms of the resolution.

Labor Opposed to Agitators.

Representative A. O. Devold of Minneapolis objected to the resolution, declaring that it could have no beneficial results.

Approval of the resolution was voiced by Representative T. J. McGrath, St. Paul, who insisted organized labor was strongly against the I. W. W. activities.

For Joint Body on Floods.

A resolution calling for the appointment of a committee of the Senate and House, to consist of three members from each body to confer with similar committees of the legislatures of North and South Dakota on Red River valley drainage problems, has been introduced in the Senate by Senator Edward Rustad of Wheaton and referred to the committee on roads.

Provides Fine for Drunkenness.

Drunkenness will be a serious offense hereafter if a bill introduced by Representative W. A. Pittinger of Duluth is passed by the present Legislature. The measure provides that for the first offense an intoxicated person be fined $40 or sentenced to forty days in jail; for the second offense, $60 or sixty days, and for each subsequent offense, three months in jail. The court is authorized to suspend sentence on condition that the offender abstain from liquor for six months.

Senate Passes I. W. W. Bill.

The state Senate has suspended the rules and passed the so-called I. W. W. bill which appropriates $50,000 annually for the next two years for use by the governor for employing deputy sheriffs and taking other action in suppressing emergency labor disorders.

The bill was presented to the Minnesota legislature early in the session as a result of disorders in the lumber districts of northern Minnesota.

Provides Deputies.

The bill provides for the appointment of deputy sheriffs by the governor on the statement of the sheriff of any county that he is unable to maintain order, and for their payment by the state. An amendment to the original bill was passed providing that deputies so appointed must be citizens of the state.

Representative Theodore Christianson won his fight to obtain early action on his bill to prevent common carriers from limiting their liability contracts for losses on freight in transit.

New Blow at H. C. L.

The bill, vigorously opposed by railroads, was favorably reported by the House judiciary committee but in the absence of its author, Representative George Nordlin obtained the adoption of a resolution sending the bill back to the judiciary committee for further consideration.

Another blow at the high cost of living was aimed in the Senate when Senators T. C. Blomgren of Cambridge and J. A. Rystrom of North Branch, introduced a bill in the Senate aimed at potato speculation, which it is claimed has had much to do with the record prices for tubers this year.

To Pension Judges.

Judges of the supreme and district courts who serve two years and attain the age of 70 years may retire on full salary under the terms of a bill introduced in the Minnesota legislature by Representative A. E. Bjorklund of St. Paul.

Representative A. F. Teigen of Montevideo obtained adoption by the House of a resolution calling on the chief inspector of the state grain department for a report of his activities for the last two years.

P. H. Harrington withdrew his contest for the seat held by Representative R. F. Norwood of Murray county. Harrington had charged irregularities.

The House committee on election contests had prepared a report favorable to Norwood.

New Committee Appointments.

Speaker Ralph J. Parker of the House of Representatives has announced the following new committee appointments.

Topography and soil survey, Andrew Olien, chaiman; John Frisch, W. L. Bernard, John W. Bouck, H. B. Danielson, Charles H. Warner, Joseph M. Thornton, John J. Winter, W. D. Washburn, Paul Marschalk and James Dwyer.

Children's welfare, S. J. Searles, A. E. Bjorklund, Sherman W. Childs, W. A. Pittinger, T. J. McGrath, Edward Indrehus and Henry Holmes.

Would Buy Voting Machines.

Senator P. H. McGarry of Walker would have the state expend $75,000 for the purchase of ballot assembling machines, to cost $25 each. He plans to have a machine installed in each voting booth and the purchase of two machines for each county. The machine is an ingenious contrivance which so resembles the ballots that the vote of any candidate can be footed up at once, and the result checked. McGarry claims it would save half the time in counting ballots.

Hearing on Public Domain Bill.

Heads of departments affected by the public domain bill now before the legislature were present at a public hearing in the senate chamber. Dr. F. W. Sardeson of Minneapolis said he had been working for a year on plans to concentrate the drainage activities of the state, but that the proposed bill would serve the purpose well, in his opinion. A. L. Crocker of Minneapolis indorsed the measure.

Three Judges Oppose Change.

Objections by three district judges have been presented to the senate judiciary committee against the bill by Dr. J. W. Andrews, taking Waseca county from the fifth judicial district and Le Sueur from the ninth, and adding them to Blue Earth and Watonwan, now constituting the sixth.

Would Recognize Chiropody.

Chiropody will be recognized as a profession and practitioners licensed by a state board of examiners if a bill introduced in the House by George H. Moeller of St. Paul becomes a law. The bill defines chiropody as the "mechanical, medical or surgical treatment of the ailments of the human hand or foot," and provides for the appointment of a board of five examiners to regulate practice. A strict code governing the professional conduct of chiropodists is included.

Gopher State Happenings

Important Events of Various Sections of the state reported during last few days.

St. Paul. — Nearly 2,000 chickens from ten states, representing many small fortunes in fowls, are on exhibition at the Armory for the fifteenth annual poultry display by the Minnesota Fanciers' association.

Akeley. — The first of the district contests of the Minnesota Discussion league, the only one of its kind in the United States, has just been held at Akeley. The contests are under the auspices of Macalester college.

Crookston.—One hundred and nineteen indictments were returned by the Polk county grand jury in a session of seventeen days just ended here, according to an announcement. More than 100 of the bills allege violations of the anti-liquor laws.

Hibbing, Minn. — The annual village election is still some time off but interest is already shown. While no official announcement has been made by President Victor Power it is rumored he will again be a candidate although not all of the present administration will seek re-election.

Mapleton. — H. C. Hotaling, Mapleton states that the National Editorial association, of which he is vice president and which is to have its annual convention in Minneapolis July 8, will bring more than 1,000 delegates and visitors. This would make a new attendance record for the association conventions.

Virginia. — The affairs of Virginia, wealthy iron range town and neighbor of Hibbing, the world's richest village, are being investigated by Andrew Fritz, state public examiner, who recently conducted a similar inquiry at Hibbing. The Virginia investigation was begun, Mr. Fritz said, on a petition by more than 100 citizens.

Deer River. — That the noble redman is fast becoming civilized became evident here a few days ago, when Vincent Bungo, aged 20, a full-blood, came from Bena wearing old clothes and carrying a bag, and proceeded to tog up at the expense of local merchants by giving checks on a Bemidji bank that proved to be spurious.

Crookston. — Coleman Keeley, for forty years section foreman on the Great Northern railroad, and born the same day as its late president, James J. Hill, is dead at his home at Euclid, near here. Keeley was a pioneer of the Red River valley. He is survived by two sons, M. J. and P. C. Keeley, conductors on the Great Northern.

Fort Snelling, Minn. — With six months in the service of their "Uncle Sam" to their credit, the soldiers of the Second Minnesota infantry have just been mustered out. The mustering out was in charge of Major George E. Huell. Each company appeared before its barracks, where the men answered roll call by stepping forward one pace.

Austin. — Charged with escaping from the Wisconsin state penitentiary at Waupun in November, 1914, where he was serving a life sentence for conviction of murder, William Coles, who has run a tailor shop in this city for the last two years, has been arrested here by Sheriff Nicholson. Coles has confessed that he is the man wanted, according to the sheriff.

St. Paul. — O. P. B. Jacobson, member of the railroad and warehouse commission, addressed the Farmers' forum, the agricultural legislators' organization, on the federal grain inspection act. He said that it would work a hardship to Minnesota farmers because of the technical requirements provided by the government in its inspection and the difficulties in appealing from grades fixed by the inspectors.

St. Paul. — Telephone companies that complain that the Minnesota Railroad and Warehouse commission has been slow in performing the function of telephone regulation delegated to it by the 1915 Legislature, have themselves largely to blame, Charles E. Elmquist, a member of the commission, told 100 members of the Minnesota Independent Telephone association, who held their eighth annual convention in St. Paul.

St. Paul. — The Minnesota State Highway Commission has been informed that $284,788 has been apportioned to Minnesota for this year under the Federal aid road law as the state's share in the second annual distribution of the $10,000,000 fund. Last year's apportionment for rural post roads was $142,394. That amount will be increased by $142,394 during each of the three remaining years covered by the law until the total amount for Minnesota will have amounted to $2,135,910. The last apportionment in 1920 will be $711,970.

St. Paul. — The committee in charge of the state tax conference to be held in St. Paul February 27 and 28 has decided to issue invitations to all the commercial bodies of the state to send delegates in addition to those sent by the county commissioners.

Moorhead. — More and better supervision of teachers is the great need of rural schools of Minnesota, in the opinion of C. C. Swain, state commissioner of rural schools, who presided here at a conference of ten county superintendents in the territory of the Northwest Minnesota Educational association.

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF HAIR STOPS FALLING

Girls! Try This! Makes Hair Thick, Glossy, Fluffy, Beautiful—No More Itching Scalp.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable luster, softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any store, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Adv.

Why Rheumatism Comes With Cold Weather!

BY VALENTINE MOTT PIERCE, M. D.

A close connection exists between these two—cold weather and rheumatism. Prof. Alex. Haig, of London, has the most followers in the medical profession in the belief that the presence in the system of uric acid, or its salts in excess, is the real cause of rheumatism. Everyone has recognized the difference in the appearance of their water as soon as it gets cold; there is often a copious sediment of brickdust.

Several causes may lead up to an accumulation of uric acid in the system, which, in turn, causes rheumatism or gout, or creaky joints, or swollen fingers, or painful joints. For one reason the skin does not throw off the uric acid, by profuse sweating, as in the hot weather, and the kidneys are unable to take care of the double burden. Another reason is that people do not drink as much water in cold weather as in summer, which helps to flush the kidneys. Again, they eat more meat in cold weather, and some people are so susceptible that they soon develop rheumatism after eating meat.

At all such times persons should drink copiously of hot water, say, a pint morning and night, and take Anuric three or four times a day. This Anuric comes in tablet form and can be had at almost any drug store. It dissolves the uric acid in the system and carries it outward. I would advise everyone to take Anuric occasionally, and continue for three or four weeks, and in that way avoid rheumatism, gout and many of the painful disorders due to uric acid. —Adv.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR
HARRIETT G. HUNT, PUBLISHER

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3.1879

THE RIGHT MAN

IN THE RIGHT PLACE.

R.W.Hargadine has made something out of the fire marshal law besides a name and an opportunity for drawing a salary. This law was passed in 1913, and we blush in this instance, to publish facts, as the holder of this office before the appointment of Mr. Hargadine was there as a reward for service rendered the Republican party. The record of northern Minnesota show that he never attempted to make any investigations of fires or had reports made to his office of fires as the law requires. Section 19 of the act reads as follows:

Sec. 19.— "Every fire insurance company authorized to transact business in this state is hereby required to report to the state fire marshal through the secretary or other officers of the company designated by the board of directors for that purpose, all fire losses on property insured in any such company, giving the date of fire, the amount of probable loss, the character of property destroyed or damaged and the supposed cause of the fire together with the amount of insurance carried by such company. Such report shall be mailed to the state fire marshal within three days after notice of loss is received by such company. Each company is hereby also required to report the amount of loss adjusted on each fire after adjustment is made. Such report Shall be in addition to and not in lieu of any report or reports such companies may be required to make by any law of this state to the commissioner of insurance."

After our indictment for criminal libel last June for publishing articles in THE SUNBEAM which might lead people to believe that some of the Singers had been guilty of arson, it became necessary for us to make a thorough investigation of a fire that occurred at Rhoda on Oct. 13th, 1914. To our surprise we found no record of this fire in the state fire marshal's office. The insurance company who had paid the loss refused to assist us in any way to get at the facts of the case although they had paid the insurance. Under these conditions we sent a full report of the fire and of the probell evidence in the case to Robert Hargadine our present fire marshal, who promptly gave it his attention by sending his chief assistants to Thief River Falls to assist in investigating this fire. As a result an indictment was returned by the last week's grand jury for arson. The trial of the case has been set for next Thursday, February 8th.

Secretary of the Navy, Daniels, gave American ammunition manufacturers, a good blow, when he awarded the contract to furnish $3,141,000 worth of shells to an English firm; instead of giving American manufacturers about $200 more per shell than the Hadfields of England would furnish them for. The shells were for use in the navy on the fourteen and sixteen inch guns.

While Pennington County is far behind Polk County for "blind pigging" and "boot legging" indictments, there were enough of them returned to warn evil doers that violations of the liquor laws would not be tolerated in Pennington County.

The present term of court has been a very busy one for County Attorney Kjomme and Sheriff LaBree, although Jess does not seem to have lost any flesh over performing his duties.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Diet For the Lean.

Though the lean individual may be the more agile and vigorous, leanness is also associated with those of a nervous temperament. It is not always a desirable condition, since it prematurely ages the face by the early appearance of wrinkles. It is also the accompaniment of chronically diseased stomachs, resulting from a disturbed digestion and poor absorption of the digested foods.

The foods which are best adapted for the lean are those that have been denied to the obese persons—the starches, sugars and fats—but sufficient care must be exercised to prevent disturbing an entirely good stomach. Let the lean one eat well of the rich foods and sever relations with the sour and spicy ones. Above all, let one cultivate a sunny, restful disposition, with a nervous system under steady control, for these are the trademarks of the robust and plump person.—Dr. L. H. Levy in Pictorial Review.

The First Flank Attack.

We have a record in the book of Joshua of "the stratagem whereby Ai was taken." This tells us how 5,000 men were set in ambush behind the city, so that when the king of Ai and his hosts were drawn forward to the fight a flank attack was made with overwhelming success by the warriors of Israel.

Not less disastrous was the fate of Leonidas and his brave little band of heroes when the Persians at Thermopylae, led by a traitor, took them in the rear, 480 B. C.

It was by a masterly maneuver nearly 300 years later that Hannibal dealt one of the heaviest blows against the hosts of Rome. Having concealed his brother Mago, with 2,000 horse and foot soldiers, among the reeds, he enticed the Roman forces across the river Trebia. The legions fought bravely and held their own until Mago, rising from ambush, attacked them in the rear and routed them.

Peafowl.

The origin of the peacock was in India and Ceylon, and this is why we see so frequently the bird on the art objects of these countries. Peacock shooting is still a recognized sport in some parts of India, but its former popularity as a table delicacy has ceased, though the flesh is white and is said to resemble a pheasant in flavor. The eggs are also edible. For the production of the feathers these birds are bred in France, but to a small extent, as they are difficult to rear, because in a big area they wander off, and if inclosed within narrow limits they become mischievous.

Our Wildcats.

From the earliest settlement of America the bobcat, or bay lynx, has figured largely in hunting literature, and the popular estimate of its character is well attested by the frontier idea of the superlative physical prowess of a man who can "whip his weight in wildcats." Although our wildcat usually weighs less than twenty pounds, if its reputed fierceness could be sustained it would be an awkward foe. But, so far as man is concerned, unless it is cornered and forced to defend itself it is extremely timid and inoffensive. Like all cats, it is very muscular and active, and to the rabbits, squirrels, mice, grouse and other small game upon which it feeds it is a persistent and remorseless enemy. As in the case of most small cats, the stealthy hunting habits of the bay lynx render it excessively destructive to ground frequenting birds, especially to quail, grouse and other game birds. For this reason, like many of its kind, it is outlawed in all settled parts of the country.—National Geographic Magazine.

Shooting With a Revolver.

Very few people, even accomplished shots, know how a revolver ought to be handled.

Troops are taught in aiming never to look at the weapon at all, but to keep their eyes on the object to be struck. In quick firing, and especially in shooting from horseback, much better results are obtained in this way.

A man throwing a stone does not look at his hand. Neither does a billiard player sight along his cue. The same rules apply to the use of short weapons. Men have been trained to shoot excellently at a mark when their pistol sights were hidden.

Nearly any one can sight a pistol correctly, the inaccuracy of the aim being due to the trembling of the hands before the trigger is pressed. By hiding the sight the temptation to hold too long is removed, and the first aim, generally the most accurate, is preserved.—Pearson's.

Old Time Cutlers.

The earliest instance of admission to the freedom of the Cutlers' company of London by apprenticeship is that of John, son of Saman the Knifesmith, who was apprenticed to Stephen atte Hott, cutler, in 1287. The Cutlers were divided into four main branches—the bladesmith or knifesmith made the blades, the hafter produced the handle or haft, the sheather the sheath, while the cutler put together the various parts and sold the tool or weapon complete. Closely allied to the craft were the burbours or furbishers, who were common to the crafts of cutlers and armourers and were engaged in furbishing and renewing old armor, weapons and garnitures. Another subsidiary occupation was that of the grinder. The bladesmiths were divided into two branches, the knifesmiths and swordsmiths.—London Graphic.

Man With a Miscellaneous Past.

"We have been gradually growing accustomed, and especially of more recent years, to regard ourselves as a composite people—an amalgamation of several races and many nationalities," says the New Republic.

"To illustrate this the writer is fond of quoting Herbert Croly's characterization of Mark Hanna's ancestry. After describing how in his father's blood there was a Scotch-Irish, a Welsh and an English or Dutch strain and on his mother's side a French Huguenot, an Irish and an English infusion, Mr. Croly concludes: He became by virtue thereof a tolerably typical American, which means a man whose past is so miscellaneous that he is obliged to seek for himself some form of effective personal definition."

IT WAS TURN ABOUT.

After the Farmer Got Through the Blacksmith Had His Say.

While the village blacksmith toiled manfully over the old farmer's plowshare the owner of the share recounted at some length the wonderful success he had had with three litters of pigs he had marketed that day.

"Them pigs were less than eight months old," the farmer ran on, "and they brought me 10 cents a pound, or a little more than $400. Why, a few years ago those same pigs would have brought me only half as much. I tell you, the farmer is having his harvest now."

The smith, having finished sharpening the share, handed it to his customer. From a well worn purse the farmer took two dimes, the usual price for the job, and dropped them into the smith's hand.

"You'll have to come again," said the smith, still holding the money in his outstretched palm. "I charge 30 cents since the first of the year for sharpening that size plow."

"Why, how now?" the farmer exclaimed testily. "That's an outrage. Why have you raised the price on me?"

"To buy some of that high priced pork you were tellin' me about," was the smith's calm reply.—Youth's Companion.

A Royal Superstition.

Canterbury cathedral, England, like most Catholic cathedrals, is decorated with innumerable niches for statues. At Canterbury a series of these niches is occupied with statues of kings and queens of England, and there are only four niches left unoccupied. An old tradition has it that when all the niches are filled the throne of England will come to an end. Queen Victoria was approached with a view to a statue of herself being placed in one of the four remaining niches, but her late majesty was aware of the old tradition and refused. One wonders whether in the future there will be four monarchs of England sufficiently indifferent to superstition to defy the tradition and allow their effigies to fill the unoccupied spaces.

MOTHER! LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE

If cross, feverish, constipated, give "California Syrup of Figs."

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish; stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is ofttimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask at the store for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Adv.

YES! MAGICALLY! CORNS LIFT OUT WITH FINGERS

You say to the drug store man, "Give me a small bottle of freezone." This will cost very little but will positively remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet.

A few drops of this new ether compound applied directly upon a tender, aching corn relieves the soreness instantly, and soon the entire corn or callus, root and all, dries up and can be lifted off with the fingers.

This new way to rid one's feet of corns was introduced by a Cincinnati man, who says that freezone dries in a moment, and simply shrivels up the corn or callus without irritating the surrounding skin.

If your druggist hasn't any freezone tell him to order a small bottle from his wholesale drug house for you.—adv.

DIPLOMATIC BREAK WITH TEUTONS COMES

WILSON SEVERS RELATIONS WITH GERMAN NATION

HANDS VON BERNSTORFF PASSPORT AND ORDERS AMERICAN ENVOY IN BERLIN HOME—ADDRESSES CONGRESS.

ALL NEUTRALS CALLED ON TO TAKE SIMILAR STAND

President Confident That Sentiment of Country Is Behind Him and Is Assured of United Support of Congress—Breaking of Relations Brings U. S. to Verge of War.

Washington, Feb. 5.—The severance of diplomatic relations with Germany has been formally announced to the country and the world by President Wilson at a joint session of Congress.

This speech contained a plea that all neutral nations join with the United States in the course adopted.

The United States now stands on the verge of war, with all the historic precedent of centuries pressing it forward.

On Verge of War.

Fervently invoking thhe guidance of Almighty God in the step he had taken, President Wilson detailed to the Congress why the United States could not continue relations with a warring power which repeatedly invades its sacred rights and takes the lives of its citizens.

President Speaks Solemnly.

Calm with a sense of right in what may prove thhe most somber moment of American history, the President stood in thhe historic hall of the House of Representatives and spoke the words which may carry the countrty into the world conflict—not for aggression and not for power; only for law and humanity.

Silent and attentive the grim company of the nation's lawmakers listened with rapt attention while President Wilson told of America's course in the now unsuccessful diplomatic struggle to dissuade Germany from her campaign of ruthlessness.

"Refuses to Believe."

The President declared that "notwithstanding this unexpected action of the German government, this sudden and deeply deplorable renunciation of its assurances given this government," he refused to believe that "it is the intention of the German authorities to do in fact what they have warned us they feel at liberty to do."

In concluding his address, President Wilson declared that if overt acts are forthcoming he will again come before Congress to ask authority "to use any means that may be necessary for the protection of our seamen and our people." All neutral governments, he believes, will take the same course.

Stands by Principles.

"We wish to serve no selfish ends," the President stated. "We seek merely to stand true alike in thought and in action to the immemorial principles of our people . . . . seek merely to vindicate our right to liberty and justice and an unmolested life. These are the bases of peace, not war. God grant that we may not be challenged to defend them by acts of willful injustice on the part of the government of Germany."

Bernstorff Bets Passport.

While the President was addressing Congress, Law Adviser Woolsey of the State department was at the German embassy delivering to Count von Bernstorff passports for the ambassador, his wife, the embassy staff and his suite, which comprised more than a hundred persons. A note believed to be substantially the same as the President's address to Congress was included.

HOLLAND GREATLY ALARMED

Germans Massing on Frontier Is the Cause.

Rotterdam, Feb. 5.—Massing of German troops on the Holland frontier continues, causing apprehension in Holland. It is reported here that large bodies of troops are being concentrated near Wellen and Venebrugge and this country is waiting with much anxiety the answer of the United States to Germany's blockade note with the fear that Holland will be involved if drastic steps are taken.

Gold From South American.

Baltimore, Feb. 4.—The Au Sable the first of the three steamships which left here during the last two months with consignments of gold for South America has arrived in Buenos Aires. It is learned on unimpeachable authority that the gold on the Au Sable as well as that on the other two ships, the Maumee and Winnebago, is intended to pay for a large part of the wool crop in Argentina bought by American and British interests. It was stated previously that the gold was for the German raiders off South America.

Wilson In Address to Congress Calls on All Neutrals to Aid U. S.

Washington, Feb. 5.—President Wilson in his address to congress on the crisis with Germany spoke as follows:

"Gentlemen of the Congress:

"The imperial German government on the 31st day of January announced to this government and to the governments of the other neutral nations that on and after the 1st day of February, the present month, it would adopt a policy with regard to the use of submarines against all shipping seeking to pass through certain designated areas of the high seas, to which it is clearly my duty to call your attention.

"Let me remind the Congress that on the 8th day of April last, in view of the sinking on the 24th of March of the cross-channel passenger steamer Sussex by a German submarine, without summons or warning and the consequent loss of lives of several citizens of the United States who were passengers aboard her, this government addressed a note to the imperial German government in which it made the following declaration:

Reviews Sussex Case.

"'If it is still the purpose of the imperial government to prosecute relentless and indiscriminate warfare against vessels of commerce by the use of submarines without regard to what the government of the United States must consider the sacred and indisputable rules of international law and the universally recognized dictates of humanity, the government of the United States is at last forced to the conclusion that there is but one course it can pursue. Unless the imperial government should now immediately declare and effect an abandonment of its present methods of submarine warfare against passenger and freight-carrying vessels, the government of the United States can have no choice but to sever diplomatic relations with the German empire altogether.'

Gave Assurances to U. S.

"In reply to the declaration the imperial German government gave this government the following assurances: 'The German government is prepared to do its utmost to confine the operations of war for the rest of its duration to the fighting forces of belligerents, thereby also insuring the freedom of the seas, a principle upon which the German government believes now, as before, to be in agreement with the government of the United tSates.

"'The German government, guided by this idea, notifies the government of the United States that the German naval forces have received the following orders: In accordance with the general principles of visit and search and destruction of merchant vessels recognized by international law such vessels, both within and without the area declared a naval war zone, shall not be sunk without warning and without saving human lives, unless these ships attempt to escape or offer resistance.

Germany's Statement.

"'But,' it added, 'neutrals cannot expect that Germany, forced to fight for her existence, shall for the sake of neutral interests restrict the use of an effective weapon if her enemy is permitted to continue to apply at will methods of warfare violating the rules of international law. Such a demand would be incompatible with the character of neutrality and the German government is convinced that the government of the United States does not think of making such a demand, knowing that the government of the United States has repeatedly declared that it is determined to restore the principle of the freedom of the seas, from whatever quarter it has been violated.'

Accepts Assurances.

"To this the government of the United States replied on the 8th of May, accepting, of course, the assurances given, but adding:

"'The government of the United States feels it necessary to state that it takes its for granted that the imperial German government does not intend to imply that the maintenance of its newly announced policy is in any way contingent upon the course or result of diplomatic negotiations between the government of the United States and any other belligerent government, notwithstanding the fact that certain passages in the imperial government's note of the 4th instant might appear to be susceptible of that construction.

"'In order, however, to avoid any misunderstanding the government of the United States notifies the imperial government that it cannot for a moment entertain, much less discuss, a suggestion that respect by German naval authorities for the rights of citizens of the United States upon the high seas should in any way or in the slightest degree be made contingent upon the conduct of any other government, affecting the rights of neutrals and non-combatants. Responsibility in such matters is single, not joint, absolute, no relative.'

Kaiser Fails to Reply.

"To this note of the eighth of May, thhe imperial German government made no reply.

"On the 31st of January, the Wednesday of the present week, the German ambassador handed to the secretary of state, along with a formal note, a memorium which contained the following statement:

"'The imperial government, therefore, does not doubt that the government of the United States will understand the situation thus forced upon Germany by the Allies' brutal methods of war, and by their determination to destroy the Central powers and that the government of the United States will further realize that the now openly disclosed intention of the Entente Allies gives back to Germany the freedom of action which she reserved in her note addressed to the government of the United States on May 4, 1916.

Announces Blockade.

"'Under these circumstances Germany will meet the illegal measures of her enemies by forcibly preventing after Feb. 1, 1917, in a zone around Great Britain, France, Italy and in the eastern Mediterranean, all navigation, that of neutrals included, from and to England and from and to France, etc. All ships met within thhe zone will be sunk.'

"I think that you will agree with me that, in view of this declaration, which suddenly and without prior intimation of any kind, deliberately withdraws the solemn assurance given in the imperial government's note of May 4, 1916, this government has no alternative consistent with the dignity and honor of the United States but to take the course which, in its note of April 18, 1916, it announced that it would take in the event that the German government did not declare and effect an abandonment of the methods of submarine warfare which it was then employing and to which it now purposes again to resort.

Severs Relations.

"I have, therefore, directed the Secretary of State to announce to his excellency the German ambassador, that all diplomatic relations between the United States and the German empire are severed, and the American ambassador at Berlin will immediately be withdrawn, and in accordance with this decision to hand to his excellency his passports.

"Notwithstanding this unexpected action of the German government this sudden and deeply deplorable renunciation of its assurances, given this government at one of the most critical moments of tension in the relations of the two governments, I refuse to believe that it is the intention of the German authorities to do in fact what they have warned us they will feel at liberty to do so. I cannot bring myself to believe that they will indeed pay no regard to the ancient friendship between their people and our own or to the solemn obligations which have been exchanged between them and destroy American ships and take the lives of American citizens in the willful prosecution of the ruthless naval program they have announced their intention to adopt. Only actual overt acts on their part can make me believe it even now.

"If this inveterate confidence on my part in the sobriety and prudent foresight of their purpose should unhappily prove unfounded; if American ships and American lives should in fact be sacrificed by their naval commanders in heedless contravention of the just and reasonable understandings of international law and the obvious dictates of humanity, shall take the liberty of coming again before the Congress to ask that authority be given to use any means that may be necessary for the protection of our seamen and our people in the prosecution of their peaceful and legitimate errands on the high seas. I can do nothing less. I take it for granted that all neutral governments will take the same course.

Desires No Conflict.

"We do not desire any hostile conflict with the imperial German government. We are the sincere friends of the German people and earnestly desire to remain at peace with the government which speaks for them. We shall not believe that they are hostile to us until we are obliged to believe it, and we purpose nothing more than the reasonable defense of the undoubted rights of our people. We wish to serve no selfish ends. We seek merely to stand true alike in thought and in action to the immemorial principles of our people which I have sought in my address only two weeks ago—seek merely to vindicate our right to liberty and justice and an unmolested life. These are the bases of peace, not war. God grant that we may not be challenged to defend them by acts of wilful injustice on the part of the government of Germany."

Pays Tribute to American Navy.

Paris, Feb. 5.—Rear Admiral Degouy, retired, of the French navy paid a tribute to the officers and men of the American navy in an interview on the submarine issue which he gave to a correspondent of the Associated Press. "Should Germany's new policy," said the admiral, "bring the United States into the European conflict, American sailors may be depended on to give a good account of themselves in fighting submarines which are now on the other side of the Atlantic."

Golden Gate Entrance Guarded.

San Francisco, Feb. 5.—On receipt of a message from Washington this afternoon, United States Collector of the Port J. O. Davis, ordered a torpedo boat to patrol the entrance to the Golden Gate. Davis admitted the action was taken to prevent any vessels leaving without clearance papers. Should interned German ships in San Francisco bay attempt to leave, he said, they will be held up. Special guards have been detailed to watch these ships along the waterfront.

LOSS OF SHIPPING NOT INCREASED BY GERMAN CAMPAIGN

IS ACCOUNTED FOR BY THE FACT THAT OUTGOING SHIPS FROM NEUTRAL PORTS HAVE BEEN STOPPED.

NUMBER DECREASED THAT MIGHT BE DESTROYED

Great Campaign on Land and Sea and in Air by Germany Is Next Move Expected With View of Bringing War to a Speedy End.

London, Feb. 5.—The first few days of German terrorism at sea have resulted in hardly a perceptible increase in loss of shipping. The decrease in losses is accounted for chiefly because the stopping of all outgoing shipping from European neutral ports has decreased the number of vessels that might fall prey to German submarines. Very soon it is expected these sailings will be resumed, however, since many of the neutrals are dependent for their existence on their overseas trade with Britain and other countries.

Germany to Be Active.

A great campaign by Germany is expected at any moment. Undoubtedly the renewal of unrestricted submarine warfare will be accompanied by fresh Zeppelin attacks, another try with her fleet and smashing blows with her armies in the West. The policy of abandoning all pretense to established rules of warfare calls for swift, hard blows, on land and sea, and in the air.

That the heaviest fighting of the spring will occur on the west front, where preparations for an allied offensive, possibly along the line of the last Somme drive are being rushed to completion is an open secret. Germany is working feverishly to strengthen her defensive lines in order to meet the hammer blow that may fall at any moment and to offset it, as far as possible by an offensive of her own, launched before the Allied movement begins.

Supreme Effort Coming.

The next few months, it is safe to predict, will see Germany's supreme efforts. Like a gambler who faces bankruptcy, she will risk all upon a throw of the dice. A desperate man will take desperate measures, and the German effort, as her own leaders have declared, will be made without regard for the rights of belligerents or neutrals by air, sea or land.

Until the situation clears it is unlikely that any official statement will be issued here. All that can be said now is that the government and public are watching America with the greatest interest. From this viewpoint an early declaration of war by the United States, precipitated by some "overt act" of Germany is believed inevitable.

RELIEF SHIPS ARE IN PERIL

Attempt to Be Made to Open Lane of Safety.

Washington, Feb. 5.—Operation of all transportation facilities of the Belgian relief commission have been ordered suspended pending the outcome of negotiations through the Spanish ambassador at Berlin by which it is hoped to open a lane of safety direct to Belgium for supply ships.

Fifteen of the commission's ships in or near the war zone could not be reached with new instructions, and grave fear is felt for their safety.

Mr. Hoover is working with the State department and telegraphed the fifty or more American members of the commission at their posts in Belgium to remain on duty until otherwise advised. Regardless of what situation may arise between this country and Germany, the commission plans to continue its work, operating if necessary through other neutral countries.

STEAMERS SUNK BY U-BOAT

Two Sent to Bottom and One Is Shelled.

London, Feb. 5.—Lloyd's reports the sinking of the Norwegian steamship Ymer, 1,123 tons gross, by a submarine. Part of the crew was landed.

The sinking of the Spanish steamer Dos de Noviembre is reported in a Reuter dispatch from Madrid. One man was drowned.

The Spanish steamer Pairra enroute for Vigo with a cargo of cement, was bombarded by a German submarine. The vessel was badly demaged and one sailor was wounded.

French Bucketshop Swindler Arrested.

Paris, Feb. 5.—Henri Rochette, the notorious French bucket shop swindler, has been sentenced to two months in prison by a court martial for having failed to appear at a recruiting office immediately before and after war was declared. The court took into consideration that Rochette voluntarily had enlisted and had done military duty under an assumed name. Henri Rochette was arrested in 1908 charged with having operated bucket shop swindles involving a sum of more than $20,000,000.

Pansy Passay's Tragedy.

Miss Jeanette Rankin, Montana's new congresswoman, said at a congratulatory banquet at Helena:

"Thanks to rouge and hair dye and massage, we've got too many women nowadays of the type of Mrs. Pansy Passay.

"Mrs. Pansy Passay was giving a tea one afternoon when a telegram was brought in to her on a silver tray. She read the telegram, uttered a heartbreaking moan, and fell back in a dead faint.

"'What's the matter? What on earth's the matter?' they asked her when at last they brought her to. 'Is anybody dead?'

"'No,' groaned Mrs. Passay. 'I'm a grandmother.'"

Her Own Way.

A. F. Thom, the representative of 83 per cent of America's railroads before the Newlands committee, said at a dinner:

"The railroads are not Utopian. They know the kind of world it is, and they don't ask impossibilities.

"In fact, the railroads of late years have come to the rather grim outlook of the chap whose girl said:

"'Oh, no, George, I don't see how I could possibly marry you. You know I always want my own way in everything.'

"'You could keep on wanting it,' said George, 'after we were married.'"

EXCELLENT RETURNS FROM THE CANADIAN WHEAT CROP

United States Settlers Becoming Rich on Western Canada Lands.

The large number of United States settlers coming to the Western provinces of Canada are easily explained by the case of Mr. C. Lacy, late of Wisconsin and later of Alberta.

Mr. Lacy came to Canada from Wisconsin in the summer of 1914 with $1,500 available cash in his possession. He rented a half-section of partly improved land in Alberta and commenced summer fallowing. He broke 300 acres with oats, 20 with barley, and 260 with wheat. Also he had two cows and 20 head of young live stock. He was fortunate in buying feed at a bargain and managed to rent the adjoining quarter-section as pasture.

A few weeks ago he decided to realize his profits—and they amounted to $6,000 absolutely clear from the crop and the stock.

W. J. Winstead, of Brooks, Alberta, says:

"I landed in Brooks, March 18th, 1916, with one car of household effects, and nine head of good horses, and less than $500 in cash. I have put $1,500 worth of improvements on my farm. I have 31 head of cattle, 16 head of horses, debts all paid, a new automobile, and a good, stiff bank account. At present prices, I can cash in for $16,000. I am well satisfied, and expect to double this next year.

I have threshed altogether 7,000 bushels of No. 1 Northern wheat from two hundred acres, which went from 24 to 56 bushels per acre.

Seven thousand bushels of wheat, all No. 1 Northern, two thousand bushels of oats, 670 bushels of flax, 700 bushels of barley—all at market prices—well, figure this out for yourself at the market price. I sold 3,100 bushels of wheat at $1.74⅞, am holding the remainder for $2.00. Also all the oats, barley and flax for higher prices."

Intelligent farming pays always according to Alex. Wattie, a prosperous farmer. Some figures to prove his contention that he has "made good."

In 1914 Mr. Wattie threshed 40 bushels to the acre from a 30-acre crop. This sold for $1.60¾ per bushel, which, after deducting seed, labor, twine, threshing and freight, left a clear profit of $50 per acre, or a total of $1,500. From last year's crop of 34 acres, just sold, he received after freight had been deducted, $1,876.94.—Advertisement.

RIOTOUS CLASHES MARK INQUIRY OF I. W. W. TROUBLES

HOUSE LABOR COMMITTEE UPSET BY TURMOIL CAUSED BY FREQUENT INTERRUPTIONS OF BITTER NATURE.

THREAT IS MADE THAT QUIZ MAY BE STOPPED

Strong Language Used by Committee Members, Agitators, Attorneys and Others and Hearing Develops Into Farcical Nature—House Resents Ridicule.

St. Paul, Feb. 3.—Another performance of the Minnesota House of Representatives' latest farce, "Elevation of I. W. W" has been presented.

In many respects, the production was the most interesting one held so far. The chairman of the House labor committee, which is investigating industrial conditions, George L. Seigel of St. Paul, loomed up as a co-star with some of the I. W. W. agitators.

Several times during the session there were threatened disruptions of the committee. Some of the more serious-minded legislators even hinted that the show might be closed down.

Committee Members Clash.

As in former sessions, there were clashes between committee members, interruptions by the agitators, attorneys and other. The clashes between the chairman of the committee and certain members of the committee—attracted the calcium light away from Joseph Ettor and his followers.

When one member of the committee, H. H. Harrison of Stillwater, suggested that the committee adjourn until Monday, Chairman Siegel swung his gavel excitedly, and said:

"I have reason to believe that there is an ulterior motive in wanting this hearing postponed."

And the I. W. W.'s applauded in approval of the chairman's stand against the committee member.

Sheriff White of Koochiching county told of arresting one A. W. Thorne, an agitator.

Thorne walked down the aisle and shouted at the official, "You are a liar."

Repeats Epithet.

Members of the committee called for the ejection of the agitator from the room. The chairman did not so order, however. After the man had repeated his epithet several times, objections were again raised. It was then that some of the I. W. W. leaders silenced him.

Senate to Pass Dry Bill.

St. Paul.—The proposed constitutional amendment for state-wide prohibition will have easy sailing in the Minnesota Senate, according to present indications.

That the measure will be put up to the people to vote on at the next general election has apparently become an absolute certainty.

It is understood that the bill, as passed by the House, will be passed in the Senate, with attempts at amending it in only one particular.

Wet leaders will make no fight for the "light wine and beer" amendment in the Senate, it became known. It is said they will introduce one amendment deferring the time of operation one year. That there will be enough to make that one change is conceded.

The House of Representatives will likely approve the action of the Senate in making that change, according to leaders. The amendment lost by only two votes in the House.

On Election of School Heads.

Selection of the county superintendent of schools by a county school board, to be elected by directors of the common school districts is provided for in a bill introduced in the Senate. Senators Henry N. Benson of St. Peter, L. E. Potter of Springfield, N. J. Holmberg of Renville and A. T. Ward of Fairmont are joint authors. The present law provides for the election by popular vote of the county superintendent of schools.

Grain Sale Tax Bill Killed.

Knute Knutson's bill placing a tax of 1 cent on each $100 involved in grain exchange transactions has been killed by vote of the house committee on taxes after a hearing at which the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce and the Duluth Board of Trade were represented. The proposed tax was denounced as an unwarranted stamp tax. John E. Davis, manager of a farmers elevator at Castlewood, Iowa, said that the levy of such a tax in Minnesota probably would divert the Iowa grain trade largely to Chicago.

Board Accepts U. S. Offer.

The board accepted an offer from the federal government to send an army medical ofcer to give a course of lectures at the university, without charge. Also, they adopted a recommendation that in all cases of diptheria occurring among the university students or employes, negative cultures from the state board of health's laboratories be required before readmission to the university. Heretofore, negative cultures reported by city health departments or private physicians in Minnesota have been accepted.

Quiz for Trade Bodies.

St. Paul, Feb. 2.—An investigation of the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce, the Duluth Board of Trade and the Equity Co-operative association will be conducted by a special house committee.

The resolution authorizing the investigation, introduced by Representative A. F. Teigen, of Montevideo, has been adopted by the House after a lengthy appeal for such action by the author of the resolution. On motion of Representative Magnus Johnson the portion of the preamble of Mr. Teigen's resolution which criticised the Equity association was stricken out.

An amendment offered by Representative Charles H. Warner referred to the committee on rules the section of the Teigen resolution empowering the committee to employ counsel, clerks and stenographers.

Representative Knute Knutson's bill proposing a tax on future trades in grain and stocks will come to the floor of the House, despite the action of the tax committee, which voted 13 to 2 to postpone indefinitely consideration of the measure.

Mr. Knutson forced the issue by asking that the bill be taken from the committee and placed on general orders.

This plan was opposed by Representatives A. F. Teigen, H. H. Harrison and Asher Howard. Their contention was that the tax burden would fall on the farmers.

Dry Amendment Bill Passes.

St. Paul, Feb. 2.—The proposed constitutional amendment for state-wide prohibition cleared the first hurdle when it was passed by the Minnesota House of Representatives by a vote of 86 to 44. Two more hurdles remain—the Senate and the voters of the state.

The measure passed is "bone dry," prohibiting the transportation of liquor as well as its manufacture, gift, sale or barter. The drys themselves took the moisture out of the bill reported by the temperance committee. All efforts to further amend the bill failed.

The action making the measure "bone dry" by re-inserting the transportation prohibitory clause, while ostensibly fostered by the dry leaders, was, in reality, a victory for the Prohibition party leaders and a defeat for certain leaders of the Minnesota Anti-Saloon league. The latter consented to the "just dry" measure going onto the floor of the House. When the Prohibitionists, headed by W. G. Calderwood, got into the game, enough drys were induced to desert the leadership of the men in charge of the bill so far as the "just dry" feature was concerned.

W. I. Norton of Minneapolis, floor leader of the drys, introduced the amendment re-inserting the word transportation.

Preus Opposes Public Domain.

Opposition to the legislative measure which proposes to create a commission of public domain was voiced by J. A. O. Preus, state auditor, speaking at a meeting of the Northwest development committee of the Civic & Commerce association.

Mr. Preus avers that there are certain duties which cannot constitutionally be taken away from the state auditor. He further decries the creation of a public domain commission because he fears the present bill would concentrate too much power in the director of the commission and would not provide a system of keeping check on his activities.

He criticized the present form of the bill for ignoring the civil service method of appointment.

Discuss Governor's Proposals.

Something like consternation, if not heart failure, attended the discussion by the university regents of the proposals by the governor for reductions in the university requests for legislative appropriations. It was decided to present to the finance committee of both houses the budget as agreed upon and urge that the cuts suggested by the governor be not made.

Dissension In Suffrage Camps.

Dissension in suffrage camps has arisen and protests from one faction are being actively circulated against the other faction in regard to just what the women want at this session of the Legislature.

Would Change Taxing System.

Three bills providing for sweeping changes in the taxation system of the state have been introduced in the House by Representatives Anton Peterson, Indrehus, Marwin, Odland and Shipstead.

State Constabulary Is Possibility.

If the bill allowing the Governor $50,000 a year for the maintenance of order in the state is defeated, it will mean the establishment of a state constabulary, according to the friends of the bill from Northern Minnesota.

"If the members of the I. W. W. are allowed to continue as they have in the past, they unquestionably will invade the farming district next summer, and after that the farmers will be ready for any measure that will suppress them," Senator L. H. Nord, International Falls, said.

To Abolish Fire Marshal's Office.

The office of state fire marshal will be abolished if one of three aditional economy bills, prepared by the five members of the state senate who are members of the state efficiency and economy commission, becomes a law. The bill is supplemented to those introduced by the commission and is not backed by the entire commission. The measure contemplates placing the work of the fire marshal and his deputies under the state insurance department and abolishing the office of marshal altogether.

"The kidneys play a most important part in causing premature old age and death—the more injurious the poisons passing thru the kidneys the sooner comes decay"—so says a distinguished physician, who further advises all people who are past thirty to preserve the vitality of the kidneys and free the blood from poisonous elements, such as uric acid—drink plenty of water—sweat some daily and take Anuric before meals.

This Anuric is put up in tablet form, and can be obtained at almost any drug store. For that backache, lumbago, rheumatism, "rusty" joints, swollen feet or hands, due to uric acid in the blood, Anuric quickly dissolves the uric acid as hot water does sugar. Discovered by Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y.

Prevent premature old age by simply sipping a cup of hot water every morning before breakfast, taking a little Anuric before meals and live to be a hundred.

A well known actress gives the following recipe for gray hair: To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and ¼ oz. of glycerine. Raise High Priced Wheat on Fertile Canadian Soil

Canada extends to you a hearty invitation to settle on her FREE Homestead lands of 160 acres each or secure some of the low priced lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. This year wheat is higher but Canadian land just as cheap, so the opportunity is more attractive than ever. Canada wants you to help feed the world by tilling some of her fertile soil—land similar to that which during many years has averaged 20 to 45 bushels of wheat to the acre. Think of the money you can make with wheat around $2 a bushel and land so easy to get. Wonderful yields also of Oats, Barley and Flax. Mixed farming in Western Canada is as profitable an industry as grain growing.

The Government this year is asking farmers to put increased acreage into grain. Military service is not compulsory in Canada but there is a great demand for farm labor to replace the many young men who have volunteered for service. The climate is healthful and agreeable, railway facilities excellent, good schools and churches convenient. THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR
HARRIETT G. HUNT, PUBLISHER

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3,1879

The release of a right to recover damages from the state of Minnesota, by owners of realestate lying along the banks of the river is being circulated for signatures. The contract, or release reads as follows.

"WHEREAS, the State of Minnesota under and by virtue of the authority conferred upon it by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota is about to enter upon the work of improving the Red Lake River in Pennington County, Minnesota for the purpose of establishing and maintaining a sufficient outlet for drainage ditches, constructed and to be constructed by the State of Minnesota, and other public authorities, for the purpose of draining a large amount of land owned by the State of Minnesota. That in carrying out such an enterprise it becomes necessary for the State of Minnesota to obtain the right to the use of sufficient land on each side of the channel of said Red Lake River, on which to deposit the substances removed from the river, and on which the contractor may deposit fuel and operate his plant.

NOW THEREFORE, for and in consideration of......Dollars and other good and valuable consideration, to......and. .. .in hand paid the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged, .. . do hereby grant and convey to the State of Minnesota, the right, permission, privilege and authority to enter upon and deposit and place all necessary dirt and deposit taken from the Red Lake River in the County of Pennington, Minnesota, upon a strip of land not to exceed fifty (50) feet wide, on each side of said Red Lake River, as the same winds, turns and passes through the (description of your land) in said Pennington County, Minnesota. And also, when necessary, and so determined by the State of Minnesota, it or its contractors, may use and occupy said strip of land in connection with the improvement of said ditch or river."

As usual in cases of this kind there is lots of talk, and misunderstanding of the purpose of this release. We promptly signed it, as it only asks us to release any claim for damage, and gives the state no other authority whatever. If the state makes this improvement for us they will do it this season and then they will move all their machinery out of your way only leaving what dirt they dredge out of the river on the bank. If any considerable number of farmers refuse to sign this release the state will not dredge the river, and it will be left as it is; so do not block a movement that means so much to eastern Pennington County, by refusing to sign this release.

The Eleven Towns criticizes Senator O'Neil for voting for the bill to provide for policing the woods east of here to suppress riots of I. W. W. We do not know whether Editor Smith is an I. W. W. or not, but we are not; and we are in favor of policing any part of the state of Minnesota; that needs it with plenty of men to promptly land idle agitators in jail, who won't work themselves or allow anyone else to work that wants to; you did right Dan, jail them, and provide for police enough to do it proper.

The grand essentials to happiness in this life are something to do, something to love and something to hope for.

Right Thing to Contemplate.

Life is so full of miseries, minor and major; they press so close upon us at every step of the way, that it is hardly worth while to call one another's attention to their presence. People who do this are merely dwelling on the obvious, and the obvious is the one thing not worth consideration. What we want to contemplate is the beauty and the smoothness of that well ordered plan which it is so difficult for us to discuss.—Agnes Repplier.

Winks and Eye Baths.

Every few seconds we wink both our eyelids at once, although not purposely. If we stop winking our eyes become uncomfortable and gradually cease to work as they should. When the eye is open the front of it is exposed to dirt and dust and is apt to become so dry that a painful stinging sensation results or would do so if constant moisture were not provided to cleanse and soothe the tissues.

As a matter of fact, each time we wink we wash the eye, says the Popular Science Monthly. Up above each eye is a tiny bag called the tear gland, and all the time we are awake it makes tears. When the front of the eye feels itself becoming a little too dry or dusty a communication is sent for a supply of moisture. The eyelid then comes down with a tear inside it to wash clean the front of the eye. This is the most gentle and perfect washing in the world.

Safety of a Ship.

The safety of a ship depends upon its stability, strength, water tightness and reserve stability and floatability if injured. The strength is due to the framing and plating or planking. Water tightness is effected by calking the seams between plates and planks. The seams of iron plates are calked by hammering the edge of the uppermost plates against the one underneath it. The seams between planks are partly filled with oakum, which is forced in and the remainder of the seam filled with pitch, marine glue or putty. The reserve stability and floatability when injured depend upon the position and volume of the interior space which is flooded. To reduce this volume to a safe point vessels are divided into compartments by water tight bulkheads, which extend across the ship at intervals.

Redwood and Fire.

Probably no other wood burns with more resistance than California redwood. It seems to have been made fire resistant by nature. In logging camps this is peculiarly noticeable, for no other wood could be so treated. Because of the enormous size of redwood trees the logs are very heavy—a sixteen foot butt log weighs from thirty to fifty tons—and it is very difficult to handle them when the ground is littered with bark, undergrowth and tops. To get rid of this waste, or "slash," as the lumberman calls it, he simply sets it on fire. The slash burns off, but the logs do not burn. They come through this test by fire, which lasts from eight to ten hours, with merely a slight char on the sapwood on their exterior.

NOT GUILTY!

The above was the verdict of a Pennington County jury last evening, in the case brought by the Singers, Edward and George, against the Editor of The Sunbeam for criminal libel. The trial lasted for three days and was bitterly fought from start to finish.

H. O. Kjomme as County Attorney vigorously prosecuted the case, backed up by some of the best professional witnesses that could be produced. F. C. Wold took an active and leading part in the prosecution, and took the stand twice to [illegible] the fact that HE was of the opinion that the Singer horses was of the value of eight hundred dollars. he also placed the worst construction that he could as to the meaning of articles published in this paper, all of which we will make no further comment on this time. Former County Auditor Fasel was also another expert who appeared to be of the opinion that Hunt had ought to be sent to jail. He was only asked one question by defendent's counsel, which was: "The Sunbeam did not support you for Auditor at the last election, did it?" The answer was "no." "That's all," said our Attorney Mr. Boughton.

Our attorneys Chas. E. Boughton, of Red Lake Falls, and C. A. Aitkin of Thief River Falls, vigorously defended us, and tore the evidence of the expert testimony given by the Singers to shreds.

SEEING MOTION PICTURES.

Some Advice on How to Avoid Suffering From Eye Strain.

Many persons cannot attend motion pictures because of the annoying after effects on the eyes. Some suffer from eye strain and others are subject to severe headaches. The relief, in most cases, consists in perfectly fitted glasses, according to the Popular Science Monthly. The picture may not be quite so sharp, but this is more than compensated for by the increased comfort.

For persons with very sensitive eyes a colored glass, either amber, yellowish green or amethyst, may afford immediate relief. Several varieties of colored glass have been put on the market, and there are so many shades available that some suitable color can be secured. A subdued light in the theater has a much less irritating effect than a dark theater where the only light is reflected from the screen.

It is also advisable for those who are liable to suffer after viewing the pictures to avoid sitting in a place where it is necessary to look upward, as the additional strain becomes very tiresome and frequently leaves a severe headache. In the majority of cases, however, if glasses are correctly fitted to a person he or she stands a good chance of enjoying motion pictures without any attendant ill results.

Didn't Believe It Had Gone.

Cases of ignorance on the part of telegram writers are now rare, but many incidents could be cited from the early days of the telegraph. Several are given in F. E. Baines' "On the Track of the Mail Coach." In the late forties he received from a north of England man a message and promptly sent it. But the man flatly declined to believe that it had gone, because he could see it (the form he had filled up) still hanging there, and the operator had to push the form into the instrument and ring the bell to pacify him. A woman in a Norfolk town insisted upon inclosing the telegram she had written in an envelope, so that no prying eyes might read it as it went along the wire.

Disguising Epsom Salt.

Seeking for various ways of disguising the taste of Epsom salt has become something of a fad. Here is the very latest suggestion, and a very good one: To each teaspoonful of salt add one-fourth teaspoonful of cream of tartar and a little sugar. Dissolve in a little hot water and add cold water. A smaller dose of salt is required when the cream of tartar is used, since it hastens the action of the Epsom salt.

WHAT A JEWELRY FIRM DID

They Invested Some of Their Spare Money in Canadian Lands.

S. Joseph & Sons, of Des Moines, Iowa, are looked upon as being shrewd, careful business men. Having some spare money on hand, and looking for a suitable investment, they decided to purchase Canadian lands, and farm it.

With the assistance of the Canadian Government Agent, at Des Moines, Iowa, they made selection near Champion, Alberta. They put 240 acres of land in wheat, and in writing to Mr. Hewitt, the Canadian Government Agent at Des Moines, one of the members of the firm says:

"I have much pleasure in advising you that on our farm five miles east of Champion, in the Province of Alberta, Canada, this year (1916 we harvested and threshed 10,600 bushels of wheat from 240 acres, this being an average of 44 bushels and 10 pounds to the acre. A considerable portion of the wheat was No. 1 Northern, worth at Champion approximately $1.85 per bushel, making a total return of $19,610, or an average of $81.70 per acre gross yields. Needless to say, we are extremely well pleased with our lands."

It might not be uninteresting to read the report of C. A. Wright of Milo, Iowa, who bought 160 acres at Champion, Alberta, for $3,300 in December, 1915. He stubbled in the whole lot of it, and threshed 4,487 bushels Grade No. 2 Northern.

Mr. Wright, being a thorough business man, gives the cost of work, and the amount realized. These figures show that after paying for his land and cost of operation he had $2,472.67 left.

ACTRESS TELLS SECRET.

A well known actress gives the following recipe for gray hair: To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and ¼ oz. of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off. Adv.

SYRUP OF FIGS FOR A CHILD'S BOWELS

It is cruel to force nauseating, harsh physic into a sick child.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask at the store for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Adv.

BELIEF AT BERLIN IS THAT WAR WITH U. S. IS CERTAINTY

NOT THOUGHT THAT METHOD TO RECONCILE POLICIES OF THE TWO GOVERNMENTS CAN BE AGREED UPON.

WOULD AVOID ACTUAL CONFLICT IF POSSIBLE

Instructions Given to Submarine Commanders to Keep Safe Side Where Neutrals Are Concerned and Not to Attack Without Warning.

Washington, Feb. 12. — American ship owners who have been holding their vessels in port because of inability to obtain guns for defense against submarines, probably will have their difficulty solved in a few days. Strong intimations are given in official quarters that, while the government will not actually arm merchant craft or even formally advise arming, a way will be found to put weapons at the disposal of owners who desire to prepare for defense against illegal attack.

War Seems Unavoidable.

Copenhagen, Feb. 12.—Little hope or expectation prevails in Berlin that war with the United States is avoidable or that a modus vivendi reconciling the policies of the two governments can be found.

There now is a desire on the part of the authorities and a vast bulk of the people to avoid actual hostilities in any way consistent with the general lines of the present submarine policy, but only in such a way. Accordingly, instructions were given to submarine commanders before they started on their February mission, to take the safe side when neutral vessels, particularly American, were in question, whenever possible.

Neutrals to Be Warned.

Enemy merchantmen, when recognized as such, were ordered to be sunk at sight, but neutral merchantmen were to be warned when such action, in their judgment, was consistent with the object of the campaign and the safety of their own ships.

It was realized, however, after the prompt and resolute stand taken by President Wilson, that these orders could only by palliative and only defer, not avoid, an ultimate break. Also that if President Wilson stood by his announcement that the destruction of American lives or ships would be regarded as an act of hostility, a casus belli must come sooner or later, probably sooner on account of the number of Americans on enemy ships. Moreover, there was the discretionary nature of the instructions to submarine commanders, who were informed that while the careful course towards neutrals was recommended and desired, they would no longer be subjected to punishment for departing from their former procedure of warning, if they found this advisable.

No Back Down for Germany.

It is considered that the only possibility of the avoidance of hostilities would result from a modification of its standpoint by one or the other side, and so far as could be judged from the positive declaration of Dr. Alfred Zimmermann, the German minister of foreign affairs, and other officials, there was no probability that Germany would give way at this time or abandon the ruthless campaign now started.

TROOPS ARE IN PURSUIT OF FLEEING CUBAN REBELS

Many Civilians and Several Army Men Placed Under Arrect to Quell Revolt.

Havana, Feb. 12.—The Cuban government has announced that about 30 of the Seventh and Eighth companies of infantry stationed at Camp Columbia, near Marianao, have revolted and escaped with their arms. Troops are in pursuit. Lieutenant Larabia was wounded while attempting to prevent the escape of the men.

At Canas, Havana province, Commander Jose Castillo was killed by troops who were dispersing a group of rebels. It is alleged that Castillo was heading the uprising there.

In Santa Clara province, where partial re-elections are to take place soon, two small troops of rebels are being pursued by government forces.

Many civilians and a few army men have been arrested. The government is taking every precaution to maintain order. The chief of staff, together with his staff, have taken up quarters at the palace.

Were Adrift for Five Days.

Paris, Feb. 12.—A Havas dispatch from San Sebastian, Spain, describing the sinking of the British steamer Dauntless of 2,157 tons, says that a boat in which three Englishmen and one American negro, members of the crew, left the torpedoed vessel, capsized and all the provisions were lost. The four men for five days were battered about by high seas and had nothing to eat or drink. They were in such a serious condition, the dispatch adds, that they were sent to a hospital.

MANY MISSING IN HOTEL FIRE

ONE DEAD AND TWELVE KNOWN INJURED.

Woman Jumps From Third Story Window and Misses Firemen's Net—Twelve Taken to Hospital.

Minneapolis, Feb. 12.—The lives of about 100 persons were imperiled, one woman was killed in a leap from the third floor, twelve injured were treated at the City hospital, and from a dozen to a score may have lost their lives in a fire that destroyed the interior of the Kenwood hotel, Hennepin avenue and Twelfth street.

Mrs. Ernest Stalker, wife of the proprietor, who was saved by firemen, was unable to state how many were in the building. There were 60 rooms, all of them occupied. She was of the opinion that there were at least 100 occupants, but was not sure all of them were in the building.

Fifty persons have been accounted for, and a dozen or more are known to have been away from the building when the fire started.

Woman Killed in Leap.

Mrs. Lucile Squire, who jumped from a third story window and missed a firemen's net, died soon after being taken to the City hospital.

There is no definite explanation of how the fire started, but the firemen were of the opinion that it may have been from a defective furnace. An explosion of gasoline is said to have taken place in a delicatessen shop in the basement just before the fire was discovered.

Fire Spreads Quickly.

Emergency measures adopted by pedestrians saved many lives. The flames seemed to have swept from the basement up the wooden stairway to the building, which was filled with smoke and fire within a few minutes. Almost immediately every window in the building was filled with screaming half-clad men and women. It was with difficulty that they were restrained from jumping.

CHINA SENDS NOTE MAKING PROTEST AGAINST GERMANY

SEVERANCE OF RELATIONS IS THREATENED IF "SINK ON SIGHT" PLAN IS PERSISTED IN BY TEUTONS.

NOTE IS DICTATED ONLY BY DESIRE FOR PEACE

Violation of International Law Thru Many Lives of Chinese Have Been Sacrificed Must Be Stopped—Backs United States in Move Against Teutons.

Peking, Feb. 12.—The note handed to the German minister by the minister of foreign affairs in reply to Germany's declaration of the resumption of unrestricted submarine warfare, has been made public. The text follows:

"The new measures of submarine warfare begun by Germany are imperiling the lives and property of Chinese citizens even more than the measures previously taken which already have cost China many lives and constitutes a violation of international law. The toleration of their application would introduce into international law arbitrary principles incompatible with legitimate intercourse between neutrals and between neturals and belligerents.

Protests Energetically.

"China, therefore, protests energetically to Germany against the measures proclaimed February 1, and sincerely hopes the rights of neutral states will be respected and that the said measures will not be carried out. If, contrary to expectations, this protest be ineffective, China will be constrained to its profound regret, to sever diplomatic relations. It is unnecessary to add China's action is dictated by a desire for further peace and the maintenance of international law."

American Minister Gets Note.

A communication explanatory of China's action also was handed to Dr. Paul S. Reinsch, American minister to China. It follows:

"China like the President of the United States, is reluctant to believe the German government will actually execute measures which imperils the lives and property of the citizens of neutral states, and jeopardize legitimate commerce and which tend, if allowed to be enforced without opposition to introduce new principles into international law. China, being in accord with the principles set forth in your excellency's note and firmly asserting itself with the United States, has taken similar action by protesting energetically to Germany against the new blockade measures. China also proposes to take such other action in the future as will be deemed necessary for the maintenance of the principles of international law."

SUNK WITHOUT WARNING 25 AMERICANS ON SHIP

Submarine Sent British Liner Japanese Prince to Bottom But All on Board Are Saved.

London, Feb. 12.—The British steamer Japanese Prince with many Americans aboard, which was sunk by a German submarine, was torpedoed without warning, according to a dispatch to The Exchange Telegraph company.

All the crew were landed, the dispatch adds.

A torpedo struck the Japanese Prince midship with a terrific explosion. The crew took to the boats and were picked up within an hour. Many were injured by the explosion, but none fatally.

The 75 men aboard the ship, including 25 American cattle men, were saved.

New York, Feb. 12.—With the Stars and Stripes flying at her taffrail and in defiance of Germany's submarine warning, the American steamship Rochester has sailed for Bordeaux.

These are the second sailings of American steamers for Allied ports since Germany warned of her extended warfare. The first vessel to brave destruction in the U-boat zone was the Dochra, which sailed February 2 for Genoa.

GERARD IS OUT OF GERMANY

TO REMAIN IN BERNE, SWITZERLAND, SEVERAL DAYS BEFORE PROCEEDING ON JOURNEY.

Met at Border By Swiss Officials After Trip That Was Without Noteworthy Incident.

Zurich, Switzerland, Feb. 12.—The American ambassador, James W. Gerard, has arrived at the Swiss boundary at Schaffhausen. He was met by the American minister of Switzerland, Pleasant A. Stovall and representatives of the Swiss army, including Colonel Bruegger and Captain Rudolph Icelin. A Swiss military guard of honor also was in waiting and a big delegation of citizens greeted the former American ambassador to Germany.

The trip from Berlin was made without noteworthy incident, although some curiosity was displayed by those who gathered along the route through Germany.

Mr. Gerard disembarked at Zurich with about 120 other Americans, intending at first to remain there, but when he was assured of accommodations at Berne he left immediately for that city. He will remain in Berne for two or three days arranging for his trip to Paris.

BRITISH LINER IS SUNK; AMERICAN SURGEON SAVED

Steamship Mantola Torpedoed Without Warning But All On Board Saved But Seven.

Washington, Feb. 12.—The British India liner Mantola, with one American citizen, Earl Rice, ship's surgeon, of Portland, Oregon, aboard, was torpedoed 185 miles southwest of Fastnet. The State department was notified of the circumstances by American Consul Frost at Queenstown. Crew and passengers, except seven Lascars, were saved.

The Mantola, Consul Frost reports, was of 8,500 tons, bound from London to Calcutta, carrying a crew of 165 and 19 passengers. The submarine began shelling the liner from a range of 4,000 yards and approached within 300 yards when the appearance of an admiralty vessel caused the submarine to submerge. Surviving passengers and crew were landed at Queenstown.

Torpedoed Without Warning.

Consul Frost reported that Rice, the only American aboard the Mantola, gave his home address as 628 Salmon street, Portland, Oregon. The Mantola carried one 4.7 inch gun.

"Torpedoed without warning," Frost stated in his message to the State department.

It is learned from reliable sources that neither the Deutschland nor a sister submarine will leave Germany for America until the present crisis has passed.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its luster, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. DID NOT REQUEST ADDITIONAL POWER SO GOVERNOR SAYS

BURNQUIST DENIES THAT HE ASKED LEGISLATORS FOR RIGHT TO CURB DISORDERS CAUSED BY I. W. W.

SOLONS INSIST THAT HE IS "PASSING THE BUCK"

Senators and Representatives Aroused by Statement of Executive That He Does Not Approve Features of Proposed Bill—Does Not Want Responsibility.

St. Paul, Feb. 10.—Governor Burnquist insists emphatically that he did not ask legislators to grant him additional power to curb disorders beyond the control of local officials.

Legislators, who conferred with the executive several times, insist emphatically that Governor Burnquist did ask for additional power to curb disorders.

Statements by the governor that he did not approve certain features of the bill passed by the Senate appropriating $50,000 a year for the payment of deputy sheriffs, aroused senators and representatives. The bill, now being considered by House committees, was drawn only because the governor asked for such legislation, they say. They charge that the governor is simply "passing the buck again."

The governor has made plain his objections to the bill. He said that he didn't want the responsibility for appointing deputy sheriffs to be placed in the hands of the governor. He said that he was not averse to granting sheriffs more power and counties some aid. But, he doesn't want the responsibility or additional power.

"Didn't you suggest to certain senators that you did not have sufficient power to quell such disturbances as those caused by the I. W. W. in the north woods, short of calling out the militia?" the governor was asked.

"When the committee of senators came to me and suggested that the sheriffs be given additional power, I favored the proposal," replied the governor.

"What are your suggestions now as to this legislation?"

Dry Bill Delay Proposed.

St. Paul, Feb. 9.—The bill for the submission of a constitutional amendment for state-wide prohibition passed by the House has been amended by the Senate committee on temperance so that the time of operation of the proposed measure is extended 11 months. The change was asked by the wets. The time was changed from January 1, 1920 to December 1, 1920.

By a vote of five to four, the committee changed the House bill, contrary to requests made by George B. Safford, superintendent of the Minnesota Anti-Saloon league.

The I. W. W. believe in direct action, they believe that legislation is too slow a method to right wrongs, they will use any means necessary to gain their ends, they are making no excuse for things they have done.

Minnesota legislators, members of the House committee on labor, were given the above information. Lawmakers sat aghast while George Andreychine, I. W. W. agitator, expounded the doctrines of the organization. For the first time, some of them realized the seriousness of the situation. An official I. W. W. circular gave the legislators more food for thought.

To Reform Primary Election Law.

St. Paul, Feb. 10.—The first step in proposed reform of the Minnesota primary election system was taken when Representative John M. Harrison of Minneapolis introduced a bill designed to remedy the evil of minority nominations by a return to a modified convention.

The measure, patterned after the Iowa law, leaves the primary law intact, except as to minority nominations. It provides supplementary conventions to make nominations where candidates have not received a specified percentage of the vote cast in the primary. The conventions are also authorized to draft platforms.

To Regulate Tobacco Sales.

St. Paul, Feb. 10.—Regulation of the sale of all sorts of tobacco and/prohibition of its use by or sale to minors are provided for in a bill introduced in the Minnesota senate by Senator E. E. Lobeck. The measure proposes licensing all dealers by the dairy and food commissioner, retailers to pay $50 and wholesalers $100 each two years. Selling to minors is punishable by revocation of license.

For Extra Pay for Guardsmen.

St. Paul, Feb. 6.—The Senate committee on military affairs has just held a meeting to consider the bill allowing guardsmen an extra 50 cents a day from the state treasury for the time they served on the Mexican border. The bill carries an appropriation of $600,000. Senator Campbell, chairman of the committee, said he believes the bill will pass, although the amount of compensation may be reduced. The committee will receive a report from the adjutant general at once, regarding the matter.

Authors Explain Bill.

St. Paul, Feb. 8.—Representatives of the Farmers' Non-Partisan league in Minnesota were seeing hobgoblins when they shied at the two "blue sky" bills introduced in the House of Representatives, it is charged.

A denial that the two bills, identical in text, destroying the negotiability of promissory notes given to agents, solicitors and peddlers, were aimed at the league, has been made by all of the authors.

Instead of being new bills, drawn at this session, Sherman W. Child, a coauthor of one of the bills, pointed out that the measure had been drawn by his father, S. R. Child, and himself. The bill was passed by the House in 1913 and was supported by the farmers at that time, he said.

Officials of the league have been told that they would be permitted to submit amendments correcting any of the provisions that they thought were directed at them. Such amendments are now being drafted.

Recommendation that the bill repealing the boxing law be passed has been made by the Senate committee on general legislation. After a public hearing in which the operation of the law was scathingly condemned by representatives of the Y. M. C. A. and churches of Minneapolis the committee voted to report favorably on the repeal measure, 9 to 2.

This brings the fight against the repeal to the floor of the Senate, and in the opinion of many to the House. The boxing law passed the Senate with but one vote to spare, 35 to 32, in 1915, and its opponents unhesitatingly claim enough switches to carry the repeal bill.

House Supports Wilson.

St. Paul, Feb. 7.—Ernest G. Strand, Socialist, from Two Harbors, went on record in the Minnesota House of Representatives as being opposed to any resolution supporting the President of the United States in the present crisis.

Representative Strand was the only member who raised his voice in protest against a resolution pledging support to the President. Every other member of the House voted for the resolution by a rising vote. Strand was hissed by his fellow members.

The farmers in the House of Representatives have had another inning. They passed, by a vote of 93 to 2, an anti-discrimination bill introduced by Magnus Johnson.

The bill would prohibit old line elevator companies from paying more for grain at any one point than at others "for the purpose of creating monopolies."

Representatives Gleason, Devold, Lang and Lennon introduced a bill repealing the present workmen's compensation law.

Leaders of the Farmers' Non-Partisan league charged that an attempt is being made in the legislature to cripple the mmebership campaign of the organization in Minnesota.

To Re-Enact Elwell Road Law.

St. Paul, Feb. 9.—A bill to re-enact the Elwell outside road law, repealed by the 1915 legislature, has been introduced in the state senate. Backers of the measure said it was designed to eliminate objectionable features that led to the repeal of the former law.

Drawn by former Senator J. T. Elwell, Minneapolis, the new bill was introduced by Senators J. W. Andrews, Mankato; C. E. Adams, Duluth; J. H. Baldwin, Frazee; L. H. Nord, International Falls, and O. H. Griggs.

One objection to the former law was that it adopted the drainage ditch law principles to the construction of roads, whereas the measure just offered is selfcontained. The new act provides that a petition for construction of an Elwell road, to be known as a "state rural highway," must be signed by a majority of the resident landowners benefitted. The old law required only three signatures. The new bill provides that such a petition must be approved by both the board of county commissioners and the state rural highway commission before the road is ordered.

Statutory "Dry" Bill Introduced.

St. Paul, Feb. 8.—Statutory prohibition that is intended to make Minnesota the dryest of all "bone dry" states, is provided in the bill backed by the St. Paul radical drys and introduced in the Minnesota House of Representatives by A. V. Anderson, W. L. Bernar, Theodore Christianson, James Cummings, P. J. Frye, H. A. Putnam, C. S. Ryberg, Oscar Stenvick, and W. I. Nolan.

The bill was referred to the committee on temperance.

Meanwhile the Senate temperance committee held a public hearing on the constitutional prohibition bill passed by the House. Dry workers attended this meeting in force, while a sprinkling of representatives of the liquor interests were prepared to make a fight to kill the bill in the Senate.

I. W. W. Probe Concluded.

St. Paul, Feb. 7.—The house labor committee's investigation into industrial conditions in northern Minnesota has come to an end so far as the taking of testimony is concerned, according to Chairman George L. Siegel.

Committees Begin Final Grind.

St. Paul, Feb. 6.—Senate and House committees and joint committees have begun their final grind on some of the most important bills of the session. The Senate committee on finance and the House committee on appropriations will take up the budget. The House committee will consider some of the minor bills while awaiting the report of the committee on public accounts and expenditures which has begun an investigation of the state departments and institutions of Minnesota.

GERARD PROTESTS STRONGLY AGAINST TREATY RENEWAL

BERLIN BACKS DOWN WHEN AMBASSADOR REFUSES TO ACCEDE TO UNUSUAL REQUEST SO CORRESPONDENT SAYS.

HINT TO HOLD WRITERS FAILS TO INTIMIDATE

German Authorities Claim Their Position Was Result of Misleading Reports From United States and Receded From Position When Informed.

Copenhagen, Feb. 12. — The German government's attitude in endeavoring to induce Ambassador Gerard to sign a protocol reaffirming the old-time treaties with the United States regarding mutual protection of nationals in case of hostilities, and the hints of possible detention of American newspaper men as hostages, was undoubtedly influenced by alarmist dispatches from the United States regarding treatment of German citizens and property there.

Recedes From Position.

As soon as reassuring advices were received from the United States and as soon, too, as the German government saw that the attempt to negotiate a protocol re-ratifying the treaty of 1799 with additions and expansions had failed, it gracefully receded from its position and nothing further was heard of newspapermen as hostages.

The protocol contained, besides a formal re-ratification of the treaty provisions of 1799 and 1828 regarding mutual treatment of nationals caught in a country in case of war, a number of important additions and expansions.

Many Demands Made.

It provided that merchants should be allowed to continue their businesses and retain their residences until the end of the war, unmolested; that no law affecting the validity of contracts should be applied to Germans in America or to Americans in Germany, and that all patents should be inviolate—a question of importance, in view of the high value, if not the indespensibility, of certain German patents in the manufacture of munitions and explosives.

Could Seize All Ships.

Quite as trenchant in its bearing on the pending problems, was the provision which Ambassador Gerard was asked to sign specifying explicitly that not only enemy property, as such, should be exempt from seizure or restriction in its use beyond those applying to all property, but that enemy ships in ports of the opponent should not be seized during the war nor forced to leave port unless to sail for home port under safe conduct and guarantee of exemption from seizure by the Allies.

Gerard Stands Firm.

Mr. Gerard declared roundly that he could not be a party to "any such pressure" and that he doubted whether any of the newspapermen could be "sandbagged" or influenced in any way by considerations of personal safety or convenience, and that he must persist in his earlier expressed standpoint regarding these negotiations.

From that point nothing further was heard of the protocol or of the possibility of detaining Americans.

The German government's attitude undoubtedly was influenced by press dispatches with which the German newspapers were then being flooded asserting that German ships were being seized and their crews interned in the United States.

GERMANY SEEKING WAY TO QUIT U-BOAT WAR

Britons Think Teutons Are Alarmed Over Possible Entrance of United States Into Conflict.

London, Feb. 12.—The impression is gaining ground in diplomatic quarters today that Germany is becoming alarmed over the possible entrance of America into the war, and is trying desperately to find some way out without receding entirely from her position of ruthless savagery.

Confirmation of this was seen in the news that the Kaiser has called another conference at General Headquarters. The message coming from Amsterdam says the subject will be the submarine situation and that the Chancellor Von Bethman-Hollweg and high army and navy officials will attend. It is reported, the correspondent adds, that the possibility of negotiations with neutrals for the modifying the terms of the recent German memorandum will be discussed.

Wilson Names Chicago Postmaster.

Chicago, Feb. 12.—The selection of William B. Carlile, for many years a prominent life insurance official, as postmaster of Chicago by President Wilson appears to have been a surprise. Mr. Carlile's name has not been mentioned before during the years of squabbling over the local postmastership. His selection came as a surprise to the Illinois delegation, even to Senator Lewis, according to the senator. Mr. Carlile credited his appointment to Lewis' friendship according to apparently reliable reports.

YES! LIFT A CORN OFF WITHOUT PAIN!

Cincinnati man tells how to dry up a corn or callus so it lifts off with fingers.

You corn-pestered men and women need suffer no longer. Wear the shoes that nearly killed you before, says this Cincinnati authority, because a few drops of freezone applied directly on a tender, aching corn or callus, stops soreness at once and soon the corn or hardened callus loosens so it can be lifted off, root and all, without pain.

A small bottle of freezone costs very little at any drug store, but will positively take off every hard or soft corn or callus. This should be tried, as it is inexpensive and is said not to irritate the surrounding skin.

If your druggist hasn't any freezone tell him to get a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house.—adv.

Backache

In spite of the best care one takes of oneself, any part of the human machine is liable to become out of order. The most important organs are the stomach, heart and kidneys.

The kidneys are the scavengers and they work day and night in separating the poisons from the blood. Their signals of distress are easily recognized and include such symptoms as backache, depressions, drowsiness, irritability, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic twinges, dropsy, gout.

"The very best way to restore the kidneys to their normal state of health," says Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., "is to drink plenty of pure water and obtain from your favorite pharmacy a small amount of Anuric, which is dispensed by almost every druggist." Anuric is inexpensive and should be taken before meals. You will find Anuric more potent than lithia, dissolves uric acid as water does sugar.

Bounty On Wolves.

The Mayor of Thief River Falls has raised the antie on bounty from $7.50 for the capture of a wolf to $25.00 for a blind swine. While we are opposed to any violations of the liquor laws, and believe in a vigorous prosecution of violators, we were disgusted as a father and citizen of Pennington County at the dirty methods employed by Dr. Gambell as Mayor of our county seat to obtain evidence to prosecute. The evidence in a number of cases tried before the court last week were a disgrace to the city of Thief River Falls, Mayor.

To sit and listen to that evidence, as produced in court, would disgust any fair minded man, who had ever been the father of a son that would like to see him grow up to respectable manhood, and become a law abiding citizen of the state of Minnesota.

While it may be necessary to employ detectives to catch violators of the liquor laws, and may be proper, take men, not boys. Our youngsters will learn enough bad habits, without going to school to Dr. Gambell, Mayor of Thief River Falls, to be instructed how to become criminals. Twenty-five dollars in hand paid is quite a temptation to a boy, who enjoys having some ready cash to spend, and might induce him to commit the crime of perjury in order to obtain it, as that Mayor must have instructed them just how they must testify before a jury to obtain it.

Again we say, prosecute violators of the law, but do not try to make criminals of our Pennington County boys to obtain evidence. Use men for detectives, and all join hands in keeping our youths with clean hands, to grow up to manhood as law abiding citizens.

* * *

Much credit is due our state fire marshal's office for the vigorous manner in which they prosecuted the Singers, on suspicion of committing the crime of arson, in court last week. Although a conviction was not secured in this case, there was enough publicity given to the case to warn people that commit the crime of arson' that they will be prosecuted.

* * *

The Farmers League held a successful meeting at Goodridge on Monday, and secured many new members. It now looks as if this was to be the coming party of Minnesota.

Quite Musical.

It may be so, and it may not, but a Los Angeles student affirms it in an examination paper, and here it is: "Beethoven discovered the sonata in four moves. Before this it was a sweet. He wrote many piano sonatas for the violin, and they were called string quartets. When a piano sonata was for an orchestra it was called a symphony. The ninth piano sonata he wrote for voices to sing."

Ambiguous.

When Bilkins was away from home on a long business trip he got a letter from his wife that still puzzles him. It ended thus:

"Baby is well and lots brighter than she used to be. Hoping that you are the same, I remain, your loving wife."—Manchester Union.

Tightwad.

"I understand that Mr. Pinchpenny has been operated on for appendicitis," remarked Miss Cayenne.

"Yes. It's the first time any one was known to get anything out of him."

"And even then they had to give him chloroform to get that."

UNDER SIX FLAGS.

Texas In Her Career Has Had Some Exciting Experiences.

Six flags have flown over Texas, including the banners of three foreign powers—France, Spain and Mexico. First came the French flag, which was carried down the Mississippi river to the gulf of Mexico by the intrepid La Salle. Following this was the Spanish emblem, first thrown to the breeze under the direction of the Franciscan priests. Then came in succession the Mexican flag and the Lone Star emblem of the republic of Texas.

The stars and stripes followed the Lone Star, but was supplanted for a time by the stars and bars of the Confederacy.

In the struggle for ascendancy among these various groups it is needless to say that much blood has been spilled and countless tragedies have taken their places on the pages of history.

The history of the republic of Texas is one of the most unique examples of national sovereignty that the world has ever seen.

A province of 30,000 people won independence from a nation of several millions. But these 30,000 were generally men of sturdy Anglo-American stock.

A few years later these same fearless and independent Texans voluntarily gave up their sovereignty to become one of the galaxy of stars under the banner of the United States.—Chicago Journal.

SPEED OF NO RETURN.

How Fast an Object Must Travel to Escape Into Space.

The speed of no return is that speed which one would have to send a body, a bullet, for instance, straight up in the air so that it would never come back. The rate of this speed has been estimated to be about seven miles a second. If a bullet could be given that velocity away from the earth it would never fall back to our planet, but would travel on into space in an orbit of its own around the sun.

As to the possibilities of anything ever attaining this speed, no one can say. Scientists say all they know is that the friction of the air would probably melt and then vaporize the body before it succeeded in getting through the earth's ocean of air. The speed of the modern army bullet is about one-twelfth of the speed of no return, being a little over half a mile a second.

Instances of the speed of no return are seen when meteors fall into the atmosphere of the earth. They very seldom actually reach the earth's surface, but are melted and vaporized by the enormous amount of heat evolved from friction with the air at such an enormous velocity.—Exchange.

Blackmore's Manners.

Blackmore is said to have resembled Horace Greeley. Several inches over six feet, with a large, beautifully shaped head, on which his hair tossed wavingly, he wore a beard shaved away from his upper lip and chin, so that it framed his face, which was as rosy as a girl's. His eyes were full of twinkling humor and kindliness, and there was always about him a sense of the outdoors—of great, calm spaces, winds and fragrances. He dressed carelessly in loose fitting clothes, taking no trouble to keep in the fashion. His voice was low and musical, and his manners had a touch of old world courtesy and distinction. He was utterly sincere and would never pretend to agree to anything because some one else advocated it. His opinions were strong and clear, and he stood by them unwaveringly.—Hildegarde Hawthorne in St. Nicholas.

Rabbits and Squirrels as Swimmers.

A funny though able swimmer is the rabbit. He submerges his body with the exception of head and tail. The latter sticks away up into the air, and his hind legs make "soap suds" as he churns the water madly to get away. But with all his awkwardness he is a swift swimmer and is only beaten by the squirrel among the land animals.

The squirrel swims with his heavy tail sunk away down in the water and his head held high. He cleaves the waves like a duck, and a man in a rowboat has all he can do to keep abreast of the swimming squirrel.

Maybe It Was a Folding One.

Pilfering had been going on among the men in an engineering works. The master spoke to the foreman, who was an Irishman, in respect to the same, telling him if he had any suspicions to search the men before leaving.

One evening Pat had occasion to do this, and while in the act of telling the men to take their coats off the master came by.

"Well, Pat, what is missing now?"

"A wheelbarrow, sir."

A bone dry temperance bill passed the legislature last week, which will submit the question to a vote of the people at the next election, of voting to prohibit the sale, manufacture or shipping in of intoxicating liquors in this state. This is what you can call some temperance measure, and is no relative of county option, which allows one county to gather in the cash and their neighbor county pay the expenses of prosecuting the criminals.

END OF THE CASE.

Since their return from Thief River Falls, the Singers have been industriously circulating reports that the Editor of this paper was responsible for all the expenses brought on the county for those criminal trials in the last term of court. This is not true, and anyone acquainted with the facts in the case had ought to know that it is not true. In the first place, if Edward and George Singer had any greivance against us, they had their remedy, in a civil action, with George and Edward Singer as Plaintiffs, and W. G. Hunt Defendant, which would have left the tax payers of Pennington county out of the deal, and made the fight between Singers and Hunt. Ask any lawyer if this is not true. But they wanted to bring the expenses of their frivilous law suits onto the tax payers of Pennington county, where they would have a chance to air their greivances at some one else's expense, so they indicted us and thus placed us in the position of having the name of a Pennington county criminal, or of proving that the articles published were justified. So far as the investigation of the state fire marshal's office was concerned, we had nothing whatever to do with it, and were not even a witness in the case, as it was all conducted from the state fire marshal's office at St. Paul.

We have been a resident of the town of Highlanding in what is now Pennington county since 1905, and this is our first court record. We ask any fair minded citizen to compare this record with the record of the Singers in this respect. We were following the peaceful pursuits of a farmer last June, when we were arrested on the complaint of Edward and George Singer, and when the District Court calendar came out for the January term, we were on record as a criminal, on three counts. Had we commenced any law suits? None whatever. Were we justified in defending ourselves? We think so. Again we say, and we want the tax payers of Pennington county to remember this fact:

If the Singers had any greivance against Hunt, they had their remedy in a civil action, Singers V. S. Hunt, without using the tax payers of Pennington county as cats paws to pull their chestnuts out of the fire. This ends our controversy with the Singers, and we shall devote our attention to our farm and newspaper, which paper will always be found to be working for the best interests of the locality in which it is published.

Misses Rose and Alvina La Counte called on Heile's on last Sunday.

IMPORTANT TO SETTLERS.

Thief River Falls, Minn.
February 17th, 1917.

Sen. D. P. O'Neill of this city this afternoon spoke to a large gathering of business men of the city and of settlers east of Thief River Falls and who are deeply interested in the proposed widening, deepening and straightening of the Red Lake River between here and the Red Lakes; the speaker also told of a bill which he is going to introduce in the interests of those who have ditch taxes maturing this year and who on account of losing their crops from inundation are unable to pay these taxes, the bill providing for an extension of five years, the county to bear the cost of carrying the bonds therefor.

The bill which the senator has introduced into the senate providing for the river improvement was explained in detail and it was pointed out that the state is not to bear more than 50 per cent of the total cost. The Red Lake Indians, it is understood, wish their land drained and are willing to stand their share of the cost of the river improvement which is first necessary before any ditching of the reservation will be productive Thus a large part of the intended improvement will be borne by the Indians. Lands benefitted will also bear their share of the expense but as there is a limit of $5 per acre to which lands can be assessed for drainage the cost to such benefitted lands will not be large.

The bill to aid property owners whose ditch taxes come due this year and who will be unable to meet them is appended and is a measure that will bring relief to many if adopted by the county board after passing the legislature.

A motion to send five or more delegates to a special meeting of the state legislature committee having such matters in charge was made, seconded and carried, two of the committee to be members of the county board of Pennington county and the other three to be farmers living on lands effected by floods such as have prevailed. They will probably leave the latter part of next week; the time of the meeting having not been definitely decided upon as yet. Secy. Laird of the Commercial club will be first advised and he in turn will notify the committee.
Scot Laird.

A BILL FOR AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE COUNTY BOARDS IN ANY COUNTY OF THIS STATE HAVING A VALUATION OF NOT LESS THAN FOUR MILLION NOR MORE THAN SIX MILLION DOLLARS, and having an area containing not less than four hundred thousand nor more than five hundred thousand acres of land to extend the time of payment of ditch assessments upon property situated therein and providing for the extension or refunding of bonds issued therefor.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

Section 1. The County Board of any county in this state having a valuation of not less than four nor more than six million dollars and having an area containing not less than 400,000 nor more than 500,000 acres of land, may by resolution made upon the filing with the county auditor on or before May 1, 1917 of a petition from not less than one fourth of the persons firms or corporations assessed for benefits on account of the construction of any one county drainage ditch, postpone, for a period not to exceed five years from the date of such resolution, the payment of any or all of such assessments for benefits becoming due or payable on or before June 1, 1921 including any such assessments and interest becoming due or payable on June 1, 1916.

Section 2. Upon such extension being allowed and granted under the provisions of this act the County Board shall so contract with the holders of the bonds issued by such county to cover the expenses incurred in such ditch proceedings had, so that their security shall be safeguarded and the contracts remain unimpaired. If such county board deems it expedient to [illegible] such bonds by a new bond issue, they are hereby authorized and empowered to do so.

Feel Achy All Over?

To ache all over in damp weather, or after taking a cold, isn't natural, and often indicates kidney weakness. Uric acid causes many queer aches, pains and disorders of the organs. Well kidneys keep uric acid down. Tired, dizzy, nervous people would do well to try Doan's Kidney Pills. They stimulate the kidneys to activity and so help clear the blood of irritating poisons.

Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp. BUSINESS MAY GO INTO CONTROL OF TEUTON OFFICIALS

ALL LINES MAY BE TAKEN OVER BY AUTHORITIES IN EFFORT TO EXTEND MOBILIZATION IDEA.

WORKERS RESPOND TO CIVIL SERVICE SYSTEM

Socialization of Business May Come and Closing of All But Most Necessary Lines in Determination to Work Alleged Attempt at Dismemberment.

Berne, Switzerland, Feb. 19. — It is possible, if not probable, that a continuance of the war will mean socialization of business in Germany, the closing of all but the most necessary businesses and the mobilization of all efforts in a determination to ward off what Germany believes to be efforts to dismember that country and its Allies.

All indications are that Germany eventually will adjust herself to the conditions brought about by the civil service law passed last fall. The German War bureau, which is putting into effect the provisions of the law, reports that it has had unexpected success and points to the huge number of applications for employment received from all classes seemingly anxious to serve the fatherland in a civil capacity.

Many Boys Apply.

The plan, however, constitutes a problem not to be ignored in the future. On the basis of returns up to the present, the number of youths who have applied for work of any kind has been so large that the authorities have not been able to avoid the conclusion that school boys deliberately are attempting to evade their studies by offering their services to the government.

Hope to Evade Military Duty.

Many who have applied, it is believed, have done so in the hope of evading military duty.

Opposition to the civil service plan has developed from men who are more than military age and who for years have been comfortably settled in their own homes and active at their particular trade and who oppose to the utmost any proposition to dislodge them and transport them to districts where they would be more available than at home.

The large number of women applicants for civil duty has not been an unmixed benefit, since women employes in regular male occupations have not proved able satisfactorily, it is said, to do men's work and notwithstanding their best efforts are much inferior to the former male help.

The compulsory service, which originally had been planned for this month, at the latest, has been repeatedly delayed because the German government apparently wants to resort to this measure only when it becomes absolutely necessary.

CONGRESS TO PASS ONLY EMERGENCY MEASURES

With Appropriation Bills Will Occupy Time of Solons Until Close of Present Session.

Washington, Feb. 19.—With the end of the Sixty-fourth Congress but a short time away, administration leaders are concentrating their attention upon the enactment of revenue and national defense legislation. Much long pending general legislation every one recognizes must give way to appropriations and measures that relate to the preparation of the nation for eventualities.

In the Senate the revenue and naval bills are to be given the right of way as soon as the espionage and anti-conspiracy bill now under consideration is out of the way. The House will pass the army appropriation bill within a few days and then devote its attention to the sundry civil and general deficiency bills.

RANCHERS TO CHASE BANDITS

Cattle Men May Form Own Punitive Expedition.

El Paso, Texas, Feb. 19.—The report is again current here that the cattle men in the Hachita district of New Mexico intend to form a punitive expedition of their own to cross into Mexico and give chase to the bandits who murdered the three Mormon cowboys on the Corner ranch last Monday. It is known that cattle men have bought supplies of arms and ammunition here and shipped them to Hachita.

Red Cross Worker Tells of War.

Chicago, Feb. 19.—Back from the battle lines of Europe, where for practicularly two years she has been doing Red Cross work with wounded and refugees in the camps of the Allies, Mrs. John F. Bass of Chicago brings the message that over there they expect the world war to end this year. "There will be more fighting," she said "some of the most terrific fighting the world has seen. All of the nations expect it; all of them are preparing for it. After that the end will come.

SEVEN YEARS AGO AND TO-DAY

Then He Had 6 Mules, $660 Cash and Some Equity—Today He Has $20,000 and Owns 2 Sections of Land.

The story of the wealth of Western Canada cannot be told too often; the truth will bear repeatings. And in telling of it it is hoped that advantage will be taken of the great opportunities that Western Canada offers by those who are today struggling for a mere existence, by those who are occupying lands, high in price and high in rentals.

From grain, live stock and dairying in 1916, there was a return from the three Prairie Provinces of $258,000,000, or an increase of four million dollars over 1915, and 118 million dollars over 1914.

A prominent Trust Company says: Some of our contract holders have paid off their purchase money on lands bought a year ago out of this year's crop, and what one man can do another can do. Thousands of Southern Alberta farmers harvested an average of 40 to 50 bushels of No. 1 wheat to the acre. These farmers have more real money to spend than any other people on the American Continent. J. D. Johnston of Bladsworth, Sask., left Johnson County, Kansas, seven years ago. When he left he had $660 in cash, six mules, some settler's effects and an equity in some prairie land. Mr. Johnston tells his story:

"In my seven years' residence in Saskatchewan, I have raised seven good crops the value of this year's crop alone being Twenty thousand dollars. I now own Two Sections of improved land, 17 horses and mules, 40 cattle, a large steam thresher and a full line of farm machinery."

We have made five trips to Kansas, one trip to the Pacific Coast and return. We have enjoyed the society of a class of people than whom none better can be found. The climate is healthful and invigorating. The soil is fertile and productive, well adapted for the production of the best quality and large yields of all cereals and vegetables, wild and tame grasses. It is an excellent stock country."

The question of taxes is one that carries with it considerable weight. Coming from a man like Mr. Johnston the same weight should be given the answer. He says:

The tax system especially commends itself to me as being simple, reasonable and just. All direct taxes are levied on the land at its appraised market value, exclusive of improvements thereon. No tax on personal property. This tends to discourage the holding of lands by speculators who prevent its cultivation or improvement, hoping to realize profits from the enhanced value of their holdings due to the industrial activities of the bona fide settlers. It tends to encourage the settlers to rear substantial improvements upon their land without paying a penalty in the form of taxation therefor. It encourages the raising of live stock and the possession of other personal property necessary to the development of the country.

"The laws are well and economically administered. Citizens of the Dominion vote on election of members of parliament and members of the Provincial assembly, while on questions of local improvements and school matters the franchise is exercised by ratepayers, irrespective of citizenship.

The people are enterprising, school facilities are good Taxation, just and reasonable. Military service voluntary. Patriotic fervor unsurpassed, law and order the rule, and crime the rare exception. It is the land of banks, schools, telephones, grain elevators, broad, fertile acres, good climate, good citizenship and abounding in opportunities for the industrious man or woman of good morals, in short, the land of promise and fulfillment, I know of no better anywhere."—Advertisement.

Clock Speaks the Hours.

A clock which announces the hours in good round English, instead of striking or chiming, is the latest form in which our old friend the phonograph appears on the market. In this clock, the inventor has hidden a phonograph horn and a record carrying all the hours, halves and quarters—"Twelve o'clock!" "Quarter past twelve!" and so on. The disk is geared to the clock machinery in such a way that the phonograph makes the proper remark at the proper moment.

TELLS STORY OF SINKING

CAPTAIN OF STEAMER LAW DESCRIBES U-BOAT ATTACK.

Could Easily Have Sunk Submarine Had His Ship Been Armed With Five-Pounder, Says Officer.

Rome, Feb. 19.—Captain McDonough and the crew of the American schooner Lyman M. Law, recently sunk by a German submarine, has arrived in Rome with Roger Tredwell, the United States consul at Turin and were interrogated at the American embassy. Captain McDonough repeated his story of the sinking of the schooner, adding the vessel had a large supply of canned goods, especially meat, chickens and vegetables, which doubtless attracted the officers and crew of the submarine in their search for food.

Captain McDonough described the submarine crew as being composed of "about 40 men—all big, blond, husky fellows."

Could have Destroyed U-Boat.

Describing the approach of the submarine, the master of the American schooner said:

"If my ship had been armed with a five-pounder, I could have destroyed the submarine as easily as buttering a piece of bread. Neither myself nor my men showed resentment. I did not ask them to spare the ship and left her smilingly, while the Germans also smiled."

Captain McDonough and his crew soon will be sent to the United States. Thomas Nelson Page, the American ambassador, has sent a report on the sinking of the American vessel to the State department.

One of the objects of this movement will be to open churches for use seven days a week.

Chicago Feb. 19.—Two of three alleged automobile thieves were caught when the car in which they were fleeing skidded. Pursuers fired a number of shots during a long chase along Michigan boulevard. One of the bullets struck a taxicab windshield, broken glass cutting several gashes in the face and about the head of the driver. As the patrol wagon was running to the scene it was struck by a streetcar and partly wrecked. Three policemen were severely cut and bruised.

Uric Acid!

Ever since the discovery of Scheele in 1775 that uric acid was found within the body—most eminent physicians agree that rheumatism is caused by it; also many distressing symptoms as headache, pain in back, stomach distress, swollen feet and ankles, gout, etc.

It was Dr. Pierce of the Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N.Y., who discovered a new agent—called Anuric, a harmless remedy that if taken before meals will carry off the uric acid from the system and in this way the pains and aches, the creaky joints and all the distressing symptoms of rheumatism and other maladies disappear. You can easily prove this yourself, by obtaining Anuric at almost any drug store, or send Dr. Pierce 10c. for trial package. Try it and be convinced that Anuric is many times more active than lithia and eliminates uric acid as hot water melts sugar.

The Color Scheme.

Mary Ann's mother was sewing, surrounded by pink gingham and blue gingham.

"What are you making me, mother?" spoke Mary Ann.

"Bloomers, child, for you to play in," her mother said.

A few minutes later her mother heard Mary Ann on the front porch crying out to the neighbor's child, "My mother is making me some pinkers and some bloomers, to play in."

FRUIT LAXATIVE FOR SICK CHILD

"California Syrup of Figs" can't harm tender stomach, liver and bowels.

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs" that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish, or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleaning" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask at the store for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Adv.

A FRIEND'S ADVICE

Woman Saved From a Serious Surgical Operation.

Louisville, Ky.—"For four years I suffered from female troubles, headaches, and nervousness. I could not sleep, had no appetite and it hurt me to walk. If I tried to do any work, I would have to lie down before it was finished. The doctors said I would have to be operated on and I simply broke down. A friend advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and the result is I feel like a new woman. I am well and strong, do all my own house work and have an eight pound baby girl. I know Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved me from an operation which every woman dreads."—Mrs. NELLIE FISHBACK, 1521 Christy Ave., Louisville, Ky.

SUSPENSE OVER AT LAST

But Stammering Physician Gave Prospective Father a Few Moments of Extreme Uneasiness.

There is a stammering physician out in one of our suburbs. A short time ago, while on a case involving a new arrival, his infirmity led to a rather funny misapprehension.

The husband and prospective father, who, by the way, had set his heart on a son and heir, was nervously pacing the library when the physician entered.

"Well, doctor," said the husband, forcing a smile, "is it twins?"

"Tr-tr-tr—," began the doctor.

"Triplets! Great Caesar!"

"Qu-qu-qu—," stammered the doctor.

"Quadruplets! Holy smoke!"

"No-n-no," cried the doctor. "Qu-ququite the contrary. "Tr-tr-try to take it ph-philosophically, my friend. It's just a girl."—Boston Transcript.

Two Species of Sardines.

Louis Fage has made a study of the growth of the sardine or pilchard (Clupea pilchardus), using the method now so much employed, of reading the age from the scales and otoliths. As in other cases, the concentric striated zones seen on a scale are interrupted by several clear nonstriated zones, the latter indicating periods of rest—"winter rings." As Hjort has said: "The growth of the scales is so closely bound up with that of the individual that it is possible by simple measurements of the zones of growth on the scale to retrace with real precision the history of the growth of the fish." The results of his measurements lead Fage to conclude that there are two distinct, "biological races"—the Mediterranean and the oceanic sardine. The former grows more slowly, and lags more and more behind as it grows older.

Gopher State Happenings

Important Events of Various Sections of the state reported during last few days.

Winona.—In less than an hour after Phillip Felton had won his contest of the election of L. J. Brown, his opponent, for county commissioner here, he was declared disqualified for a violation of the corrupt practices act. The county is minus one commissioner.

St. Paul. — "If the European press had been free to print unclouded and uncolored news dealing with questions of an international character, instead of printing what the various governments wished its people and the peoples of other nations to believe, this world shadowing war never would have come."

Brainerd. — This city faced destruction when a flume at an old pulp mill went out at the west end of the Mississippi river dam and a rush of water of about 16-foot head nearly submerged the pumphouse below. Water crept within an inch of the firebox at the pumping station. The ice was dynamited to reduce a gorge which was forming.

Mankato. — Steps are being taken to establish a new automobile trail or highway through one of the most historical portions of the state, rich with memories of some of the most stirring scenes ever enacted in the northwest. It may be called the Sioux Indian historical highway, and it will lead through territory where the Sioux uprising of 1862 occurred.

Preston. — Their 160-acre farm all but abandoned, part of their live stock and chickens dead from starvation, Nora and Mary Donahue, recluses, are in the custody of Sheriff E. K. Blexrud, following complaint of neighbors. It is alleged both are insane. The women have been taken from the farm and will be arraigned before Probate Judge D. K. Michener to determine their mental condition.

St. Paul. — "To get the necessary legislation to prohibit the use of trading stamps or coupons, retail druggists must take a more active part in politics," Eugene C. Brokmeyer of Washington, general attorney of the National Association of Retail Druggists, said to the members of the Minnesota State Pharmaceutical Ass'n. in session here. About 450 guests attended the annual banquet of the association.

Minneapolis. — Secretary of State Schmahl has pledged the loyal support of 2,250,00 citizens of Minnesota to President Wilson and the national government in facing the foreign crisis. Mr. Schmahl's pledge was made in seconding resolutions introduced by Ell Torrance at the twenty-eighth Lincoln banquet of the Minnesota Commandery of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion at the West hotel.

St. Paul. — How the newspaper has at different periods in the history of the nation accurately reflected the prevailing social and political conditions, and, by reason of this, has become recognized as a leading element in all public affairs in the community it serves, was explained by President George E. Vincent of the University of Minnesota to fifty editors of the state who attended the opening session of the three-day short course at the college of agriculture.

Shakopee. — Location of the proposed state reformatory for women at Shakopee has been recommended to the legislature, the state board of control announces. Selection of one site from among several offered at that town was to be agreed on. The board of control was divided on the selection, Wheelock and Vasaly voting for a Shakopee site, and Chairman Swendeen favoring Cambridge. "One of the Shakopee sites is especially adapted, in my opinion, said Mr. Wheelock.

Minneapolis. — The proposal to put the financial management of farmer elevator companies under state supervision, preferably the banking department, was discussed at the convention of the Minnesota Farmers Grain Dealers association, at the West hotel. President H. R. Meisch presided. The directors of the elevator companies went on record as favoring the passage of such legislation as would make supervision possible, to eliminate unsafe financing and resultant loss to the farmers.

Duluth.—Fourteen Industrial Workers of the World, the last of a group serving terms at the county work farm, have bade farewell to the prison camp after spending 20 days and 20 nights continuously in their beds, except for meals. On arrival at the work farm the I. W. W. formed "Work Farm Local No. 1, Industrial Workers of the World," and "Branch 711 of the Sons of Rest," and thereupon declared a strike against any form of manual labor. They were then put to bed.

St. Cloud. — Six hundred students of the state normal school here have been vaccinated following the outbreak of smallpox in the girls' dormitory. Six girls are suffering with the contagion and these have been isolated by the health authorities.

St. Paul. — State Auditor Preus received $357.68 from the federal government, representing 5 per cent of the net proceeds of sales of United States public lands in Minnesota during the last fiscal year. The comparatively small remittance is regarded as an indication that demand for public lands is decreasing.

WOMEN! IT IS MAGIC! LIFT OUT ANY CORN

Apply a few drops then lift corns or calluses off with fingers—no pain.

Just think! You can lift off any corn or callus without pain or soreness.

A Cincinnati man discovered this ether compound and named it freezone. Any druggist will sell a tiny bottle of freezone, like here shown, for very little cost. You apply a few drops directly upon a tender corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears, then shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you can lift it right off.

Freezone is wonderful. It dries instantly. It doesn't eat away the corn or callus, but shrivels it up without even irritating the surrounding skin.

Hard, soft or corns between the toes, as well as painful calluses, lift right off. There is no pain before or afterwards. If your druggist hasn't freezone, tell him to order a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house.—adv.

ACTRESS TELLS SECRET.

A well known actress gives the following recipe for gray hair: To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and ¼ oz. of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off. Adv.

A MINISTER'S CONFESSION

Rev. W. H. Warner, Myersville, Md., writes: "My trouble was sciatica. My back was affected and took the form of lumbago. I also had neuralgia, cramps in my muscles, pressure or sharp pain on the top of my head, and nervous dizzy spells. I had other symptoms showing my kidneys were at fault, so I took Dodd's Kidney Pills. They were the means of saving my life. I write to say that your medicine restored me to perfect health." Be sure and get "DODD'S," the name with the three D's for diseased, disordered, deranged kidneys; just as Rev. Warner did, no similarly named article will do.—Adv.

DIRECTIONS FOR PLAIN CAKE

Simple Confection to Serve at Luncheon or to Follow the Sunday Evening Supper.

One and one-half cupfuls of pastry flour or one and one-eighth cupfuls bread flour, two teaspoonfuls baking powder, speck of salt, one-fourth teaspoonful grated nutmeg, one-fourth cupful butter, one cupful sugar, two eggs, one-half cupful milk. With a plain cake as a foundation many variations may be made. Substitute one-half teaspoonful of vanilla or lemon extract for the nutmeg. For a white or silver cake omit the egg yolks and use the whites only, more may be added for layer cake. Bake in shallow pans of equal size and when cooked place filling between the layers.

Rillon cake may be made by dividing the latter into two or more equal parts. Color one or more and bake each portion separately, then place in layers with jelly between. A richer cake may be made by using twice the quantity of butter and one-fourth cupful more of flour should then be added. For raisin or nut cake add one-half cupful of seeded raisins or chopped nuts, sprinkle with two tablespoonfuls of flour and add to sifted dry ingredients. Currants or citron may also be added. Dark cake may be made by adding molasses, spices, cocoa, etc. Add flour to make the batter of required consistency. For marble cake put a portion of plain or white cake into the baking pan, scatter a spoonful of a dark cake mixture over it and cover with remainder of the light mixture.

DAINTIES FOR LUNCH BASKET

Take Only a Little Time to Prepare and Will Be Appreciated by the Schoolgirl or Boy.

Tiny buttered tea rolls, potato salad (in small jar), sponge cake, coffee (in small bottle).

Brown bread sandwiches, stuffed eggs, vanilla cookies.

Nut sandwiches, cold roast veal, cake of sweet chocolate.

Date sandwiches, jar of chicken salad, apple turnovers.

Plain bread and butter sandwich, cold roast beef, stuffed dates.

If possible, through the winter months it would be well to have small jars of chowder, soups, coffee, tea, cocoa, or anything that may be reheated. These may be placed in dishes of hot water over gas or heated in any way to make a warm lunch for the girls.

German Kuchen.

Take one quart of milk, one cupful of butter and lard mixed and scald. When cool add two cupfuls of sugar, two cupfuls salt, one yeast cake and about 11 cupfuls of flour. Be sure and not have the dough too stiff. Raise over night. In the morning roll out one-half inch thick and lay on rows of apples. Sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon and raise a little while. Bake till the apples are tender.

Cinnamon Kuchen.—Roll the same as for above. Then take three common crackers rolled fine and the same amount of sugar with a little cinnamon and mix together. Spread little bits of butter on the cakes and then cover with the mixture of crackers and sugar.

Kuchen Loaf.—Cut one-fourth cupful raisins fine and add to some of the dough and raise and bake the same as bread.

Fruit Salad.

Take any fruits in season, and pare and cut them into neat pieces. Bananas, pineapple and pears make a good combination, and orange quarters may be added too, with the seeds and thin, tough skin covering the quarters removed. Put all the fruit into a deep bowl, the pineapple on top. Sprinkle sugar thickly on top, and add lemon juice and water in the proportion of one part of lemon juice to four parts of water. Add enough liquid barely to cover the fruit. Let the whole stand for some hours, then stir up from the bottom and serve with whipped cream.

Yorkshire Parkin.

One and three-fourths pounds of flour, one pound of oatmeal, four ounces of butter, two cupfuls of molasses, one cupful of milk, six teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one dessert spoonful of ginger, ground. Mix the dry ingredients well together, warm the molasses with the milk. Do not make it hot, and mix the whole together. Bake in a well buttered tin for one hour. Of course you know this is better when allowed to stand for a few days. I always think it seems to soften up some.

Cream Puffs.

One cupful of water and one-half cupful of butter; boil together; while boiling stir in one cupful sifted flour; remove from fire and stir into a smooth paste. When cool add three unbeaten eggs, stirring five minutes. Drop in spoonfuls on buttered tins and bake in a quick oven 25 minutes. For cream take one cupful of milk, one-half cupful of sugar, one egg, three tablespoonfuls of flour, cook thoroughly and flavor. When the puffs are cold open and fill with cream.

Use for Broken Cups.

Teacups with broken handles are very useful for poaching eggs. Butter the inside, break the egg into the cup and stand the cup in the frying pan half filled with water. It keeps the egg in good shape when poached, easy to slip on to toast and is cleaner than poaching in a frying pan.

Growing Fingers.

German medical papers report a striking innovation in surgery that has been tried by Doctor Neuhaeuser in one of the army hospitals—a new method of growing new fingers to replace amputated digits. The earlier method was to graft a toe upon the amputated finger or thumb, but Doctor Neuhaeuser has successfully used a piece of rib as material for fingers and thumbs, getting at the same time a covering for the new members in a flap of skin taken from the breast just outside the ribs.

If the common people of this country are driven to war with Germany, they will be forced into it, and will have that feeling that they have nothing to go to war with Germany for. There was a vast difference in the sentiment of the people about going to war with Spain in 1898. than there is about going to war with Germany at this time. At that time the people felt that the small nation of Cubians were being abused by a foreign nation, and that Spain were sending their army and navy over to our coast to oppress and enslave the Cubians. America arose to a man and insisted that this nation should drive Spain from the coast of the western hemisphere. But what are the conditions today? Germany have of course blockaded the English coast with their submarines, but as they and England are at war, that is Germany's and England's business, and none of our business, and the common people of the United States are opposed to plunging this nation into war with Germany to be used as a cat's paw to pull the chestnuts of England out of the fire. Supposing there is occasionally an American killed passing through that war zone, is it not better to let them stand their chances than to plunge this country into war with a nation that the common people, who must do the fighting and pay the expenses, have no cause to go to war with? Of course if this nation is forced into a war, they will go in as a united nation, with a determination to win, but the small amount of American blood that has been spilt in that foreign war, will be only a drop in a hogshead, compared to what will be spilt if we go into war with Germany. We do not wish to be understood as taking sides in that European war on either side, but believe in letting them fight it out themselves, and America keep out of it.

Owing to other business which we had to attend to last week, we were unable to attend the drainage meeting called by Senator O'Neill, but we are willing to do all in our power to relieve the flood conditions that prevailed on Red Lake River last season, and it now looks as if there would be work commenced early this spring. They have now got relinquishments signed by farmers on one side of the river as far as the work is to be done below Highlanding which gives them a right to dump the dirt taken from the bed of the river, without any claim being made for damages.

A CORRECTION.

Owing to our absence at Thief River Falls last week, our compositor got the language a little mixed in our article of "Bounty On Wolves." In the third paragraph what we intended to say, and did say was, "as that mayor may have instructed them how they should testify, in order to obtain it," meaning the reward.

The Red Lake Falls Gazette office was destroyed by fire last week with all contents becoming a total loss. The News-Press, of Thief River Falls promptly tendered them the use of their office to get out their regular issues until they can get a new outfit of type and other material.

RICHMOND AND WRITERS.

The Literary Renown With Which the City Is Associated.

Richmond may be likened to Boston as a literary center. In an article published some years ago in Book News Alice M. Tyler refers to Colonel William Byrd, who founded Richmond in 1733, as "the sprightliest and most genial native American writer before Franklin."

In the time of Chief Justice Marshall Richmond had a considerable group of novelists, historians and essayists, but the great literary name connected with the place is that of Edgar Allan Poe, who spent much of his boyhood in the city and later edited the Southern Literary Messenger. Matthew Fontaine Maury, the great scientist, was at another time editor of the same periodical, as was also John Reuben Thompson, "Poet of the Confederacy," who wrote, among other poems, "Music in Camp" and who translated Gustave Nadaud's poem, "Carcassonne."

Thomas Nelson Page made his home in Richmond for thirty years, Amelie Rives was born there and still maintains her residence in Albemarle county, Va., while among other writers of the present time whose names are connected with the city either by birth or long association are: Mary Johnston, Ellen Glasgow, Marion Harland, Kate Langley Bosher, James Branch Cabell, Edward Peple, dramatist; J. H. Whitty, biographer of Poe, and Colonel W. Gordon McCabe, soldier, historian, essayist and local [illegible].—Julia [illegible] in Collier's Weekly.

The C. L. Clark farm house, on section 31 was destroyed by fire yesterday morning. We did not learn the cause of the fire. The farm is now owned by a man by the name of Brownlee, residing at Blue Earth, Minnesota.

Hans Solberg and John Lunblad, of Hickory township went to St. Paul last Saturday evening with County Commissioner Peterson to lobby for the state appropriation to dredge Red Lake River. D. A. Kolestrand, chairman of the Town of Highlanding also went to St. Paul for the same purpose.

RUBES MUST ORGANIZE

Owing to the strong lobby that the iron mine owners are keeping at St. Paul, the bill to tax iron ore is likely to be defeated in the Senate, after passing the House. Of course the farmers have no one there to look after their interest, but some of those Senators, who vote against that bill are likely to hear from the Non-Partisan league two years hence. That is why we favor the organization of the Minnesota farmers, the same as the North Dakota farmers are organized. North Dakota have men in that legislature looking after the interest of the farmers, all the time, and that is what the farmers of this state must do, if they would obtain justice in legislation. Only last week in that Minnesota Legislature they laughed an honest member to scorn, because he introduced a resolution to have an investigation made of the doings of the Chamber of Commerce and the St. Paul Stock Yards but they won't do it two years hence, for the rubes are going to organize.

Hon. D. P. O'Neill is certainly working hard this winter, in the interest of his constituants. He is quite sure of getting an act passed making it possible for the farmers to get an extension of the time of payment on the principal of ditch bonds, if they desire an extension. We also hope that he will get the appropriation to dredge the Red Lake River, but this is going to be a difficult act to get passed, but let us hope that he wins out, and give him due credit if he does. Representative Stenvick is also using his best endeavors to get these acts through the House, which means so much to the people of this district at the present time.

Primitive Reptiles.

The tuatara, or tuatera, is an almost extinct lizard-like reptile (Sphenodon punctatum), now found only on certain rocky islets in the Bay of Plenty, northern New Zealand. It is of great scientific interest for the reason that it is the only surviving representative of the order of [illegible], or primitive reptiles, and is therefore a sort of "living fossil." It was formerly hunted for food, but is now protected by law in New Zealand.

Stood on His Dignity.

United States Senator Hoar in his autobiography relates an anecdote of Anson Burlingame, the famous lawyer of Detroit, who was afterward minister to China. He says:

"Shortly after Burlingame came into active life he made a journey to Europe. The American minister obtained for him a ticket of admission to the house of commons. He was shown to a very comfortable seat in the gallery. In a few minutes an official came to him and said he must leave that seat, that the gallery where he was was reserved for peers. They are very particular about such things there. Burlingame got up to go out, when an old peer who happened to be sitting by him and had heard what was said interposed. 'Let him stay,' he said; 'he is a peer in his own country.' 'I am a sovereign in my own country, sir,' replied Burlingame, 'and shall lose caste if I associate with peers.' And he went out."

BRITISH FORCED BY U-BOAT CAMPAIGN TO CONSERVE FOOD

LLOYD-GEORGE IN ADDRESS TO COMMONS SAYS SUCCESS DEPENDS ON ABILITY TO SOLVE TONNAGE SHORTAGE.

IMPORTS ARE CURTAILED; LUXURIES TO BE BANNED

Situation Said to Call for "Gravest Measures"—Premier Declares "Enormous Sacrifices Testing the Nation's Grit Are Required—Large Crowd Hears Remarks.

London, Feb. 24.—Success of the allied cause depends on the ability of England to solve the tonnage shortage, which is now affecting the ordinary needs of the nation and military exigencies, Premier David Lloyd George has just told the house of commons.

The situation, the premier declared, calls for the "gravest measures."

British Imports Curtailed.

Face to face with the menace of admitted gravity to its food supplies through operation of the German U-boat warfare, England has determined upon drastic curtailment of its imports, the prime minister announced.

All luxuries will be banned. Nonessential staples must make way for the necessities of war.

The restrictive plans will affect the very foundations of British life. They will particularly affect the dining table of every British citizen.

"If such a program is carried out," the premier gravely promised his audience, "England can face the enemy's worst."

Food Stocks Low.

"Food stocks are lowest in our recollection," England's "man of the hour" declared, "due to bad harvests. For the nation's life, increased production is necessary.

"The year before the war 50,000,000 tons of shipping entered British ports.

"During the last year the total was 30,000,000. This was due partly to the allocation of tonnage to our Allies.

"Italy and France are begging for more ships.

"A large portion of our tonnage has been sunk by submarines during the last 30 months. The ratio has been increased during the last four or five months, and this present month, due to Germany's special efforts to do its worst."

Must Prepare for Sacrifice.

The premier did not mince his words in declaring the nation must prepare for sacrifice.

"Enormous sacrifices are required," he declared, "testing the national gift. The government hopes to deal effectively with the submarine question—but it does not follow that we should rest on this hope only.

Crowds Hear Talk.

There was a crowded house at the special meeting to listen to the premier's statement on the restriction of imports and the encouragement of agriculture. Among those in the diplomatic gallery were Premier Borden of Canada, Premier Massey of New Zealand, and many representatives of allied nations and dominions.

The speech was a serious and grave effort, the premier giving his audience little opportunity for applause and endeavoring to concentrate attention on the serious situation with which the nation is faced owing to the shortage of food stocks and the German submarine menace.

GERMAN CRISIS HANGS FIRE

NO IMMEDIATE MOVE EXPECTED AT NATIONAL CAPITAL.

Departure of Secretary of State for Three Days' Vacation Indicates Matters in Status Quo.

Washington, Feb. 26.—The departure of Secretary Lansing for a three-day stay at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., was variously interpreted in connection with possible developments in the German crisis. At first, there was a general tendency to believe that it meant the government did not contemplate taking any new steps before the middle of next week, that if decisions had been reached and plans worked out, the head of the State department would be spared for a few days' rest now better than later.

There was a two-hour cabinet meeting, followed by the announcement that the international situation had undergone no change. Members were more than usually reticent afterwards.

SENATE FILIBUSTER BROKEN

Compromise Ends What Promised to Be Deadlock.

Washington, Feb. 26.—One of the most spectacular filibusters the capital has seen in years kept the Senate in session for hours and was broken down only when Republican leaders directing it secured a pledge from the Democrats that the administration revenue bill would not be brought to a vote until Wednesday.

The Democrats, facing what they declared was a Republican attempt to break down the administration program and force an extra session of Congress after March 4, had threatened to keep the Senate in continuous session if that were necessary to secure passage of the revenue measure.

TEUTONS RETREAT FROM VAST FRONT PROTECTED BY FOG

VACATE SEVERAL MILES OF TRENCHES ON SOMME FRONT GIVING UP LONG COVETED GROUND TO ENEMY.

IS GREATEST WITHDRAWAL IN FRANCE IN TWO YEARS

Retirement Is Estimated to Approach Depth of Three Miles at Some Points—Next Line of Resistance of Germans Not Possible to Determine.

British Headquarters in France, Feb. 27.—On one portion of the British front at least the war has become a war of movement.

Under cover of fog and mist, which have been particularly heavy, the Germans carried out the greatest retirement they have made on the western front in the last two years, and the British have swept into possession of Pys, Serre, Miraumont and Petit Miraumont, including the famous Butte de Warlencourt, which has been the scene of some of the fiercest fighting of the war and in places is deep with the bones of dead men.

Retire Three Miles.

The exact extent of the German retirement is not known, but it is estimated that it approaches a depth of three miles at some points.

British patrols are out in all directions, harassing the Germans and keeping in touch with their movements. Until they report, it will not be possible to say just where the Germans have determined to fix their next line of resistance.

Big Advantage to Britains.

It can be stated that the British now, or soon, will be in a position possibly to force the evacuation of Bapaume, which has been the key to the German position since the beginning of the battle of the Somme.

The points which already have fallen into the British hands have stood out in the history of the fighting on this front and had been most stubbornly defended. Only a week ago, when the British attacked on a two-mile front east and south of Miraumont and Pys, the German resistance was bitter and the high ground desired was won only after desperate hand-to-hand encounters and the taking of more than 800 Germans prisoner.

Retire to Stronger Positions.

The British had been waiting for a clearing of the foggy weather before pressing the advance, but meantime it is apparent that the German high command had decided to retire without any further fighting to stronger positions prepared well to the rear.

TO LIFT BLOCKADE IF KING OF GREECE YIELDS

Allied Powers Make Promise Conditioned On Complete Satisfaction of All Demands.

Paris, Feb. 27.—Definite announcement is made here that the blockade of Greece will be lifted when King Constantine gives complete satisfaction to the demands of the Allies.

Explanation Is Made.

Washington, Feb. 26.—The Greek legation here has made public a cablegram from the Athens foreign office describing as false and misleading accounts appearing in the Allied press of the landing of Allied troops at Athens in December and the events and negotiations which preceded it.

The message said it was untrue that any promise had been given Admiral Du Fournet in regard to compensation for material yielded to the Bulgars; that the documents in the so-called cession of Fort Rupel were forged; that the Greek king did not refuse to guarantee that order would be kept in the streets, that the city was quiet when the Allied forces landed with orders to take possession of commanding heights and that the Greeks did not open fire first in the clash that followed.

SONS TO OBSERVE STATE'S BIRTHDAY

NATIVE SETTLERS PLAN CELEBRATION OF PASSAGE OF ACT CREATING TERRITORY.

PIONEERS CALLED GOPHERS

Name Is Outgrowth of Indian Custom—All Native Sons Invited to Banquet—Organization Promotes Better Citizenship.

Minneapolis. — On March 3rd, the Native Sons of Minnesota will celebrate the 68th anniversary of the birthday of their state. For on that date, 1849, the act creating the territory of Minnesota passed Congress, and from that time Minnesota appeared as a separate political division on the map of the United States. Previous to that time all of the country between Michigan and the Missouri river belonged to Wisconsin territory. In 1846 Wisconsin was ready to enter statehood, but the people along the St. Croix valley and round about Fort Snelling wished to form a government all their own, and after several unsuccessful attempts, finally persuaded the National Government to create a new territory called Minnesota, taking its name from the largest river wholly within its borders, and at that time the principal center of population. Some ten years later the territory was considered large enough to become a state, and while the 3rd of March is not statehood day, it is the day that the state was named in its infancy.

Minnesota, as most everyone knows, means Sky Colored in the Sioux language. This name was given to the river known by that name, but at one time called the St. Peter.

Settlers Called Gophers.

The early settlers of Minnesota were called Gophers, following no doubt, the Indian custom of adopting some animal as a mascot or totem for a clan.

For a number of years the older Natives of Minnesota, resident in Minneapolis, have made it a custom to gather round the banquet table once a year, to renew old friendship, rehearse old adventures and to extol the many advantages of Minnesota as a place of birth. The Association of the Native Sons of Minnesota is an incorporated body with headquarters in Minneapolis.

Such an organization can be useful to the state by inculcating a high ideal of citizenship, and to the individual in maintaining the friendship of a previous generation. The officers for the present year are: W. L. Bassett, president; E. H. Cobb, 1st vice president; Dr. A. M. Eastman, 2nd vice president; P. M. Holl, secretary; F. L. Gowen, treasurer.

A cordial invitation is extended to all of the Native Sons of the state, wherever located, to attend the annual banquet at the West hotel, at 7 p. m., on March 3rd.

Teachers Adopt Resolutions.

Winona. — The Southeastern Minnesota Educational association, at the closing session of the twenty-first annual convention, went on record in opposition to the tendency of the state legislature to curtail educational appropriations to such an extent that full aid is not available. Resolutions also were adopted protesting against the movement to secure the repeal of the teachers' retirement act. Officers were elected. Next year's convention was voted to Rochester, Minn.

Governors to Confer.

St. Paul. — Governor Burnquist has called a conference of governors of states in the Minnesota, Ohio and Missouri river valleys March 19, at New Orleans to form a permanent organization for river improvement and river traffic development. Governor Burnquist said Minnesota citizens are showing special interest in the undertaking.

"I regard this matter of the greatest importance," said Governor Burnquist. "For more than a year I have been co-operating with officers of various organizations on the general improvement and development plan.

"Those officials are convinced that the time has arrived to press the project to a successful conclusion and have requested me to call the governors of interested states to perfect a permanent congress."

A. L. Crocker and other Twin City supporters of the river improvement project are in New Orleans Mr. Crocker said before his departure that an effort was being made to have the large shipping concerns in all river towns represented at a meeting in New Orleans next month.

Commission Rule Attacked.

Duluth. — Petitions calling for an election on a charter amendment abolishing the commission form of government and substituting the old ward system with a city manager as the administrative head of all city affairs has been filed by C. L. Hood, secretary of the Taxpayers' league, with C. F. MacDonald, secretary of the charter commission. It is believed that these amendments will come up for a vote at the election on April 3.

The petitions bear a total of 1,500 signatures, according to Mr. Hood, while only 720 are required.

Veterans Offer Services.

Pipestone.—Members of Simon Mix post, G. A. R., of Pipestone, have unanimously passed a resolution offering their services to the government in case of war. The resolution reads: "In the event of foreign invasion, or attack upon the United States by enemies within or without our border, this post and its members hereby tender its services to the Governor of Minnesota, and through him to the United States in defense of same."

Bulwark in Nation's Defense.

Duluth. — Minnesota is shown to be the bulwark in the nation's defense, and one of the strongest links in the chain of business prosperity in time of peace or war, according to the industrial survey made by the Minnesota board of governors for the naval consulting board. None of the members are at liberty to give out details of the survey, but it is stated generally that the results have proved surprising.

"Reform" Candidate Beaten.

Bemidji.—By a majority of 95 votes Charles W. Vandersluis has been re-elected mayor, getting 582 votes to 487 for T. Carlson. Carlson ran as a reform candidate, while the mayor insisted that "Bemidji is reformed." The proposal to issue $8,000 in bonds to build an armory carried. John F. Gibbons was chosen municipal judge over six candidates.

State Delegates Named.

St. Paul. — Governor Burnquist has announced the appointments of five Minnesota delegates to the Thirteenth National Conference on Child Labor, March 23-25, at Baltimore. They are Mrs. A. Tomlinson and George W. Wyckoff, St. Paul; Mrs. J. S. Thurston and Henry F. Burt, Minneapolis, and W. E. McEwen of Duluth.

Frost Hinders Mining.

Hibbing. — Stripping operations on the Minnesota iron ranges are being handicapped greatly by the unusual depth of frost, requiring slow and costly work. Engineers say that the frost in the ore is as deep as seven feet, which is record breaking, due to extremely cold weather and lack of snow.

Towns Want License Vote.

Fair Managers Organize.

Rochester.—The Federation of Fair Managers, embracing twenty fairs in Southern Minnesota, has been organized here.

To Check Excessive Fire Waste.

St. Paul. — Deploring the excessive fire waste in Minnesota as well as other parts of the United States, John B. Sanborn, state insurance commissioner, urged officers and policyholders of the Retail Hardware Fire Insurance company, at their annual meeting at the Auditorium, to agitate public sentiment against negligence. "To reduce the excessive fire waste in the State of Minnesota," he said, "we must build up a strong public sentiment against negligence in fire prevention."

IS CHILD CROSS, FEVERISH, SICK

Look, Mother! If tongue is coated, give "California Syrup of Figs."

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely.

A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sours, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask at the store for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Adv.

LIFT YOUR CORNS OFF WITH FINGERS

How to loosen a tender corn or callus so it lifts out without pain.

Let folks step on your feet hereafter; wear shoes a size smaller if you like, for corns will never again send electric sparks of pain through you, according to this Cincinnati authority.

He says that a few drops of a drug called freezone, applied directly upon a tender, aching corn; instantly relieves soreness, and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts right out.

This drug dries at once and simply shrivels up the corn or callus without even irritating the surrounding skin.

A small bottle of freezone obtained at any drug store will cost very little but will positively remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet.

If your druggist hasn't stocked this new drug yet, tell him to get a small bottle of freezone for you from his wholesale drug house.—adv.

Strong drinks like beer, whiskey, tea and coffee, irritate the kidneys and habitual use tends to weaken them. A DIFFERENCE IN THE INVESTMENT

The Western Canada Farm Profits Are Away in Excess.

Mr. George H. Barr, of Iowa, holds seven sections of land in Saskatchewan. These he has fenced and rented, either for pasture or cultivation, all paying good interest on the investment.

Mr. Barr says that farm land at home in Iowa is held at $150 per acre. These lands are in a high state of cultivation, with splendid improvements in houses, barns, stables and silos, and yet, the revenue returns from them are only from two to three per cent per annum on investment.

Last year, 1915, his half share of crop on a quarter section in Saskatchewan, wheat on new breaking, gave him 85 per cent on the capital invested—$25.00 an acre. The crop yield was 35 bushels per acre. This year the same quarter-section, sown to Red Fife on stubble gave 3,286 bushels. His share, 1,643 bushels of 1 Northern at $1.56 per bushel, gave him $2,563.08. Seed, half the twine and half the threshing bill cost him $453.00. Allowing a share of the expense of his annual inspection trip, charged to this quarter-section even to $110.00, and he has left $2,000.00, that is 50 per cent of the original cost of the land. Anyone can figure up that another average crop will pay, not 2 or 3 per cent on investment, as in Iowa, but the total price of the land. Mr. Barr says: "That's no joke now."

Mr. Barr was instrumental in bringing a number of farmers from Iowa to Saskatchewan in 1913. He referred to one of them, Geo. H. Kerton, a tenant farmer in Iowa. He bought a quarter-section of improved land at $32.00 an acre near Hanley. From proceeds of crop in 1914, 1915, 1916, he has paid for the land. Mr. Barr asked him a week ago: "Well, George, what shall I tell friends down home for you?" The reply was: "Tell them I shall never go back to be a tenant for any man." Another man, Charles Haight, realized $18,000 in cash for his wheat crops in 1915 and 1916.

Mr. Barr when at home devotes most of his time to raising and dealing in live stock. On his first visit of inspection to Saskatchewan, he realized the opportunity there was here for grazing cattle. So his quarter-sections, not occupied, were fenced and rented as pasture lands to farmers adjoining. His creed is: "Let nature supply the feed all summer while cattle are growing, and then in the fall, take them to farmsteads to be finished for market. There is money in it."—Advertisement.

SUFFRAGE BILL IS PASSED BY HOUSE; FINAL VOTE IS 85-41

LOWER BODY OF LEGISLATURE VOTES TO SUBMIT TO PEOPLE QUESTION OF FULL SUFFRAGE TO WOMEN.

WOULD BE AMENDMENT TO STATE CONSTITUTION

Measure Passed is Peterson Bill, Which Now Goes to Senate—Was Opposed by One Wing of Suffragists Who Wanted Suffrage by Statute.

St. Paul, Feb. 23.—By an overwhelming vote, the Minnesota House of Representatives passed the bill providing for the submission to the people of a constitutional amendment granting suffrage to women. The vote was 85 to 41.

The bill now goes to the Senate. If passed by the upper body, it will be voted on by the people in November, 1918, at the same time that the prohibition amendment is considered. A close fight in the Senate is predicted.

The fight for the bill was the tamest suffrage contest ever witnessed in the Minnesota legislature. Heretofore, there has been interse interest. The day when a suffrage bill came up for a vote was always a real "field day."

The only thing that showed the earmarks of the old time "suffrage field day" was the vast crowd of women in the galleries.

Some of the leading suffragists throughout the state have opposed the submission of a constitutional amendment. This group, headed by Mrs. Andreas Ueland of Minneapolis, have been working for the statutory suffrage bill, granting women the right to vote for presidential electors.

The passage of the constitutional amendment bill presages the defeat of the statutory bill, according to many legislators. Anti-suffragists, while opposed to suffrage on principle, preferred the submission of the constitutional amendment to the passage of the statutory bill.

There was a lot of oratory before the vote, but it all lacked the old time fervor. The proponents were led by A. M. Peterson of Coleraine, author of the bill. Others who spoke for the bill included Representatives Leavitt Corning, H. H. Holmes, Oscar Stenvick and P. H. Konzen.

Thomas H. Girling of Robbinsdale, declaring that the fight was "too one-sided" spoke against the bill. He declared that a law should be passed making all men vote. George H. Nordlin of St. Paul also spoke against the bill. The only excitement of the day came over a parliamentary tangle.

For Non-Partisan Conventions.

St. Paul, Feb. 21.—Non-partisan conventions to select nominees for judges of the state supreme court are provided in a bill by Senators F. E. Putnam and J. D. Sullivan. The bill provides for the election of five delegates from each county at the primary election and one additional for each 10,000 inhabitants. They are to meet in convention at the state capitol the second Tuesday after the primary. Candidates nominated in the convention are to be placed on the general election ballot, their names to come first.

Other candidates may be nominated by petitions bearing 5,000 names, proportionally distributed among the congressional districts, and their names will be placed on the ballot in alphabetical order, bearing the designation, "independent."

Need For Budget Increases.

St. Paul, Feb. 21.—Need of the University of Minnesota for increases in its budget for the next two years amounting to $1,908,350 has been explained by President George E. Vincent and Fred V. Snyder, president of the board of regents, at a meeting of the Senate Finance committee. They asked approval of an increase of 150 employes, with salaries totalling $250,000 and of increases in salaries of present employes totalling $162,500. Other items were to be taken up at a later meeting.

No Funds For Grain Probe.

St. Paul, Feb. 24.—By its failure to receive the "buck" passed to it by the rules committee, the House of Representatives has put a quietus on the proposed inquiry into grain exchanges asked for by A. F. Teigen.

The rules committee sent in a report calling for the employment of help amounting to $57 a day. The House, after listening to impassioned orators for two hours, refused to adopt the report by a vote of 53 to 61.

To Cut Tax Valuation.

St. Paul, Feb. 24.—Former Governor John Lind has gone before the House committee on taxes and tax laws to urge the passage of the bill under consideration to reduce the valuation of improved lands, live stock, merchandise, manufactured articles and machinery from 33⅓ to 20 per cent of the real value, leaving unplatted land at 33⅓ per cent.

Mr. Lind said he favored any changes that will cheapen the cost of production and tend to prevent land monopoly.

Tonnage Tax Bill Passed.

St. Paul, Feb. 22.—After one of the most bitter legislative struggles in the history of the state, the Minnesota house of representatives passed the so-called tonnage tax bill. The vote was 69 to 61.

The bill, termed a super-tax proposal, because it would levy a tax of 2 per cent of the value of merchantable ore, in addition to the present ad valorem tax on mining property, now goes to the senate. In the words of several house members, the lower body "passed the buck" to the upper branch.

Northern Minnesota was almost solidly arrayed against the measure.

The spectre of sectionalism, deprecated by leaders on both sides, crept into the four-hour debate on the bill. It would not down. Representatives from the northern part of the state said frankly their section was being discriminated against in the bill. Representatives from the southern part insisted that there was no discrimination.

While there were some notable exceptions, representatives from farming communities in the southern and western portions of the state were lined up for the bill.

The outstanding figure in the whole fight was Charles T. Murphy of Aurora. He led the fight against the measure. When he was interrupted by A. O. Devold, Socialist member, friend and foe alike joined in silencing the questions.

Henry O. Bjorge of Lake Park, author of several other tonnage tax bills, led the fight for the bill. He was assisted by the three other authors, Charles H. Warner, Tom Davis and C. M. Bendixon.

The chief argument used by the proponents of the bill was that the ore was a heritage of the state, that the supply was diminishing and that the time was coming when there would be nothing left to tax. The opponents insisted that the ad valorem tax was already so arranged as to tax the iron properties heavier than other property in order to provide for the diminishing supply. It was stated that labor would be the chief sufferer by the imposition of the "super tax."

Pension Bill Hard Hit.

St. Paul, Feb. 21.—Opponents of the proposed changes in the teachers' pension law have practically killed the bill before the House committee on education. Chairman Claude Southwick said that the bill probably will not be reported to the House.

Teachers vigorously objected to some of the provisions of the bill, chiefly to the sections excluding from the benefits of the law, teachers who have drawn more than $2,000 a year for ten years; making membership entirely voluntary, and providing that to receive the annuity, the teacher must have reached the age of 60 years.

Guard Bill Is Special Order.

St. Paul, Feb. 24.—Without giving its appropriations committee a chance to consider the measure, the Minnesota House of Representatives decided to make the bill appropriating nearly $500,000 for soldier pay a special order of business.

George H. Moeller of St. Paul, chairman of the committee on military affairs, who, with Representative Henry Steen of Winona, introduced the bill granting pay of 50 cents a day to all guardsmen who went to the border, asked for a suspension of the rules to make the bill a special order.

Probe Move Hits New Snag.

St. Paul, Feb. 21.—Representative A. F. Teigen's resolution for an investigation of grain and live stock exchanges has hit another snag. Lyndon A. Smith, attorney general, ruled that the committee on rules has no power to provide for the employment of an outside attorney to conduct the investigation and he declined to assign one of his own staff to assist the Teigen special committee.

Lawmakers Fear "Leaks."

St. Paul, Feb. 24.—The possibility of "leaks" was urged as one of the most important reasons why the trade commission bill before the Legislature should not be reported favorably by Senate and House committees at a public hearing by a joint committee from both houses.

Makes Thanksgiving Holiday.

St. Paul, Feb. 24.—The supreme court has decided since the last session of the Legislature that Thanksgiving day is not a legal holiday in Minnesota, and so Senator J. A. Jackson of St. Paul has introduced a bill adding it to the legal holidays listed in the statutes.

To Help Plague Victims.

St. Paul, Feb. 24.—Scores of persons in Minnesota who need special treatment to overcome or mitigate the after effects of infantile paralysis will be benefitted if the legislature passes a bill appropriating $50,000 to care for such cases and to fight new outbreaks.

Move Fails to Revive Bill.

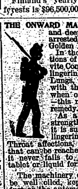
St. Paul, Feb. 24.—A fruitless effort was made in the Minnesota House of Representatives to obtain a reconsideration of the vote by which the bill creating a state boiler inspection department was killed. Representative Leavitt Corning aided by several of the representatives from St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth sought to have the bill placed on general orders again. Country members, with few exceptions, protested against reviewing the measure.

What Is Uric Acid?

Everyone has uric acid in the system, but naturally in small quantities. Excessive amount is caused by eating too much meat and foods that ferment in stomach. The kidneys, being the filters of the blood, are supposed to separate and throw the poisons out of the system. Weak, tired and overworked kidneys fail to do this, hence the uric acid accumulates and the urate salts are carried by the blood to the solid tissue structure, causing backache, lumbago, rheumatism, dropsy, drowsiness, and tired feeling.

To overcome the trouble is only a matter of toning up the kidneys, and this is best done by a treatment with Anuric, three times a day. Anuric is a recent discovery of Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., and can be obtained at any drug store.

Experience taught Doctor Pierce, that Anuric is a more powerful agent than lithia in dissolving uric acid, and it is then carried out of the system.



THE ONWARD MARCH of Bronchitis, and deep seated Coughs is arrested by Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

In those scrofulous conditions of the blood which invite Consumption; in severe, lingering Coughs, and Weak Lungs, which threaten you with this fatal disease, and when other help has failed—this medicine is a proved remedy.

As a blood-cleanser, strength-restorer, and tonic it is sure to benefit. In all lingering Bronchial and Throat affections, and in every disease that can be reached through the blood, it never fails to benefit or cure. In tablet or liquid form.

The machinery of the body needs to be well oiled, kept in good condition just as the automobile, steam engine or bicycle. Why should the human neglect his own machinery more than that of his horse or his engine? Yet most people do neglect themselves. Clear the system at least once a week with Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

Tennille, Ga.—"I want to tell you how much I have been benefited by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. About eight years ago I got in such a low state of health I was unable to keep house for three in the family. I had dull, tired, dizzy feelings, cold feet and hands nearly all the time and could scarcely sleep at all. The doctor said I had a severe case of ulceration and without an operation I would always be an invalid, but I told him I wanted to wait awhile. Our druggist advised my husband to get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has entirely cured me. Now I keep house for seven and work in the garden some, too. I am so thankful I got this medicine. I feel as though it saved my life and have recommended it to others and they have been benefited".—Mrs. W. E. Lindsey, R. R. 3, Tennille, Ga.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR
HARRIETT G. HUNT, PUBLISHER

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3,1879

At every session of the Legislature, there seems to be a strong sentiment in favor of suppression of the publication of the acts of officials elected by the people. There is an attempt being made at this session of the Legislature to prohibit the publication and circulation of the Session Laws and proposed Constitutional Amendments to the people through their local papers, and have them gotten out by city jobbers, for circulation by County Auditors in pamphlet form. Of course they claim this work is being done in the interest of economy, as all other slick deals are worked through the Legislature, but about the first trial of this new method, would convince the members who had been lead to vote for it, that it was a scheme to place them in the hands of a newspaper trust, that they had given a license to rob them. Pass a law of this kind and throw the country newspapers out of the deal and the city jobbers, who now do the work will immediately form a trust to hold up the tax payers for their price for doing this work. It will be then that our Legislative members will discover, that they deprived the people of an opportunity to read the acts passed by the Legislature, and will pay about double the price they are now paying for the publication and circulation of these laws.

The farmers are likely to consider a Commercial Club, a place for business men to congregate to have a good time, after business hours. But that does not seem to be the purpose of the Commercial Club of Thief River Falls. This club is certainly a live number, who have the welfare of their city and county at heart. When they have one of their business meetings we have always noticed that they discussed matters of interest to the farmers as well as their city, and the thanks of the farmers are certainly due them, for the active interest that they have taken to get improvements done on Red Lake River. In unity there is strength, so let us unite with them to assist to redeem our county from the calamity of last seasons floods. With a favorable spring, we hope to see the farmers of Pennington county take hold to raise one of the best bumper crops that has ever been produced in nothern Minnesota. Don't worry about seed, as you will get all the seed grain you need.

After a warm fight the tonnage tax bill prevailed by a vote of [illegible] to 61 in the lower house. It is predicted that the fight will be still warmer in the senate with chances against in. All of the representatives of this section of the state, except Stenvick, of Clearwater, voted against the bill.—Bemidji Sentinal.

Good for Stenvick. He voted right, and for the interest of the farmers "you bet". Them is the kind of votes that we like to record. Make them pay taxes on the wealth they take from Minesota soil, the same as we farmers do.

Too much credit cannot be given to the honorable and true representatives of the people, who stood out against the strong lobby of the iron mine owners and voted aye, for this tax on iron ore.

There is now a proposition up to get a new mail line from Sunbeam to Rudell post office, to supply a large territory near Red Lake River that have no mail service at the present time.

There has been so much wind this winter that the snow is piled to a depth in some places in the roads that it will be dangerous when the spring break up comes.

Any proposition to improve mail service in this territory, that has a Singer at either end of it, is promptly turned down by the people, as they have had enough S service, and will now endeavor to get U. S. service.

Read the Electric Train time card published in another column. We will keep this time card published in the future, as we have heard numerous complaints from subscribers about not knowing the train time from Goodridge to Thief River Falls.

Here is hoping that we get members enough to locate that "leak" wherein the farmer gets five cents a pound for his beef steers; and the consumer pays thirty-five cents a pound for his beef.

How the Captain Tacked.

Captain Joshua Slocum, the famous solitary voyager, tells in his "Sailing Alone Around the World" an amusing story of the way in which he protected himself at night from marauding savages while in the neighborhood of Cape Horn. When he went to sleep Captain Slocum would sprinkle the deck with carpet tacks, taking particular care that not a few of them stood "business end" up. It is well known that one cannot step on a tack without saying something about it. A pretty good Christian would whistle; a savage will howl and claw the air. And that was just what happened, Slocum reports, about 12 o'clock one night. His vessel was boarded while he slept. But no sooner had they stepped on deck than the savages, howling like a pack of hounds, jumped pellmell, some into their canoes and some into the sea, a great deal of free language escaping them as they went. Slocum says that he was never disturbed again, though he sprinkled his deck with tacks many nights thereafter.

Trimmings Are Gorgeous.

The cities and people of the East, from Port Said to Yokohama, and from peasant to king, apparently have been put under the miscroscope this season by designers of trimmings in order to bedeck milady in a manner befitting. The resultant offerings are remarkable for their colorings, beauty and variance. Chinese motifs have been worked out in several ways, not the least being in hand embroideries, while wool, silk and wool, and beaded decorations embodying the designs and colorings of India, Egypt and other Eastern countries are offered in great abundance. A great variety of novel tassels is offered to buyers also. Many of them make use of Eastern design motifs, and all of them are selling like the proverbial hot cakes.

Celery's Many Virtues.

There is but little enlightenment afforded in the every-day culinary literature on the many uses of that delicious plant known as celery. Probably no other plant is so well adapted to cooking in so many different styles as celery, a vegetable that can also be eaten raw.

There is hardly any other vegetable of which every plant can be brought to such good account. The trimmings can be used for flavoring purposes, or for soup and broth, while the seeds are carefully preserved for similar uses, or to produce celery salt, which in itself forms an ideal table condiment.

PRESIDENT TAKES OATH OF OFFICE ON EVE OF INAUGURAL

ENTERS SECOND TERM WHEN HE SWEARS TO UPHOLD CONSTITUTION AT QUIET CEREMONY AT CAPITOL.

EXECUTIVE KISSES BIBLE AT SIGNIFICANT PASSAGE

Surrounded by His Official Family in the Closing Hours of Congress Wilson Reaffirms Promise and Enters What May Be Momentous Term.

Washington, March 5. — President Wilson took the oath of office for his second term at noon Sunday in his room at the Capitol, preceding his formal inauguration, with public ceremonies reflecting a great national expression of Americanism.

Before a desk piled with executive business laid before him in the closing hours of Congress and surrounded by members of his official family, the President reaffirmed with uplifted hand and grave features, his promise to uphold the Constitution in whatever crisis may confront the nation in the momentous four years before it.

Kissed the Bible.

After he had repeated solemnly the oath taken first by Washington a century and a quarter ago, he kissed the Bible at the passage reading:

"The Lord is our refuge; a very present help in time of trouble."

Chief Justice White administered the oath and was the first to extend his congratulations. Wringing the President's hand, the Chief Justice looked fervently into his face for a moment and said, brokenly:

"Mr. President, I am very, very happy."

Members of the Cabinet then crowded up with expression of regard. Mr. Wilson received them with a smile and then turned back to his desk to complete his uncompleted task.

To Take Oath Again.

The President will take the oath again on the inaugural stand before the Capitol. He might have omitted Sunday's ceremony under precedents established by other presidents, but he decided to comply literally with the constitutional stipulation that he take office at noon on the fourth of March.

Vice President Marshall did not take the oath Sunday. He will be sworn in for his second term at the special session of the new Senate with the usual Vice Presidential inauguration ceremony.

Free Lances in House Defer All Alignments.

Washington, March 5.—Four of the five independents who will decide whether the Republicans or Democrats shall organize the House in the next Congress, met yesterday and agreed for the present they would not commit themselves to either party. They decided to come to Washington ten days in advance if an extra session should be called. The four were Representatives Randall, Prohibitionist of California; Schall, Progressive of Minnesota, Martin, Progressive-Protectionist of Louisiana, and London, Socialist of New York.

RELATIONS TO BE SEVERED

London, March 5.—A Swiss dispatch quotes the Balkan press agency as saying that Bulgaria will present a note to the United States supporting Germany in her unrestricted submarine campaign and declaring that American hostility toward Germany must be considered to be directed also against Bulgaria. The dispatch says that at the same time the Bulgarian minister at Washington will be instructed to demand his passports.

G. O. P. Want Special Session.

Washington, March 4.—Germany's admission that she plotted Mexico against the United States clinched Republican determination for an extra session of Congress. This admission, they held, showed Germany's spirit—a spirit heedless of bringing on war and perhaps even really desirous of having the United States in as an enemy. Up to the time of receipt of the German admission, however, administration leaders said there would be no extra session immediately.

Plot Shows Defense Weakness.

New York, March 5.—"Exposure of the German plot should show the entire country the weakness of our defense system and bring support of universal military service," Colonel Joseph H. Colt, chairman of the trustees of the American Defense society, declares. "Only one thing will give us any chance to hold our own and that is speedy breaking down of party lines in congress. "There are fewer men in the United States regular army than there are licensed chauffeurs in New York."

PAIN? NOT A BIT! LIFT YOUR CORNS OR CALLUSES OFF

No humbug! Apply few drops then just lift them away with fingers.

This new drug is an ether compound discovered by a Cincinnati chemist. It is called freezone, and can now be obtained in tiny bottles as here shown at very little cost from any drug store. Just ask for freezone. Apply a drop or two directly upon a tender corn or callus and instantly the soreness disappears. Shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you can lift it off, root and all, with the fingers.

Not a twinge of pain, soreness or irritation; not even the slightest smarting, either when applying freezone or afterwards.

This drug doesn't eat up the corn or callus, but shrivels them so they loosen and come right out. It is no humbug! It works like a charm. For a few cents you can get rid of every hard corn, soft corn or corn between the toes, as well as painful calluses on bottom of your feet. It never disappoints and never burns, bites or inflames. If your druggist hasn't any freezone yet, tell him to get a little bottle for you from his wholesale house.—adv.

CRISIS IN CHINA OVER BREAK

CABINET MEMBERS QUIT WHEN PRESIDENT REFUSES SUPPORT.

Had Decided That County Should Follow U. S. in Severing Relations But Executive Declines Sanction.

Peking, March 5.—The cabinet has decided that China should join the United States in breaking off relations with Germany. This decision was submitted to the president who refused to approve the cabinet's action, saying such power rested entirely with him. Premier Tuan Chi-Jui immediately resigned and left for Tientsin accompanied by several other members of the cabinet. The resignation of the entire cabinet is expected. Dr. Wu Ting Fang, minister of foreign affairs, had already resigned.

Parliament is virtually unanimously in favor of the opinion of the cabinet. The leaders of all the political parties are adversely criticising the president's position. The vice president of the republic supports the cabinet.

According to the president's office the immeditae cause of the break was a dispatch sent to the Chinese minister at Tokio committing China to a rupture of relations with Germany and a union with the Allies under certain conditions. The president refused his approval because he declared parliament must sanction all measures contemplating war as well as a direct declaration of war.

President Li Hung justifies his position by the article of the provisional constitution which says:

"The provisional president shall have power, with the concurrence of the national council, to declare war and conclude treaties."

MINNESOTA HOUSE WILL INVESTIGATE STATE 'U' FINANCES

PROBE BROUGHT ABOUT AS RESULT OF RECENT CRITICISM TO BE MADE IN FRIENDLY SPIRIT.

COMMITTEE IS NAMED TO GATHER TESTIMONY

Object Is to Show Whether There Is Extravagance or Negligence in Management of Financial Affairs of School as Has Been Intimated.

St. Paul, March 3.—An investigation of the business affairs of the University of Minnesota will be conducted by a House committee of five members to be appointed by the speaker, in compliance with a resolution offered some time ago by Representatives H. H. Flowers, P. H. Frye and A. F. Pratt, and adopted without debate.

Representative Flowers, in explaining the resolution, which was presented in a friendly spirit, pointed out that in fairness to the Legislature, as well as to the University, facts and figures should be prepared to show whether there is extravagance or negligence in the management of the institution's financial affairs, as intimated by certain members of the House.

Criticism of University expenditures arose with the announcement recently that an appropriation of approximately $5,000,000 would be required for the next two years.

The committee, which will make its investigation principally at the University offices, will be authorized to subpoenae a witness, to compel production of books and records and to take any further action necessary to make a complete inquiry.

Amid scenes of wild excitement, the House of Representatives indefinitely postponed the bill recently passed by the Senate which would authorize the use of state prisoners in road building.

Farmer members contended that to use prisoners in road building would mean the cutting down of the output of twine and farm machinery at the State Prison at Stillwater and thus would result in an increase in prices of these commodities in Minnesota.

Half Million For Guards.

St. Paul, March 1.—The Minnesota House of Representatives has passed the Steen-Moeller bill appropriating a half million dollars for national guardsmen returned from the Mexican border. There were only eight dissenting votes. Under the terms of the bill, Minnesota guardsmen would receive 50 cents a day from the state for each day they spent in the federal service.

This sum, proponents of the bill declared, would permit the men to live properly until they had obtained new positions. It was predicted that the measure would pass the Senate.

Debate on the bill at times waxed warm, several members intimating that opposition to the measure could indicate only an absence of patriotism.

Representative Moeller of St. Paul, a veteran of the Spanish-American war, urged the passage of the bill.

Revision of the state's road laws is the object of a bill to be introduced in the House of Representatives by Edward Indrehus of Foley, chairman of the good roads committee. The bill incorporates all of the changes proposed in various bills already introduced and has been approved by the roads committees of both houses.

The Senate will act on the super-tax or tonnage tax bill passed by the House Thursday, March 8.

The fight against the bill in the Senate will be led by Senator O. H. Griggs of Virginia. Senator Griggs says that there are now enough votes to kill the measure.

Constitution Revision Beaten.

St. Paul, March 2.—The House of Representatives has defeated the bill by C. E. Ryberg for submission of an amendment providing for a convention for revision of the state constitution.

The bill received 49 affirmative and 73 negative votes. Two-thirds majority was necessary for passage. A similar bill was defeated two years ago in the House by a substantial majority.

The transcript of the evidence before the House labor committee in the recent investigation of labor disorders in Northern Minnesota has been delivered to Chairman George L. Siegel.

Action on the Sageng bill for the repeal of the boxing law has been again delayed by the state Senate.

Farmers Ask Flood Relief.

St. Paul, March 1.—Six farmers in the vicinity of Thief River Falls have appeared before the Senate finance committee to ask relief from the floods of the Red river. They claimed that their lands have been damaged and in some years it has been impossible to raise crops on them because of the encroachment of the river. The committee has under consideration a bill appropriating $100,000 for widening, deepening and straightening the Red river. No action was taken on the

MADE $5,000 OUT OF HOGS

On His Western Canadian Farm.

It is getting to be a long drawn out story, the way that Western Canadian farmers have made money. Many of them a few years ago, came to the country with little more than their few household effects, probably a team of horses and a cow or two, and sufficient money to do them for a few months, until they got a start. Hundreds of such can be pointed out, who today have splendid homes, well equipped farms, the latest machinery and an automobile. Here is the case of A. E. Merriam, formerly of Devil's Lake, N. D. He didn't leave there because the land was poor, or farming not a success, for all who know that country are aware that it is an excellent country. He wanted to expand, to take advantage of the cheap land that Western Canada offers. And that same story has appealed to hundreds of others who have had like success with Mr. Merriam. But his story, and he signs it, too, is:

"I came to Alberta in the Spring of 1909 from Devil's Lake, North Dakota, locating on my farm near Dalroy.

"I arrived with six head of horses and two head of cattle and about $1,500. Since then, I have increased my live stock to seven head of horses, four head of cattle, and about one hundred head of hogs, a four-roomed house, good barn with all modern improvements, a feed grinder, elevator, chopper, fanning mill, etc. I have increased my original capital at least four times more since coming here.

"From the feeding of hogs during the last year, I had a gross return of $5,000.

"I first started grain farming, but during the past four years I have made hogs my specialty, and you may see by the foregoing statement for 1916 that I have not done so badly.

"Land has increased at least twenty per cent in value during the past few years, now selling for from $25 to $35 per acre, with nominal taxes of about $27 a quarter section yearly.

"The climate here is better than Dakota in that we do not have so much dry wind; the winters are similar to Dakota.

"As for farming in general, the growing and feeding of live stock is more sure than the grain farming, if continued year after year, and if every farmer follows this he will be ahead of the grain growers in the long run. Taking everything into consideration, I feel satisfied with my success in Alberta."

(Sgd.) A. E. MERRIAM.

Dalroy, Alberta, Jan. 12th, 1917.

There will be the greatest demand for farm labor in Western Canada during the early spring, and, in fact, all season until November, and the highest wages will be paid. There is an absolute guarantee by the Canadian Government that those who go to Canada for this purpose need have no fear of conscription.—Advertisement.

MOTHER! LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE

If cross, feverish, constipated, give "California Syrup of Figs."

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish; stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is ofttimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask at the store for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Adv.

Suffrage Bills May Hit Snags.

St. Paul, March 2.—Statutory prohibition, statutory suffrage and constitutional suffrage bills, now pending in the Minnesota legislature, are said to be headed for the rocks.

The prohibition amendment, to be voted on by the people at the elections in 1918, is held responsible for the danger facing the three bills.

Dry leaders in both House and Senate want only one amendment submitted to the people next year. Although they failed to stop the constitutional suffrage bill in the House, they confidently expect to stop it in the Senate.

The Senate elections committee will hold a public hearing on the statutory suffrage bill, introduced by Senators Sageng and Putnam, within a few days. No action will be taken on the constitutional measure passed by the House until the statutory bill has been disposed of.

The statutory bill, supported by leading suffragists, will likely be reported out of the committee. That the Senate will defeat it, is considered more than probable.

It is said that House members who were for the constitutional amendment for suffrage will hold up the statutory bill even if it should, by any chance, pass the Senate. These men, who led the fight for constitutional suffrage, believe that Senate leaders are trying to kill their bill and they threaten reprisal.

Hearings on Primary Law.

St. Paul, Feb. 28.—Legislative action on the proposed changes in Minnesota's primary election laws is in sight at last.

A public hearing on the general subject will be held at the state capitol next Tuesday evening, March 5. Senators and representatives, members of election committees of both houses, and all others interested will attend.

Admittedly one of the big constructive tasks before the present Legislature, the bills for the reformation of the primary system, has had to wait the passage of temperance legislation and the consideration of other measures of lesser importance.

But, with the growing interest on the part of their constituents, legislators are now prepared to get down to work on the primary law.

The bill introduced by Representative J. M. Harrison, the only one before the House of Representatives, has been brought up before the House committee on elections.

Polio' Fund Bill Reported.

St. Paul, March 3.—Another step in procuring an appropriation of $100,000 for use in combating the spread of infantile paralysis was taken when the House rules committee favorably reported the measure.

The bill was then sent to the appropriations committee and will be acted on there at once.

Oratory without restriction will continue to prevail in the Minnesota House of Representatives. Representative C. H. Warner's resolution to limit debate having been defeated by a 64 to 41 vote.

Representative H. H. Harrison joined with Mr. Warner in his effort to obtain the adoption of the resolution, while the opposition was led by Representative Tom Davis, Thomas H. Gorling, W. D. Washburn, T. J. McGrath, Asher Howard and A. F. Teigen.

Odlund Election Bill.

St. Paul, March 1.—Abolition of the primary election system in Minnesota so far as it applies to state offices is sought in a bill to be presented to the state legislature by Representative Martin W. Odlund of Fergus Falls.

The measure, which virtually has been completed, and which is understood to have the support of a number of leading members in the House, would repeal the present law for nomination of candidates for state offices and would provide nominations by state conventions.

Future Trades Bills Killed

St. Paul, March 2.—Two measures, both designed to cripple the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce, sponsored by certain farmer members, have been slaughtered in the Minnesota House of Representatives.

Men from the rural districts joined hands with city representatives in putting to sleep the Knutson bill for taxing future trades and the Teigen proposal to abolish future trading.

For Bible in Schools.

St. Paul, March 1.—Arguments against the bill permitting reading of the Bible in the public schools have been presented to the senate commitee on education by Emanuel Cohen, Minneapolis attorney, by Rev. Theodore Buenger, a St. Paul Lutherana minister, and others. Senator W. S. Dwinnell, one of the authors of the bill, defended it.

Tax Bills Are Merged.

St. Paul, March 1.—As a result of the public hearing at which former Governor John Lind and the members of the State Tax Commission appeared, the pending bills providing for the re-classification of personal property for taxation purposes have been merged into one measure.

To Offer Mediation Bill.

St. Paul, March 1.—T. J. McGrath of St. Paul is to introduce a mediation and conciliation bill in the house, indorsed by labor unions and recommended by Governor J. A. A. Burnquist in his message. It provides that when a labor dispute arises the governor is to appoint a special commission of three to confer with the parties to the controversy and endeavor to bring them together. The commissioners are empowered to arbitrate, if the disputants agree they may act. A $20,000 appropriation is provided.

Diet, Exercise or Death!

An eminent medical authority writes that most of our city folks die of a thickening of the arteries or of kidney disease. The kidneys become clogged and do not filter the poisons from the blood, and one trouble follows another, high blood pressure damages the heart, arteries and kidneys. Usually its danger signals are backache, pain here or there, swollen feet or ankles, rheumatic twinges or spots appearing before the eyes.

"The very best remedy is this: Eat meat but once a day, or not at all. Plenty of outdoor exercise, and drink pure water frequently. Before meals take a little Anuric, the great uric acid neutralizer that is easily obtained at the drug store. When you have dizziness, chills or sweating, worry, or dragging pains in back, try this wonderful enemy to uric acid, which Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., discovered and named Anuric. Anuric, more potent than lithia, dissolves uric acid as hot water does sugar."

GAVE HIS CANE AWAY!

Mr. S. P. Benton, Kerrville, Texas, writes: "For several years prior to 1906 I suffered from kidney and rheumatic troubles. Was bent over and forced to use a cane. For these disorders I am glad to say I used Dodd's Kidney Pills, which proved to be the proper remedy. I am 64 years old, feel fine and once again stand as straight as an arrow. Dodd's Kidney Pills deserve great credit." Be sure and get "DODD'S," the name with the three D's for diseased, disordered, deranged kidneys; just as Mr. Benton did. No similarly named article will do.—Adv.

Green's August Flower

When the stomach and liver are in good working order, in ninety-nine cases out of every hundred general good health prevails.

Green's August Flower has proven a blessing and has been used all over the civilized world during the last fifty odd years. It is a universal remedy for weak stomach, constipation and nervous indigestion. A dull headache, bad taste in the mouth in the morning, or that "tired feeling" are nature's warnings that something is wrong in the digestive apparatus. At such times Green's August Flower will quickly correct the difficulty and establish a normal condition. At all druggists' or dealers', 25c and 75c bottles.

HEALTHY CHILDREN come from healthy mothers. And mothers will certainly be healthy if they'll take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Nothing can equal it in building up a woman's strength, in regulating and assisting all her natural functions, and in putting in perfect order every part of the female system. It lessens the pains and burdens, supports and strengthens weak, nursing mothers.

It's an invigorating, restorative tonic, a soothing and bracing nervine.

Castor oil is good for children or adults, and especially good for aged people. A pleasant form of a vegetable laxative that is to be had at any drug store, was invented by Dr. Pierce, who put together May-apple (podophyllin), aloes, jalap. Ask at any drug store for "Pleasant Pellets," and they can be had for little money. They contain no calomel and are of vegetable constituents, therefore harmless.

The Quinine That Does Not Cause Nervousness or Ringing In Head

Because of its Tonic and Laxative effect, LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE can be taken by anyone without causing nervousness or ringing in the head. It removes the cause of Colds, Grip and Headache. Used whenever Quinine is needed.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR
HARRIETT G. HUNT, PUBLISHER

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3.1879

There is no longer any use to deny the fact, that Germany and this country will soon be at war. Ships flying the American flag are continually passing through that submarine war zone, and the first one that is sent to the bottom, will just as surely mean war, as the sinking of the Main by Spain did, Every Congressman and Senator will, be promptly called on the carpet by their constituants, and Fillebustering Politics will not be tolerated.

The present Minnesota legislature are likely to make some good changes in the present tax laws, that will stop firing a man for making improvements on realestate,-by raising his taxes, and fine the fellow who does not improve his realestate,by increasing his taxes. This law will have the effect to improve and place speculators land under cultivation, or tax them out of the country, and compel them to sell to a farmer that will improve the land.

There is now before the legislature, a bill authorizing the loaning of the Perment school and University funds, at 4 per cent interest to resident farmers. If this bill becomes a law, and we believe it will, it will have the effect to materially reduce the rate of interest on farm loans in this state. We are indebted to Senator O,Neil for a copy of the bill, but will not use space to publish it, until it becomes a law.

It appears that there are still some people who do not understand the law that was passed by Congress, restoring the homestead right of people who bought land on this reservation. The law as passed restores the homestead right to any man, who homesteaded and bought land on this reservation, that had not used his right previous to buying land here, without regard to the price he paid for the land he bought.

If the present legislature passes a law to publish the proposed Constitutional Amendments and the Session Laws in book form; instead of circulating and publishing them in the newspapers, it will mean the defeat of all Constitutional Amendments, except possibly the one giving women the right to vote.

O'NEILL DOING HIS BEST.

We received word from Hon. D. P. O'Neill, last night, that he now had the bill for the appropriation to dredge out the Red Lake River before the Legislature. If the members of that body could have taken a look at the flooded lands of eastern Pennington County along the banks of this river, where the resident farmers were being driven from their homes by the tremendous amount of water that had been dumped onto them, by the drainage of state lands above them, they could easily see the justice of granting this appropriation, to redeem the lands, that had been made worthless. Hon. D. P. O'Neill is making a hard fight, for this bill, and we believe that the legislature will see the justice of his cause and grant the appropriation.

How the Captain Tacked.

Captain Joshua Slocum, the famous solitary voyager, tells in his "Sailing Alone Around the World" an amusing story of the way in which he protected himself at night from marauding savages while in the neighborhood of Cape Horn. When he went to sleep Captain Slocum would sprinkle the deck with carpet tacks, taking particular care that not a few of them stood "business end" up. It is well known that one cannot step on a tack without saying something about it. A pretty good Christian would whistle; a savage will howl and claw the air. And that was just what happened, Slocum reports, about 12 o'clock one night. His vessel was boarded while he slept. But no sooner had they stepped on deck than the savages, howling like a pack of hounds, jumped pellmell, some into their canoes and some into the sea, a great deal of free language escaping them as they went. Slocum says that he was never disturbed again, though he sprinkled his deck with tacks many nights thereafter.

WOMAN COULD HARDLY STAND

With the Fingers! Says Corns Lift Out Without Any Pain

Sore corns, hard corns, soft corns or any kind of a corn can shortly be lifted right out with the fingers if you will apply on the corn a few drops of freezone, says a Cincinnati authority.

At little cost one can get a small bottle of freezone at any drug store, which will positively rid one's feet of every corn or callus without pain or soreness or the danger of infection.

This new drug is an ether compound, and dries the moment it is applied and does not inflame or even irritate the surrounding skin. Just think! You can lift off your corns and calluses now without a bit of pain or soreness. If your druggist hasn't freezone he can easily get a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house.—adv.

Doll Caricatures.

Dolls resembling in form and feature persons who desire to hand down to posterity as faithful a portrait of themselves as possible have become a great fad in Paris. It began with the caricaturing of celebrities in the form of dolls with heads formed to accentuate the characteristic features of the original. Now all sorts of people are having themselves portrayed in this new fashion. The facial resemblance is not only reproduced as perfectly as possible, but the dolls are dressed in material approaching as nearly as possible that of the original's clothing.

Fur Bearing.

"Alaska is noted for its fur-bearing animals, such as seals and Eskimos."

This was the answer given at an examination held in Columbus for applicants for teachers' licenses. The examination was conducted by Samuel Sharp, county school superintendent, and he vouches for the truth of the story. The question was to discuss Alaska and to tell some of the things for which the territory is noted. Furdealers are somewhat surprised at the answer.

From mines in Japan and South Manchuria the Japanese are mining 20,000,000 tons of coal annually.

The normal population of Paris is about 115 to the acre to 50 in London.

TWENTY-THREE ARE KILLED IN TORNADO AT NEWCASTLE, IND.

MORE THAN TWO HUNDRED ARE INJURED IN ENTIRE DISTRICT SWEPT BY SUDDEN WIND STORM.

MANY HOUSES DESTROYED; DAMAGE OVER $1,000,000

Hurricane Sweeps Over Eastern Indiana and Southwestern Ohio Carrying Death and Destruction in Its Wake—Death List Expected to Increase.

Cincinnati, March 12.—Twenty-nine persons are known to have lost their lives, several are missing and more than 200 were injured, many fatally, in a tornado which swept over eastern Indiana and southwestern Ohio.

The largest loss of life was at Newcastle, Ind., where 23 persons were killed and more than 100 injured, some probably fatally.

The damage will total well over a million dollars at Newcastle and several thousand dollars in Wayne county, Indiana.

The dead in Wayne county, Ind., are the two children of Harvey Gray. Ora Smith, who was hurled a hundred feet through the air, suffered a broken back and probably will die.

Communication Crippled.

The storm crippled wire communication through the east central part of Indiana and reports from the storm were meager.

Physicians, nurses, undertakers and ambulances were ordered to Newcastle from Indianapolis, Muncia and other towns surrounding Newcastle.

In the Ohio storm district three persons were killed and four seriously injured in the Hyde Park section of Cincinnati, and at Brookville, near Dayton, one man was reported killed.

Twenty-three Dead.

Newcastle, Ind., March 12.—Twenty-three are known to have been killed, several are missing, more than a hundred persons were injured, some fatally, and property damage to the extent of $1,000,000 by a tornado which struck Newcastle.

Confusion and disorder followed in the path of the storm. Those who escaped injury and death, ran wildly about the streets, women and children crying and wringing their hands, and men shouting and cursing. The men finally settled down and began the work of rescue, digging in the ruins of their homes for missing members of their families.

Killed in Their Homes.

Most of the dead were found in the wreckage of their homes, only two or three bodies being found in the streets.

Several fires broke out in the wreckage on the south side, but the heavy rain which followed the tornado kept them from spreading.

The tornado lasted about five minutes and was followed by a hard rain, which also stopped in a few minutes.

GERMANY MUST FIGHT U. S.

Only Way to Defeat England Says Teuton Newspaper.

Amsterdam, March 12.—The Koelische Volks Zeitung, a copy of which has been received here, admits that the arming of American merchantmen will make Germany's position more definite. It expresses the belief that the Americans will not find it easy to provide guns and gun crews and says it does not believe the danger to German submarines will be increased.

"We have always maintained," says the newspaper, "that a victory over England would be impossible unless we also determined to face America."

ALL U. S. WARS BEGAN IN APRIL EXCEPT ONE

Japan to Ask Concessions of China.

March 11.—Baron Hayashi, Japanese minister to China, does not hesitate to make it plain that Japan is preparing to ask China for a large concession at Tsing-tau, the colony wrested from Germany. "Japan can dispose of the Shantung railway without waiting for the peace conference and it is absurd to doubt that this road will come under Japan's influence," he told the newspapermen. "Japan will also ask China to agree to the establishment of a Japanese concession at Tsing-tau."

Fall of Bagdad and Serious Ford Situation Makes Another Proposal Among the Possibilities.

Washington, March 12.—The American government, having announced its intention to proceed with the arming of merchantmen intending to go to Europe in defiance of Germany's ruthless submarine campaign, no further details on the situation have been given out.

Many interesting questions relating to the new policy remained unanswered. The only statement authorized was that nothing will be done by the government not in strict accord with international law.

Because of reports of bad food conditions in Germany, the fall of Bagdad to the Allies and others news looked upon as unfavorable to the Central powers, some officials considered further peace suggestions from Germany as among the possibilities.

Street Assemblages in Petrograd Are Forbidden and Troops Are Engaged in Preserving Order.

Petrograd, March 12.—Due to disorders in recent days General Chavaloff, commander of the Petrograd district, has issued a proclamation forbidding all assemblages in the streets and warning citizens that the troops have been authorized to use their arms or any means to preserve order in the capital.

The Petrograd newspapers are not appearing and the tramway service has been suspended.

Bulgaria Discredits Rumor of Break With United States.

Sofia, Bulgaria, March 12.—An official denial has been issued here of a report that the Bulgarian government had addressed a note to the United States which had resulted in the rupture of diplomatic relations between the two countries. No note, it was stated, had been handed either to the United States minister at Sofia or to the State department at Washington. The announcement further denied the Bulgarian minister at Washington had been instructed to request his passports.

Pacifists Start U. S. Campaign.

New York, March 12.—The emergency peace federation has begun an organized campaign to keep the United States out of war with Germany. More than $4,000 was subscribed at a mass meeting, at which resolutions were adopted declaring this country could not allow itself to be drawn into the war nor enter upon relations of "veiled hostility likely to lead to war." The resolutions advocated the appointment of a "joint high commission" to endeavor to settle the questions at issue between this country.

CANADA'S BONUS TO FARM LABORERS

Offering 160 Acres to Farm Hands.

Canada today, with the great demand that is made upon it for foodstuffs, finds itself almost in the throes of a labor famine. A novel means of solving the problem has been evolved by the Canadian Government at Ottawa on Wednesday last, when it was decided to practically bonus every farmhand going to Canada, by giving him 160 acres free as a homestead, and to allow the time he would be working out for, the good wages offered, to count as residence duties on the homestead. Western Canada has been a big producer of grain and it is estimated that there is a shortage of over thirty thousand men, necessary to produce an average crop in 1917. This shortage has been caused by so many young men having left the farms to go to war, and it is essential to make an unprecedented offer of this kind, to fill their places on the land at once.

It has been required in the past to do three years' duties on homesteads to get title, but an additional inducement has been offered by practically reducing this term to two years. As explained by an official of the Canadian Government, Canada's need for farm laborers is intense, and exceptional inducements are being offered to get the needed farm workers at once. A farmhand will make his entry for one of the 160-acre farms, satisfy the Government that he is working for a farmer and that time will apply as residence on the land filed for, just the same as if he was actually living on it.—Advertisement.

Don't Neglect Kidneys

Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Prescription, Overcomes Kidney Trouble

It is now conceded by physicians that the kidneys should have more attention as they control the other organs to a remarkable degree and do a tremendous amount of work in removing the poisons and waste matter from the system by filtering the blood.

The kidneys should receive some assistance when needed. We take less exercise, drink less water and often eat more rich, heavy food, thereby forcing the kidneys to do more work than nature intended. Evidence of kidney trouble, such as lame back, annoying bladder troubles, smarting or burning, brick-dust or sediment, sallow complexion, rheumatism, maybe weak or irregular heart action, warns you that your kidneys require help immediately to avoid more serious trouble.

An ideal herbal compound that has had most remarkable success as a kidney and bladder remedy is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. There is nothing else like it. It is Dr. Kilmer's prescription used in private practice and it is sure to benefit you. Get a bottle from your druggist.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper. Adv.

FALLING HAIR MEANS DANDRUFF IS ACTIVE

Save Your Hair! Get a 25 Cent Bottle of Danderine Right Now—Also Stops Itching Scalp.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its luster, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any store, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, luster and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable gloss and softness, but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp. OVER TEN MILLION DEAD AND INJURED IN GREAT CONFLICT

ASTOUNDING LOSSES BY BELLIGERENTS DISCLOSED BY THE FIRST TABULATION OF CASUALTIES.

RUSSIA HEADS THE LIST WITH THREE MILLION LOSS

Official Reports Received at Washington of Losses of Participants in European War Show Allies' Figures Are Nearly Double Those of Central Powers.

Washington, March 12.—More than 10,000,000 men are recorded as killed, wounded, captured or missing in the European war in the first complete tabulation of official and authenticated semi-official reports of the various belligerents received here.

Among the military proper, 4,411,200 are reported dead; 2,698,500 wounded, and 2,564,500 captured and missing. Among civilians, especially on the Russian and Balkan fronts and in Armenia, another 400,000 are figured as either dead or wounded through the war.

Figures Approximate.

These figures are admittedly only approximate and in some instances necessarily several weeks old. They are not called exact in any sense, but are known to be so nearly as to give a fairly reliable picture of the war's results. They depend for their accuracy, first on the official reports of the various belligerents which are certainly minimum figures and then on a careful reckoning with all available authoritative information.

The Allies' losses are given as 6,318,400, as against 3,384,800 for the Central empires. One reason for the great discrepancy between the two is believed to be the relative unpreparedness of the Allies, the disastrous retreats in France at the beginning of the war, in Russia from the Mazurian lakes and the Carpathians and in Roumania.

Russia Heaviest Loser.

The Allies' dead total 2,890,400, against 1,550,800 for the Central empires; the Allies' wounded total 1,676,500, against 922,000 for their enemies; and their captured and missing 1,652,500, against 912,000 for the Central powers. These losses are based upon the assumption that in Germany 90 per cent of the total wounded return to the front and 80 per cent in all the other countries.

Russia is infinitely the heaviest loser so far with a grand total of 3,084,200 men. The bulk of these losses occurred in the Mazurian lake district and the two retreats from the Carpathians. Their dead total 1,500,000, their wounded 784,200, and their prisoners and missing 800,000.

ATTACKS AGAINST FRENCH POSITIONS ARE REPULSED

Violent Artillery Duel North of Aisne Results in Germans Being Repulsed.

London, March 12.—The Germans north of the Aisne have been engaged in a violent artillery duel with the French. Northwest of Rheims and near Bezonvaux attacks against the French positions were attempted but repulsed. The French on the other hand carried out successful surprise attacks on the German trenches. Berlin admits the retirement of the Germans before the British near Irles. On the Russian front there have been only minor operations and artillery activity. There is still no news concerning the situation in Roumania. Local artillery actions are in progress along the entire Austro-Italian front. An unofficial dispatch reports the sinking of the Danish steamer Rosborg, while on a voyage from Baltimore to Denmark. Six members of the crew were killed. The dispatch does not state whether the steamer was sunk by a submarine or a mine.

RUSSIANS PURSUING TURKS

Have Occupied Town of Sahna in Persia.

Petrograd, March 12. — Russian troops have occupied the town of Sahna in northwestern Persia and are pursuing the retreating Turks in the direction of Bisitun, 50 miles southwest of Hamadan, according to an official statement issued by the Russian War department. In Asia Minor the Turks took the offensive along the Sivas road but were repulsed.

Destruction of Property Continues.

Havana, March 12.—Havana was still without late Saturday confirmation of the report of capitulation of Santiago by the rebels. But occupation by the federal forces without a fight would not be surprising in view of the known plan of the rebels to break up into small bands in their efforts to escape the encircling government troops. The destruction of property by the insurrectos continues unabated. Dispatches detailing the burning of fields and of mills continue to arrive.

SYRUP OF FIGS FOR A CHILD'S BOWELS

It is cruel to force nauseating, harsh physic into a sick child.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask at the store for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Adv.

Saves Eggs

Royal Baking Powder makes it possible to produce appetizing and wholesome cakes, muffins, cornbread, etc., with fewer eggs than are usually required.

In many recipes the number of eggs may be reduced and excellent results obtained by using an additional quantity of Royal Baking Powder, about a teaspoon, for each egg omitted. The following tested recipe is a practical illustration:

SPONGE CAKE

- 1 cup sugar
- ½ cup water
- 3 eggs
- 2 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
- 1 cup flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅓ cup cold water
- 1 teaspoon flavoring

DIRECTIONS:—Boil sugar and water until syrup spins a thread and add to the stiffly beaten whites of eggs, beating until the mixture is cold. Sift together three times the flour, salt and baking powder; beat yolks of eggs until thick; add a little at a time flour mixture and egg yolks alternately to white of egg mixture, stirring after each addition. Add ⅓ cup cold water and flavoring. Mix lightly and bake in moderate oven one hour.

The old method called for six eggs and no baking powder

The demand for farm labor in Canada is great. As an inducement to secure the necessary help at once, Canada will give and allow the time of the farm laborer, who has filed on the land, to apply as residence duties, the same as if he actually had lived on it. Another special concession is the reduction of one year in the time to complete duties. Two years instead of three as heretofore, but only to men working on the farms for at least six months in 1917. This appeal for farm help is in no way connected with enlistment for military service but solely to increase agricultural output. NEW UNIVERSITY HEAD WELCOMED BY STATE SOLONS

DR. MARION LE ROY BURTON IS INTRODUCED TO JOINT ASSEMBLY BY FRED B. SNYDER OF REGENT BOARD.

ONCE SOLD NEWSPAPERS IN MILL CITY STREETS

President-elect Receives Ovation—Tells Audience He is "Extremely Receptive and Brutally Independent"—To Devote Life to Institution.

St. Paul, March 10.—The Minnesota legislature in joint session of both houses welcomed a former Minnesota boy back home. The "boy" was Marion LeRoy Burton, once a newsboy in the streets of Minneapolis, returned after 14 years to be president of the state university.

Dr. Burton was introduced by Fred B. Snyder, president of the board of regents, who reviewed the career of the president-elect of the state's greatest institution and asked that the legislators extend him its welcome and take him to their hearts.

They did both. The two houses, meeting in the chamber of the House of Representatives, rose when Dr. Burton was introduced and gave him generous applause, but the applause mounted to an ovation after he had addressed them.

The president-elect said he had no policies to announce for the future of the university. He intended to spend the first few months or a year, after taking hold July 3, to "watching the wheels go round."

The university, he was sure, needed no surgical operation. He paid tribute to the leadership of President Vincent and voiced the belief that the legislature and the people of the state were of one mind in desiring to make the university as big and as powerful and as serviceable as it was possible to make it.

Statutory "Dry" Bill Rejected.

St. Paul, March 8.—Statutory prohibition was killed, 81 to 47, in the Minnesota house of representatives when a motion to postpone the measure indefinitely was carried. Many drys voted with the wets against the bill, contending that it would be best to let prohibition stand or fall by the judgment of the voters of the state at the 1918 election, when the prohibition constitutional amendment is submitted. Statutory prohibition would have made Minnesota "bone dry" beginning next January.

There was no oratory preceding the action. Representative George H. Sutherland presented the report of the temperance committee recommending that the bill pass and moved that it be made a special order. Representative Thomas H. Girling, wet leader, moved as a substitute that it be indefinitely postponed. The roll call follows, those voting "aye" supporting the Girling motion to kill the bill.

Probe of "U" Finances.

St. Paul, March 10.—An investigation of the business affairs of the University of Minnesota will be conducted by a House committee of five members to be appointed by the speaker, in compliance with a resolution offered some time ago by Representatives H. H. Flowers, P. H. Frye and A. F. Pratt, and adopted without debate.

Representative Flowers, in explaining the resolution, which was presented in a friendly spirit, pointed out that in fairness to the Legislature, as well as to the University, facts and figures should be prepared to show whether there is extravagance or negligence in the management of the institution's financial affairs, as intimated by certain members of the House.

Objection to Bill Overcome.

St. Paul, March 6.—Objections to the bill reorganizing the State Board of Health have been removed at a session of the Senate committee on civil administration. The bill was amended by the committee so as to limit the rule-making powers of the new board to the powers conferred by statute. The only objections to the bill, introduced as one of the series for the reorganization of the state government by the efficiency and economy commission, were that it conferred too much power.

Public Domain Bill Reported.

St. Paul, March 10.—The efficiency and economy bill creating a department of public domain and abolishing a number of boards has been reported to the senate for passage by the committee on civil administration bearing a number of minor amendments.

The bill groups the state land, mines and timber administration and the departments of immigration, game and fish, highways and drainage under a single director of public domain, with each division under a commissioner.

The grain and warehouse committee of the House has decided to report favorable the concurrent resolution providing for an interim commission to investigate grain and live stock exchanges and marketing conditions in general.

The resolution carries an appropriation of $10,000 for the expenses of the commission, and will be referred to the appropriations committee when it reaches the House again.

The Senate elections committee held a public hearing on the statutory suffrage bill, which would grant women the right to vote for presidential electors.

The committee took no action on the bill. Senatorial procedure demands the Senate bill, the one providing for statutory suffrage, be acted on before the House bill, the constitutional measure, is considered.

Passes "Buck" to Senate.

St. Paul, March 8.—The Minnesota House of Representatives has gone into the "back passing" game.

It has passed a million dollar "buck" on to the state Senate with only one dissenting vote.

The House passed a bill appropriating $1,070,193 to pay deficiencies in the aid fund for high, graded and rural schools for the years ending July 31, 1915, and July 31, 1916.

Under ordinary procedure the bill would have been included in the regular educational omnibus bill. But there was an evident desire on the part of House members to transfer the responsibility to the Senate

The desire to make the Senate settle the question dates back to two years ago. On the last day of the session, certain House members made a strenuous fight to have the deficiency school aid included in the omnibus bill.

The Senate finance committee refused and the possibility of an extra session loomed. Senators insisted that they would stand their ground until the legislative session expired by constitutional limitation rather than increase the omnibus bill total.

There is a widespread belief in the Legislature that the law relating to school aid should be changed so that the funds appropriated can be prorated. Each year the appropriation grows by leaps and bounds.

Would Dissolve Affiliation.

St. Paul, March 9.—The bill to dissolve the affiliation of the University of Minnesota medical department with the Mayo foundation has appeared in both houses of the legislature.

Contrary to expectations, the bill is aimed only at the University-Mayo affiliation and does not prevent other affiliations. It is understood that the objections raised two years ago by Dean Woods and others, that the bill then pending would cripple the work of the agricultural school, brought about the change in the measure this year.

The bill provides that the dissolution be complete by September 1, 1918, and orders the board of regents to set about at once to terminate the agreement.

Willful Senators Rebuked.

St. Paul, March 9.—One vote, that of Representative F. G. Strand, Socialist member from Two Harbors, was cast in the Minnesota House of Representatives against the H. H. Harrison resolution criticising the United States senators who conducted the filibuster against President Wilson's armed neutrality bill. Representative Henry Holmes went on record as opposing the Harrison resolution. "We would be condemning men for doing what they thought was right," Mr. Holmes declared. He voted for the bill.

To Probe Campaign Funds.

St. Paul, March 9.—An investigation into the campaign contributions and expenditures of the Republican, Democratic, Prohibition parties and all other political organizations, such as the Minnesota Anti-saloon league and the Brewers' association, is asked for in a resolution which will be introduced in the House of Representatives by Representative Tom Davis of Marshall.

For Repeal of Primary Laws

St. Paul, March 6.—Bills providing for the repeal of the presidential primary law, and for a return to the convention system of nominating state officers have been introduced in the House.

The bill to repeal the presidential primary law was introduced in the Senate also by Senators Griggs and Callahan. In the House, the authors are Representatives Gleason and Knutson.

Fight Tri-State Flood Bill.

St. Paul, March 6.—A large delegation of farmers representing every county in the Minnesota river valley met with the members of the Senate and House drainage committees and the representatives from their several counties in the banquet room at the St. Francis hotel and protested vigorously against the provisions of the tri-state bill for flood control. The upland farmers fear that they will be assessed for a scheme which they say will be of little or no benefit to them.

BILIOUS, HEADACHY, SICK "CASCARETS"

Gently cleanse your liver and sluggish bowels while you sleep.

Get a 10-cent box.

Sick headache, biliousness, dizziness, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath—always trace them to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret to-night will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Adv.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR
HARRIETT G. HUNT, PUBLISHER

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3,1879

"Politics Hot in North Dakota," says the Norman County Index, and publishes an interview, with Calvin Andrist the N. D. newspaper man, who was assistant engrossing clerk in the N. Dakota Senate, who Editor Lightborn said talked in an interesting way about the doings of the North Dakota Legislature: Among other things, which this wise representative of "Big Business" says is, "The famous House Bill 44, providing for a new constitution for North Dakota was defeated by conservative members of the Senate." They wont defeat it at the next session of the legislature in North Dakota, and Mr. Andrist will have to be a careful and law abiding citizen, if he is allowed to visit the Capitol Building of North Dakota, let alone being an assistant engrossing clerk, and a representative of "Big Business." Mr. Andrist is also quoted as saying, "many farmer league members are refusing to pay their dues." Different over here Mr. Andrist, here is one member that proposes to pay his dues, and is going to make a fight to get the producer and consumer of Minnesota together and dig this matter to the bottom, and clean up the bunch that have been calling the farmer producers "rubes," "hay seeds" and "buckwheaters," and the consumers "toilers," and get together for one sweep of Minnesota in the next campaign, and we confidently expect to have Editor Lightborn with us, when he has carefully reviewed the situation as it is today, in this glorious U. S. of America.

Certain partisan papers are asking if the administration is so blind that it hasn't seen all along that Germany might attack us throught Mexico and they rant about lack of preparedness for such an event. And these same papers awhile ago were howling denunciations for the holding of the troops on the border.—Duluth Herald.

We don't anticipate that there is any real danger of Germany getting near enough to the coast of the Western Hemisphere to attacked us, but if they should try to pull off a stunt of that kind it might be a good thing for the United States at the present time; as it would promptly stop all difference of opinion, as to how the country should proceed to repel the invasion, and unite them on the one idea to drive them out if we used brick bats for arms.

Once again the liquor interests are promoting an issue with which they hope to fool the voters. They are asking the legislature, it seems, to pass a law making it unnecessary to publish a list of the proposed constitutional amendments in the newspapers of the state previous to general elections, as is now done. This would prevent thousands of voters from becoming familiar with the proposed amendments and would probably mean defeat for the "bone dry" measure in 1918.—Bemidji Sentinel.

North Dakota now have prohibition that prohibits. The law has passed Congress prohibiting the shipping of intoxicating liquors into prohibition states. No more booze for North Dakota, your jug and case of beer can no longer be shipped to you from either Minnesota or Canada.

The snow has been rapidly disappearing this week, and the plowed fields are beginning to show their black color in place of white.

There was quite a large attendance at the shadow social held at the Highlanding school house, last Friday evening, and a neat little sum was realized from the sale of the shadows.

The Eleven Towns editor seems to have got into a mix up with a traveling preacher, and has been threatend with a law suit. The best way for Editor Smith to do would be to refer him to Singers for a little advice before tackling a country editor for a law suit.

County Commissioner Peterson informs us that bids will be called for, for the construction of a bridge across the Red Lake River, at Highlanding by May 1st, which is certainly good news for his constituants living in the towns of Deer Park, Mayfield and Hickory.

We add the name of County Commissioner Peterson to our paid in advance, subiscription list this week, whose name will take the place of our County Commissioner P. C. Wold, who felt so bad because the Singers failed to land us in jail that he would suppress this publication by removing his name from the list, but THE SUNBEAM came out on Friday "just the same."

We understand that A. B. Mandt, who formerly resided in Kratka township has bought the Atlantic elevator at Goodridge and will soon remove to that village.

THE EXPECTED HAPPENS

The expected happened in the state senate last week, when the proposition to tax iron ore was turned down. The iron mine owners have kept a strong lobby at St. Paul all winter, to defeat the payment of their share of taxes, and they worked up such a strong sentiment against the passage of this law, that representative senators of "Big Business" were on the market as cheap as two for a quarter. Senator O'Neill made a gallant fight for the passage of this just law, but there was too strong a lobby there, backed up by the millionaire mine owners for the farmers of the state of Minnesota to get justice. But never mind this year, as the Non-Partisan League is not nine days old yet, and have not got their eyes open, but they will get them opened in time to put men in that next legislature, that will represent their interests, instead of the millionaire mine owners.

MOST POWERFUL ORGAN.

Famous Old Instrument In St. Paul's Cathedral, London.

The organ of St. Paul's cathedral in London is the most powerful in the world. There is a weight of three tons on the bellows, and some of its giant pipes disappear from view in the recesses of the enormous dome. Some of the smaller pipes are up by the altar, and the rest are either hidden away behind the long row of choir stalls or are seen towering on either side of the choir gates. But all are controlled from a little organ loft in which is scarcely room for anyone beside the organist seated at the keyboard.

There are five rows of keys and two tiers of over 100 ivory handle stops. The organist showed how, by pressing with his thumb one of a row of buttons as he played, whole combinations of stops were pushed out or pushed in. He demonstrated, too, how with the slightest pressure he could transform the sound of the organ from the softest and sweetest of tones to a volume which rolled and seemed to shake the entire building.

The organ is a very ancient one. It was built between the years 1624 and 1700 by one Bernard Schmidt, a celebrated German organ maker, and cost over £2,000. Schmidt was merely responsible for the inside work, the case being supplied by a joiner for just over £330, while the carving on the case cost nearly £110. The organ has since undergone entire reconstruction, but all Schmidt's pipes have been retained and are now doing as good service as when they were made.—London Mail.

MEDIATORS ARE SUCCESSFUL AND PREVENT STRIKE

RAILWAY MANAGERS CONCEDE EIGHT-HOUR DAY AS WAR CLOUD LOOMS AND CONTROVERSY IS SETTLED.

EFFIENCY OF ROADS SHALL NOT BE IMPAIRED

"Assure Nation There Will Be No Strike" Is Message Sent to Mediators by Managers Who Also Tell Them to "Make any Terms Necessary."

New York, March 20.—The general strike of the four railroad trainmen's brotherhoods has been called off.

The announcement was made after the mediation committee from the National Council of Defense had been in conference virtually all day with representatives of the railroad managers and employes.

The conference committee of railroad managers authorized President Wilson's mediators to make whatever arrangements were necessary with the railroad brotherhoods to call off the threatened strike.

Managers' Statement.

The formal letter in which this authorization was made, signed by Elisha Lee, chairman of the managers' committee, was as follows:

"In the national crisis precipitated by events of which we have just heard the national conference committee of railroads joins with you in the conviction that neither at home nor abroad should there be fear or hope that the efficient operation of the railroads of the country would be hampered or impaired.

"Therefore you are authorized to assure the nation there will be no strike, and as a basis for such assurance we hereby authorize the committee of the council of national defense to grant to the employes who are about to strike whatever adjustment your committee deems necessary to guarantee the uninterrupted and efficient operation of the railroads as an indispensible arm of national defense."

Get Together Quickly.

A few minutes after the announcement was made the railroad managers went from the Grand Central terminal to the conference hotel and were joined immediately by the mediators. They refused to make any statement on the way to the meeting room.

The brotherhood men arrived and immediately went to the conference room.

The managers left the conference room, but the brotherhood chiefs remained in conference with the mediators.

Secretary Lane's Statement.

The managers, headed by Elisha Lee, returned to the conference room and Secretary Lane sent out for the newspaper men. Secretary Lane issued this statement.

"Regardless of the decision of the supreme court on the Adamson law, the basic eight-hour day will go into effect. The details are being worked upon by a joint committee which will have its negotiations completed in a few hours."

The decision reached by the managers at their conference means that the brotherhoods have won an important victory, although it does not bring them all their original demands. By the agreement it is assumed they will be awarded pro-rata time for over-time on the basic eight-hour day which they have been assured.

Seattle, March 19.—Mayor D. D. Merrill of Everett, testifying in the trial of Thomas H. W. were ready to send a sufficient number of men to overthrow the constitutional authorities unless street speakers were allowed to hold meetings when they pleased. PAYS FOR 160 ACRES OF LAND

From the Crop of Wheat on 53 Acres in Western Canada.

This story of paying for your land out of one year's crop is fully authenticated by a great many farmers in Western Canada.

And now, all that the farmer makes is velvet and you find him going more extensively into stock raising, for all authorities agree that in a short time there will be a demand for live stock, such as even will tax the vast resources of Western Canada. They will go into stock raising because of the adaptability of the country to provide food and fodder without feeding grain if necessary. They will go into stock and improve their places. They will install steam and heating plants—in fact, many are now doing it. They will have automobiles, in fact in many districts there is not a farmer but has one. They will beautify their homes and erect fine barns until the whole country will be as attractive as many of the counties in the best states in the Union. But we started out to tell you of the farmer who paid for 160 acres of land from the crop of wheat off of 53 acres. The Holden district on the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific does not appear to the ordinary observer to be any better than many other districts along that line, and probably isn't. It was in this district that John Larcome, a settler, purchased in 1915 160 acres of raw prairie land. He broke and seeded 53 acres. His crop turned out well, and he sold the greater portion of it for $2,070. His land cost him $16.50 per acre, or $2,640. So that the crop from the 53 acres paid for the land and left a balance of over $300, which with part of the crop left over would just pay for the cost of operation. This is not really an unusual case, hundreds of other farmers in Alberta and Saskatchewan having been able to do the same.

Sales of land are being reported from many districts in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta at good prices. And values are yet low, but with the flow of any value that will take place after the war, no doubt they will be considerably increased. The homesteads in the Park sections which are to be had actually free are having the attention of a good class of settlers, who want to go into mixed farming.—Advertisement.

"But I tested them," triumphed the matrimonial novice. "I dropped them into water and they floated."—Judge.

Bemidji. — Commander Clyde W. Kelly and Lieut. G. Howze of the Minnesota naval militia were here from Duluth accepted twenty-seven volunteer naval militiamen and administered the necessary oath after physicians had accepted the men physically.

Minneapolis. — A hard surface road, built of brick or concrete, to extend across the state of Minnesota at a cost of $2,000,000, has been pledged by the Minnesota division of the Yellowstone Trail association at the annual state meeting here. Minnesota is the eighth state to pledge such a road to be completed before 1920.

Winona. — Immediate development of water power in the Lake of the Woods region is expected to follow the early adoption by the international joint commission of the United States and Great Britain of the report to be made to that body April 3, according to James A. Tawney, member of the commission.

St. Paul. — More than $500,000 of state revenue is at stake in a test suit which Attorney General Smith has been requested to bring by J. A. O. Preus, state auditor. Preus wants to know whether payments by lessees of state-owned mines in the royalty class, but not operated, are "ground rentals" or merely advance royalties.

St. Paul.—New Federal wheat grades will permit a percentage of mixed durum in spring wheat as now carried in Minnesota grades O. P. B. Jacobson of the State Railroad and Warehouse Commission announced on his return from Washington where at the direction of the state Legislature, he attended the final hearing on the Federal grain grading act.

St. Paul. — Federal aid of $80,000 during the next two years probably will be obtained by Minnesota schools teaching agriculture, manual training, home economics and the trades and industries. C. G. Schulz, state superintendent of education, said that the legislature will be asked to enable the schools to profit in that way under the Smith-Hughes bill recently passed by Congress.

Fort Snelling.—With the mustering out of the First Minnesota infantry the long line of Gopher and Flickertail guardsmen who have passed through the hands of the mustering officers at Fort Snelling is ended and the group of officers will depart. The First infantry received $27,000 in gold for 14 days' pay and clothing allowance, together with the best wishes of Colonel Erle D. Luce.

Minneapolis. — Prohibition advocates scored a net gain of two towns in the local option elections March 13. Three towns, Sherburn, Elgin and Randolph—voted to oust their six saloons, while Foley, after a year's experience as a saloonless town, decided to enter the wet ranks again. The status of the license question remains unchanged in 18 other towns voting, 10 reaffirming their adherence to the dry town and eight voting to continue wet.

Virginia.—Rumors are current that the hand of German diplomacy is seen in the efforts to stir up trouble among miners working on the Mezaba range, presumably in the hope of lessening the output of iron ore thereby hampering the making of war munitions.

Virginia.—The school board has recognized the high cost of living by voting to pay the grade teachers to be engaged for the 1917-18 term a $5 a month bonus in addition to the $5 a month raise that is made yearly. The bonus will apply to old teachers as well as new.

Died of Premature Old Age!

(BY V. M. PIERCE, M. D.)

How many times we hear of comparatively young persons passing away when they should have lived to be 70 or 80 years of age. This fatal work is usually attributed to the kidneys, as, when the kidneys degenerate, it causes auto-intoxication. The more injurious the poisons passing thru the kidneys, the quicker will those noble organs be degenerated, and the sooner they decay.

To prevent premature old age and promote long life, lighten the work of the kidneys by drinking plenty of pure water all day long, and occasionally taking Anuric (double strength) before meals. This can be obtained at drug stores. Anuric will overcome such conditions as rheumatism, dropsical swellings, cold extremities, scalding and burning urine and sleeplessness due to constant arising.

HIGHWAY CONTROL MEASURE PASSED BY LOWER BRANCH

WITH SCORE OF MINOR AMENDMENTS BILL TO ABOLISH HIGHWAY COMMISSION GOES THRU HOUSE.

HIGHWAY COMMISSIONER WOULD CONTROL WORK

Upper House Is Expected to Concur in Bill As Passed—Measure to Reduce Number of Legislative Probes Is Introduced—One to Regulate Movies.

St. Paul, March 17.—With a score of minor amendments attached, the R. C. Dunn Senate road bill abolishing the highway commission and placing the work of the department in control of a highway commissioner was passed by a 100 to 14 vote in the House, after a discussion lasting four hours.

The amendments do not materially affect the proposed law, according to Representative Edward E. Indrehus, who led the fight for the bill, and it is not expected that concurrence by the Senate will be delayed.

The amendment most objectionable to the proponents of the bill was one offered by Representative Theodore Christianson which limits the appropriation for the office expense of the new commissioner to $25,000 annually.

Legislative investigations will not be as numerous in the future as in the past if a bill introduced in the House by Representative W. I. Nolan becomes a law. The bill provides that all future investigations shall be conducted by joint committees selected from both House and Senate.

Action on the Nimocks bill to permit social clubs in Minneapolis to sell liquor threatened for a time to disrupt the program planned by Hennepin county House members in presenting bills affecting Minneapolis to the House of Representatives for action.

Representative Nimocks insisted his bill go on the calendar of Minneapolis bills. Representatives Nolan and Norton were certain the Nimocks bill would revise the license laws of the state. They said they would fight it to a finish on the floor of the House.

Repeated attempts by certain members of the delegation to have the Nimocks bill made a special order of business after all of the important Hennepin county bond bills and other measures were out of the way, finally prevailed.

Strict regulation and supervision of motion picture theaters is provided in a bill introduced by Representative O. A. Hammer. The proposed law would place all motion picture theaters under direction of a state recreation board of three members appointed by the governor, at a salary of $1,200 each a year. License fees would be fixed at $5 annually for theaters having a capacity of less than 300 and $10 for other picture houses.

"Blue Sky" Law Praised.

St. Paul, March 16.—If the Minnesota House passes the "blue sky" law providing for a securities commission to regulate the sale of stocks and bonds, the state will have a model code in the opinion of financial experts and attorneys familiar with the operation of such commissions. The Senate has passed the bill, which was introduced by Senators E. P. Peterson and J. D. Sullivan.

The experts and attorneys are particularly pleased with the amendment which provides that no advertisement of stock and bond sales shall contain the announcement that the securities have been passed on by the state commission. This is permitted in other states, but financial men say it is improper since the commission does not approve the stocks or bonds offered, but merely gives them a clean bill of health so far as fraudulency is concerned. With another minor amendment, the bill passed the Senate, without opposition.

Armed Neutrality Move Indorsed.

St. Paul, March 17.—By a unanimous vote the state senate has indorsed President Wilson's armed neutrality bill, and also indorsed the action of the president in calling a special session of congress to consider the safety of the nation.

The vote followed a debate of nearly three hours. The senate's stand was taken by the passage of a resolution offered by Senators George H. Sullivan, E. J. Westlake and F. E. Putnam. An amendment offered by Senator A. J. Rockne and nine others to replace the original resolution.

To Help Guards Collect Fund.

St. Paul, March 17.—Collection of $65,000 additional pay from the government for members of the Minnesota national guard is the purpose of a bill introduced by Senator A. S. Campbell of Austin. It appropriates that sum to be paid to members of the guard, at the rate of 50 cents a day for the time they were in camp before being mustered into the federal service. The money, if given [illegible] men by the state, it is explained, will be refunded to [illegible] by the [illegible] department.

FRUIT LAXATIVE FOR SICK CHILD

"California Syrup of Figs" can't harm tender stomach, liver and bowels.

When cross, irritable, feverish, or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleaning" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask at the store for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Adv.

"What do you do with the things you cook?"

"We send them to the neighbors."

"There's a Reason"

MINNESOTA LEGISLATURE MUST ADJOURN APRIL 19

Ruling Submitted to Clerk of House—Last Bills Must Be Passed April 18 Under Constitution.

St. Paul, March 14.—The 1917 Minnesota legislature must adjourn sine die on April 19, after formally approving the official journal of the previous day, according to a ruling by Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith, submitted to Oscar Arneson, clerk of the House of Representatives.

Under the constitution, according to the attorney general's ruling, April 18 is the last day on which bills can be passed.

The flood of new bills which has been pouring into the legislative coffers for the past ten weeks will be curbed from now on. The House rules, it is announced, provide that no more bills can be introduced without suspension of the rules by a two-thirds vote. The constitution would limit introduction of bills to March 26, or 20 legislative days previous to final adjournment.

Iron Ore Tax Fails

St. Paul, March 17. — Voting 27 to 40, the Senate killed the bill which would impose a super-tax on the output of the iron ore mines. The measure had previously passed the House by a vote of 69 to 61.

The four and a half hours of oratory and debate were not necessary to insure the bill's defeat. Before the session started, proponents of the measure admitted they did not have enough votes to win.

For the last two months the tonnage tax question has been one of the predominant issues before the Legislature. As in previous sessions, it was the "bugbear" of the legislators from the North country.

Senators from the cities and from southern Minnesota joined with the men from the north in putting the quietus on the bill which was more drastic than any of the tonnage tax measures that have engaged the attention of previous law-making bodies in the state.

The bill, introduced in the House by Representatives Bjorge, Warner, Davis and Bendixon, provide for a tax of 2 per cent of the value of all iron ore at the mouth of the mine.

The outcome of the fight in the Senate was a victory for one of the upper body's youngest members, Senator O. H. Griggs of Virginia, who led the fight against the bill. Veteran legislators and the less seasoned united in giving Senator Griggs the credit for one of the most striking victories in the history of the Minnesota legislature.

Naturally there was oratory galore, Senator James A. Carley of Plainview led the debate for the bill. Senators O'Neill, Gillam and others spoke for it.

Senators George H. Sullivan, Frank E. Putnam of Blue Earth, Charles Adams of Duluth, F. H. Peterson, J. W. Andrews, A. S. Campbell and others assisted Senator Griggs in the fight against the measure.

The speeches of Senators Sullivan and Putnam were classed as among the strongest arguments ever presented against a tonnage tax measure in the Minnesota legislature, either in this or in previous sessions.

Senator Sullivan revived the interests of his fellow senators and the spectators, which had begun to lag somewhat. He said it takes from 4 to 10 times the value of ore to raise it to the surface of the ground.

"To tax one dollar's worth of 'natural heritage' this bill would tax from $4 to $10 worth of labor," he said. "It is not fair to impose a tax on the northern part of the state that does not apply to the rest of Minnesota."

Teigen Aided by Governor.

St. Paul, March 17.—It was the influence of Governor Burnquist that gained the adoption by the House of the resolution granting the request of the Teigen special committee for court stenographer and an accountant.

Representative A. F. Teigen, chairman of the committee, had a long executive session with the Governor, who finally agreed to aid him in getting the help needed.

The Governor sent his secretary, Eric L. Thornton, to intercede with Speaker Parker and the members of the rules committee.

Increases Attorney General's Staff.

St. Paul, March 13.—Governor Burnquist has signed the bill increasing the attorney general's staff by authorizing appointments of a deputy attorney general and an additional assistant attorney general.

Clifford L. Hilton, who has been in the state legal department for eight years, will be given the deputyship, and J. E. Palmer of Fairmont will fill the vacancy caused by his advancement, Attorney General Smith said.

Law Supplement Change Fails.

Canada Offers 160 Acres Free to Farm Hands

Bonus of Western Canada Land to Men Assisting in Maintaining Needed Grain Production

The demand for farm labor in Canada is great. As an inducement to secure the necessary help at once, Canada will give

and allow the time of the farm laborer, who has filed on the land, to apply as residence duties, the same as if he actually had lived on it. Another special concession is the reduction of one year in the time to complete duties. Two years instead of three as heretofore, but only to men working on the farms for at least six months in 1917. This appeal for farm help is in no way connected with enlistment for military service but solely to increase agricultural output. A wonderful opportunity to secure a farm and draw good wages at the same time. Canadian Government will pay all fare over one cent per mile from St. Paul or Duluth to Canadian destination. FILIBUSTER IN THE SENATE

Words seem lacking with which to express the deep scorn that the nation as a whole must feel for the action of the twelve senators who by their filibuster in the closing hours of the Sixty-fourth Congress prevented the granting of authority to the President to arm American merchant ships against German submarines.

Confronted with a situation without precedent, a situation in which the country should present a united front, the Senate has been put in the position of giving approval to a spineless policy for the United States Government.

Despite the temporary success of these twelve Senators the people will remember that the majority in Congress is with the President, and ready and willing to give him the authority by which he may uphold the nation's honor.

That the President will obtain the power he seeks is a foregone conclusion, but the action of the twelve Senators in putting the country in the position of being divided must not be forgotten. That these twelve men may be fittingly rebuked some day for their desertion of the country in the time of its need must be the wish of every true American. Another wish is that the day may be close at hand.—Ex.

Bro. Hagen of the Oklee Herald critisises some of the Non-partisan League organizers, who he says were doing missionary work in that locality. There is two kinds of complaints being made against this organization of the producers and consumers, one at that instigation of the middle men, who are enriching themselves at the expense of the consumer and producer with a hireling press, and one of the class of Mr. Hagen, who has not given the matter serious thought and study. Any attempt to organize the farmers into any league for their own protection is always met with a "ha ha" by the fellows who make their wealth by the sweat of other mens faces.

There is some criticism of President Wilson's order to armed merchant ships to fire on a submarine on sight. That order should be obeyed, or there would be no use to arm the ships at all. What would be the use of arming a merchant ship, and then allow submarines to approach close enough to it to fire a torpedo? That order of President Wilson's was right. If we are going into war, give our gunners strict orders to get the first shot, and shoot to sink the ship they fire on. War is war, and not an exhibition boxing match for points.

Whether the war closes this year or not, all kinds of farm produce will bring high prices next fall. Any farmer that can raise a fair crop this year, will be able to meet all obligations next fall. One acre of navy beans, planted on good sandy loam ground, well cultivated, harvested and thrashed will come pretty near paying for a quarter section of land next fall.

Our sympathy goes out to Wisconsin for the loss of their Senator LaFollette. They can elect him again, term after term, but the chair formerly occupied by Senator LaFollette, may as well be vacant.

SUCCESS
ECONOMY

THERE is an economy wave over the land. American people are beginning to realize that they are living too fast, beyond their means. It has been the rule that the man with $20,000 a year as well as the man with $2,000 a year lives up to every penny of his income. Slowly but surely this order of things is changing. The era of extravagance and waste in business and personal expenses is nearing an end. Efficiency and economy is the order of the day. Bank deposits are growing.

It is up to every one to economize. The best and surest way to do so is to place your surplus in the bank. If you already have a bank account make it a point from today on to increase it. Add to it weekly, daily if possible.

IF YOU HAVEN'T A BANK ACCOUNT DECIDE TO OPEN ONE TODAY.

How the Captain Tacked.

Captain Joshua Slocum, the famous solitary voyager, tells in his "Sailing Alone Around the World" an amusing story of the way in which he protected himself at night from marauding savages while in the neighborhood of Cape Horn. When he went to sleep Captain Slocum would sprinkle the deck with carpet tacks, taking particular care that not a few of them stood "business end" up. It is well known that one cannot step on a tack without saying something about it. A pretty good Christian would whistle; a savage will howl and claw the air. And that was just what happened, Slocum reports, about 12 o'clock one night. His vessel was boarded while he slept. But no sooner had they stepped on deck than the savages, howling like a pack of hounds, jumped pellmell, some into their canoes and some into the sea, a great deal of free language escaping them as they went. Slocum says that he was never disturbed again, though he sprinkled his deck with tacks many nights thereafter.

PRESIDENT WILSON ORDERS FULL NAVY RECRUITED FOR WAR

EXECUTIVE GOES LEGAL LIMIT AND ORDERS INCREASE TO FULL WAR STRENGTH OF 87,000 MEN.

ANY FURTHER INCREASES RESTS WITH CONGRESS

President Has Exercised Full Limit of His Legal Powers—Two New Military Departments Created in Atlantic Coast Region, Making Six in All.

Washington, March 27.—President Wilson has taken steps to place the nation on a war footing.

By executive order he directed that the navy be recruited without delay to full authorized war strength of 87,000 men. Taken in connection with emergency naval construction already ordered, this means that the President has exercised the full limit of his legal powers as commander in chief to prepare the navy for war.

New Military Departments.

For the army, the President directed that two new military departments be created in the Atlantic coast region. The order means that the task of organizing whatever army Congress may authorize will be divided among six departmental commanders, instead of four, in the interests of speed and efficiency in mobilization.

The third step was to assume as a national duty the task of protecting American industries from domestic disorders in the event of hostilities. For this purpose 11 full infantry regiments, two separate battalions and one separate company of national guards were called back into the federal service to act as national police in important districts. Supplementing these troops a regiment of Pennsylvania guard and two companies of Georgia infantry, en route home from the border were ordered restrained in federal reserve.

The President's orders were made known in terse official statements issued by both departments. No explanation accompanied them except the statement that re-organization of the military departments, effective May 1, was designed to facilitate decentralization of command.

Text of Naval Order.

Following is the executive order bringing the navy of to war strength:

"By virtue of the authority vested in the President by the act of Congress approved August 29, 1916, entitled 'An act making appropriations for the naval service for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1917, and for other purposes,' it is hereby directed that the authorized enlisted strength of the navy be increased to 87,000 men.

"(Signed), Woodrow Wilson.

The navy must enroll immediately approximately 20,000 men to reach the required strength. Secretary Daniels supplemented it with personal telegrams to newspaper editors all over the country urging them to aid the department in every way in their power to obtain the men.

Two New Army Departments.

Two new military departments announced by the War department are the Northeastern, comprising the New England states, and the Southeastern, comprising the states in the old South. Minnesota remains in the Central department, with boundaries as heretofore and headquarters at Chicago.

GOVERNORS TO CONFER IF "STATE OF WAR" EXISTS

Would Meet With President to Work Out Uniform Plan to Mobilize Country's Resources.

Madison, Wis., March 27.—A conference of governors of the United States with President Wilson to work out a uniform plan for the mobilization of the country's economic resources, as outlined by the Council of National Defense, is forecast by Miles C. Riley of Madison, secretary of the National Governors' conference, in a statement. Mr. Riley said members of the executive committee had written him such a meeting with the President is desirable soon after Congress convenes. Plans are being made for the call, he said, in case Congress declares a state of war exists.

To Guard Niagara Power Plant.

Albany, N. Y., March 26.—The request of the Buffalo Chamber of Commerce that the power plants at Niagara Falls be guarded by the National guardsmen was granted by Governor Whitman. The request was made after rumors of plots against industrial plants were circulated.

Fear for Whitlock's Safety.

Washington, March 26.—Grave concern as to the safety of Minister Brand Whitlock and his fellow Americans in Belgium is apparent here. Following the announcement of the State department that Germany's attitude no longer warranted Americans remaining in German occupied territory and the statement that Mr. Whitlock and the relief workers had been ordered out of Belgium by President Wilson, it was stated that every effort would be made to hasten the transportation of Americans to neutral soil.

GREAT DEMAND FOR CANADIAN LAND

Americans Are Buyers and Becoming Settlers—Anxious to Get Cheap and Productive Land.

Reports are to hand that there will be a large influx of settlers from the United States into the Canadian West during the coming Spring. For a time there has been a falling off, on account of the fear of conscription, which of course was not possible, and which the Canadian Government gave every assurance would not be put into operation. In any case it would not affect the American settler, and more than that the man who was working on the farm, helping to produce the grain that goes to feed those who are at war, would not be affected.

The excellent yields of the Western Canada crops, and the high prices secured is having its influence on those looking for homes. The authenticated reports that have been sent out from time to time that this farmer and that farmer had paid for their entire farm holdings out of one crop has reached the ears of the man looking for a farm. When he hears that G. H. Beatty of Nanton, Alberta, had 679 bushels of wheat from 12 acres or an average of 56½ bushels to the acre, he becomes interested. When he learns that Sidney E. Phillips of Beddeford, Alberta, threshed ten hundred and fifty-three bushels of wheat, the average being 52½ bushels per acre, his interest is further aroused. Thos. Long of Lethbridge had 120 bushels of oats to the acre from a field of 25 acres; W. Quinn of Milk River had 6,094 bushels of wheat from 100 acres, an average of 60 bushels per acre, and Robert Tackaberry of Nobleford makes affidavit that he had an average of seventy-six bushels of wheat per acre from a field of 10.63 acres. Thos. Boulton of the same place makes affidavit that from fifty acres he had a yield of fifty-three bushels of wheat per acre. Newell J. Noble's affidavit of getting 54 bushels per acre from 1,000 acres stands out most strongly as evidence of what the wheat grower can do. This affidavit is strengthened by a paragraph stating that he had 122 bushels and 30 lbs. per acre from 394.69 acres. Mrs. Nancy Coe makes affidavit that on her farm at Nobleford she threshed six thousand one hundred and ten bushels of wheat from one hundred and fifteen acres, or fifty-three bushels and eight lbs. per acre, and from a flax field (stubble field) she got 20 bushels and 88 pounds per acre.

It cannot be said that these were freak yields because so many had such great success. When these reports are read, the man looking for a farm becomes convinced.

These are only a few of the reasons that will cause a large influx of American farmers into the Canadian West during the coming Spring.

The farmers now resident in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta are purchasing additional lands. Prices are low and Free homestead land can be had in many districts and the homesteader is welcome.—Advertisement.

YES! MAGICALLY! CORNS LIFT OUT WITH FINGERS

You say to the drug store man, "Give me a small bottle of freezone." This will cost very little but will positively remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet.

A few drops of this new ether compound applied directly upon a tender, aching corn relieves the soreness instantly, and soon the entire corn or callus, root and all, dries up and can be lifted off with the fingers.

This new way to rid one's feet of corns was introduced by a Cincinnati man, who says that freezone dries in a moment, and simply shrivels up the corn or callus without irritating the surrounding skin.

If your druggist hasn't any freezone tell him to order a small bottle from his wholesale drug house for you.—adv.

DENY KNOWLEDGE OF PACIFIST NOTE

FACULTY MEMBERS DISCUSS LETTER CIRCULATED BY 87 STUDENTS OF MACALESTER.

STATEMENT BY PRESIDENT

Dr. Hodgman Declines to Discuss Opinion of Letter Which Drew Spirited Rebuke From Congressman Miller.

St. Paul. — Dr. Thomas M. Hodgman, president of Macalester college, has declared that the pacifist and "pro-enemy" letter circulated by 87 students of that school and which caused Congressman C. B. Miller of Duluth to address them in rebuke, was sent out without the knowledge of the faculty.

The letter indulged in the usual statement of pro-Germans that a "munitions trust" is trying to inflame public sentiment, that the newspapers were suborned, and indicated a weak-kneed spirit which would surrender all American rights rather than meet the test to uphold them.

President Hodgman said the letter is not necessarily indicative of the attitude of the faculty, but he declined to discuss his view. It is not known among the professors who started the letter, he said. Congressman Miller's reply had not been received at the college.

Mr. Miller roundly spanks these student pacifists and rebukes the spirit of surrender generally.

Professors Urge War.

St. Paul.—Declaring the petition circulated by the so-called Macalester Neutrality and Peace association, and forwarded to Minnesota senators and representatives in Congress does not represent the true sentiment of Macalester college, students and faculty members have taken steps to counteract the impression it has given of the institution.

Dr. James Wallace and fourteen of the other sixteen men of the faculty signed a message to President Wilson urging immediate participation in the European war in the interests of "democracy, the rights of humanity and its own good name."

Church Academy for Red Wing.

Red Wing. — With the forming of a new church body by the merging of the United church and the Hauge and Norwegian synods, the leading academy of the new organization will be established in Red Wing.

Two departments of Red Wing seminary are to be transferred to other institutions as the result of the merging of the synods. The college department will be taken over by St. Olaf college at Northfield and the theological department will form a part of the work at the United Church seminary at St. Anthony Park.

Pioneers Die on Same Day.

Hastings. — Lauren E. Traine, aged 66, artist and engraver, for 23 years a resident of Minneapolis, died here of heart trouble. He is survived by his widow, one daughter and a son, Fred H., of Saskatchewan. Interment was at Rochester. Patrick Burlong, 82 years old, pioneer resident of Dakota county, died at the home of his son at Ridge Valley the same day. The funeral was from his home at Inver Grove. He is survived by two sons and three daughters.

No Choice in Road Material.

St. Paul.—The department of agriculture, which has charge of the expenditure of money under the Federal Road Aid act, has sent word to George W. Cooley, secretary and chief engineer of the Minnesota Highway commission denying reports circulated in this state that states to obtain federal aid must build only expensive roads, and making it clear that no particular kind of material will be required or favored by his department.

Duluth Holds Primary.

Duluth. — Complete primary election returns place John T. Armstead and C. R. Magney as mayoralty nominees on the ballot for the general municipal election April 3. The final count was: Armstead, 5,327; Magney, 5,287; Mayor W. L. Prince, 5,140.

Candidates nominated for commissioners were Fred J. Voss, Edward R. Ribenack, P. G. Phillips and H. H. Phelps. Judge W. H. Smallwood and J. A. P. Neil were nominated for municipal judge.

Rare Books Given High Court.

St. Paul. — Rare and valuable law books, some of which are more than 100 years old, have been presented to the Supreme Court law library by John W. Willis, a St. Paul attorney. Chief Justice Calvin L. Brown, on behalf of members of the court, accepted the gift and expressed to Mr. Willis the thanks of the court.

Bankers Back Boys' Contest.

St. Peter.—The First National bank of this city has decided again to hold an annual acre yield contest for youthful corn growers living in the trade territory of St. Peter. Prizes aggregating about $100 will be offered as an incentive to the young men to show their abilities as agriculturists. The contest is open to boys less than 18 years old, and the winners will have an opportunity to enter the state contest, conducted by the Minnesota Agricultural society.

U. S. to Call Gopher Troops.

Washington. — That the Minnesota national guard will be called into the general service soon after congress meets in extra session is indicated at the war department. The plan of the army general staff is to recruit the regular army up to its maximum strength, and also to have the national guard enlarge its number to the extent authorized in the army reorganization law of last year, an aggregate of 400,000 national guardsmen.

"Precautionary Instructions."

Minneapolis.—Orders directing preliminary steps looking to a mobilization of the Minnesota National guard have been received by regimental commanders, has become known. The orders are from the war department and are known in military parlance as "precautionary instructions."

In Duluth, Brigadier General F. E. Resche, commander of the Minnesota troops, and Colonel H. V. Eva of the Third Minnesota, were in conference concerning the order.

In Minneapolis Colonel Erle D. Luce, while he refused to affirm or deny the report that precautionary instructions had been received, was in conference with officers of the First Minnesota infantry. Colonel George E. Leach had gone to St. Paul and left word that he could not be reached.

Ready for Quick Mobilization.

As a result of the orders, commanders, it was said, will revise their regimental rosters, check up on equipment and arrange to be ready for speedy mobilization at Fort Snelling.

The Minnesota guard would be in much better condition for quick mobilization than when the call came for border service.

Two Harbors Socialists Lose.

Mapleton, Minn., has voted out the saloons by a majority of 55 votes, the climax of an exciting anti-saloon fight that has continued several years. Two Harbors voted to continue dry and ousted the Socialists from the control of public affairs they have enjoyed for six years. Good Thunder, Minn., voted to continue wet, 76 to 58.

The vote at Two Harbors was the largest in the history of the city. The vote on the no license issue was 620 to 329.

W. R. Irwin, Progressive and Independent league candidate, was chosen mayor over C. E. Bergren, Socialist, by 53 votes.

Serious Coal Shortage Unlikely.

Duluth. — Prospects of a serious coal shortage in the Northwest until the opening of navigation on the Great Lakes are remote, local dealers say. Consumers will have to burn soft coal instead of hard in many cases. Stocks on the docks will last out, according to A. C. Beuglet, a coal company sales agent. Prospects of lower prices are remote, it was said. Vessel charterings from Lake Erie will be at 50 cents a ton, compared with 30 cents last year.

To Arm Pleasure Craft.

Duluth.—Great Lakes pleasure boat owners, at the American Head of the Lakes at least, will be given an opportunity to contribute to the nation's defense in the event of war. Scout patrol companies will be organized. Each company will consist of six of the larger type of pleasure boats. Each boat will be equipped for war by an armament of a 3-inch gun, machine guns, anti-aircraft gun, wireless plant and signal outfit.

Democratic Body Incorporates.

St. Paul. — The Minnesota Democratic association, organized with headquarters in St. Paul to encourage loyalty and devotion to democratic principles and establish a forum and medium for like purposes, has filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state. Its emblem will be a portrait of Thomas Jefferson and an M. D. A. monogram on an outline map of Minnesota. Officers have been chosen.

IS CHILD CROSS, FEVERISH, SICK

Look, Mother! If tongue is coated, give "California Syrup of Figs."

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely.

A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sours, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask at the store for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Adv.

Healthy Skin Depends On Kidneys

The skin and the intentines, which work together with the kidneys to throw out the poisons of the body, do a part of the work, but a clean body and a healthy one depends on the kidneys. If the kidneys are clogged with toxic poisons you suffer from stiffness in the knees in the morning on arising, your joints seem "rusty," you may have rheumatic pains, pain in the back, stiff neck, headaches, sometimes swollen feet, or neuralgic pains—all due to the uric acid or toxic poisons in the blood. This is the time to go to the nearest drug store and simply obtain a 50c. package of Anuric (double or triple strength), the discovery of Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y. Then drink a cup of hot water before meals, with an Anuric Tablet, and notice the gratifying results. You will find Anuric more active than lithia.

Canada Offers 160 Acres Free to Farm Hands

Bonus of Western Canada Land to Men Assisting in Maintaining Needed Grain Production

The demand for farm labor in Canada is great. As an inducement to secure the necessary help at once, Canada will give

ONE HUNDRED AND SIXTY ACRES OF LAND FREE AS A HOMESTEAD

and allow the time of the farm laborer, who has filed on the land, to apply as residence duties, the same as if he actually had lived on it. Another special concession is the reduction of one year in the time to complete duties. Two years instead of three as heretofore, but only to men working on the farms for at least six months in 1917. This appeal for farm help is in no way connected with enlistment for military service but solely to increase agricultural output. A wonderful opportunity to secure a farm and draw good wages at the same time. Canadian Government will pay all fare over one cent per mile from St. Paul or Duluth to Canadian destination. MINNESOTA HOUSE DEFEATS BILL FOR PRIMARY REFORM

OLDHAM AND HARRISON MEASURES KILLED BY LARGE VOTE AFTER LONG PROGRAM OF ORATORY.

THE GLEASON MEASURE SAVED FROM WRECKAGE

Latter Bill Repeals Presidential Preference Primary Act—Decision of Body Leaves Primary Election System as It Is at Present.

St. Paul, March 24.—The death knell of proposed reforms in the method of selecting nominees for state office was sounded by the Minnesota House of Representatives when two bills, both providing for return to modified conventions, were killed by overwhelming votes.

The House did save one bill, the Gleason measure repealing the presidential preference primary act, from the wreckage.

The Odland bill, providing for party conventions made up of delegates elected at the primary to make nominations for state offices, was defeated, 44 to 76. The J. M. Harrison measure calling for a convention after the primaries to make nominations where candidates have failed to receive a 40 per cent vote, was knocked out by a vote of 28 to 87.

Having put the quietus on the proposed changes in the primary election system, the House passed the Gleason repeal bill, 88 to 28.

Oratory Costly to State.

St. Paul, March 23.—Here's what oratory by state legislators is costing tax payers:

The House of Representatives spent one hour in debating a resolution to grant an additional $350 to Reading Clerk C. C. Kinney, because of his ability and in view of the strain under which he must work. On the final question there were only 14 negative votes.

Each of the 130 members of the House receives $1,000 for 90 legislative days or more than $11 a day, or more than $3.50 per hour, based on an average of three hours per day in actual session.

Thus to grant the $350 appropriation, the state spent more than $400 for oratory.

Road Bill Report Rejected.

St. Paul, March 23.—The Minnesota House by a vote of 72 to 53 has rejected the report of the conference committee on the R. C. Dunn roads bill, and the measure was re-referred to the committee.

The original Senate bill provided nine-tenths of 1 per cent of 1 mill as the minimum allotment for each county. The House fixed the figure at 1 per cent, and the conference committee restored the original amount. Representatives J. G. Hompe, C. H. Warner and A. S. Larson joined with the Senate conferees in the report, and Representatives Oscar Swenson and Edward Indrehus voted against the proposal.

Drainage Bill Made Special Order.

St. Paul, March 24.—The general drainage bill has been introduced in the Minnesota House, and on request of Representative C. M. Bendixen, chairman of the committee which renewed the numerous bills relating to control of waters, was made a special order.

"The bill is purposed to enlarge the scope of drainage work to meet modern demands rather than to produce any radical changes in the existing laws," Mr. Bendixen said.

Accounting System Criticized.

St. Paul, March 24.—The present accounting system of the state of Minnesota is entirely inadequate, and shows a misconception on the part of its designers as to what constitutes a proper record of transactions, according to the findings of the House committee on public accounts, which for several weeks has been going over the books of the various state departments. A series of recommendations are based upon the findings of the committee.

Road Bill Goes to Governor.

St. Paul, March 24.—The general road bill has been passed by the Minnesota House of Representatives after the joint conference committee had voted to fix the minimum allotment of the highway fund for any county at one per cent of the one mill tax. The original Senate bill fixed the allotment rate at nine-tenths of one per cent.

Would Prune Appropriation Bills.

St. Paul, March 19.—Bills calling for appropriations of any kind will have a poor chance to get out of the Senate finance committee ahead of the omnibus bill this session.

Appropriations asked this year are more than $9,000,000 greater than the total of those allowed two years ago, and Senator A. J. Rockne, chairman of the committee, said the bill would require the most careful pruning to do justice to all the state institutions and departments, and at the same time keep the total amount within bounds.

To Name High Court Candidates.

St. Paul, March 24.—The bill providing for nomination of candidates for supreme court justice by non-partisan convention has passed by the state Senate by a vote of 47 to 15.

Delegates to the convention are to be chosen at the primary, the bill provides. Each county will be entitled to three representatives-at-large and one additional for each 15,000 population. The 1910 census would give a convention of 399 members, with 25 delegates from Hennepin county, 18 from Ramsey and 14 from St. Louis, Senator F. Putnam declared today.

The convention is to be held at the capitol the second Tuesday after the primary, the bill provides. But one candidate for each vacancy on the bench is to be chosen and he will be designated on the ballot as named by non-partisan convention.

A petition with 5,000 names proportionately distributed among the several congressional districts will enable a candidate to get on the ballot "as nominated by petition."

The bill was introduced in the Senate by Senators F. Putnam and J. D. Sullivan. It now goes to the House.

"That these dead shall not have died in vain," a line from the Gettysburg address, explains why the Mayo foundation for medical education and research has offered its services to the University of Minnesota. Dr. William J. Mayo said so in speaking before the Senate committee on education.

The committee conducted a public hearing on the bill to direct the board of regents of the University to withdraw from the affiliation effected two years ago with the foundation.

Committee Approves Fund.

St. Paul, March 20.—A state law enforcement fund to be used in aiding counties in quelling disturbances like those in which I. W. W. agitators figured is recommended in the report of the labor committee of the House of Representatives.

The committee adopted the report only after a heated discussion in which C. E. Ryberg of Minneapolis voiced his objections to "placing a club in the hands of those in Northern Minnesota to be held over the head of labor."

The House now has for consideration the Senate bill which appropriates $100,000 for use in paying deputy sheriffs employed in quelling industrial disturbances.

To Revise Telephone Rates

St. Paul, March 23.—The State Senate has gone on record as favoring a revision of telephone rates in Minnesota.

It adopted a resolution offered by the committee on general legislation, declaring it to be the sentiment of the Senate that an adequate appropriation should be made for the use of the Railroad and Warehouse commission in the attaining of a physical valuation of the properties of the telephone companies doing business in the state and an examination of their books and records "to the end and purpose that a basis may be established for the fixing of telephone charges in the state."

Bill Amending Election Law Up.

St. Paul, March 21.—Senator Edward Rustad's bill amending the primary election law has come up in the senate as a special order with indications that it would have rather hard sledding.

Senator G. H. Sullivan planned to offer an amendment substituting the provisions of the M. W. Odland bill for those of the Rustad bill. The Rustad measure provides for party conventions to recommend candidates to be voted upon at the primaries. The Odland bill provides for nominations by state conventions made up of delegates chosen at primary elections.

Sanborn May Be Made Judge.

St. Paul, March 19.—Several changes in state capitol personnel will result from bills passed last week by the state legislature. Governor Burnquist's signature to a bill permitting the retirement of Judge William Kelly from the Ramsey county district bench will be followed, it is reported, by the appointment of Insurance Commissioner John B. Sanborn as district judge. Mr. Sanborn's slated successor, it is understood at the capitol, is Gustal Lindquist, St. Paul insurance man now deputy in the department.

For State Farm Produce Auctions.

St. Paul, March 21.—Sale of farm produce at auction in public markets throughout the state is the object of a bill by D. J. Erickson of Duluth, introduced in the house. It creates a commissioner of foods and markets at a salary of $4,000 a year, who is authorized to lease or buy buildings for markets and license auctioneers, who are to sell from the block all produce consigned to them, receiving a commission for his work, fixed by the commissioner.

Suffrage Bill Slated.

St. Paul, March 22.—The Sageng-Putnam statutory suffrage bill, enactment of which would allow Minnesota women to vote for president and vice president, will come before the Senate on special order on March 29 at 2 p. m. The bill was made a special order by motion of Senator Putnam.

Closed Season on Partridge.

St. Paul, March 24.—The Senate has passed a bill closing the season on partridge until October 15, 1920. The season on prairie chickens is shortened so as to run from September 16 to October 1. The law now allows them to be shot from September 7 to October 8. The bill also provides that 10 quail shall be the limit of a day's bag and that not more than 80 shall be killed in a season. The bill was introduced by Senator Fred D. Vibert of Cloquet and has come before the House.

A Medicine for Women

For Forty Years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has Relieved the Sufferings of Women.

It hardly seems possible that there is a woman in this country who continues to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial after all the evidence that is continually being published, proving beyond contradiction that this grand old medicine has relieved more suffering among women than any other medicine in the world.

Aurora, Ill.—"For seven long months I suffered from a female trouble, with severe pains in my back and sides until I became so weak I could hardly walk from chair to chair, and got so nervous I would jump at the slightest noise. I took six bottles and today I am a healthy woman able to do my own housework. I wish every suffering woman would try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and find out for herself how good it is."—Mrs. Karl A. Kieso, 596 North Ave., Aurora, Ill.

Could Hardly Get Off Her Bed.

Cincinnati, Ohio.—"I want you to know the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was in such bad health from female troubles that I could hardly get off my bed. I had been doctoring for a long time and my mother said, 'I want you to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.' So I did, and it has certainly made me a well woman. I am able to do my house work and am so happy as I never expected to go around the way I do again, and I want others to know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—Mrs. Josie Copner, 1668 Harrison Ave., Fairmount, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Pneumatic Tires for Hiking Shoes.

Taking his inspiration from automobile tires, and going the ordinary rubber heel one better, Oscar Mussinan of New York city has invented a pneumatic tire for his own shoes. The "tire" differs very decidedly from the ordinary heels in that a partition of rubber is built in it half way up its thickness. The partition thus forms an air chamber with the bottom of the leather above it, and still another one with the ground when the heel comes down upon it, explains the Popular Science Monthly. Each of these two chambers is connected with the outside air by a small opening. When the heel strikes the ground, the air in the chambers becomes slightly compressed, causing the jolt of the walking to be very greatly cushioned in a manner very much similar to that in which the automobile tire cushions the jolts of riding. To prevent the air from becoming too suddenly compressed and so putting the bottom of the heels out of shape, the air is allowed to escape slowly through the openings.

"The poor Ithaca man looked blankly up and down that long list of unintelligible terms, and then in desperation he put his finger on an item and said:

"'We'll begin with some of that.'

"'But, sir,' said the waiter, smiling, 'that is mayonnaise.'

"'I know it is, don't I?' growled the Ithaca man.

"'Then,' said the waiter, perplexed, 'what will you have it on, sir?'

"'Why, on a plate, you dub!' roared the Ithaca man. 'Is it the usual thing here to feed your guests out of troughs?'"

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR
HARRIETT G. HUNT, PUBLISHER

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3,1879

The passage of the bill in the senate granting an extension of time for payment of ditch bonds is a message that will be greatfully received by a large number of settlers east of this city who have been severely affected by the floods the past few seasons. It is hoped that the bill will meet with the same treatment in the house and soon become a law. If so, Sen. D. P. O'Neill will have triumphed where he little thought he would.—News Press.

We as one of the heavy ditch tax paying farmers of eastern Pennington County took this matter up with Senator O'Neill last fall, and although it has been a big proposition to get an act of this kind through the legislature, we believe that this one will get through the house as safely as it got through the Senate, and that the ditch taxpaying farmers who desire it will get an extension of time for five years more for the payment of the principal on ditch bonds. Senator O'Neill is certainly doing good work this winter in the interest of his district.

MOVE NEW YORK CITY OR FIGHT

Congress meets next Monday, and we may then expect to hear of a prompt declaration of war against Germany as it is now the demand of the people that this nation shall protect its citizens.

That submarine warfare has reached a stage, to where the American People demand that it shall cease, and that their passenger ships flying the American flag must be protected on the sea. The people are thoroughly aroused and telegrams and letters to Representatives are pouring into Washington at a rate that will carry the administration off of their feet, as bad as they were in 1898. We do not blame our German American Citizens for their sympathy for their fatherland, but they must consider that Germany have been the ones to start the war, on us by open hostility, and if we do not start to shoot back, they would soon be bombarding New York, and we suppose there might be some people that would say that we should move New York back out of their way, which would be about as sensible talk as to say that we should take our American Merchant ships off of the Oscian because Germany was at war with England, we take no sides between England, France, and Germany, and if England or France had murdered as many non-conbatant Amercian citizens on passanger ships as Germany have, we would say that it was time to give them shot for shot and that is what this country will do, as soon as congress issues the orders.

The defeat of the law to place a tonnage tax on iron ore, that was defeated by the present legislature, will be an issue in the next campaign, and if the farmers get organized in this state as well as they are in North Dakota, there will be no trouble to put men in that next senate that will pass that law. The lower house of the legislature passed the bill this year, but the upper body, our senators, listened to the smooth tongued loobyists of the mine owners, but they will hear the roar from the farmer rubes when they ask to be returned to their seats in 1918.

NATION'S CALL FOR MEN

Men and more men is the nation's call today. The Nation wants men and the army will soon need them, under the expected call for volunteers or under compulsory war service.

The navy is doing all it can to speed up prepartions for hostilities. The army waits on congress and will heed what it may say to the calling for men. The navy department is speeding up its recruiting and is filling the various reserves. The influx of men under the stimulus of patriotism, is gratifying to the navy officers.

We heard the remark made this week, that there was a lot of difference in the price of steers in the South St Paul live stock market, ranging from 5½ to 11½ cents per pound. Well my dear friend the 5½ is what the producer gets, the 11½ is what the St Paul stock dealers and yardmen gets, and from 18 to 35 cents is what the consumer pays. But the dealer tells the consumer that the high price is owning to the war, but high war prices have not yet reached the fellow who raises and fattens the steers for market. But the producers and consumers will get together soon by the Non-Partisan League and a lot of them middle men will have to go to work for their living, the same as we do.

There will not be any more attacking of American Merchant ships by German submarines. As soon as they find out that there is an American gun on board, with an American gunner behind it, they will stay out of range of that gun, as they do not want to commit suicide. What them submarines are looking for is a helpless passenger ship with women and children on board, then they are ready to sink it without warning.

Oak posts for sale: Inquire at this office.

Get ready for seeding your spring crops.

Elling Klemmetson made a trip to Oklee Thursday.

Ole Overvold has rented the Feland farm of Andrew Ellingson

Read the notice for bids, for dragging roads, published by the Town board in another column.

It is reported that Canadian officials make careful investigation of all people crossing the line now days.

The graded roads are now getting to be in good passable condition, but they should have a split log drag ran over them.

There was a large crowd in attendance at the Andrew Feland sale last Wednesday and all kinds of goods and stock brought good prices.

Red Lake River is very high, and the ice is quite solid in it yet, and it will undoubtly remain in its present condition for another week, at least.

The Town of Mayfield have a notice to let road work published in another column of this issue. It will be an opportunity to get some good paying team labor.

Oscar Nesland returned home from his Canada visit some two weeks ago. He said that he had no trouble in going across the line into Canada, or in returning home across the line.

All kinds of grain is sure to bring a big price next fall, and the farmers should endeavor to get every acre possible into a crop of some kind, for if you do not sow you can not expect to reap the benefits of the big prices next fall.

Stephen Singers proposed extension of the Sunbeam Mail route, to go by way of Kratka is likely to get an adverse report, if he asks the mail route inspector to cross Red Lake River on the proposed route for the next two weeks.

The heavy winds packed the snow into some of the drainage ditches so solid that the water is dammed up and overflooding lands, but a few days warm weather, will thaw them out and then the ditches will promptly take care of the water.

All the people living on the south side of Red Lake River are now compelled to go to Hazel, Oklee, or Plummer for their supplies of grain and feed, but we hope to see that bridge across the river in passable condition before the next springs break up.

The village of Goodridge should get together and build a potato warehouse. There is no better potato growing country anywhere than eastern Pennington County, and the farmers would grow them willingly, if they were sure of a market for them in the fall. Numerous villages in Northern Minnesota are putting in a potato warehouse, and find it a good paying investment. Wake up there Goodridge and let the farmers know that they can find a ready cash market for their potatoes next fall, and they will raise the spuds this summer.

The Red Lake River has reached within four inches of the high water mark of last spring, but it will go down rapidly as soon as the ice moves out.

The Highlanding ferry is safely anchored this year, so it will not take a trip down river, as it did last spring.

THE WRONG ADDRESS.

Those who are telegraphing the president and congress urging peace are making a queer mistake. Their telegrams should be addressed to Berlin, not to Washington.—The Duluth Herald.

Yes and adress them to Kaiser Wilhelm, and tell him if he wants peace with America, to stop murdering our citizens on sea. He is the man that started the war with America by issuing orders to his submarines to blow up American passenger ships, and if the German people would send that butcher to keep company with the Czar of Russia, and raise flowers, there would soon be no war between America and Germany.

They commenced the war, by sinking American passenger ship, on the seas, flying American flags, and they need not now look to traitors like LaFollette, at al-for sympathy as they must now face the war they started, for they will now get shot for shot. SUCCESS
ECONOMY

THERE is an economy wave over the land. American people are beginning to realize that they are living too fast, beyond their means. It has been the rule that the man with $20,000 a year as well as the man with $2,000 a year lives up to every penny of his income. Slowly but surely this order of things is changing. The era of extravagance and waste in business and personal expenses is nearing an end. Efficiency and economy is the order of the day. Bank deposits are growing.

It is up to every one to economize. The best and surest way to do so is to place your surplus in the bank. If you already have a bank account make it a point from today on to increase it. Add to it weekly, daily if possible.

IF YOU HAVEN'T A BANK ACCOUNT DECIDE TO OPEN ONE TODAY.

Inertia of Bodies.

Lay a visiting card on the tip of the left forefinger and on it place a penny. A quick flick of the card with the right second finger will remove the card without disturbing the coin. Another trick which illustrates the inertia of bodies is to knock away the bottom of a pile of checkers without upsetting the pile. This is effected quite easily with the help of a flat ruler. The remaining checkers are removed successively by a number of smart blows.

A more spectacular and apparently risky trick consists of drawing a newspaper away from under a glass filled with water. Provided, however, that the table is smooth and the paper be pulled away smartly and horizontally there is no danger of the water being spilled.

Curious Raincoats.

When rain falls in tropical countrie there is no mistake about it. The rai comes as if it meant to sweep away al such trifles as trees and bushes. A man who goes out in this deluge mus protect himself, but he finds that a mackintosh of the lightest kind ha its disadvantages, for if it keeps th rain out it also keeps the heat in.

The raincoat devised by the Mexicans is called a "chino" and is so porous that the heat of the body readily escapes, while, owing to its construction, it keeps the wearer dry. The chino is made of numberless long, narrow strips of dried palm leaf, one end of each strip being woven into a ligh fabric and the rest falling loose. The wearer of this garment rustles as he walks, and the rain pattering upon it makes a pleasant sound. Arrived at the house, he takes off his palm lea hat, shakes it and hangs it up to dry. Then he slips off his chino, shakes tha also and hangs it up. He himself is untouched by the rain, but the chino as it hangs up looks like a huge, damp brown cassock.

Why That Lame Back?

Morning lameness, sharp twinges when bending, or an all-day backache; each is cause enough to suspect kidney trouble. Get after the cause. Help the kidneys. We Americans go it too hard. We overdo, overeat and neglect our sleep and exercise and so we are fast becoming a nation of kidney sufferers. 72% more deaths than in 1890 is the 1910 census story. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Thousands recommend them.

A Wisconsin Case

August H. Wilkens, Eighth Ave., West Bend, Wis., says: "My back was in such bad shape I couldn't lie still long. When I took cold, the backache was worse, I got so dizzy at times I could hardly work and I had to pass the kidney secretions three or four times at night. I was nervous and run down. Three boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills restored me to good health after other medicines had failed. I haven't suffered since."

WAR RESOLUTION IS HELD SURE TO PASS EARLY IN SESSION

CONGRESS GATHERS TO DETERMINE MOST IMPORTANT ISSUES BEFORE PEOPLE OF U. S. SINCE CIVIL WAR.

HOUSE TO ACT FIRST ON ANY WAR RESOLUTION

President Wilson Has His Message Completed and Will Deliver It as Soon as Both Houses Are Organized—Groups of Pacifists Small.

Washington, April 3. — Congress called in extraordinary session by the President, meets to determine the most important issues before the people of the United States since the Civil War. It is considered a foregone conclusion that it either will declare war against Germany or declare that a state of war exists.

President Wilson has completed the message he will deliver to Congress and is ready to address a joint session as soon as he gets word that both houses have been organized and are ready to hear him.

Either before or directly after his address the President is expected to confer with congressional leaders regarding the specific legislation desired by the administration.

House to Act First.

The Senate, already organized will be ready to transact business, but in view of the fact that any war resolution is expected to carry an appropriation it is predicted that action will wait on the House. Democrats and Republicans of the House have cleared the way for an immediate effort to organize and the belief is general that the Democrats will reassume control with Speaker Clark in the chair within a few hours after the session begins.

War Resolution Certain.

There is little doubt that a war resolution will be passed by large majorities in both houses. There are little groups of pacifists, opposed to war except to resist invasion, who will vote and probably talk against any warlike move. There are other groups which have their own ideas about what the United States should do in the present situation, but none is strong enough to prevent action or seriously impede its progress.

May Be Far-Reaching Action.

In the House there probably will be no persistent opposition unless it comes from members who favor more far-reaching action than the President recommends. The Senate has its new cloture rule to limit debate if a small group there undertakes to delay action.

Aside from the war resolution and the appropriations which probably will accompany it, there is not much pending legislation that leaders believe necessary to enact before next winter. The appropriation measures which failed at the last session, particularly the army bill, the amendments to the shipping act giving the government broad powers over merchant shipping, some changes in the federal reserve act, and legislation to curb spying, are among the things which probably will be deemed essential to prosecution of whatever course is determined upon.

GRONNA TO RESIST ANY ATTEMPT TO DECLARE WAR

North Dakota Senator Says Views Have Not Changed Since "Wilful Twelve" Acted.

Minneapolis, April 3.—Senator A. J. Gronna of North Dakota, characterized as one of the "wilful twelve," because of his filibuster against the armed neutrality measure, passed through Minneapolis on his way to Washington with a determined purpose to resist any efforts on the part of Congress to declare war against Germany or even the existence of a state of war.

"I am opposed to war in any form," he said. "If we make war on Germany, we should make war on England also, because our rights, if violated, have been violated by both nations. Those who are advocating war are mistaking false national pride for national honor."

Asked if his views regarding neutrality had been changed since the filibustering of the "wilful twelve" defeated the armed neutrality measure, and since American boats have been sunk unwarned and American lives lost on the high seas, he replied promptly, "not a bit."

Offered $100,000 for $1,200 Farm.

Marysville, Kan., April 2.—County Commissioner T. P. O'Neil of Beattie was offered by an Oklahoma oil company $100,000 for his 160 acre farm near Billings, Okla. He refused the offer. A good paying well has been struck on a farm adjoining O'Neil's place. Mr. O'Neil's sons and his sister, Mrs. Johanna Menehan, all own farms near Billings. Mr. O'Neil and his sister have gone to Billings to look over the prospect before considering any sale. Mr. O'Neil bought the Oklahoma farm a year ago for $1,200.

HAD A CAPITAL OF $400

In Six Years He Was Well Off

An Alberta farmer, who had borrowed from a loan company, in remitting to them the last payment on his mortgage, decided to give them the history of his experience, on a Manitoba farm. It was that of many another farmer, and for the benefit of those who contemplate a change the liberty is taken of reproducing it.

"I will give you here a brief summary of my experience since coming here six years ago. I was a new hand at farming, my trade being meat-cutting and butchering. My capital was $400, which was a first payment on my quarter section (160 acres). Most of my stock, harness, implements, etc., were bought at sales, all "on time," necessarily. The buildings on the place were about as good as nothing and had either to be rebuilt or replaced entirely. There were 26 acres broken, and very badly farmed, bringing poor returns the first year." After mentioning a number of mischances, he says: "In spite of all these drawbacks, I have done well. I consider my farm worth $3,500 to $4,000. I have four head of horses, 12 of cattle, over 400 purebred Buff Orpington chickens and 125 turkeys, besides implements, harness, etc., to run my place. I have a well 170 feet deep with an inexhaustible supply of water. The well with pump cost me $400. I have built a $125 chicken house and put up nearly $50 worth of poultry fencing; have built root cellars to hold over 3,000 bushels of potatoes and other vegetables. As to income, I raise about ten acres of garden and roots annually which net from $600 to $1,000 total. I generally sell from 20 to 40 tons timothy hay which brings from $6 to $14 per ton. My grain is most all used on the farm except a few hundred bushels sold to the neighbors for seed. My four milk cows bring in from $50 to $80 each (counting calf). Last year 80 hens laid 600 dozen eggs which averaged more than 25 cents a dozen (I always work for winter egg production). The surplus hens were sold in spring, dressed at $1 each. My turkeys average $2.50 each in fall. By having vegetables to feed my young cattle, the two-year-old steers bring $75 each in spring."—Advertisement.

"What are bitts on a vessel for?"

"To use in the teeth of a driving gale."

MOTHER! LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE

If cross, feverish, constipated, give "California Syrup of Figs."

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish; stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is ofttimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask at the store for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Adv.

MORE AMERICANS DIE ON SHIPS SUNK WITHOUT WARNING

BRITISH STEAMERS THE SNOWDON RANGE AND THE LINER CRISPIN TORPEDOED, CONSUL FROST REPORTS.

EACH OF ILL-FATED SHIPS CARRIED DEFENSE GUNS

Submarines Submerged and Not Seen by Survivors—Wakes of Torpedoes Visible—Second Dispatch Establishes Death of At Least One American.

Washington, April 2.—A second dispatch from Consul Wesley Frost definitely established the killing of one American and said others probably had been killed on the British ship Crispin, torpedoed without warning.

Two Ships Torpedoed.

Washington, April 2.—Two British steamers, the Snowden Range and the Booth liner Crispin, both with Americans aboard, of whom a number are unaccounted for, have been reported to the state department to have been sunk without warning by a submarine.

On the Crispin the torpedo which struck the engine room killed five men.'

Two Believed Americans.

Two of them are believed to have been Americans.

United States Consul Wesley Frost, at Queenstown, reporting the loss of the freight liner Crispin, says:

"The liner Crispin, 2,483 tons, Newport News to Liverpool, carrying 686 horses, was torpedoed without warning 14 miles off Hook head at 7:15 p. m. on March 29. Sixty-eight of the ship's complement of 112 were Americans. Two boats are missing, not improbably lost.

"The torpedo struck the engine room on the starboard side, the explosion killing five men; two of whom are believed to be Americans. The submarine was not seen, but the wake of a torpedo was seen by Americans. The vessel carried a gun and wireless. The latter was wrecked by the explosion. The vessel sank slowly, but return on board was not feasible owing to heavy sea."

SAYS U. S. IS RESPONSIBLE FOR WAR SHOULD IT COME

German Chancellor Disclaims Any Intention of Attack on United States.

Berlin, March 31. — If the United States at the coming extra session of Congress should declare war against Germany, that country will have to "bear and overcome it."

This statement, made by the German chancellor, Dr. von Bethman-Hollweg, in the Reichstag, seems to be Germany's final declaration that she does not intend to give up her unrestricted submarine campaign.

The chancellor made important declarations concerning Germany's policy toward the United States and Russia.

Concerning German relations with the United States, the chancellor said:

"Within the next few days the directors of the American nation will be convened by President Wilson for an extraordinary session of Congress in order to decide the question of war or peace between the American and German nations.

"Germany never had the slightest intention of attacking the United States of America and does not have such intention now. It never desired war against the United States of America and does not desire it today.

PENFIELD COMING HOME ON TEMPORARY LEAVE

State Departments Decline to Admit He Is En Route as Amsterdam Dispatch Says.

Washington, April 2.—State department officials declined to throw any light upon the departure of Ambassador Penfield from Vienna. They would not admit that the ambassador was on his way home, or that he had been recalled by Secretary Lansing for a conference, as press dispatches stated.

Amsterdam, April 2.—Telegraphing from Vienna, the correspondent of the semi-official Nord Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung of Berlin says:

"With a view to obviating all misunderstandings, we are authorized to state that the journey of Frederic C. Penfield, the American ambassador, to Washington means no change in the relations between Austria-Hungary and the United States. Mr. Penfield is expected to return to Vienna in about three months."

The thieves, in stealing the police automobile, replaced spark plugs and the coils from the battery boxes, the chauffeur having removed them.

The Only Way.

Bishop Tyree said, ironically, of Sunday golf, in Nashville:

"The only way for the church to combat Sunday golf would be, I suppose, to make the pews as comfortable as the old eighteenth-century squire's used to be.

"The squire's big, square pew used to be curtained off, you know, and furnished like a parlor. It had a separate fireplace in it, and if the sermon was too long, the squire would poke the fire impatiently as a hint for the preacher to stop.

"Some squires had a liveried menial to serve wine and cake half way through the sermon, and also to bring them their mail and newspapers, which they would read during the discourse.

"Once an unusually luxurious squire's pew was shown to the famous Wilberforce, and the squire asked him gleefully if he could suggest any improvement or addition.

"'Only one,' said Bishop Wilberforce, dryly, 'a card table.'"

SENATE DEFEATS RUSTAD PRIMARY CONVENTION BILL

GOES TO ITS DEATH WHEN AMENDMENT STRIKING OUT PREAMBLE IS ADOPTED BY VOTE OF 34 TO 29.

ANTI-INJUNCTION BILL PASSES LOWER HOUSE

Bill for Dissolution of Mayo Foundation Favorably Reported to House by Committee—Predicted That Measure Will Never Come to Vote.

St. Paul, April 2. — The Rustad primary convention bill was lost in the state Senate by a vote of 29 to 34.

The amendment offered by Senator William A. Campbell, striking out the preamble to the bill, which set forth the reasons for its passage, was carried. A second amendment offered by Senator J. A. Jackson, emasculating the bill by striking out the sections referring to printing on the ballot of the recommendations of the proposed conventions, was lost by a tie vote, 31 to 31.

The bill provided for the printing of the nominations of political parties for state offices on the primary ballots, under party emblems.

Amended so as to exclude from its provisions organizations or persons advocating criminal syndicalism, sabotage, crime or violence, an anti-injunction bill was passed by the Minnesota House of Representatives by a vote of 75 to 38.

The bill, indorsed by the State Federation of Labor, was introduced by Representatives Leo J. Gleason of Minneapolis and Thomas J. McGrath of St. Paul. It prohibits the restraining order in case of strikes.

After hearing from those who want the Mayo foundation affiliation with the university dissolved the House committee on university and university lands recommended the dissolution bill out for passage.

Representatives John M. Harrison of Minneapolis and O. E. Hammer of Rochester, voiced strenuous objections to the committee's procedure. When the committe was called together, T. T. Young, former attorney general, representing proponents of the dissolution, and several others opposed to the affiliation were present.

If the bill take its regular course, there is no hope of the House ever reaching a vote on it. If it should be submitted to a vote, it will be beaten by a big majority, say those who oppose the attempts to interfere with what the regents have done.

Equity Stock Market Shows Loss.

St. Paul, March 31.—Entrance of the Equity Co-operative Exchange into the live stock business has not been successful so far, according to Representative Magnus Johnson, member of the Equity board of directors.

Representative Johnson testified before the legislative investigating committee. In answer to questions put by Representative Teigen, chairman of the committee, Mr. Johnson said: "As I understand it, the live stock department has been running at a loss."

"From what fund is such a loss made up?" asked Mr. Teigen.

"Well, I am a farmer, and I have to trust the officers of the exchange," was the reply. "I believe that J. M. Anderson, our president, is doing his best. He may have made mistakes but I trust him to look after the business affairs."

New charges and counter charges flew between Chairman Teigen and representatives of the Equity.

May Revive Public Domain Bill.

St. Paul, March 3.—Shorn of some of its important features, but backed by the active support of Governor J. A. A. Burnquist, the public domain bill, defeated by the senate, will come up in the house again in the hope of passing it there and getting the senate to reconsider its former action. The bill lost in the senate by two votes.

Rough Talk Hurts I. W. W. Stand.

St. Paul, March 31.—Rough talk by so-called "rationalists" and members of the I. W. W. against Bible reading in the schools caused the House committee on education to recommend the bill for passage, according to Chairman Claude Southwick. "The Jews made a fair argument against the bill, but the talk these self-styled 'rationalists' and the I. W. W.'s made against the measure was more than the committee could stand," said Representative Southwick.

New Fight for "Blind Pig" Bill.

St. Paul, March 31.—A second attempt to have the Cummings-Norton so-called "blind pig" bill made a special order of business in the House of Representatives has been made. It was opposed again on the ground that it was entirely too drastic. The wets and some of the drys insisted that the bill is really statutory prohibition by injunction. Dry leaders who are supporting the bill realize that the only hope for its passage is to have it made a special order of business. It is now [illegible]

YES! LIFT A CORN OFF WITHOUT PAIN!

Cincinnati man tells how to dry up a corn or callus so it lifts off with fingers.

You corn-pestered men and women need suffer no longer. Wear the shoes that nearly killed you before, says this Cincinnati authority, because a few drops of freezone applied directly on a tender, aching corn or callus, stops soreness at once and soon the corn or hardened callus loosens so it can be lifted off, root and all, without pain.

A small bottle of freezone costs very little at any drug store, but will positively take off every hard or soft corn or callus. This should be tried, as it is inexpensive and is said not to irritate the surrounding skin.

If your druggist hasn't any freezone tell him to get a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house.—adv.

Statutory Suffrage Bill Fails.

St. Paul, March 31.—Partial suffrage, asked for by one woman's suffrage association and opposed by another, has been defeated in the Minnesota senate yesterday by a vote of 31 to 35.

The bill, introduced by Senators Sageng and Putnam, would have granted women the right to vote for presidential electors.

With the defeat of the so-called Statutory Suffrage bill by the upper House, the hopes of suffragists for any legislation at this session were shattered.

The appropriations committee of the House of Representatives has slashed $2,399,792 out of the requests made by the board of control for state institutions.

The board asked for $7,758,000, the largest request in recent years. Governor Burnquist recommended a straight cut of $1,000,000 a year or $2,000,000 in all. The house committee has gone one better.

The committee allowed most of the requests for additions to insane hospitals but denied all other requests for buildings.

The institution omnibus bill is now ready for introduction in the House. It will be the first of the big financial measures to be presented in either body.

The general drainage bill, which has been considered by the drainage committee ever since the opening of the legislature session, passed the House unanimously.

First Efficiency Bill Fails.

St. Paul, March 29.—The first big measure in the so-called "efficiency and economy" program to come before the Legislature at this session, the one creating a department of public domain, has been killed in the Minnesota Senate by a vote of 32 to 33. It takes 34 votes to pass a bill.

For four years, commissions have been studying methods of reorganizing the state departments. The defeat of the most important of the bills prepared by the interim commission appointed at the last session of the Legislature was a keen disappointment to those who have been urging reform in civil administration.

Activity of state office holders, whose departments would be affected by the operation of the bill, is generally credited with the defeat of the proposed act.

The bill provided for the creation of the public domain department to take over the power and duties of the drainage commission, the board of timber commissioners, surveyors general of logs and lumber, forestry board, reclamation board, board of immigration, commissioners and superintendents of all state parks, forest reserves and state forests, highway commission and those of the state auditor relating to state lands, park and mines. A series of separate bureaus, under the director of the public domain, was created in the bill.

Senator Duxbury, member of the interim commission which drafted the efficiency and economy bills, said that the bill would make for efficiency and economy because it would do away with so many boards and would centralize authority.

The farmer faction of the Legislature, went down to defeat on another of their measures aimed at the grain exchanges and milling interests.

The bill was intended to control the installation of track scales instead of hopper scales at terminal elevators, and was the cause of several stormy meetings in the Grain and Warehouse committee.

Another farmers' bill, introduced by Mr. Welch, to give shippers a lien on grain exchange memberships for any indebtedness arising from the purchase of grain, was passed.

Primary Repeal Bill Passed.

St. Paul, March 30.—Both houses of the legislature have now passed the Gleason bill to repeal the presidential preference primary act. The bill now awaits the governor's signature

The Senate took the bill under suspension of rules and passed it by a vote of 36 to 17. There were a large number of senators absent.

The so-called child welfare bills prepared by the commission appointed by Governor Burnquist have encountered much opposition in both houses of the Legislature.

The Senate considered the bills and after devoting most of a day to them, the special order of business was postponed until next week without a single bill having been passed.

"War" Developments in Minnesota.

St. Paul, March 29.—Legislative steps requiring registration of all aliens in the state on the Governor's proclamation, assignment of First Minnesota troops to whatever duty their sealed orders direct, and increase of recruiting activities by five branches of the service and by volunteers, marked the "war" developments in Minnesota.

Another step towards preparing Minnesota for possible war has been taken by the state Senate. A bill requiring the registration of aliens on proclamation of the governor was introduced by Senator A. S. Campbell, of Austin, and referred to the committee on military affairs.

Woman Addresses Senate.

St. Paul, March 30.—With Miss Jeanette Rankin, the country's first congresswoman, and several hundred prominent Minnesota suffragists looking on, the first fight for woman suffrage of the present session started in the Minnesota senate when the Putnam-Sageng statutory bill, giving women the right to vote for presidential electors, came up as a special order.

For the first time in the history of Minnesota a woman addressed the Senate from the president's chair.

To Prevent Old Age Coming Too Soon!

"Toxic poisons in the blood are thrown out by the kidneys. The kidneys act as filters for such products. If we wish to prevent old age coming too soon and increase our chances for a long life, we should drink plenty of pure water and take a little Anuric," says the world-famed Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y.

When suffering from backache, frequent or scanty urine, rheumatic pains here or there, or that constant tired, worn-out feeling, the simple way to overcome these disorders is merely to obtain a little Anuric (double strength) from your nearest druggist and you will quickly notice the grand results. You will find it many times more potent than lithia, and that it dissolves uric acid as hot water does sugar.

It's the Same Everywhere

Boy River, Minn.—"I have used Dr. Pierce's medicine with good results in my family for years. Last winter I was taken with La Grippe and it left me run down and with pains in my hips and back. I took different medicines without getting any benefit. At last I sent and got some Anuric and took it and am feeling well and doing a good day's work. When I commenced taking the Anuric Tablets I could hardly get out of the bed, felt as though a knife was sticking in my back."—A. C. BLODGETT.

Simply ask your druggist for Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets or send Dr. V. M. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., ten cents for trial package.

Canada Offers 160 Acres Free to Farm Hands

Bonus of Western Canada Land to Men Assisting in Maintaining Needed Grain Production

The demand for farm labor in Canada is great. As an inducement to secure the necessary help at once, Canada will give and allow the time of the farm laborer, who has filed on the land, to apply as residence duties, the same as if he actually had lived on it. This special concession is the reduction of one year in the time to complete duties. Two years' residence instead of three as heretofore, but only to men working on the farms for at least six months in 1917. This appeal for farm help is in no way connected with enlistment for military service but solely to increase agricultural output. A wonderful opportunity to secure a farm and draw good wages at the same time. Canadian Government will pay all fare over one cent per mile from St. Paul or Duluth to Canadian destination. THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR
HARRIETT G. HUNT, PUBLISHER

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879

We did not support president Wilson for re-election, but he was elected by a majority of the people for president of this nation, and now is not the time to air political differences, when the country is at war with a foreign nation. Every true American should promptly take sides for the country of his birth or adoption without stopping to inquire whether they are right, or wrong. [illegible] have settled with the [illegible] fellow, we can say, as I was [illegible] before that little un[illegible] with Germany hap[illegible] believe so and so. But not now, America should be united to a man. Clean up the foreign nation first, that would invade our country, and afterwards start right in talking Republican, Democratic, or any other kind of Politics.

Editor Smith, of the Eleven Towns has been threatened with a libel suit, by the Comet Publishing Co. of Thief River Falls, but he says he retracted, so we hope that settles it, for it is a pretty serious matter for a country Publisher to get indicted, as we found out. We were indicted and supposed to be tried on one article published in THE SUNBEAM and we will be darned if they did not try us on every article that we had published in our paper for the past six years regarding, the doings of the Singers, and yet failed to convict. So if Editor Smith gets indicted he just wants to get ready to stand trial for every article that he has ever printed in the Eleven Towns, as that is the rule of law of our present County Attorney and any objections made will promptly be overuled by the court.

Congressman Steenerson made a powerful argument in congress against the Mexico Twine Trust. but whether there will be any thing done to prosecute them remains to be seen. If they continue to raise prices on twine, it will soon mean that the farmers will have to either stack their grain loose, or the Stillwater factory will have to make twine of flax straw.

Two young men from the Town of Highlanding, started for Canada this spring, but only got as far as the line, when they were denied entrance into Canada, unless they would enlist in the army. But as they preferred to live in America, instead of being buried in France, they returned to Pennington County Minnesota.

The big Economizers in the legislature who were going to cut down state expenses by not publishing the Consitutional Amendments and session laws, were surprised when the votes were recorded, from the members who had heard from home. There will be some of them fellows that will remain at home, during the session of the next legislature, as there is several of them Senators marked for slaughter, but this district will send Dan back if he wants to go, as he has voted right every time, and will have plenty of assistance to pass that Iron Ore tax in the next session.

Spring is with us again, and let us forget the terrible floods of last summer and the past severe winter and all pitch in to make this a boomer year for prosperity in Northern Minnesota.

MINNEAPOLIS DISGRACE.

That Socialist Mayor is a disgrace to the City of Minneapolis. A Mayor of a City, that would request his constituents to write to their Congressman to prevent an armed assassin concealed behind a building shooting down innocent women and children, is a disgrace to that city.

Supposing a band of armed desperadoes should take up their station at one of the prominent corners in Minneapolis, and shoot and kill every man, woman and child that passed along that street would the Mayor of Minneapolis tolerate them, and refuse to let armed forces route them out, because it meant war? The time for such talk is passed and them assassins must be routed out of the traveled lines of the ocean.

THE LOCAL NEWS

Torjie Langie, of Mayfield and Even J. Sund were transacting Notary business at Sunbeam on Wednesday.

Miss Marie and Ella Cousin are visiting their parents during the Thief River Falls high school vacation

The High Landing creamery opened their doors for the season, this week. The creamery will do a large business this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hyland who have been liveing at Sunbeam the past winter, removed to Deer Park township Monday, where they will engage in farming this summer.

The ice moved out of Redlake river on Monday April 9th,. The river went down some on Tuesday, but soon began to rise, when the water began to come from the ditches above Red Lake.

Henry Hyland has rented the E.A.Mostue farm, and will sow it to wheat. Henry has five good heavy work horses, and he will exercise them on the harrow, disc, and drill this spring.

We have thoroughly tested the makus wheat, we raised last year for seed and we are going to sow it this year, and if we fail to get a good crop we wont blame the seed for we know it will grow.

There will not be much seeding done in this locality this week, but a number of the farmers have started the harrow, and with fair weather there will be a large amount of grain go into the ground next week.

The party who took a screen door from the grainery on the Andrew Feland farm, that was bought at the auction sale by W. G. Hunt, will save himself a lot of trouble and expense by returning the door to the place he took it from.

The fish have been so thick this spring that they have run up the ditches for three and four miles, where they are caught in farmers nets. The only kind that are running now are pickerel, but the red horse and pike will soon start to run,

Walter McAndress has four men employed clearing land to get ready to breake for flax, as $3 a bushel for flax next fall looks good. Follow his example! Don't sit down on a cracker box at the corner grocery and mourn about hig prices, but raise the grain and get war prices for it next fall.

When Senator Knute Nelson gets a letter from his peace at any price friends, he sends them a package of garden seeds and a copy of the President's war message. If he was near enough to holler at them he would tell them to shut up their mouth, until civilized nations drove them scull and cross bone pirates from the seas.

In every war that America has thare has alwas been opposition at home In the war of the Revolution they called them "Torys." In the war of the rebellion they called them "Copperheads." Thare was only a few showed up in the Spanish war and it kept two regiments of regulars, so busy at Neworleans to keep them from being "lynched", that they did not get time to name them. Now they have named the present crop "Pacitists." But we would suggest the name of 'keiser's" for them as it is now either Germany or the United States to win this war. Which side are you on?

TAKING TOLL

The farmers of Missouri heard much talk of the high cost of food in cities. They were told that many city people believe food producers are rolling in wealth as a result of high prices.

They started out to investigate.

J. Robert Hall, secretary, Missouri Farmers' exchange, found that orchardists near Bethany, Mo., last fall sold apples to Kansas City commission men for 9 cents a bushel.

The same apples are now being sold out of Bethany boxes for $2.75 a bushel. The cost of storage was 60 cents.

Potato growers near Concordia, Mo., sold potatoes last fall for $1 a bushel. At Kansas City, Mo., the price is now $3 a bushel. Storage and freight amounted to 50 cents.

That helps to show who put the "high" into the cost of living. —Rural Weekly.

Healthful Whipping.

It is considered beneficial to be whipped or spanked provided it is done mechanically. In the mechano therapy departments of up to date institutions the whipping post, a mechanical device for therapeutic paddling, is an accredited healing machine. You are whipped by straps of heavy cloth or leather attached to two rapidly revolving posts. When you take the treatment you step backward into the flying whips and receive their blows upon your legs, back, abdomen or chest, depending upon the malady from which you are suffering. The impact of the straps is just sufficient to set the blood in free circulation. There is no smarting, stinging sensation because the straps are broad enough to eliminate any possibility of a cutting blow. You are paddled rather than lashed. The whipping post is valuable in many types of nervousness.—Popular Science Monthly.

Using Up Energy.

"A calory is the amount of heat required to raise the temperature of one pint of water 4 degrees Fahrenheit. If a man rises from his chair and walks about eight feet, then returns, he uses up one of these units," writes Dr. Edwin F. Bowers in "Sidestepping Ill Health."

"Yet the body, even while resting or quiet in sleep, is constantly using up energy. It is also giving off heat about as rapidly as a sixteen candle power electric lamp."

To make up for this constant loss of heat and energy from 2,000 to 3,000 calories are needed every twenty-four hours. This is why we eat, and it behooves us to see that our food furnishes about the right number of calories.

SWISS CHEESE STONE.

Material of Which Native Houses In Bermuda Are Built.

When a native of Bermuda decides that he wants to build a house he goes to some quarry where the soft, rich, creamy coral sandstone has been stripped of its thin earth covering and begins sawing. He or some one employed by him, with a long, coarse toothed saw, cuts out blocks of stone measuring about two feet long, one foot wide and six inches thick. As soon as he has quarried enough of these blocks he allows them to stand in the open air for a few weeks to harden, for when first cut they are as full of holes as a Swiss cheese and almost as soft. The hardening period over, the blocks are placed one on top of another to form the walls and one beside another on a supporting framework, overlapping a little at their upper and lower edges, to make the roof.

When the building has been erected the Bermudian covers his outside walls and roof with a thick coat of whitewash, which hides all the cracks and joints and holes in the stone and gives the house a smooth, beautiful finish which is very pleasant to the eye and just as pleasant to the sense of touch. Even the big chimneys, the porches and the fences are built of the same stone.

These white roofs have another important office, for the rain that falls upon them as it runs off is caught and led into cisterns. It is easy to understand how important this is when one learns that there are no streams or wells in Bermuda and that the islanders are thus entirely dependent on these cisterns for their water supply.—Joseph Lauren in St. Nicholas.

YANKEE CURIOSITY.

How Ben Franklin Used to Save Time and Avert Questions.

The Yankee is proverbially inquisitive, and Charles H. Sherrill recalls in "French Memories of Eighteenth Century America" some amused comments reported by the Marquis de Chastellux, which show that the reputation was well deserved more than a century ago.

"He says," declares Chastellux, repeating a traveler's tale, "that the Americans are the most inquisitive people he has ever seen. Their curiosity is pushed almost to impropriety. When he asked his way they only answered, 'You apparently come from Philadelphia.' When almost famished he asked for food. Instead of serving him they said: 'You seem to be in a great hurry. Is there anything new in the north?'

"He also relates that Mr. Franklin (who possessed a sense of humor in addition to that habitual calm which so surprised the Europeans), whenever he was traveling in Connecticut, a section noted for its curiosity, was accustomed on entering an inn to call all the family together and announce in a loud tone: 'I am Benjamin Franklin. I was born in Boston, and I am a printer by trade. I am coming from Philadelphia, and I am going back there at such and such a time. I do not know anything new, and now, my friends, will you tell me what you can give me for supper?'"

SUCCESS
ECONOMY

THERE is an economy wave over the land. American people are beginning to realize that they are living too fast, beyond their means. It has been the rule that the man with $20,000 a year as well as the man with $2,000 a year lives up to every penny of his income. Slowly but surely this order of things is changing. The era of extravagance and waste in business and personal expenses is nearing an end. Efficiency and economy is the order of the day. Bank deposits are growing.

It is up to every one to economize. The best and surest way to do so is to place your surplus in the bank. If you already have a bank account make it a point from today on to increase it. Add to it weekly, daily if possible.

IF YOU HAVEN'T A BANK ACCOUNT DECIDE TO OPEN ONE TODAY.

Curious Raincoats.

When rain falls in tropical countries there is no mistake about it. The rain comes as if it meant to sweep away all such trifles as trees and bushes. A man who goes out in this deluge must protect himself, but he finds that a mackintosh of the lightest kind has its disadvantages, for if it keeps the rain out it also keeps the heat in.

The raincoat devised by the Mexicans is called a "chino" and is so porous that the heat of the body readily escapes, while, owing to its construction, it keeps the wearer dry. The chino is made of numberless long, narrow strips of dried palm leaf, one end of each strip being woven into a light fabric and the rest falling loose. The wearer of this garment rustles as he walks, and the rain pattering upon it makes a pleasant sound. Arrived at the house, he takes off his palm leaf hat, shakes it and hangs it up to dry. Then he slips off his chino, shakes that also and hangs it up. He himself is untouched by the rain, but the chino as it hangs up looks like a huge, damp brown cassock.

106 Fly Poison Cases Reported in 3 Years

A Large Percentage Fatal

Appalling as this record seems, it is only a fraction of the real number. The symptoms of cholera infantum and arsenical poisoning are almost identical. Diagnosis is extremely difficult. Many actual fly poison cases are unrecognized and unreported.

The Government recognizes this danger to childhood and issues this warning, in supplement No. 29 to the Public Health Report:

"Of other fly poisons mentioned, mention should be made, merely for the purpose of condemnation, of those composed of arsenic. Fatal cases of poisoning of children through the use of such compounds are far too frequent, and owing to the resemblance of arsenical poisoning to summer diarrhea and cholera infantum, it is believed that the cases reported do not, by any means, comprise the total. Arsenical fly-destroying devices must be rated as extremely dangerous, and should never be used, even if other measures are not at hand."

Rats and Fires.

At a time when everyone is complaining of the high cost of living it might be well to see if we cannot eliminate two great sources of waste—fires and rats.

Most fires are needless. All rats are so. Some years ago a study of the rat problem in Philadelphia arrived at the conclusion that the rodents of that city ate more than a million dollars' worth of food each year. At that rate, the disgusting creatures can hardly cost less than $100,000,000 per year to the whole country. This is a pretty high price to pay for the companionship of impish pests which, besides their other bad habits, undermine floors and carry the most dreaded of all diseases, bubonic plague.

Yet fires are more expensive than rats. In 1915—the last year for which figures are at hand—the American people paid out in premiums for fire insurance $419,361,346. Of this vast sum at least three-fourths could be saved by reducing our fire record to the rate prevailing in England, France or Germany; and even in our time and nation $300,000,000 per year is a saving worth noting, and one which would have a perceptible effect on the cost of living.

An Exception.

Johnnie's father had a comfortable income that did not require that he should have any settled occupation, and the only thing in the nature of work that Johnnie had ever seen him do was to write checks. At school Mary announced that her father was a doctor.

"My father is a lawyer," said Edward.

Johnnie thought a moment, and then said: "My father pays his debts."

Not With His Money.

"What are these eminent financiers doing?"

"They are planning to mobilize the nation's dollars."

"They are, eh? Well, I've got $18.50 in the bank. I'll just draw it out and show those fellows a thing or two."

It is sometimes difficult to distinguish between a sympathetic person and a curious one.

CONGRESS DECLARES STATE OF WAR BETWEEN U. S. AND GERMANY

Adopts Joint Resolution That Places This Country in the Ranks of the Belligerents—Six Senators Vote Against Measure After Hot Debate—Great Majority in the House Favors the Action.

Text of the joint resolution adopted by congress, declaring a state of war between the United States and Germany:

"Whereas, The imperial German government has committed repeated acts of war against the government and the people of the United States of America; therefore, be it

"Resolved, by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled, That the state of war between the United States and the imperial German government which has thus been thrust upon the United States is hereby formally declared; and that the president be, and he is hereby, authorized and directed to employ the entire naval and military forces of the United States and the resources of the government to carry on war against the imperial German government; and to bring the conflict to a successful termination, all of the resources of the country are hereby pledged by the congress of the United States."

Washington, April 6.—The United States is now formally enlisted among the belligerents in the great war, for congress has adopted the resolution declaring a state of war between this country and Germany, brought on by the imperial government's repeated hostile acts.

The senate was the first to act on the war resolution and adopted it by a vote of 82 to 6. The six senators who voted against the resolution for war were:

ASLE J. GRONNA, Republican, North Dakota.

HARRY LANE, Democrat, Oregon.

R. M. LA FOLLETTE, Republican, Wisconsin.

G. W. NORRIS, Republican, Nebraska.

WILLIAM J. STONE, Democrat, Missouri.

J. K. VARDAMAN, Democrat, Mississippi.

There were eight senators absent or paired. They were: Bankhead, Goff, Gore, Hollis, Newlands, Smith of Maryland, Thomas, and Tillman. Of those absent it was announced that all except Senator Gore of Oklahoma against the resolution were members would have voted for the resolution if present.

All six of the senators who voted against the resolution were members of the group of twelve which defeated the armed neutrality bill at the last session. There was no attempt to filibuster this time, however.

Thirteen Hour Debate.

Thirteen hours of heated debate preceded the vote. Party lines disappeared in this discussion and Republicans joined with Democrats in sounding the call to the nation to support the president unitedly.

The little group opposed to the resolution drew fire from every side. Senator La Follette, defending Germany and heaping blame upon England, was informed by Senator Williams that Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the German chancellor, would have made the same speech in the reichstag had he been imbued with sufficient effrontery.

Senator Norris, charging that the United States is going to war at the behest of the munition barons of Wall street, drew from Senator Reed the retort that such an accusation is "almost treason."

The assertion that the nation was going to war on the demand of gold, he said, was "an indictment of the president of the United States, an indictment of congress, of the American people, and of the truth."

"The president is not calling America to arms for the sake of a few paltry dollars," Senator Reed continued, "but for the life, honor, and integrity of this country."

Introduced by Hitchcock.

In introducing the resolution into the senate, Senator Hitchcock made a brief statement in which he said that the present time was one "for action, not discussion."

"The time for discussion has passed," he said. "The president has stated clearly, effectively, more conclusively the reasons which make this grave step necessary. The resolution provides for war against the imperial German government. It places responsibility for the war squarely upon the shoulders of the German government, charged with repeated acts of war against the United States.

"We want no more territory. We will demand no indemnity. We have no grudge to settle, nor racial antipathy. We will spend our treasure and our blood and sacrifice our lives without the thought of gain. We are going to war to vindicate our honor and independence as a great nation and in defense of humanity.

"Such quarrel as we have with Germany is not of our choosing. It was forced upon us and we did much to avoid it. For nearly three years the president, congress, and the American people have hoped to avoid it. But one desperate act by the imperial German government has followed another."

German Pledges Broken.

Senator Hitchcock was followed by Senator Swanson of Virginia, who said the German government "has repeatedly and grossly violated its treaty obligations to us, and wantonly broken solemn assurances."

"The issue is not peace or war," Senator Swanson continued. "War has already been declared upon us. The issue is whether we shall accept war or abject and cowardly submission."

Reciting the sinking of American ships, German plots, and outrages in this country, Senator Swanson said the Zimmermann plot to incite Mexico against this country "reaches the lowest depths of national turpitude."

Many other senators took part in the debate, Gronna, Stone, Vardaman, Norris and LaFollette, all opposing the resolution.

Senator Smoot made the last speech—a short prayer that God would "hasten the day when liberty will be enjoyed by all the peoples of the earth."

The roll call was taken while the senators and spectators sat solemn. A few cheers greeted the result and then all filed quietly out of the chamber.

House Vote, 373 to 50.

The house, after a debate lasting about seventeen hours, adopted the joint resolution by a vote of 373 to 50. Nearly a hundred representatives made speeches.

In offering the senate resolution as a substitute for its own, the house foreign affairs committee submitted a long report reviewing the history of submarine warfare and America's futile protests against it, German intrigues and bomb plots in this country, the effort to ally Japan and Mexico against the United States and the mistreatment of American officials and citizens in Germany.

"It is with the deepest sense of responsibility for the momentous results which will follow the passage of this resolution," said the report, "that your committee reports it to the house, with the recommendation that it be passed.

"The conduct of the imperial German government toward this government, its citizens and its interests, has been so discourteous, unjust, cruel, barbarous, and so lacking in honesty and practice that it has constituted a violation of the course of conduct which should obtain between friendly nations.

"In addition to this the German government is actually making war upon the people and commerce of this country, and leaves no course open to this government but to accept its gage of battle and declare that a state of war exists."

Flood Opens the Debate.

Under the unanimous consent rule by which the resolution was considered Representative Flood could move the previous question at any time after one hour and, if sustained, bring the measure to a vote. He was disposed, however, to give members every opportunity to speak throughout the day. The debate began without any limitation.

"War is being made upon our country and its people," Representative Flood said in opening. "Our ships are being sunk. Our noncombatant citizens, including men, women and children, are being murdered, our merchantmen are denied the freedom of the seas. There is no choice as to our course. We are compelled by the acts of the German government to enter into this most colossal war.

"We should take our stand by the side of the allied nations who have been fighting humanity's battles for two and one-half years, determined that our power shall be so employed that complete victory shall crown their efforts and that Prussian militarism shall be crushed and the world shall be delivered from the threat and danger of the Hohenzollern dynasty."

Villa to Be "Neutral."

El Paso, Tex., April 6.—Villa will be an "incorruptible neutral" in the event of war between the United States and Germany, it was announced by leaders of the Villa junta here, after the arrival of a courier with this message direct from Villa's camp in Mexico. Villa wants Mexico to avoid any entangling alliances. He is expected to make a statement defining his attitude, which will be sent out by messenger as soon as news of war reaches Villa's camp.

Edison Toils on War Devices.

Washington, April 6.—Somewhere on the seaboard, guarded from prying eyes, Thomas A. Edison and a little group of super-inventors are working hard—plotting Germany's downfall.

Just what the brain children are—just how far they will upset all past methods of warfare—and just how far the German government will come to fear this little group of workers, is yet to be revealed. Other than a small inner circle of governmental experts their activities are known to no one.

TO WAR ON KAISER

President Wilson Says Germans Force Us to Enter Conflict.

AUTOCRACY MENACE TO US

Free Nations Must Unite to Defeat Monarch Who Wants to Rule World With Bloody Sword.

Washington.—President Wilson appeared before the senate and house in joint session Monday night and asked the legislative body to declare that a state of war existed between Germany and the United States. He asserted that the kaiser's government had shown this hostility by its unrestricted submarine warfare which has cost many American lives and by the network of the German spy system which covers this country, and which has destroyed our property and intrigued to involve us in war with Mexico and Japan. The president called upon congress to use the nation's full resources of men, money and supplies in co-operation with the entente allies to defeat Prussian autocracy as soon as possible and bring peace to the world.

Mr. Wilson definitely stated that the American people have no quarrel with the great mass of the German people. He said the German people have been forced into war with most of the entire world by the blood lust and greed and immoral ambition of the Prussian autocracy to bully the democratic nations of the earth. And then President Wilson delivered a terrific indictment of this same autocracy. In this regard he emphatically laid down the principle that America is taking up arms to defend itself, but primarily to protect the freedom of self-governing peoples.

The European war, said the president, "was a war determined upon as wars used to be determined upon in the old, unhappy days when peoples were nowhere consulted by their rulers and wars were provoked and waged in the interest of dynasties or of little groups of ambitious men who were accustomed to use their fellow men as pawns and tools.

"A steadfast concert for peace can never be maintained except by a partnership of democratic nations. No autocratic government could be trusted to keep faith within or observe its covenants. It must be a league of honor, partnership of opinion. Only free peoples can hold their purpose and their honor steady to a common end and prefer the interests of mankind to any narrow interest of their own.

"One of the things that have served to convince us that the Prussian autocracy was not and could never be our friend is that from the very outset of the present war it has filled our unsuspecting communities and even our offices of government with spies and set criminal intrigues everywhere afoot against our national unity of counsel, our peace within and without, our industries and our commerce.

"We are accepting this challenge of hostile purpose because we know that in such a government, following such methods, we can never have a friend, and that in the presence of its organized power, always lying in wait to accomplish we know not what purpose, there can be assured security for the democratic governments of the world.

"We desire no conquest, no dominion. We seek no indemnities for ourselves, no material compensation for the sacrifices we shall freely make.

"We are but one of the champions of the rights of mankind. We shall be satisfied when those rights have been made as secure as the faith and the freedom of nations can make them.

"We are at the beginning of an age in which it will be insisted that the same standards of conduct and of responsibility for wrong done shall be observed among nations and their governments that are observed among the individual citizens of civilized states.

* * * * * * * *

"We are the sincere friends of the German people, and shall desire nothing so much as the early re-establishment of intimate relations of mutual advantage between us, however hard it may be for them for the time being to believe that this is spoken from our hearts.

"We shall, happily, still have an opportunity to prove that friendship in our daily attitude and actions toward the millions of men and women of German birth and native sympathy who live among us and share our life, and we shall be proud to prove it toward all who are in fact loyal to their neighbors and to the government."

New Standards.

In the new belles lettres a historical reference arouses uneasiness and a mythological allusion irritation because they are felt to be not obscure but outworn. The heart sinks with ennui at the mention of Amaryllis in the shade and thrills with pleasure in imaging the imagist in the bath. The plight of the pedant in the face of such preferences as prevail arouses pity. His entire mental furniture is of a sudden outmoded.—W. C. Brownell in Scribner's Magazine.

FARM LABOR IN DEMAND IN WESTERN CANADA

Extraordinary Inducements Being Offered.

Previous articles have dealt with the necessity of producing extra quantities of foods to feed the world during this stress of high consumption and paucity of production. Instead of the condition improving it is growing worse, and unless drastic and immediate action is taken, prices will continue to climb higher. It is hoped by the Canadian government that by offering extra inducements to secure a homestead of 160 acres of excellent land in the homesteading areas of Western Canada, with the combined effort of the farmer in extraordinary preparation of tillage and bigger wages than ever, that Western Canada, with the assistance of a Divine Providence, may produce a greater number of million acres of wheat than ever in the past. The farm laborer can now secure a homestead on easier conditions than ever before. All the time that he works for a Western Canadian farmer during 1917, after he makes his entry or filing will count as residence on his homestead for that year, leaving him but two additional years' residence, before getting title to a piece of land that should then be easily worth $1,600. The response to this offer has been wonderful, and hundreds have already taken advantage of it.

The climate of Western Canada is one that breeds energy, instils life and buoyancy, and with the soil that the country possesses, no greater asset could be desired. The country is past the pioneering stage; its ability to grow all the smaller grains better than any other portion of the continent has been proven so often that it seems a waste of time to speak of it. The high name that has been given the country in the splendid class of live stock that it raises, has placed it in the high column with the best states of the Union. And then social conditions, something that every housewife asks about, are as nearly perfect as could be wished for. Thousands of miles of telephone line connect the remotest hamlet with the principal cities of the country and continent, miles of excellent graded roads, as well as the perfect natural roads of the prairie, make driving and hauling easy. Gridironed as these provinces are with railway lines bring the farm near to Atlantic or Pacific, or United States markets, rural mail delivery brings the settler still closer to the homes abroad. Rural and consolidated schools everywhere are easy adjuncts to the colleges and universities, which are said to be among the best on the continent.

Taxation is light, and only applied on the farm land, cattle, implements, etc., on the farm being exempt. Many farmers, having realized sufficient from one crop of wheat to pay for their entire farm holdings, have installed their own electric light and heating plants, have their automobiles and many luxuries they would not have possessed on their old home abroad. Life is comfortable and existence enjoyable in Western Canada. In no country is there a greater percentage of contented farmers, and in no part of the continent is farming easier or more profitable.

Land there will produce 30 bushels of wheat to the acre, while there are many cases where the yield was higher, as high as 70 bushels. What this means to the farm laborer does not fully appear on the surface. He will get good wages, he can secure a homestead worth at the end of three years about $1,600, while working for wages he can put in residence duties, and can also look around, and find a good location.

Besides the homesteading attraction of Western Canada, there remains the other fact that other lands can be purchased at from $15 to $30, while improved farms may be had at reasonable figures.

The desire to have a piece of land of one's own is a natural instinct in the heart of every properly developed man and woman. In earlier years, on account of the great areas of land available in the United States, no great difficulty was experienced by any ambitious settler of that country who wished to become his own landholder, but the rapid increase in population, combined with the corresponding rise in the price of land, has completely changed this condition. Land, which a generation ago might be had for the homesteading, now commands prices ranging to $100 an acre and over. At such prices it is quite hopeless for the tenant farmer or the farmer's son in moderate circumstances, or the city man with limited capital, to attempt to buy a farm of his own. To pay for it becomes a life-long task, and the probability is that he will never do more than meet the interest charges. If he is serious in his desire to secure a farm home, he must look to countries where there is still abundant fertile land available at moderate cost, and where these lands are to be purchased on terms which make it possible for the settler with small capital to become a farm owner as the result of a few years' labor. He will also want land in a country where the practices of the people are similar to those to which he has been accustomed; a country with the same language, same religion, same general habits of living, with laws, currency, weights and measures, etc., based on the same principles as those with which he is familiar. He wants a country where he can buy land from $10.00 to $30.00 an acre, which will produce as big or bigger crops as those he has been accustomed to from lands at $100.00 an acre. He wants this land where social conditions will be attractive to himself and his family, and where he can look forward with confidence to being in a few years independent, and well started on the road to financial success.

All these conditions he will find in Western Canada, and nowhere else. The provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, commonly called "Western Canada," provide the one and only answer to the land-hungry. The land is here; it is the kind of land he wants; the conditions are as nearly ideal as is possible, and the prices and terms are such that the man of moderate capital has an opportunity not available to him elsewhere.—Advertisement.

WOMEN! IT IS MAGIC! LIFT OUT ANY CORN

Apply a few drops then lift corns or calluces off with fingers—no pain.

Just think! You can lift off any corn or callus without pain or soreness.

A Cincinnati man discovered this ether compound and named it freezone. Any druggist will sell a tiny bottle of freezone, like here shown, for very little cost. You apply a few drops directly upon a tender corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears, then shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you can lift it right off.

Freezone is wonderful. It dries instantly. It doesn't eat away the corn or callus, but shrivels it up without even irritating the surrounding skin.

Hard, soft or corns between the toes, as well as painful calluses, lift right off. There is no pain before or afterwards. If your druggist hasn't freezone, tell him to order a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house.—adv.

Gently cleanse your liver and sluggish bowels while you sleep.

Get a 10-cent box.

Sick headache, biliousness, dizziness, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath—always trace them to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret to-night will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Adv.

BRAZIL'S ENTRANCE INTO WAR EXPECTED TO COME SHORTLY

ACTION BY SOUTH AMERICAN REPUBLIC FAVORING HOSTILITIES WITH GERMANY IS PRACTICALLY CERTAIN.

OTHER LATIN AMERICAN COUNTRIES TO FOLLOW

Guatemala and Nicaragua Seriously Considering Break With Teutons—Cuba's Belligerency Makes Action by Other Republics More Likely.

Rio Janeiro, April 10.—The League of Allies has passed a resolution requesting the Brazilian government to immediately declare war on Germany.

Rio Janeiro, April 10.—A council of ministers was held at which the situation with respect to the war was reviewed and discussed. At the conclusion of the meeting the following official note was given out:

"At the meeting of the cabinet the president, after having explained the situation created by the torpedoing of the steamship Parana and presented the facts relative to this act which have come to the knowledge of the government, declared himself determined to act with the spirit demanded by the national dignity. He added that he awaited only the result of the official inquiry establishing the facts and the circumstances under which the steamer was sunk."

Dispatches received from all parts of Brazil describe the agitation caused by the torpedoing of the Panama. Everywhere press opinion demands immediate and energetic action on the part of Brazil.

Early Entrance Certain.

Washington, April 9. — Early entrance of several of the South and Central American nations into the war against Germany is regarded here as practically certain. Brazil, aroused by the sinking of her steamship Parana is expected to become a belligerent in a few days and it is assumed that her lead will be followed promptly by other countries.

Reports of divided opinion in Argentina have given officials here little encouragement to look for aggressive action by that country.

Feeling Strong in Guatemala.

Active support of the United States by at least two of the Central American republics and possibly by four would not be surprising. Official reports that Estranda Cabrera, president of Guatemala, is contemplating seriously a break with Germany has been received. So long as Mexico's course is undefined unusual interest is attached to the position of the Central American government, especially that of Guatemala, controlling the southern frontier of Mexico. In the event of the development of an unfriendly situation in Mexico, it is realized that Guatemala's role would be far from unimportant. In Guatemala, Estranda Cabrera has built up what is regarded as the most efficient army in Central America and with it he would be in a position to lend valuable assistance to the United States. Antipathy between the Guatemalans and the Mexicans there has existed there for years.

Others Would Follow.

If Cabrera does place his country in the list it is expected that Nicaragua will quickly follow and that the longstanding differences between those two countries and Salvador and Honduras may be swept away in a desire to present a united Central America.

Not Anxious About Mexico.

American officials continue to watch closely every move in Mexico, but little real anxiety remains. It is believed now that German machinations there have failed and that the worst that may be expected from that quarter is a declaration of neutrality.

Investigation by officers of the American navy showed that the reports of German reservists crossing from the United States into Mexico have been exaggerated and that the number crossing the Rio Grande since the breaking of relations with Germany up to 10 days ago was not more than 100.

Arrest Man with Maps.

York Harbor, Me., April 10.—Frank Spikehorn was arrested here as a suspicious character. After maps of the coast with marginal notes in German and a note book filled with writing had been found in his possession, he was locked up to await an examination by federal officials.

Would Help Farmers Borrow Money.

Washington, April 9.—Senator Sterling of South Dakota is preparing a bill which will enable owners of land reclaimed by the Belle Fourche project to borrow money on these holdings from the farm loan banks. The water right improvements are charged against these lands, the government holding a first mortgage. The law prevents the farm loan banks from loaning money on property against which there is a first mortgage. Senator Sterling would alter the law excepting these particular lands.

SYRUP OF FIGS FOR A CHILD'S BOWELS

It is cruel to force nauseating, harsh physic into a sick child.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask at the store for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Adv.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, restores health to the kidneys and is just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.

FALLING HAIR MEANS DANDRUFF IS ACTIVE

Save Your Hair! Get a 25 Cent Bottle of Danderine Right Now—Also Stops Itching Scalp.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its luster, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any store, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, luster and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable gloss and softness, but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp. Gopher State Happenings

Important Events of Various Sections of the state reported during last few days.

St. Paul.—Ralph W. Wheelock of Minneapolis has just become chairman of the state board of control, succeeding C. J. Swendsen, who begins a new six-year term.

Melrose, Minn.—Two children were burned to death and their mother, Mrs. Henry Hellerman, seriously injured when fire totally destroyed the Hellerman farm house, 5 miles north of Melrose.

Brainerd.—Brainerd, a city of 9,000, voted wet, but the result was classed as a moral victory by saloon men, since the city must remain dry, as it lies in the "dry" territory covered by an Indian treaty.

Duluth.—Conservative opinion here does not place the opening of navigation at the Sault Ste. Marie much before April 25. Solid ice fields remain for over forty miles on the extreme western end of Lake Superior.

Minneapolis.—More than 200 superintendents and principals of city schools in Minnesota and twice that number of teachers in these schools attended the short courses and conferences at the University of Minnesota, April 4-7.

Ironton.—The Joan mine is the first on the Cuyuna range to order that no laborers be employed unless they are American citizens. Employes must make application for papers or quit their jobs, C. M. Pearce, superintendent, said.

St. Paul.—Reports of nearly 400 active cases of smallpox in Minnesota indicate 50 per cent greater prevalence of the disease than usual at this season, Dr. A. J. Chesley, director of the communicable diseases division of the State Board of Health, announces.

Long Prairie. — E. D. Paquin of Long Prairie, president of the Minnesota branch of the National Nonpartisan league, has moved to St. Paul preparatory to the spring drive for members of the league. Mr. Paquin and A. C. Townley, national president, are conferring on plans for the summer.

Faribault. — Except for mayor, the so-called citizens' committee ticket has been swept into office in the municipal election here. R. A. Pomadt, former councilman, defeated Dr. P. A. Smith, who sought re-election as mayor. Councilmen chosen are Benson Brown, Fred Kiekenapp, H. P. Leach and John Peterson.

St. Paul.—The drys have carried Duluth by about 1,000 votes. The result is a confirmation of the vote last April, which provided that the saloons in that city should close July 1, 1917. The wets sought to get a new verdict at the polls. On the whole the election does not change the status of the saloon question in Minnesota.

Stillwater.—Minnesota's new prison and its industrial plants at Stillwater, which represent an investment of approximately $6,450,000, returned a net profit of nearly $50,000 to the state during the last year. Also, the institution paid the expense of keeping more than 1,000 prisoners, which totaled $250,000 in round numbers.

St. Paul.—The state began April business with a cash treasury balance of $5,818,832, compared with balances of $6,274,073 on Mar. 1, and $5,159,124 on April 1, 1915, according to Treasurer Rines' figures. The biggest balances are $4,631,381 in the revenue fund, $363,795 in the road and bridge fund and $193,127 in the general university fund.

St. Paul.—Adjutant General Fred B. Wood announces that discharges will be given all enlisted men of the Minnesota National Guard in the service of the United States who have persons dependent upon them for support and which renders their discharge advisable. About 120 men in the First regiment are affected, he said, and they will be discharged upon making proper applications.

Minneapolis.—About 750 greats and near-greats in Minnesota's boydom and girldom, including champion pig raisers, corn raisers and breadmakers, gathered at the university farm to attend the annual boys' and girls' week. Classes in the study of dairy cattle, beef cattle, stock feeding, poultry raising for the boys, and breadmaking, garment making and canning, for the girls, were held.

St. Paul — The allotment of the state aid fund to the various counties by the state auditor, treasurer and the new highway commissioner, Charles M. Babcock was to have been made last week, but because State Auditor J. A. O. Preus was unable to attend the other members of the board met and adjourned till the meeting is called by the commissioner. The state fund for county aid amounts to $1,613,500.

Thief River Falls.—The cost of the drainage ditch through Beltrami, Marshall and Pennington counties, and which has been styled a "ship canal" by the protestors thereto, will cost $292,053.93, according to figures given out by Engineer George W. Walker.

Fort Snelling.—All but eight men out of more than 1,000 in the First Minnesota infantry took the new federal oath of enlistment, Adjutant General Fred B. Wood has just announced. The adjutant general had been instructed to leave in the state any guardsmen refusing the oath of federal allegiance.

Old Looks?

(BY DR. L. H. SMITH)

Persons suffering from too much uric acid in the system frequently look older than they should. They age faster and the appearance of gray hair or baldhead in early years is, indeed, often a sign of uric acid. The face appears lean and haggard, lines and wrinkles appearing in young men or women.

The best way to combat this premature age and the obstruction to the arteries and faulty circulation is of the simplest: Drink copiously of pure water between meals. This will not make you fat, as it is only the water taken with the meals that fattens. Obtain at any drug store a package of Anuric, double strength, which is to be taken before meals, in order to expel the uric acid from the system. The painful effects of backache, lumbago, rheumatism, gout, due to uric acid in the blood should quickly disappear after treatment with Anuric.

NEWS OF ST. PAUL

St. Paul, Minn.—"For years I suffered from disordered kidneys. My back ached terribly, also my head. I let it run on until just lately, when I read in the papers of Anuric, and having known of Dr. Pierce and some of his other medicines, I decided to try out this Anuric. I have been greatly benefited by it, and certainly advise everyone suffering as I did to take the Anuric Tablets."—MRS. F. E. MARSHALL, 1007 Gaultier St.

Dr. Pierce's reputation is back of Anuric and you know that his Pleasant Pellets for the liver and his Favorite Prescription for the ills of women have had a splendid reputation for the last 50 years.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3,1879

It is no time to talk peace when a Monarch of a foreign country orders an invasion on our coast, for it means war, and nothing else.

THE PENALTY OF DISLOYALTY

The Herald is requested to call attention to the following extract from the criminal code of the United States:

"Whoever, owing allegiance to the United States and having knowledge of the commission of any treason against them, conceals and does not as soon as may be disclose and make known the same to the president or to some judge of the United States, or to the governor or to some judge or justice of a particular state, is guilty of treason and shall be imprisoned not more than seven years and fined not more than one thousand dollars."

That section of the criminal code of the United States speaks for itself, and requires no comment.—Duluth Herald.

All Nations now fully realize that the present terrible war was brought about by the kaiser, of Germany to gratify his ambition for the subjection of other nations to Germany, and Prussian imperialism ambitions. To acomplish his purpose he has ignored all civilized methods of warefare and all treaties among civilized nations and had it not been for the protection of the english navy he would undoubtedly invaded the coast of this country before the present time. His ambition was to blocade the English coast with his submarines and stop all shipments to that country, and thus starve them into submission. As soon as he had accomplished this he would be ready for an invasion of the United States with his army and navy, but the United States has at last woke up to the fact that the only way they can avoid a future war with this monarchy is to turn in NOW and help England and France to put this monarch and his ambitions into the scrap pile, and allow the German people to obtain a republican form of government, the same as France have.

The Red Lake River seems to have been declared non-navigable by the report of the engineers of the war department, and while there is still some hope that the government may do improvements to relieve the flood conditions by dreadging the river, there is a strong probability that they will not do anything. Now as the engineers have reported the river a non-navigable stream, a movement should be promptly made to have it removed from the control of the government, or the war department. As it now is the government refuses to do anything in the way of improvements, and will not allow anyone else to improve it, thus acting the part of the dog in the manger, that would not eat the hay himself or allow the cow to eat it. They will not even allow a bridge to be constructed across it without a special act of Congress grantin permission, for a bridge of a certain size, and height. As soon as there is a definite refusal of the government to make any improvements on the Red Lake River, the fight will start to have both it and the Red Lake take from the control of the government, for as it is now the government wont do anything, or allow anyone else to do anything.

RAILROAD SITUATION IS NOW LARGELY UP TO CONGRESS

ROBERT S. LOVETT'S VIEWS

"Unification of Regulation is Essential," A Complete, Harmonious, Consistent and Related System Needed—Federal Incorporation of Railroads by General Law Favored.

Washington, March 26.—Responsibility for the railway development of the country, for providing necessary transportation facilities to care for the growing business and population of the country, now rests largely with congress and not entirely with the railroad managers. This was the statement of Judge Robert S. Lovett, chairman of the executive committee of the Union Pacific system, to the Newlands joint congressional committee when that body resumed its inquiry into the subject of railroad regulation this week.

In making this statement of the changed conditions of the railroad situation Judge Lovett undoubtedly had in mind the decision of the supreme court on the Adamson law, handed down last week, which establishes the right of the federal government to fix railroad wages and to prevent strikes. This decision is regarded by railroad men and lawyers as marking an epoch in the development of transportation in the United States.

"We have our share of responsibility," said Judge Lovett, "but it rests primarily on congress. When the government regulates the rates and the financial administration of the railroads, the borrowing of money and the issuance of securities it relieves the railroad officers of the responsibility of providing and developing transportation systems, except within the limits of the revenue that can be realized from such rates and under such restrictions.

"For a country such as ours, for a people situated as we are, to blunder along with a series of unrelated, inconsistent, conflicting statutes enacted by different states without relation to each other, instead of providing a complete and carefully studied and prepared system of regulation for a business that is so vital to the life of the nation, is worse than folly."

He summed up the present problems and difficulties of the railroads as follows:

First.—The multiplicity of regulations by the several states with respect to the issue of securities, involving delays and conflicting state policies generally dangerous and possibly disastrous.

Second.—The state regulation of rates in such a manner as to unduly reduce revenues, to discriminate in favor of localities and shippers within its own borders as against localities and shippers in other states and to disturb and disarrange the structure of interstate rates.

Third.—The inability of the Interstate Commerce Commission, whoever the commissioners may be, to perform the vast duties devolving upon it under existing laws, resulting in delay—which should never occur in commercial matters—and compelling the commissioners to accept the conclusions of their employees as final in deciding matters of great importance to the commercial and railroad interests of the country.

Fourth.—The practical legality that has been accorded conspiracies to tie up and suspend the operation of the railroads of the country by strikes and violence and the absence of any law to compel the settlement of such disputes by arbitration or other judicial means, as all other issues between citizens in civilized states are to be settled.

Fifth.—The phenomenal increase in the taxation of railroads in recent years.

Sixth.—The cumulative effect of these conditions upon the investing public, to which railroad companies must look for the capital necessary to continue development.

"We believe that the unification of regulation is essential," said Judge Lovett, "and that with the rapid increase of state commissions in recent years congress will in time be compelled to exercise its power in the premises. To unify regulation there should be a complete, harmonious, consistent and related system. We believe the best, if not the only practical plan, is the federal incorporation of railroads by general law, which will make incorporation thereunder compulsory, thus imposing on all railroad companies throughout the United States the same corporate powers and restrictions with respect to their financial operations and the same duties and obligations to the public, and the government, so that every investor will know precisely what every railroad corporation may and may not lawfully do."

Judge Lovett contended that the solution of these problems and difficulties rested with congress. He told the committee that under the constitution the authority of the federal government is paramount, that congress has the power to legislate for a centralized control of railroads under federal charters and that it only remains for that body to exercise that power.

THE LOCAL NEWS

Oak posts for sale: Inquire at this office.

The warm rains of this week started the grass to grow and the meadows are putting on their coat of green.

The Red Lake River is now within its banks. A condition that was never known to happen last summer.

The Town of Highlanding paid into the road and bridge fund of Pennington County in the years of 1915 and 1916 $806, 45 cents. We got back $150,. Aask Peter C.W. what became of the ballarce. We only publish facts from the County records, and we are going to publish an itemized statement of all the money paid into that road and bridge fund from the towns east of Thief River Falls and what they have got back. No money for bridges in the east end, oh No! No funds, and not a single bridge across Red Lake River east of Thief River Falls.

The Township of Mayfield have been made defendants in an action for the sum of Nine hundred dollars, by a Bemidji hospital for the care of the stranger, who got his feet cut off by the train south of Plummer a year ago last winter. That man was never a resident of the town of Mayfield and they can not be held responsible for his hospitable bill, and the case will be fought to a standstill in the courts. We will publish the mans name some fine day who advised them to jump onto the town of Mayfield, as an "ezy mark", to tap for nine hundred.

The County Commissioners say: "The last term of court proved more costly than was expected and this made a hole in the visible supply of cash." Yes we know it did, and that $13,92 cents that you paid Ole Sareland, as mileage from Black Duck, to testify on the part of the defendant in that Singer arson case added some to expense. But never mind this for the present, as we are busy farming, but when we get the next financial statement we will explain to the tax payers of this County who are the men that are responsible for high court expenses. But in the meantime let us give county officers a "tip." If you see a man from this end of the County who THINKS he is awful popular down there "lobbing" around the next grand jury, trying to have about all of his neighbors indicted, just have Sheriff LaBree arrest him on suspicion of being a German spy, and lock him up until the grand jury adjourns, and you will save enough court expenses in two terms of court to build a bridge across Red Lake river, in the town of Highlanding.

Modest Blackmore.

That the author of "Lorna Doone" was one of the best fruit growers in England is brought out by Hildegarde Hawthorne in an article on Blackmore which she contributes to St. Nicholas. Indeed, it was of his fruit that he loved most to talk, according to Miss Hawthorne. Of his writings or of himself at all it was very difficult to get him to say a word, for he was shy and modest to a high degree. If you tried to make him talk about his books he would always slip quickly away to something about peaches or nectarines or plums, or he would ask you to come out to see his garden and wander there happily, pruning shears in hand, pointing out his prize fruits and telling you just what must be done to bring each type to perfection.

DISPLAYING THE FLAG

George Singer is to display a big U. S. flag on the post office building at [illegible]. With four sons of military age, that are safely resting at home. When Abe Lincoln called for volunteers, the Hunt's did not display their flag as home, but on the battle field, at the front. We had two cousins killed in battle, one uncle and one brotherinlaw that were discharged with four years honorable credit for service renderd the government in time of war. That is the kind of a flag to display now. Them German submarines cared nothing for the display of our flag on our merchant ships, but sank them flag and all. Don't sit down and say! We bet Wilson will win, but turn in and help him the same as we did Lincoln.

It's all right to display the flag, but America never won a war by displaying their flag [illegible]

Where Art Ceases.

All art is a matter of nature or life acted upon by man; a part taken out of its accidental surroundings and given artistic form. At either side of the field of true art is a waste place where art ceases to have beauty. And the waste on the one side is reached when the artist becomes so enamored of life that he forgets to interpret, to give artistic form, and only brings forth a photographic image, while the waste on the other side is reached when the artist perfects his form but forgets to put life into it.—Sheldon Cheney.

All Happens in a Second.

A second is the smallest division of time in general use, and when we consider that in one year there are about 31,558,000 of these periods it would certainly seem as if it was enough for all practical purposes. But, after all, a good deal can happen in a second.

A light wave, for instance, passes through a distance of about 180,000 miles in this length of time. The earth in itself moves in its orbit at a rate of about twenty miles a second.

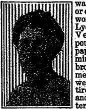
WOMAN SICK TWO YEARS

Could Do No Work. Now Strong as a Man.



Chicago, Ill.—"For about two years I suffered from a female trouble so I was unable to walk or do any of my own work. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers and determined to try it. It brought almost immediate relief. My weakness has entirely disappeared and I never had better health. I weigh 165 pounds and am as strong as a man. I think money is well spent which purchases Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Jos. O'Bryan, 1755 Newport Ave., Chicago, Ill.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, and nervous prostration. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the standard remedy for female ills.

They Use 'Em in the Trenches.

A Kansas City man recently came into a black eye. The last legacy of that kind he had satisfactorily dissipated with the aid of a leech, procured from a widely known leech firm on Southwest boulevard. So he telephoned the firm to arrange for the services of another. He was told that the price was $1 each leech.

"Why?" he asked. "Two years ago I paid only 50 cents."

"Yes, I know," replied the leech magnate, "but you see, on account of the war in Europe, leeches are now worth a dollar."—Kansas City Star.

GIRLS! GIRLS! TRY IT, BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR

Make It Thick, Glossy, Wavy, Luxuriant and Remove Dandruff—Real Surprise for You.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Danderine hair cleanse." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it, surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any store and just try it. Adv.

Bank of England Cramped.

The work of the Bank of England has increased so enormously since the war that several fresh premises have had to be engaged to carry on the work and house the additional staff, which includes a large proportion of women. The pay office, national debt department, printing department, and loan departments have all had to be separately housed, and in addition a spacious new building will shortly be taken as a restaurant for the many additional workers engaged on governmental and public banking work.

A bad back makes a day's work twice as hard. Backache usually comes from weak kidneys, and if headaches, dizziness or urinary disorders are added, don't wait—get help before the kidney disease takes a grip—before dropsy, gravel or Bright's disease sets in. WILSON APPEALS TO PEOPLE TO JOIN IN SERVING NATION

SUPREME TEST OF COUNTRY HAS COME AND ALL MUST SPEAK, ACT AND SERVE TOGETHER.

YOUNG AND OLD URGED TO WORK TO RAISE FOOD

Must Supply Foodstuffs Not Only for Ourselves But for Nations With Whom We Have Made Common Cause—Resources Must Be Made Prolific.

Washington, April 16. — President Wilson has issued the following personal appeal to the people of the United States:

Text of Address.

"My Fellow Countrymen—The entrance of our own beloved country into the grim, terrible war for democracy and human rights which has shaken the world, creates so many problems of national life and action which call for immediate consideration and settlement that I hope you will permit me to address to you a few words of earnest counsel and appeal with regard to them.

Armament a Simple Task.

"We are rapidly putting our navy on an effective war footing and are about to create and equip a great army, but these are the simplest parts of the great task to which we have addressed ourselves. There is not a single selfish element, so far as I can see, in the cause we are fighting for. We are fighting for what we believe and wish to be the rights of mankind and for the future peace and security of the world.

"These then are the things we must do and do well, besides fighting—the things without which mere fighting would be fruitless:

"We must not only supply abundant food for ourselves and for our armies and our seamen but also for a large part of the nations with whom we have now made common cause, in whose support and by whose sides we shall be fighting.

"We must supply ships by the hundreds out of our shipyards to carry to the other side of the sea, submarines or no submarines, what will every day be needed there and abundant materials out of our fields and our mines and our factories with which not only to clothe and equip our own forces on land and sea but also to clothe and support our people for whom the gallant fellows under arms can no longer work, to help clothe and equip the armies with which we are co-operating in Europe to keep the looms and manufactories there in raw material; coal to keep the fires going on ships at sea and in the furnaces in hundreds of factories across the sea; steel out of which to make arms and ammunition both here and there; rails for worn-out railways back of the fighting fronts; locomotives and rolling stock to take the place of those every day going to pieces; mules, horses, cattle for labor and for military service; everything with which the people of England and France and Italy and Russia have usually supplied themselves but cannot now afford the men, the materials or the machinery to make.

More Efficiency Needed.

"It is evident to every thinking man that our industries, in farms, in shipyards, in the mines, in the factories, must be made more prolific and more efficient than ever and that they must be more economically managed and better adapted to the particular requirements of our task than they have been; and what I want to say is that the men and the women who devote their thought and their energy to these things will be serving the country and conducting the fight for peace and freedom just as truly and just as effectively as the men on the battlefield or in the trenches. The industrial forces of the country, men and women alike, will be a great national, a great international reserve army—a notable and honored host engaged in the service of the nation and the world, the efficient friends and saviors of free men everywhere. Thousands, nay, hundreds of thousands, of men otherwise liable to military service will of right and of necessity be excused from that service and assigned to the fundamental, sustaining work of the fields and factories and mines, and they will be as much part of the great patriotic forces of the nation as the men under fire.

Addresses the Farmers.

"I take the liberty therefore of addressing this word to the farmers of the country and to all who work on the farms: The supreme need of our own nation and of the nations with which we are co-operating is an abundance of supplies and especially of foodstuffs. The importance of an adequate food supply, especially for the present year, is superlative.

"Without abundant food alike for the armies and the peoples now at war, the whole great enterprise on which we have embarked will break down and fail. The world's food reserves are low. Not only during the present emergency, but for some time after peace shall have come both our own people and a large proportion of the people of Europe must rely on the harvests in America. On the farmers of this country therefore, in large measure rests the fate of the war and the fate of the nations. May the nation not count on them to omit no step that will increase the production of their land or that will bring about the most effectual co-operation in the sale and distribution of their products? The time is short. It is of the most imperative importance that everything possible be done and done immediately to make sure of large harvests.

"I call on young men and old alike and on the able-bodied boys of the land to accept and act on this duty—to turn in hosts to the farms and make certain that no pains and no labor is lacking in this great matter.

Appeals to the South.

"I particularly appeal to the farmers of the South to plant abundant foodstuffs as well as cotton. They can show their patriotism in no better or more convincing way than by resisting the great temptation of the present price of cotton and helping, helping on a great scale, to feed the nation and the peoples everywhere who are fighting for their liberties and for our own.

"The government of the United States and the governments of the several states stand ready to co-operate. They will do everything possible to assist farmers in securing an adequate supply of seed, an adequate force of laborers when they are most needed at harvest time and the means of expediting shipments of fertilizers and farm machinery as well as of the crops themselves when harvested. The course of trade shall be as unhampered as it is possible to make it and there shall be no unwarranted manipulation of the nation's food supply by those who handle it on its way to the consumer. This is our opportunity to demonstrate the efficiency of a great democracy and we shall not fall short of it.

Middlemen Admonished.

"This let me say to the middlemen of every sort, whether they are handling our foodstuffs or our raw materials of manufacture or the products of our mills and factories: The eyes of the country will be especially on you. This is your opportunity for signal service, efficient and disinterested. The country expect you as it expects all others, to forego unusual profits, to organize and expedite shipments of supplies of every kind, but especially of food with an eye to the service you are rendering and in the spirit of those who enlist in the ranks, for their people, not for themselves.

"I shall confidently expect you to deserve and win the confidence of people of every sort and station.

"To the men who run the railways of the country, whether they be managers or operative employes, let me say that the railways are the arteries of the nation's life and that on them rests the immense responsibility of seeing to it that these arteries suffer no obstruction of any kind, no inefficiency or slackened power.

"To the merchant let me suggest the motto 'small profits and quick service'; and to the shipbuilder the thought that the life of the war depends on him. The food and the war supplies must be carried across the seas no matter how many ships are sent to the bottom. The places of those that go down must be supplied and supplied at once.

Miner Stands With Farmer.

"To the miner let me say that he stands where the farmer does. The work of the world waits on him. If he slackens or fails, armies and statesmen are helpless. He also is enlisted in the great service army. The manufacturer does not need to be told, I hope, that the nation looks to him to speed and to perfect every process; and I want only to remind his employes that their service is absolutely indispensable and is counted on by every man who loves the country and its liberties.

"Let me suggest also that everyone who creates or cultivates a garden helps and helps greatly to solve the problem of the feeding of the nations and that every housewife who practices strict economy puts herself in the ranks of those who serve the nation. This is the time for America to correct her unpardonable fault of wastefulness and extravagance. Let every man and every woman assume the duty of careful, provident use and expenditure as a public duty and as a dictate of patriotism which no one can now expect ever to be excused or forgiven for ignoring.

LOYALTY DAY IN MINNESOTA

April 19 Set Aside in Proclamation By Governor.

St. Paul.—Loyalty day in Minnesota, on Thursday, April 19, an anniversary of the battle of Lexington, was proclaimed April 13 by Governor Burnquist.

The proclamation follows:

"On the morning of the 19th day of April, 1775, on the village green at Lexington, sixteen men, to whom liberty was dearer than life, lay dead or wounded, shot down by soldiers representing a tyrannical government because they opposed the march of tyranny. This was the beginning of the war for American independence. No day can be a more fitting one on which the American people should come together for the purpose of holding patriotic meetings, of calling attention to the necessity of securing additional recruits, and of coming to a full realization of the fact that we, today, are involved in the greatest conflict of history.

Urges Enlistment.

"We can no longer discuss the advisability of getting into war, for, regardless of the conflicting opinions prior to the declaration of congress, we are now at war. It is, therefore, absolutely necessary that as many as can possibly do so join the national guard immediately and it is hereby urged that on Thursday, April 19, the one hundred and forty-second anniversary of the battle of Lexington, that special efforts be made for such purpose and that all of our people proceed at once in co-operation with a state public safety commission to use every means possible to defend our common country, protect the lives of our citizens and to safeguard our homes and our families.

Bread Ration Cut Worries Germany.

London, April 14.—The food situation is dominating all other considerations in Germany, according to the Berlin Vorwaerts, as quoted in an Amsterdam dispatch to the Central News. The Vorwaerts says: "Notwithstanding all the big events the new food regulations, which are to be introduced on April 15, form the exclusive subject of discussion in the most considerable circles of the people. The nearer the fateful day approaches the greater becomes the tension. It is a serious difficulty for all the people.

"Well," remarked Mr. Meekton with a timorous yet contented smile, "we have had some strike trouble at our house. Henrietta hasn't recovered from the surprise yet!"

"What happened?"

"I walked in and told her that the coal heaver and the furnace tender and the lawn sprinkler and the dog washer and the rubber tree nurse had organized and declared a strike."

"How did it happen?"

"Easily. I'm all of them."

LIFT YOUR CORNS OFF WITH FINGERS

How to loosen a tender corn or callus so it lifts out without pain.

Let folks step on your feet hereafter; wear shoes a size smaller if you like, for corns will never again send electric sparks of pain through you, according to this Cincinnati authority.

He says that a few drops of a drug called freezone, applied directly upon a tender, aching corn, instantly relieves soreness, and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts right out.

This drug dries at once and simply shrivels up the corn or callus without even irritating the surrounding skin.

A small bottle of freezone obtained at any drug store will cost very little but will positively remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet.

If your druggist hasn't stocked this new drug yet, tell him to get a small bottle of freezone for you from his wholesale drug house.—adv.

Unfortunate Choice.

"A tramp arrested for vagrancy told the court he was an educated man and offered to prove it by quoting some poetry."

"Did the judge consent?"

"Yes. The tramp quoted several passages from Browning."

"And the judge let him off, I suppose?"

"No, indeed. His honor's wife happens to belong to a Browning club. He has been so fed up on Browning, morning, noon and night, that he sent the poor devil to the workhouse."

Important Distinction.

"You must understand that the precise use of words is very important," said the patient instructor.

"I surely does," replied Mr. Erastus Pinckley. "I'll never forget de trouble I started when my uncle said he was raisin' chickens an' I went out an' said he was liftin' 'em."

"Your almond cream?"

"Yes, my complexion cream."

"Sir, I have come to ask you for your daughter's hand."

"All right, young man. You'll find it in my pocket."

$9,736,823 IS GIVEN BY LOWER HOUSE TO STATE EDUCATION

BILL CARRIES ONE OF LARGEST APPROPRIATIONS FOR EDUCATIONAL PURPOSES EVER MADE BY STATE.

SENATE MAY CUT TOTAL TO MUCH LOWER AMOUNT

Appropriation Does Not Include the $1,074,000 Already Made to Make Up Deficiency in State Aid—Amount Asked by University Is Cut $1,300,000.

St. Paul, April 14.—The Minnesota House of representatives has voted to appropriate a total of $9,736,823 for educational institutions and state aid for schools for the ensuing two years. The total does not include an appropriation of $1,074,000 already appropriated to make up the deficit in school aid.

The bill, as passed, carries one of the largest appropriations ever made for educational purposes in the state of Minnesota. While all requests for building at the state university and most of the normal schools were cut, there is so much aid for graded schools included that the bill carries the enormous total, heretofore unheard of.

The Senate, it is understood, will pass a bill much less in amount, the difference being in the state aid. Two years, ago, the same matter was fought out in conference at the last minute and the Senate won its point.

The House bill carries an appropriation of $5,590,693 as aid for high, graded, semi-graded, consolidated, industrial and rural schools. Charges have been made that the school aid has developed into a pork barrel proposition. Many schools throughout the state gets state aid even though the local tax levy for schools amounts to much less than 5 mills.

An appropriation of $3,026,950 for the State university is made in the House measure. All requests for buildings, with minor exceptions, were disallowed. The total allotted to the university is approximately $1,300,000 less than was asked. The appropriations committee had not made an appropriation for the new normal school building at Bemidji. Representative Prendergast of Bemidji submitted an amendment for an appropriation for $150,000 for that purpose. It was argued that the Legislature had promised the appropriation to the Bemidji people two years ago. On the strength of that promise, the House adopted the amendment.

House Passes Public Domain Bill.

St. Paul, April 12.—After one of the most bitter political fights in the history of the Minnesota Legislature, the bill creating a department of public domain was passed by the House of Representatives by a vote of 79 to 43.

Charges of excessive lobbying on the part of Governor Burnquist and State Auditor J. A. O. Preus, the former for the bill and the latter against it, were frequent throughout the long debate on the measure.

After the House had passed the public domain bill it killed the bill reorganizing the educational department and passed the bill relating to the health board, after amending it by striking out the main portions of the measure.

The public domain bill now goes back to the Senate where it once was defeated. It has been amended by taking out the provisions for a director of public domain, making the governor the head of the department, with five bureau chiefs as heads of the separate bureaus.

That the bitter fight between the governor and the auditor will be continued until the bill is acted on in the upper body, is the prediction of leaders on both sides.

'Phone Toll Rates Bill Lost.

St. Paul, April 14.—Accepting the judgment of Senator J. D. Sullivan that the measure would bring no result but a lawsuit, the Senate defeated F. L. Glotzbach's bill restoring telephone toll rates to the figures in effect April 1, 1915, before the advances made in anticipation of the Minette law. The vote was 26 to 41.

The state railroad and warehouse commission advised against the bill and asked instead for a liberal provision for its task of valuing telephone properties, a work that must be finished before legal rate making can be undertaken.

The Senate committee on education today recommended for indefinite postponement the House bill providing a system of uniform text books for Minnesota, and authorizing their publication by a state commission.

Workmen's Act Is Amended.

St. Paul, April 13.—Two bills amending the workmen's compensation act have been passed by the House and two measures indorsed by the labor organizations were killed.

The first of the group related to the liability of employers to compensate employes and their dependents for personal injury and death and providing a waiting period, passed in its original form.

The second bill passed relates to the liability of employers to compensate employes for personal injuries. [illegible]

House Passes War Bills

St. Paul, April 14.—The Minnesota House of Representatives focused its attention on war measures and in less than one hour's time passed four important bills, products of the present war situation. These are the bills passed in quick succession:

The George H. Sullivan public safety commission bill, carrying $1,000,000 appropriation, already passed by the Senate. It was amended in several particulars and will have to go into conference for ironing out differences existing between House and Senate.

The bill aimed in particular at I. W. W.'s and other persons of that type, defining as a felony the teaching of criminal syndicalism, sabotage and terrorism.

A measure to prevent interference with enlistments.

A bill to prohibit aliens from having in their possession firearms or explosives.

The amendments tacked on the public safety commission bill include one definitely fixing the amount of pay for the soldiers who served on the Mexican border at 50 cents a day. As passed in the Senate, the public safety commission was empowered to pay the soldiers such sums as it deemed just. Governor Burnquist is understood to have desired that the legislature take all of the responsibility for the soldier pay.

The other amendment of importance gives the Governor the power to approve or veto all acts of the public safety commission. That this amendment will meet with strenuous objection by the senators, is the prediction made by many. The Governor is ex-officio member and chairman of the commission of seven members. If the Governor must approve all of the commission's acts, it is thought that the body will become simply an advisory body.

The bill was rushed to the Senate immediately upon passage in the House. On motion of Senator G. H. Sullivan, the upper body refused to concur and the appointment of Senate conferees was ordered.

Public Safety Bill Passed.

St. Paul, April 11.—Without a dissenting vote the Minnesota Senate has passed the George H. Sullivan bill providing for creation of a public safety commission with wide powers to handle the war situation so far as Minnesota is concerned. The bill carries an appropriation of $1,000,000.

Immediately after the passage of the big "war measure," a drastic bill aimed at the I. W. W.'s and all others who advocate criminal syndicalism, terrorism and sabotage, was passed with only the Socialist member, Richard Jones of Duluth, opposing it.

The Public Safety commission bill had been amended by the finance committee so as to provide for the establishment of home guards. Governor Burnquist's request that the Legislature take all of the responsibility for the pay of soldiers who served on the Mexican border was turned down by the committee. Under the bill as passed by the Senate, the commission, with the governor acting as the chairman, will have to take full responsibility.

Try to Revive Suffrage Bill.

St. Paul, April 10.—Attempts to resurrect the suffrage issue in the Minnesota legislature have failed.

Senator D. P. O'Neill and 13 others tried to bring the constitutional suffrage amendment bill back to life by voting to overturn the report of the election committee whereby the measure had been killed. There were 49 who decided to let the measure rest in its grave.

The outcome of the resurrection attempts were a foregone conclusion long before the fight was started.

Session Near End—Much Work Left.

St. Paul, April 10.—This will be the busiest week of the legislative session. There are but few legislative days left.

The omnibus appropriations bill probably will reach both Houses this week. The Senate has five motions for special orders on hand. A number of the fish and game bills passed by the House are on the calendar awaiting a final vote. Four of the tax commission bills also are on the calendar.

Committees Confer On Bill.

St. Paul, April 14.—Committees of House and Senate were scheduled to meet late Friday to iron out differences existing between the two branches on the public safety commission bill, passed by the House.

Senators George H. Sullivan, Rockne, Wallace, Putnam and J. D. Sullivan are the Senate conferees and Representatives Pratt, Moeller, Reed, Steen and Leonard represent the lower body.

Record Book of Session Laws.

St. Paul, April 14.—The largest book of session laws in the history of Minnesota is being made by the present legislature, Secretary of State Julius A. Schmahl said, and added, "If the volume is not as big or bigger than the general statutes I'll miss my guess." Secretary Schmahl said 213 laws have been passed to date.

House Amends Health Board Bill.

St. Paul, April 12.—The house has amended the new health commission bill, so that it merely abolishes the advisory commission now having charge of the tuberculosis sanatorium work, and places the work under a division of tuberculosis in the control of the state board of health. In this form, which was proposed by Henrik Shipstead, the bill passed with a vote of 69 to 29. The senate bill creating a state board of education was swamped by a vote of 16 to 37, after an attack by Theodore Christianson.

Died of Premature Old Age!

How many times we hear of comparatively young persons passing away when they should have lived to be 70 or 80 years of age. This fatal work is usually attributed to the kidneys, as, when the kidneys degenerate, it causes auto-intoxication. The more injurious the poisons passing thru the kidneys the quicker will those noble organs be degenerated, and the sooner they decay.

It is thus the wisest policy, to prevent premature old age and promote long life, to lighten the work of the kidneys. This can be done by drinking plenty of pure water all day long, and occasionally taking Anuric, double strength, before meals. This can be obtained at almost any drug store. You will find Anuric more potent than lithia for it dissolves uric acid as water does sugar.

FRUIT LAXATIVE FOR SICK CHILD

"California Syrup of Figs" can't harm tender stomach, liver and bowels.

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs" that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish, or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleaning" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask at the store for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Adv.

Potatoes.

Irish potatoes and most other vegetables and fruits tend to make the body tissues and fluids alkaline, so correcting the tendency of meat, eggs, fish and similar foods to create acid conditions. Since the body performs its work best when it is neutral or slightly alkaline, this function of fruits and vegetables is important, especially to the hearty meat eater.

Confidence.

"Would you tell Bliggins anything in confidence?"

"To a certain extent. I'd be perfectly confident that anything I told him would be repeated."

The South predicts that its cotton crop this year will return close to $1,000,000,000, despite the reduction in yield.

Is That So?

A man was frisking over his last summer's clothes figuring on digging out a light suit, when he discovered that a pair of pants was so much moth eaten to be useless. On examining the holes in the pants he discovered that they were arranged in a mechanical manner like the holes in the player piano rolls. So he placed the pants in his player-piano, and to his amazement they rendered two verses of "Home, Sweet Home."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Salt sprinkled over carpets before sweeping preserves the color and keeps away moths.

It is surprising how little people know when on the witness stand.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn, under the Act of Congress of March 3,1879

It is no time to talk peace when a Monarch of a foreign country orders an invasion on our coast, for it means war,and nothing else.

TO THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF RED LAKE COUNTY

Will you please inform us for publication in THE SUNBEAM, HOW your County have been able to construct, one steel bridge on the Clearwater river in the Town of Equality. One in the Town of Garnes, and are now contracting for the costruction of one to be built in the Town of Emardville, north of the Village of Plummer this summer. All of said bridges being in eastern Red Lake Couty, and haveing been built since the division of the county?

A reply to the above would no doubt be interesting reading for the people of eastern Pennington county at the present time as we have the Red Lake River runing across the County of Pennington, (which was set off from Red Lake county because we were being robed of our road and bridge fund) for a distance of forty miles east of Thief River Falls,and not a bridge across it.

At the last session of the County Commissioners, of this county there was three petitions asking for bridges from this end of the county and this is our answer!

"At a meeting of the County Commissioners which was held Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday, it was formally decided that owing to lack of funds it would be impossible for them to erect the bridges asked for at Kratka, Highlanding and Neptune, but as soon as there was sufficients money in the treasurey the proposition would receive careful attention."T.R.F.N.P.

Money in the treasurey! What in hl-- have you done with the money paid into the road and bridge fund by the tax payers of eastern Pennington county for the past six years,and not a 2 x 4 scantling bridge to show for it? We do not like to dig up old dead cats, but we would rather be right than to be president. At the time of County division,did not Walter McAndress and yours trouly warn you that if you divided this county that the east end would get no help for roads or bridges? Who told you the trouth? Go and look at the steel bridges in eastern Red Lake county for your answer. They and Thief River Falls got the bridges,and you can sink or swim. But we will tell you what you did get. You got Peter C. Wold for County Commissioner, and may God help you.--Amen!

While we have some differencs of opinion in this country it is nothing,when compared with that of the german people in Germany; Merchentmen who lost their ships in American ports continualy refer to german leaders, who were responsible for that unrestricted submarine warefare, as "wooden jackasses,"and we think they have them rightly named.

HIGH COST OF LIVING HITS THE RAILROADS

Service Will Be Crippled Unless Relief Comes Soon.

EXPENSES UP, RATES DOWN

Wasteful and Conflicting Regulations Hamper Railroad Credit, While Advance In Labor and Materials Outstrips Revenues, Chairman Kruttschnitt Tells Congress Committee. Unified Federal Control Will Improve Conditions.

Washington, April 2.—The condition in which the railroads find themselves as a result of constant increases in wages, prices of material, taxes and other expenses, while their revenues are restricted by legislation, was strikingly described by Julius Kruttschnitt, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Southern Pacific Company, in his testimony during the past few days before the Joint Congressional Committee on Interstate Commerce, which is making a study of the question of railroad regulation. Mr. Kruttschnitt urged the committee to recommend a plan of regulation which will center responsibility for regulation and its results in the federal government, so that conditions affecting both expenses and revenues may be made subject to a uniform policy instead of the wasteful and often conflicting policies involved in the system of combined state and federal regulation.

Why Roads Need More Money.

Mr. Kruttschnitt's testimony also had a bearing on the reasons for the application of the roads to the Interstate Commerce Commission for a general advance in freight rates. He showed that while the price of transportation has declined in recent years, the cost of producing transportation, like the cost of almost everything else, has rapidly advanced. This he illustrated by showing that if freight and passenger rates had increased during the past twenty years in the same proportion as average commodity prices the railroads of the United States would have received $1,654,000,000 more for transportation in 1915 than they did receive.

This saving to the public was effected, in spite of an increase of 93 per cent in the cost of operation of trains, by a reduction in the average passenger rate per mile from 2.04 cents in 1895 to 1.98 cents in 1915, a decrease of 3 per cent, and by a reduction in the average freight rate per ton mile from 8.39 mills in 1895 to 7.3 mills in 1915, or 13 per cent. During the same period the cost of operation per train mile rose from 92 cents to $1.78, almost doubling. At the same time the average price of 346 commodities enumerated in a bulletin of the Department of Agriculture increased 115 per cent. Transportation is practically the only commodity in general use that has not increased tremendously in price during the past twenty years, freight and passenger charges being lower than they were twenty years ago.

Big Saving to Public.

If rates had risen proportionately to the increase in the cost of other articles of ordinary use, Mr. Kruttschnitt told the committee, the average passenger rate in 1915 would have been 2.95 cents a mile, or 50 per cent higher than it was, and the average freight rate would have been 1.21 cents, or 66 per cent higher than it was. The saving to the public in passenger fares through this difference was $314,000,000 and in freight rates $1,340,000,000.

Universal railroad bankruptcy under this reduction in rates and increased cost of operation, he said, was avoided only by heavy expenditures to obtain increased efficiency in train movement, making it possible to haul more tons of freight per locomotive. This had reduced the average cost of hauling a ton of freight, but the decline in the average freight rate had reduced the net revenue of the roads from each ton hauled. If the operating costs of the railroads, including the prices of coal, labor and material, continue to advance at the present rate a lot of railroads will be in the hands of receivers by 1918 unless some relief is afforded, Mr. Kruttschnitt told the committee.

"Owing to the rise of commodity prices," he said, "the purchasing power of the dollar has fallen 55 per cent and the railroads are in the position of being compelled by law to accept payment for their service to the public in currency worth 45 cents on the dollar.

Public's Chief Interest.

"The public's greatest interest is in adequate transportation facilities and not so much in low rates. As to most commodities freight rates form a very small proportion of their cost. Excluding low grade commodities, the percentage of the freight rate to the cost is so slight as to offer no justification for any substantial increase in prices to the consumer. It may be stated with little fear of contradiction that the consumer seldom, if ever, profits from a lowering of freight rates.

"Extortionate charges are a thing of the past, and under the attempt to cut rates to their lowest possible figure the interest of the whole public in the character and standard of transportation is subordinated to the interest of that part of the public only that profits by lower rates—that is to say, the shippers and their agents and not the general public, the ultimate consumer."

THE LOCAL NEWS

Mrs. Hunt is suffering from a severe attact of quinsy this week.

We have one eight acre field of wheat that we finished before the Tuesdays storm.

E.A. Mostue was up from the city this week looking after his farming interests in Deer Park Township.

Oscar and Ole Nesland and Ed Rustan, of Deer Park were up on a fishing trip Monday, and made this office a plesent call.

Tuesday nights storm has delayed seeding for a week, which time we hate to loose, as it will soon be late for wheat seeding.

Thief River Falls are willing to send out men to help farmers rush in sheir crops. but there is not much lack of labor up this way, but horse feed is pretty scarse.

Having sickness in the family, has made it hard to get out the paper this week,and we ask our readers to excuse us for the small amount of home reading matter for this week.

The Red Lake River is now within its banks, and some of the Hickory Township farmers can now see their meadow lands, that they have not seen since a year ago last fall.

Pennington County will receive as their share of the State road and bridge fund $14. 327. Why for god sake can not the people ofeastern Pennington County have enough of this money to build one bridge across Red Lake River? Our Commissioner would undoubtly like to use this entire amount to construct a state road to connect Rhoda and Kratk panst offices, where about the only use for it at the present time would be to have a good road for the Rhoda postmaster to go over to Kratka and have the "brains" of the family fix up his monthly reports to the Post office department.

Surveyrs have been out surveying the extension to the state road that was extended, running east from Hazel on the Township line between Kratka and Mayfield and Highlanding and Deer Park. This road has never been asked for by the people, and the whole thing has the appearance of one P. C. Wolds undehanded deals to get a good state road from Rhoda to Kratka and the first bridge to be built just north of Kratka. But we are next to P. C. and as he attempts to blow in the town of Highlandings road and bridge funds on that road he will be stoped by injunction. Governor Burnquist made a house cleaning of Commissioners in Beltrami and Koochiching Counties and he will be promptly called on by the people of this District for an investigation of the way Wold is useing the money. The other members of the board are not to blame as they naturally think that a Commissioner is putting their money whare it is most needed, but this is a case of putting the money where it is not needed to keep it from being used where it was petitioned to be used by the people.

The Walrus' Defenses.

A full grown walrus will weigh as much as 2,000 pounds, a mountainous mass of muscle and blubber. He is armed with tusks of ivory sometimes two feet in length, and when from his upreared bulk these formidable weapons are plunged downward upon an enemy they are as resistless as the drop of a guillotine. Such a thick layer of blubber lies under the skin that he is practically clad in an armor impervious to teeth and claws alike.—St. Nicholas.

The center slit in a pen is cut by a machine which seems almost to think. It consists of two chisels which barely pass each other when the slit is made, and the exact way in which the pen is poised so as to place the chisels in the proper position for cutting is one of the marvels of penmaking.

BIG RUSH NOW ON

For Western Canada and the 160-Acre Homesteads.

"In a war like this, they also serve and serve effectively who till the fields and gardens.

"It cannot be repeated too often that the world needs every ounce of food it can produce this year, and that the growers of that food are sure of good prices. When men now of middle age were casting their first ballot, 'dollar wheat' was the farmer's ideal of prosperity. Today, we have two-dollar wheat, with other grains and meats and vegetables in proportion; and indications that any shift from these prices is as likely to be up as down.

"Every acre must work. The farmer who increases his crops is performing a national service, as well as assuring prosperity for himself. There cannot be too much, and unless a united and consistent effort is made, there will not be enough."—Chicago Journal.

Now that the United States has joined with the Allies, the sentiment of the past has merged into the personal interest of the present. The duty of the loyal and patriotic citizen is to bend every effort to bring the great World's War to a satisfactory conclusion, to assist in all ways the forces that have been fighting at tremendous odds the giant power of autocracy. Victory is now assured; the union of the great fighting force of the United States navy, its military, its financial co-operation, its full and complete sympathy, will eventually bring about a peace that will be solid and lasting. Canada, just across the border line, that has no mark of fortification, no signs of defense, welcomes the assistance that the United States is rendering, welcomes this new partner into the arena that is battling for a disruption of the forces that breed and beget tyranny and oppression, and fighting for a democratic and free world. What a sight it will be to see the American and the Canadian, with the Stars and Stripes and the Maple Leaf of Canada emblazoned in one fold and entwined in their effort to rid the world of an incubus that has disregarded all laws—human and divine.

There is a necessity for the greatest effort ever was made, not only on the battle fields of Europe, not only on the mined and submarined seas, but in carrying out on the peaceful fields of agriculture, the plans so urgently requested by those at the head of the departments of resources. The recent reports by the Government show a great falling off in the amount of grain that may be expected from the crop as of recent date, being only a little over 60 per cent, 16 per cent less than the average. Every patriotic American will bend all his effort towards increasing this. He may not shoulder a musket, but he can handle a hoe, he can drive a team and manage a plow. He will be doing yeoman service in this way, and assist in a wonderful manner the man who is fighting in the trenches. If he does not now own a piece of land, by all means get one—rent it, buy it—get it. There is lot of vacant land that will give ample return for his labor.

The desire to possess a home, to improve it and to prosper, is natural to every American, and today unprecedented offers are being made to secure the residence of the home hunter. The war condition is draining the continent of its foodstuffs and economists are endeavoring to meet the rapid depletion of the nation's stores of grain and other farm products. Western Canada has proven her claim to being the natural producer of economically grown foodstuffs and is endeavoring to overcome a world's shortage in necessities by offering her lands, practically free, to anyone who will take them and produce. Labor is scarce in Canada, and is now being bonused. Good wages are offered and the time a farm hand is drawing pay in 1917, is considered by the Canadian Government, the same as residence duties on one of the free 160-acre farms, that this Government is giving away, in order to settle the fertile prairies and bring about within a few years a half billion annual crop of wheat.

The most conclusive evidence is available to any inquirer, that Western Canada farm lands will produce more wheat of a better quality and at a lower cost of production per acre than has heretofore been known in grain-growing countries. It is no idle statement to say that yields of fifty bushels to the acre of wheat are grown in Canada; the statement is made in all seriousness and is backed up by the letters and affidavits of reliable farmers in Western Canada. These farmers are enjoying the same home comforts that their neighbors to the south participate; they have the same good horses and cattle, the same good roads and communication, as well as the same good social conditions, and, best of all, they own their land and what they earn they own for themselves, being a foundation for greater wealth and independence.—Advertisement.

PRESIDENT MAKES APPEAL TO PEOPLE ON DRAFT MEASURE

SENDS OPEN LETTER TO CONGRESSMAN EXPLAINING SELECTIVE DRAFT SYSTEM WITH HOPE THAT IT PASSES.

NO TIME NOW TO AWAIT VOLUNTEERS, HE SAYS

Proposed Progaam Would Seek Men Who Can Best Be Spared for Fighting While Others Would Do Work For Which They Are Best Adapted.

Washington, April 21.—As one step toward meeting opposition in Congress to the administration's army plans, President Wilson sent an open letter to Representative Helvering of Kansas explaining what is meant by selective draft and expressing earnest hope that the bill drafted by the War department would be passed.

Text of Letter.

The letter follows:

"I welcome the inquiry of your letter of April 19, because I have realized the truth of what you say from my own observations; namely, that what is meant to be understood by the selective draft is not generally understood throughout the country.

"The process of the draft is, I think, very clearly set forth in the bill drafted by the War department, and which I so earnestly hope the Congress will adopt, but it is worth while to state the idea which underlies the bill a little more fully.

Want Those Who Can Be Spared.

"I took occasion the other day in an address to the people of the country to point out the many forms of patriotic service that were open to them and to emphasize the fact that the military part of the service was by no means the only part, and perhaps, all things considered not the most vital part. Our object is a mobilization of all the productive and active forces of the nation and their development to the highest point of co-operation and efficiency, and the idea of the selective draft is that those should be chosen for service in the army who can be most readily spared from the prosecution of the other activities which the country must engage in and to which it must devote a great deal of its best energy and capacity.

"The volunteer system does not do this. When men choose themselves they sometimes choose without due regard to their other responsibilities. Men may come from the farms or from the mines or from the factories or centers of business who ought not to come, but ought to stand back of the armies in the fields and see that they get everything that they need and that the people of the country are sustained in the meantime.

Obligation Is Universal.

"The principle of the selective draft in short, has at its heart this idea, that there is a universal obligation to serve and that a public authority should choose those upon whom the obligation of military service shall rest and also, in a sense, choose those who shall do the rest of the nation's work. The bill if adopted will do more, I believe, than any other single instrumentality to create the impression of universal service in the army and out of it, and if properly administered will be a great source of stimulation.

"Those who feel that we are turning away altogether from the voluntary principle seem to forget that some 600,000 men will be needed to fill the ranks of the regular army and the National guard and that a very great field of individual enthusiasm lies there wide open."

Confident of Enactment.

The President and administration leaders are confident of the ultimate enactment of the army bill without material changes. The fight probably will begin in the Senate where the bill will be taken up as soon as the espionage measure is disposed of. Chairman Chamberlain of the Military committee has submitted his favorable report.

Chairman Dent of the House committee has formally presented a report of his committee offering the bill in amended form authorizing the President to call for volunteers in increments of 500,000 and providing for the selective draft only after the volunteer plan has failed.

Austrian Cabinet Quits, Berlin Reports.

Copenhagen, April 21.—The entire Austrian cabinet has resigned, according to the Berlin Vossische Zeitung. Amsterdam advices had already asserted that two pro-German members of the cabinet had resigned.

Women in Packing Houses.

Chicago, April 20.—Anticipating an increasing labor shortage, superintendents of Armour & Co. have begun laying plans for the substitution of woman labor in their plants as a war time necessity. A new employment bureau to recruit women workers for positions now held by men and to better working conditions will be formed at once. Large employers of labor, where the work can be done by women, will soon find it an economic necessity to fill the ranks with women workers, manufacturers predict.

MARRIED MEN NOT EXEMPT

RULING COVERS ONLY THOSE WHO HAVE DEPENDENTS.

Where Independent Means Exist for Support of Families Men Will Not Be Mustered Out.

Washington, April 23.—Discharges from the national guard will not be granted enlisted men solely because they are married, according to instructions sent out by adjutant general of the militia bureau. Where a soldier has independent means which will prevent his family from becoming a charge upon the government he will not be mustered out.

The War department is resolved, however, to relieve the government of the necessity of taking care of the families of men who join the colors. More than $4,000,000 was disbursed in this way as a result of the Mexican border mobilization. The bureau's letter follows:

Discharge Not Justified.

"With reference to the circular letter from this bureau dated April 9, 1917, authorizing the discharge of all enlisted men of the national guard who have families dependent upon them for support, the members of which would become a charge upon the government in case they were called into federal service, you are advised that the discharge of men solely because of the fact that they are married or have families is not authorized.

"When a man's means are ample for the support of his family in his absence, or where his business can be so conducted in his absence to afford a means of support for his family, discharge should not be granted."

TEUTON MOVE ON CAPITAL OF RUSSIA IS EXPECTED

Enemy Makes Preparations for Attack on Northern Front—German Fleet to Participate.

Petrograd, April 21.—German preparations to attack the Northern front, supported by a German fleet, reports of which appear to be well founded, bear out the war office warning recently issued that the enemy means to march on Petrograd. The preparations consist of the massing of troops on the Dvinsk-Riga front and the concentration of transports, warships and shallow draft ships in Baltic sea ports. A portion of the German fleet is reported to have moved from Kiel to Libau. It is regarded here as extremely probable that the plan is to cut off Petrograd from the active enemy.

TEUTON DESERTERS QUELLED

Fired on by Machine Guns and Herded Back.

Amsterdam, April 23.—More than 500 German fusiliers, sailors and landsturmers tried to cross the Dutch-Belgian frontier from the environs of Knocke to near Cadzand, Holland, says the Handelsblad, but the attempted desertion was frustrated after the party had been pursued and attacked by Uhlans.

The deserters were fired on by the Uhlans with machine guns and in a fight which lasted half an hour, 38 of the deserters were wounded.

The mounted guards along the frontier, the newspaper adds, have since been doubled.

SEPARATE PEACE IS SCORNED

Slav Workers to Reject Any Proposals From Teutons.

Petrograd, April 23.—Delegates from seven of the Russian armies conferred with the council of workmen's and soldiers' delegates and asked the council whether it favored a separate peace. M. Soyhoff, on behalf of the council, replied:

"The council rejects any idea of a separate peace."

Austrian Consul Denies Bribe.

Chicago, April 23.—Count Hugo Silvestri, consul general of Austria-Hungary in Chicago, has denied he or his government had paid Dr. Frank Iska to print articles in his weekly Bohemian paper, the Vesmir, to stem efforts of Bohemian societies to have Bohemia proclaimed a kingdom when peace comes. The consul declined to appear in court at the libel suit brought by Dr. Iska and his testimony was taken in his office. Silvestri's refusal to permit examination of his accounts was held as being within his treaty rights.

"STOP HOARDING FOOD," CRY SWEEPING CHICAGO

Chicago, April 21.—"Stop hoarding food!" This was the cry that swept Chicago as two new restraints—one governmental and the other voluntary—were thrown against the steadily growing wave of household buying.

Illinois Selects Centennial Posters.

Springfield, Ill., April 20.—Winners of five prizes among the 68 contestants who submitted designs for the Illinois centennial poster have been announced. The first choice, which will be the official Illinois poster, was designed by Billy G. Seeser of New York city, who receives two prizes, one of $500 and one of $100. The poster shows a pioneer with his flintlock, kneeling before the state house in reverence to the United States flag. Above his head are the 20 stars representing the first 20 states admitted.

HEARTY GREETING AT WASHINGTON TO ENGLISH VISITORS

BALFOUR AND PARTY REACH NATION'S CAPITAL AND ARE MET AT THE STATION BY 5,000 PEOPLE.

PRECAUTIONS TAKEN IN GUARDING GUESTS

British Foreign Minister Received by Secretary of State Lansing—Event Not Treated as Social or Festive Affair But as Grave and Serious Event.

Washington, April 24.—The American capital extended a simple but heartfelt welcome to the British minister for foreign affairs, Arthur J. Balfour, and the other members of the British commission, which came to Washington, as Mr. Balfour expressed it, "to make co-operation easy and effective between those who are striving to bring about a lasting peace by the only means that can secure it—namely, a successful war."

Everywhere bunting flew in the light breeze, mainly the American national colors. The British union jack and the French tri-color were in evidence in many places but the local flag makers had been unable to meet the public demand for them.

There was no music to greet the visitors, the original plan, including the presence of the marine band, having been amended to conform to the view expressed by President Wilson and Secretary Lansing that this was a grave and serious event and not to be lightly treated or regarded as a social and festive affair.

Thousands at Depot.

On the plaza and overlapping the great building at either wing were gathered some 5,000 people waiting patiently for a glimpse of the nation's guests, restrained at a proper distance by hundreds of policemen and by two troops of cavalry.

As the special train stopped Mr. Balfour descended and was immediately presented by the British ambassador to Secretary Lansing. The two exchanged a hearty hand clasp and chatted for a few moments.

The visitors then moved to the station. Mr. Balfour walked uncovered with head erect smiling his greetings to the hand-clapping and cheering of the party that had gathered within the concourse.

Guarded by Cavalry.

When the signal was given for the start the cavalry guard closed round and enveloped the party. The troops were disposed so as to afford the extreme measure of protection to the visitors.

Mr. Balfour will call on President Wilson, Vice President Marshall and Secretary Lansing at once. He will lunch with the French ambassador, J. J. Jusserand, and dine at the White House. Several cabinet dinners will be held with members of the commission as guests, and will be followed by a reception by Secretary Lansing in the Pan-American building in honor of Mr. Balfour.

President Wilson has made few engagements for the coming week so as to keep his time free for conferences with the distinguished visitors.

The British commissioners stole secretly away from England April 11 on a fast cruiser.

"REPUBLIC," CRY IN SWEDEN

Royalty Guarded as Alarm Spreads Through Country.

London, April 24.—A news telegraph from Copenhagen regarding the workers' demonstration before the Swedish parliament in Stockholm while the food situation was being discussed, says:

"Throughout the delivery of the speeches in the Riksdag the crowds outside were quiet, but occasional cries for a republic and a revolution were to be heard.

"This demonstration has caused an enormous sensation in Stockholm and rumors of a revolution are persistent throughout the country. Fresh demonstrations of a far more serious character are expected May 1. The royal castle is being strictly guarded by marine infantry."

3,000 Germans in U. S. Under Watch.

Washington, April 22.—Approximately 3,000 German residents of the United States are under close surveillance the department of Justice officials announced, because of their activities in behalf of the German government before America's entry into the war or because of their pro-German sympathies.

Must Feed Allies to Win.

London, April 23.—The first and most important duty of the American people to the Allies is to economize on foodstuffs. This is the appeal of Herbert C. Hoover, chairman of the American Commission for Relief in Belgium, appointed head of the American food board. "If we do not do it," he declared, "we stand a grave chance of losing the war, because our Allies cannot fight without food. Our enemies are calculating that America will fail in this and our Allies will need to give in. America can upset this belief."

Something Like It.

In going down the elevator at a hotel the other day a little tot was being taken to the basement barber shop to have her hair trimmed. A man got on at one of the floors and accosted her cheerily with the remark:

"Well, Isabelle, and what are you going to do this morning?"

"I'm going down to the cellar to have my hair—hair—to have my hair—" the word would not come, so she finally concluded with, "to have my hair sharpened."

Do You Neglect Your Machinery?
The machinery of the body needs to be well oiled, kept in good condition just as the automobile, steam engine or bicycle. Why should the human neglect his own machinery more than that of his horse or his engine? Yet most people do neglect themselves. To clean the system at least once a week is to practice preventive measures. Canada Offers 160 Acres Free to Farm Hands
Bonus of Western Canada Land to Men Assisting in Maintaining Needed Grain Production
The demand for farm labor in Canada is great. As an inducement to secure the necessary help at once, Canada will give
ONE HUNDRED AND SIXTY ACRES OF LAND FREE AS A HOMESTEAD
and allow the time of the farm laborer, who has filed on the land, to apply as residence duties, the same as if he actually had lived on it. This special concession is the reduction of one year in the time to complete duties. Two years' residence instead of three as heretofore, but only to men working on the farms for at least six months in 1917. This appeal for farm help is in no way connected with enlistment for military service but solely to increase agricultural output. A wonderful opportunity to secure a farm and draw good wages at the same time. Canadian Government will pay all fare over one cent per mile from St. Paul or Duluth to Canadian destination. Too Many Operations

The Right Medicine in Many Cases Does Better than the Surgeon's Knife. Tribute to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Doctor Said Operation or Death—But Medicine Cured.

Des Moines, Iowa.—"My husband says I would have been in my grave today had it not been for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I suffered from a serious female trouble and the doctors said I could not live one year without an operation. My husband objected to the operation and had me try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I soon commenced to get better and am now well and able to do my own housework. I can recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any woman as a wonderful health restorer."—Mrs. BLANCHE JEFFERSON, 703 Lyon St., Des Moines, Iowa.

Another Operation Avoided.

Richmond, Ind.—"For two years I was so sick and weak from female troubles that when going up stairs I had to go very slowly with my hands on the steps, then sit down at the top to rest. The doctor said he thought I should have an operation, and my friends thought I would not live to move into our new house. My daughter asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as she had taken it with good results. I did so, my weakness disappeared, I gained in strength, moved into our new home, do all kinds of garden work, and raised hundreds of chickens and ducks. I cannot say enough in praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. M. O. JOHNSTON, Route D, Box 190, Richmond, Ind.

Of course there are many serious cases that only a surgical operation will relieve. We freely acknowledge this, but the above letters, and many others like them, amply prove that many operations are recommended when medicine in many cases is all that is needed.

Eminently Qualified.

A tiny boy wearing smoked spectacles sat on the curb and watched other boys playing ball in the street. He made an excitable audience, jumping up, moving his arms and calling out as if he realyl had something to do with the game. And sometimes—just sometimes—a boy would think to wave back. He was rather a pathetic little chap, but he didn't know it, for when a man paused to ask him if he was having a good time, he piped out with happy importance:

"Yes, sir; I'm the umpire."

"That's a fine position. How did they come to give it to you?"

"Because I can't see straight."

The man said it was a most excellent reason, but he doubtless knew that the boys had a finer one.—Washington Star.

WAS DETERMINED TO ENLIST

Applicant, When Found Too Old for Regular Service in Navy, Declares He Will Go as a Pearl Diver.

Many humorous incidents have marked the rush for recruits which have been made at the army, navy and marine corps enlisting stations during the last few days, says the Indianapolis News. One day at the navy station in the federal building a big, rawboned fellow applied for enlistment as an apprentice seaman.

On examination, the officers at the station found that he was just a little over age for this class of service. He was asked whether he had any recommendations for that sort of work.

"I haven't got any recommendations," he said. "But if you order some ham and eggs I will show you what I can do along that line."

That didn't seem to satisfiy the officers and the man appeared to be up against it.

"Well, I won't ship as a fireman," he said, "that sort of work is too tough for me. If you won't have me as a cook I guess I will have to enlist as pearl diver."

Right From the Heart.

A little boy in the city followed the suggestion of his father (who somehow, in the midst of "the turmoil" has managed to live for the good things of life and let the banalties which take up the popular attention alone) that he keep a diary.

The little fellow found it rather difficult to make records, not understanding that the human document must be beautifully simple. But one day he struck the keynote of life with just one bold unconscious stroke:

"This has been a fine day. Mother did not go anywhere all day."—Indianapolis News.

FORTIETH SESSION OF LEGISLATURE IS BROUGHT TO CLOSE

SOLONS GO HOME WITH RECORD FOR VOTING MONEY—FINAL SENATE SESSION LASTS UNTIL DAYLIGHT.

PASS APPROPRIATION BILLS AMID DISORDER

Branches Reach Agreements—Clocks Are Turned Back—Prohibition to Be Only Amendment On Ballot—Music In Senate, Uproar In House Marks End.

St. Paul, April 20.—Both Houses of the Legislature met yesterday to adopt resolutions, grant extra pay to employes, and wind up the details of the session, and adjourned sine die. In the Senate a resolution by Senator D. P. O'Neill praising America's stand for democracy and expressing the hope that Ireland would be granted home rule after the war, was adopted.

Speaker Parker was presented with a clock by the House members and Lieutenant Governor Frankson was given a phonograph by the senators.

In the Senate there was a remarkable tribute to Senator F. E. Putnam of Blue Earth, who announced his intention of never serving in the Senate again. Senator George H. Sullivan praised the work of Senator Putnam. The members rose to their feet and applauded.

Turbulent Scenes Mark Windup

St. Paul, April 20.—Daylight was streaming through the windows of the state capitol when the Minnesota senate, after a remarkable all-night session, rose and sang "The Star Spangled Banner." Cheering feebly and yawning from overpowering fatigue, the senators rushed to hotel rooms to sleep until nearly noon, when they assembled again to pass the usual resolutions and adjourn sine die.

The house had adjourned three hours earlier in scenes of wild disorder. Both houses turned back the clock, but the house became so unruly that the members finally quit work in disgust, after a sensational fight over two appropriation items which was renewed through resolutions asking Governor J. A. A. Burnquist to veto them.

Several Battles Staged.

Drys were successful in their vigil against surplus constitutional amendments. The prohibition amendment will be the only one on the state ballot next year, many others being slaughtered in the two houses. This is the first time in many years the voters have had a single amendment on the ballot, and it is regarded as a big advantage for the prohibition measure.

Senators staged several long oratorical battles, attacking each bill as though they had all summer before them. It took 45 votes or two-thirds to bring a bill up, which was fatal to several measures.

Larger Appropriations.

Appropriations by this legislature totaled $23,867,329, an increase of more than $5,000,000 over two years ago, and the tax levy bill prepared and passed at midnight raises the revenue fund levy to 3.2 mills for 1917 and 2 mills for 1918. The levy two years ago was 1.4 mills. Estimated receipts from other taxes are $15,746,300, leaving the balance to be raised by direct tax. The increase is due largely to heavy school aid appropriations and the $1,000,000 provided for war purposes.

Conferences on the appropriation bills which began Tuesday were ended in a compromise agreement between the houses. The main battle was on the educational bill. The house had to assent to a cut in university maintenance, but the senate yielded an increase of $42,000 a year on its bill, giving $1,365,000 a year for maintenance.

Millions for Schools.

On school aid the senate yielded the most ground, but obtained a concession that it is believed will do away with "deficit" appropriations in the future. The senate agreed to the item of $1,047,000, deficit from 1915. It receded from its allowance of $2,000,000 a year and allowed $2,637,545 for 1917, the full amount of the house bill. On 1918 the agreement was for $2,400,000, a cut of $550,000 from the house bill. The bill cuts out aid for manual training and domestic science work in high schools for the second year, and provides that the amount shall be distributed pro rata among the schools, in full settlement.

A. F. Teigen's investigating committee made a rather colorless report.

Many Measures Die.

Among the bills dying were the change in the primary election date to September, the "bulk sales" bill, the bill for education of blind and deaf children in their home districts, selection of university regents by districts, and the Christiansen bill to reinstate many railroad rate refund claims.

New district judges were provided for Hennepin, Ramsey and St. Louis [illegible] tri-state food control bill was agreed on conference and passed [illegible]

Progress of Farm Crops Is Indicated By County Reports

To Plant Four Times Usual Crop.

Owatonna. — Reminded that the Northwest probably will be expected to supply the bulk of the nation's food supply, farmers of Steele county will plant the largest crop in local history.

Four times the usual amount of wheat, oats and barley will be sowed.

With garden clubs organized in practically every city, village and township every available small plot of ground will be cultivated.

Gardening will be given further impetus by a series of instruction in canning work which will be given throughout the county by County Leader B. B. Jones and County Agent W. V. Gousseff.

A material increase in the live stock industry is assured by the calf and pig clubs which are competing in county and neighborhood prize events.

Additional acreage for the 1917 crop is being opened by draining several tracts of wet lands.

To Increase Corn Production.

Madison.—Spring work in Lac qui Parle county has been delayed because of soggy fields, but farmers in this vicinity will increase their corn acreage and seed less small grain than before, with the possible exception of winter wheat. The fact that many farmers are raising more stock and that farm labor threatens to be difficult to obtain are reasons cited for the increased corn production.

Moisture Delays Farm Work.

Thief River Falls.—Farmers in this vicinity have little seed on hand and are unable to get any. Seeding in this county has not much more than started on account of the moisture in the lowlands. The Woman's club and Commercial club are at the head of a general clean-up in the city and will follow it up with an effort to use all vacant lots within the city for gardening purposes.

Firm Distributes Seed Potatoes.

Red Wing.—With the view of encouraging hundreds of employes in Red Wing's four large clay manufacturing institutions in home vegetable gardening, the managers of the Red Wing Union Stoneware company and the Red Wing Sewerpipe company has distributed Early Ohio seed potatoes to all heads of families and others, who wished to raise a garden this year.

Many Gardens In Albert Lea.

Albert Lea.—Nearly every family is making some plans to put in a garden, while in some instances two or three families are co-operating, renting large plots of ground near the city, and intend gardening on a broad scale, believing that they can raise enough vegetables for their entire winter use. An increase in the wheat and alfalfa acreage is reported.

Martin County Plants Corn.

Fairmont. Better seed selection and testing and a more thorough preparation of every acre of tillable land will distinguish the Martin county farmers' efforts to produce the maximum of food stuffs during the coming season. Corn will be the main crop with an increased acreage over previous years. Odd corners on the farms will be largely planted in potatoes.

Mixed Farming In Olmstead.

Rochester.—No unusual steps are being taken around Rochester to meet a threatened labor shortage. Apathy seems to be the predominant note. Mixed farming is carried on in Olmstead county, dairying, raising of beef cattle and hogs, and raising of grains being about equally divided. More vegetables will be raised than in past years.

To Meet Farm Labor Shortage.

Willmar.—To meet the threatened labor shortage the farmers in the neighborhood of Willmar are planning to perform much of their summer and fall work on the co-operative plan. As to the increasing crop productions, nothing unusual is being done, except what is encouraged by the prevailing high prices.

Rock County Not Worried.

Luverne.—Rock county is not concerned over any threatened labor shortage among farmers, as most of the farmers have plenty of help of their own for ordinary farm work and require little outside aid. Oats will be the dominating crop in this county, and there will be an increased acreage over last year.

Seeding Begun Near Mankato.

Mankato.—Seeding is just beginning in this section, and will go on as rapidly as the weather and fitness of the soil will permit. Winter wheat and rye are looking well and this spring's acreage will be sown to spring wheat, oats and barley in about the usual proportion.

Prices Encourage Farmers.

Fergus Falls.—The most encouraging feature of the crop situation here is that seeding will be finished unusually early. There was less snow in the western part of the state than there was further east and south, and the ground is dry and in good condition. The wheat acreage will be very materially increased. Encouraged by the high prices, farmers are putting in available ground. Farmers are not increasing their potato acreage. They have few seed potatoes.

PAIN? NOT A BIT!
LIFT YOUR CORNS OR CALLUSES OFF

No humbug! Apply few drops then just lift them away with fingers.

This new drug is an ether compound discovered by a Cincinnati chemist. It is called freezone, and can now be obtained in tiny bottles as here shown at very little cost from any drug store. Just ask for freezone. Apply a drop or two directly upon a tender corn or callus and instantly the soreness disappears. Shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you can lift it off, root and all, with the fingers.

Not a twinge of pain, soreness or irritation; not even the slightest smarting, either when applying freezone or afterwards.

This drug doesn't eat up the corn or callus, but shrivels them so they loosen and come right out. It is no humbug! It works like a charm. For a few cents you can get rid of every hard corn, soft corn or corn between the toes, as well as painful calluses on bottom of your feet. It never disappoints and never burns, bites or inflames. If your druggist hasn't any freezone yet, tell him to get a little bottle for you from his wholesale house.—adv.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam, Minn, under the Act of Congress of March 3.1879

This is a hard spring for our farmers who had a crop failure last year and especially for them who have to buy seed grain, and horse feed at the present prices.

It is a patriotic duty that every farmer owes to his country to sow and plant ever acre possible to grain this year. If you do not think you owe this duty to the Nation, you certainly owe it to yourself and family as wheat will be worth at least two dollars a bushel next fall, and all other grain in proportion. Do not fail to get all the grain you can seeded, this year. "Make or break."

Where the County Commissioner got caught short of funds for a bridge across Red Lake River in eastern Pennington County was their firm belief, that the government would not allow them to bridge it. But some of our readers will undoubtly remember that we told them about a year ago, that we were getting a monkey wrench ready to throw into that navigable river machine, that had been working so slick for the past six years, while other parts of the County gobbled all the road and bridge funds paid in from this end of the County and State of Minnesota. So we threw the "wrench into the machine," and they woke up one fine morning and found out that the town of Highlanding had full permission from the government to build a bridge at Highlanding, and them not a dollar to build it with. Then "there was mounting in hot haste", by Mr. Wold, who had bought an additional farm in the meantime, to get on the band wagon by helping to get the necessary papers fixed up by the Government and State Engineers. Yes he helped! That is he managed to get the matter delayed until spring, so as to give Kratka and Neptune, who now knew how to go about it, to get permission to build, so as to come in as oppsition to Highlanding. A pretty slick deal, was it not? But we will have an eye on Mr. Wold from now until his time is out and endeavor to see that he don't get re-elected when it is out.

A Gladstone Anecdote.

Lord Alverstone tells this anecdote of Gladstone in his "Recollections:"

"Mr. Gladstone was very much interested in the Caucasus. I had a friend, Captain X., who had recently come home from that district, and I gave him a letter of introduction to Mr. Gladstone. A few days later I met Mr. Gladstone in Parliament street. He stopped me and said, 'Your friend, Captain X., knows more about the Caucasus than any man I ever met.' A few minutes afterward I met Captain X. in Pall Mall. I said to him, 'Well, you have made a great impression, Mr. Gladstone.' 'Have I?' he said. 'Yes,' I replied. 'He says you know more about the Caucasus than any man he ever met.' 'Well,' said Captain X., 'that is very strange, for, though I was with him for three-quarters of an hour, I made only three observations.'"

Panama Canal Lighthouses.

It is announced that a feature of the Panama canal will be lighthouses whose lamps are lit and extinguished by the sun, without the aid of human hands. Briefly, the warmth of the sun at dawn, falling on a rod which rests on a lever, expands that rod and so moves the lever which closes the gas valve. At night the rod, getting cooler, contracts and so opens the valve and lets the gas pass, to be lit by a small jet always left burning. The rod can be adjusted according to the temperature conditions of any country. The sun valve is the invention of Gustaf Dalen, the famous Swedish physicist, recently awarded a Nobel prize.—Illustrated London News.

A FANTASTIC FRIGATE.

Its Captain Did the Best He Could With the Paint He Had.

Before the days of steel ships the allowance of paint in the British navy was very small, and sometimes the officers had to pay large sums in order that their ships might maintain a decent appearance.

Sir John Phillimore resorted to a curious expedient either to soften the heart of the navy board or, if that proved impossible, to express his opinion of the situation. He painted one side of his yellow frigate black and white and used the rest of the black paint in printing on the other side in large letters, "No More Paint!"

The navy board wrote to call his attention to the impropriety of his conduct and signed themselves, as they always did officially, "Your affectionate friends." Sir John made reply that he could not obliterate the objectionable letters unless he were given more paint, and signed himself in turn, "Your affectionate friend, John Phillimore."

The naval authorities then called his attention to the impropriety of the signature, to which Sir John responded in acknowledging the letter that he regretted that the paint had not been sent and signed, "I am no longer your affectionate friend, John Phillimore."

His frigate was permitted to retain her original yellow, and thus the navy board punished Sir John's impertinence.

Queer Story of a Grave.

A curious barren mound is to be seen in Montgomery churchyard. Whatever the cause, there is plainly to be seen a strip of sterility in the form of a cross among a mass of verdure. With the mound a melancholy legend is connected. It is called "Robert's Grave," and the story is that beneath this barren hillock lie the remains of an innocent man who was hanged on mistaken evidence. It is said that while the man stood on the gallows with the rope round his neck he solemnly declared, as a proof of his innocence, that grass should never grow on his grave. And even so it was and is. Any one who attempts to frustrate the fulfillment of this prophecy by sowing grass on this spot pays the penalty with his life. Instances are given of individuals who have been rash enough to do so and have met their doom soon afterward.—Cardiff Western Mail.

Modest Blackmore.

That the author of "Lorna Doone" was one of the best fruit growers in England is brought out by Hildegarde Hawthorne in an article on Blackmore which she contributes to St. Nicholas. Indeed, it was of his fruit that he loved most to talk, according to Miss Hawthorne. Of his writings or of himself at all it was very difficult to get him to say a word, for he was shy and modest to a high degree. If you tried to make him talk about his books he would always slip quickly away to something about peaches or nectarines or plums, or he would ask you to come out to see his garden and wander there happily, pruning shears in hand, pointing out his prize fruits and telling you just what must be done to bring each type to perfection.

The Sneeze.

People say "God bless me" after sneezing, from the fact that in the days of the plague this terrible malady began with violent sneezing and other indications of cold. The exclamation was thus originally a prayer to be delivered from the plague.

Why the "Baltic" Sea?

How the Baltic sea got its name is unknown. It looks thoroughly classic—"Mare Balticum." But Tacitus knew this stretch of water as the Suevic sea, from the neighboring people of the Suevi, and the name Baltic does not appear before the eleventh century in the "Chorographia Scandinaviae" of Adam of Bremen. It is supposed to have some connection with the great and little "Belts." Germans, Swedes and Danes call these waters the East sea (Ostsee)—a name which is obviously impossible for a Russian.—London Standard.

VOL. XVII. SUNBEAM, PENNINGTON COUNTY, MINNESOTA, FRIDAY, MAY 4, 1917 NO.8

THE LOCAL NEWS

Farmers all busy seeding.

T. G. Rome was a business caller at Thief River Falls the first of the week.

The Red Lake River is now low enough, so there are none of the bottom lands flooded, and all we now lack up this way is sunshiny dry weather.

Our old neighbor Gunder Asbjorson has ordered his Sunbeam sent to him at Fisher, so as to keep posted on the doings in this locality.

Read the "get together" article published in an other column. The eastern part of the County would like to get united, but they can't cross Red Lake river.

The ground is thoroughly soaked with water, which has delayed seeding up to the present time, but with fair weather the fields will all be dry enough to work next week. The farmers of this locality have been busy seeding on the high lands this week.

The Red Lake Falls Gazette published the amount their county received from the state as Road and Bridge funds. Did you notice that the Thief River Falls papers do not publish the amount received by Pennington county? Pretty foxy ducks, those fellows in the west end.

Some of those who are always ready to criticize us have been trying to create the impression that we were opposing the Construction of the extension of the State Road between Highlanding and Deer Park. We are not in the habit of opposing any improvements for this territory, but are always trying to get more, and the full amount due this end of the County for the taxes paid in.

Ye Editor and publisher is following three horses rushing in his springs crop on the farm now days, and has not much time to devote to The Newspaper. But when it starts to rain, we will give you a better paper and more news. We are not one of the kind of editors that sits in the office smoking cigarettes and hollers to the farmers to rush their springs work, but we get right into the field and sow the grain.

Judging from the low stage of water now in The Red Lake River, and the wetness of the country, we are of the opinion that what made the flood waters so bad up here last year, was caused by the Dam being out at Thief River Falls, and the river so full of Dead head logs that the water could not get past them. Now that the Dam is in it raises the back water over the tops of the logs and the water goes down the river, instead of staying up in this part of the Country.

Last spring when the Red Lake River was at flood stage, and no way of getting across it, the people of Goodridge and Highlanding petitioned our board of County Commissioners for enough lumber to build a pontoon bridge, or approaches to the Highlanding ferry. "No money," said the board. Goodridge had contributed $692 to buy the flour for the county table, and were promptly denied a crust of bread. The farmers had to take their teams from the fields and build approaches to the ferry, and cash was raised by private subscription to buy ropes, and the lumber dealers of Goodridge gave us the planks and a ferry was fixed up, so Mr. Wold could report to Thief River Falls that there was now a [illegible] ferry at Highlanding

GET TOGETHER, NOW

At recent meeting at Crookston, of delegates from the Red River Valley counties, measures were adopted to meet the great food shortage in the nation and prevent a greater scarcity as the war progresses. It seems unnecessary to call the attention of the farmers to the fact that while this movement is a patriotic one, it is going to be most profitable to them as prices will continue high during the war.

Appeals have been issued to every township in the county to organize in order that co-operation of farmer with farmer and with the county and district committees may insure an increase of grain, vegetables and stock. Those having seed of any kind to spare ought to notify the township committee or the proper county chairman named below, and those needing seed also should notify the same parties. The buyer and seller can thus be brought together promptly and at no expense. A need of labor this spring or during the season can be cared for similarly. Men will be provided when needed, not only during the spring, but, in haying harvesting. Financial aid is also made available for seeding and also stock purchases.

The Pennington County organization is as follows, and these men will promptly assist anyone needing help in their respective departments:

J. H. Huy Finance and county chairman.

Henry Werner. Stock.

C. W. McDaniel, Seed and crops.

Jesse LaRree, Labor.

Rev. R. L. Barackman, Schools and churches.

Mrs. Pratt, Woman's work.

A sacrifice of female stock of any kind at this time, must not be made. farmers who feel pressed to sell it ought to communicate with the county committee in order that this can be avoided. Every producer of food now has an opportunity under the press of the war to serve his country and himself at the same time. He is earnestly urged to complete his township organization and get in touch with the county committee which is able and willing to meet every call made upon it.

FRENCH DESIRE TO SEE OLD GLORY ON BATTLE LINE SOON

MARSHAL JOFFRE TELLS AMERICAN PEOPLE THAT FRANCE CHERISHES HOPE U. S. WILL TAKE ACTIVE PART.

MARNE HERO ADDRESSES AMERICAN NEWSPAPER MEN

Asserts That Soldiers of Two Republics Fighting Shoulder to Shoulder Will Hasten End of War and Tighten Links of Affection Uniting Two Countries.

Washington, May 1.—Marshal Joffre told the people of America thru Washington newspaper correspondents who called on him that France cherishes the confident hope that the flag of the United States soon will be flying on her battle lines.

Victories sure to be won by the soldiers of the two Republics once more fighting shoulder to shoulder for liberty, the hero of Marne declared will "hasten the end of the war and tighten the links of affection and esteem which have ever united France and the United States." The marshal, replying to questions, said he deemed it advisable to send one American unit at a time to France rather than to wait for the complete equipment of a big army because of transportation problems.

Army to Develop Fast.

He gave it as his opinion that an American army would develop rapidly.

It was just before the marshal and other members of the French mission started for a visit to the tomb of George Washington at Mount Vernon that the correspondents gathered at the home of Henry White, where the chiefs of the mission are being entertained. The newspaper men were ushered into a large gray walled reception room in the center of which was a broad council table.

Emile Hovelaque, general counsellor of the mission, addressed them briefly, concluding by saying: "And now, gentlemen, you shall see General Joffre. He will read you a statement and then you may ask him questions."

Greets Newspaper Men.

A door opened and the marshal walked in accompanied by Lieutenant Colonel Jean Fabry, "the blue devil of France," his chief of staff and other officers of the commission. The famous soldier took a position at the head of the council table, while his callers crowded nearer and began to file by. As each approached he spoke his name and the name of the newspaper he represented. It was repeated to the marshal in French, there was a clasping of hands and in the case of those correspondents who spoke French, a word or two of greeting.

Then the marshal took from the pocket of his jacket two typewritten sheets of paper and began in French. When he concluded the correspondents applauded and he smiled.

CHINA AT WAR IN FORTNIGHT

Declaration From Mongolians Is Forecast Soon.

Peking, April 30.—A declaration of war against Germany in China is expected within a fortnight.

The special commission for international affairs designated by the government has advised that China enter the war. The question will go before parliament shortly.

The American minister, Dr. Paul Reinsch, held a reception at the legation to 20 provisional military governors composing the military conference which recommended recently that China declare war.

The ministers congratulated the governors on evidences of co-operating in all parts of China and assured them they had the best wishes of the United States.

FIGHT U-BOATS IN OWN WATERS

FRENCH RETIRED REAR ADMIRAL ADVOCATES NEW METHOD.

Says Only Decisive Means of Preventing Teutons From Disturbing Allies Is to Meet Them in Home Waters.

Paris, April 30. — Rear Admiral Degouy, retired, advocates a change of methods against the submarine menace in view of the torpedoing within one week of 50 vessels of more than 1,600 tons, according to figures given out in London.

"It is indispensable to prevent the greatest possible number of submarines from beginning operations," the admiral said. "To pursue and destroy, when possible, submarines in operation is advisable but insufficient. The only decisive means of preventing the Germans from disturbing the Allies is to fight them in their home waters.

"The British admiralty did well last February when it endeavored to bar out from the North sea a maritime entrenched camp whose supporting positions were Borkum, Helgoland and Sylt (a line drawn through these positions bars Germany's principal means of egress to the North sea as well as the entrances to the Weser and Elbe rivers.)

"This effort was not carried out with sufficient vigor and results were not what was expected. In brief, the anti-submarine war is still in a passive stage."

FREIGHT RATE INCREASE IS DELAYED ONE MONTH

New Tariffs Subject to Revision and Change Before Being Put Into Effect.

Washington, April 27. — The interstate Commerce commission has prescribed the method of procedure in the 15 per cent rate advance cases by permitting the railroads to file supplemental tariffs covering the increase.

The new tariff's will be subject to portest, suspension, complaint, investigation and correction, the commission announced, and their filing is only preliminary to detailed consideration of the application and does not dispose of the cases.

Indications are that the commission will soon set dates for hearings at which the merits of the increases will be considered and shippers and other interested parties will be given an opportunity to state their views fully.

The effective date of the order, should it be finally approved, is changed from June 1 to July 1.

CENSORS DEALS IN FUTURES

Canadian Committee to Pass on All Wheat Orders.

Winnipeg, April 30.—The Winnipeg Grain exchange, to stabilize wheat market conditions and put a check on trading of a speculative nature, has named a censoring committee to pass on all buying or selling orders for futures. The committee comprises Robert Magill, exchange secretary; F. O. Fowler, manager of the exchange clearing house, and Thomas Brodie, of the floor committee.

The censors placed a desk in the wheat pit and began the scanning of all orders.

No Plot in Eddystone Blast.

Chester, Pa., April 30.—The coroner's jury returned a verdict finding there was no evidence before them to lead to the conclusion that the explosion at the Eddystone Ammunition Corporation plant at Eddystone, Pa., on April 10, was due to a premeditated cause nor does any of the evidence submitted point definitely to any other cause.

Would Exchange War Speakers.

Winnipeg, April 28.—Letters have been sent by the Industrial bureau to the presidents of the chambers of commerce at Minneapolis and Chicago suggesting an exchange of speakers to address the people on war topics. The idea is to have prominent western Canadians speak in those American cities weekly in return for similar speeches from prominent Americans sent to Western Canada. The idea grew out of the recent display of the American flag with the Union Jack over a marching regiment.

DRAFT ARMY BILL PASSES CONGRESS BY LARGE MARGIN

CONSCRIPTION MEASURE CARRIES IN HOUSE, 397 TO 24, AND VOTE IN SENATE IS 81 TO 8 IN FAVOR OF BILL.

MINOR CHANGES MADE; TO BE ADJUSTED LATER

Age Limit for Service Supplies Discrepancy to Be Settled by Conferees from Both Houses—Roosevelt's Proposal Furnishes Another

Washington, May 1. — The American army in the war against Germany will be raised by conscription. The fight in Congress for the administration selective draft measure was won after days of the hottest kind of debate, when the House passed the bill by a vote of 397 to 24. The bill, in somewhat different form, was passed later by the Senate, 81 to 8.

Ages of Service.

As passed, the House bill would draft single men between the age of 21 and 40 years, with the President having authority to designate which ages shall be called to the colors first. The Senate measure would conscript single men between 21 and 27 years inclusive. This difference in the provisions will make it necessary for the measure to be sent to a joint conference of House and Senate members where the ages prescribed may be arranged together. It appears certain, however, that the Senate ages will finally be adopted with a modifying clause leaving to the discretion of the President as to what ages shall be called upon to form the first big army.

Representatives Davis, Van Dyke, Lundeen and Steenerson of Minnesota, voted against the bill, as did Senator Gronna of North Dakota.

Many Give Support.

The overwhelming sentiment for the President's plan of raising a huge army changed the obstruction which crept up in the House to one of support. Representatives who had threatened to bolt the President in his stand to compel military service have now flocked to his standard.

By unanimous vote, an amendment was included in the House bill to increase the pay of enlisted men and non-commissioned officers in the army and in the national guard by $15 a month, making the pay of enlisted men $30.30 a month.

Support for Roosevelt Plan.

Senator Harding's amendment to the bill designed to permit Colonel Roosevelt to raise four infantry divisions for service in France was adopted by the Senate, 56 to 31. Many Democrats voted for it. A similar amendment had been rejected by the House recently.

Bill's Main Provisions.

The army draft bill's main provisions call for:

A total armed force of 1,900,000 men.

An army of 287,000.

A national guard of 625,000.

Filling the gaps in the militia by volunteer and forced enlistment.

In addition the raising of 1,000,000 in two groups of 500,000 each by selective conscription.

Liability to service of all male citizens between the ages of 21 and 40 years, inclusive.

Exemption from service of those belonging to religious organizations whose creeds oppose war, clergymen of recognized religious denominations and federal and state officials.

"DRY" COUNTRY DURING WAR

Move for National Prohibition to be Launched.

Washington, May 1.—An effort for national prohibition during the war will be launched here at once at a meeting of representatives of political parties and farmers' organizations, including several state governors. Leaders have sent out word that an interview with President Wilson will be held immediately, but it was said at the White House that no engagement had been made. War-time prohibition also has been taken up by members of the Council for National Defense to conserve the grain supply.

Pay for Officers in Training.

San Francisco, April 30. — A telegram received from Congressman Julius Kahn by the Military Training Camps association here advises specifically that the army appropriation bill will make provision for the pay of men attending the officers' training camps. The pay is to be at least $100 a month an individual.

Believe in U-Boats.

London, April 30.—The British are taking many prisoners, all of whom continue to profess an absolute faith that the submarine warfare will bring victory to German arms. Some of them also are confident that Russia will make a separate peace. It is evident that the German higher command is cultivating these ideas in order to keep up the morale of the troops. The prisoners also appear to be convinced that Field Marshal von Hindenburg is or was preparing a great offensive on the western front.

London, April 30.—The cannon are booming from Lens to Auberive in France, while the infantry of both opponents apparent rest after the great battles of the past three weeks along the great line.

The British artillery, which in the second week of the battle of the Arras used up more shells than ever had been used in one action in the history of modern warfare, continues its deadly and destructive work. The French guns also are active while the German artillery answers at various points. Apparently this is the lull before the next clash in Northern France.

The Germans have checked, for the moment, Haig's movement to capture the strongly fortified positions held by Prince Rupprecht, but their efforts to capture positions taken from them by British and French have met with sanguinary failure.

NO SHORTAGE OF FLOUR; PRICES TO GO LOWER

Spokesman for Millers of West Says War Time Prices Are Not to Prevail and Supply Is Ample.

Chicago, April 30.—There will be no shortage of flour in America and no war time prices. The Allies also can have all they need.

This message to alarmed housewives is delivered by B. A. Eckart, prominent Chicago miller, who was speaking for many of the largest millers in the West. At the same time he announced a reduction in the price of flour of $2.50 a barrel for September and October delivery.

Mr. Eckart said the present high price is due to hysterical buying and hoarding which has created a temporary shortage. He asserts that all the millers in the country are backing him in his offer to lower prices for future delivery.

London, April 28.—"Victory is becoming increasingly assured," was the confident note sounded by Premier Lloyd-George in a Guild hall speech.

Washington, April 30. — Discussion at the session of the American Society of American Law developed a general opinion that a world peace, to be durable, must take into consideration a just and proper control of the economic intercourse of nations. Wheeler of New York, declared that the captain of the German submarine which sank the Lusitania should be brought to trial before the American tribunal at the close of the war as a warning to future violators of the laws of nations.

VISIT TOMB OF WASHINGTON

ENVOYS OF ALLIES PAY TRIBUTE TO PATRIOT.

Wreaths Laid On Tomb of Hero in Memory Which Joins Hands of Three Nations in Revolution.

Mount Vernon, May 1.—The flags of Great Britain, France and the United States floated together over the tomb of George Washington. Beneath them, spokesmen of the three great democracies paid homage to America's soldier and statesman and pledged themselves, each to the other in the name of the dead, to prosecute the present mighty struggle against autocracy on the lines he himself had followed in bringing America into being.

In groups of twos and threes, an eminent gathering, including the members of the French and British war commissions, the President's cabinet and members of Congress had strolled up through the sloping grounds from the river bank until perhaps half a hundred people stood with bare heads in a semi-circle before the tomb.

Place Bronze Wreath.

Two French officers came forward with the bronze wreath from the French nation, the highest mark of honor which the French nation can accord the dead. Bending over the marshal passed through the narrow entrance and solemnly placed the wreath upon the stone coffin.

As Marshal Joffre passed back, Mr. Balfour came forward with the British wreath of lilies and oak leaves tied with the colors of the three allied nations. He, too, entered the tomb and placed the British token beside the French.

Mr. Root spent an hour with the President at the White House discussing the Russian situation. The President outlined fully what he desired to accomplish.

The commission will be composed of three or four principal members and a staff of secretaries and assistants. It is expected to leave for Russia within a few days.

For Alleged Neutrality Breach.

Washington, April 27.—The supreme court has been asked to review the cases of R. K. Blair and Dr. Thomas Addis, British subjects convicted at San Francisco of conspiracy to recruit Englishmen in this country for service in the British army. They examined and furnished transportation to about 125 British subjects who desired to return to England. The defendants contended that the British subjects were not specifically engaged, for army enlistment, but might be used in industrial pursuits.

NOTICE TO SICK WOMEN

Positive Proof That Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Relieves Suffering.

Bridgeton, N.J.—"I cannot speak too highly of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for inflammation and other weaknesses. I was very irregular and would have terrible pains so that I could hardly take a step. Sometimes I would be so miserable that I could not sweep a room. I doctored part of the time but felt no change. I later took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt a change for the better. I took it until I was in good healthy condition. I recommend the Pinkham remedies to all women as I have used them with such good results."—Mrs. MILFORD T. CUMMINGS, 322 Harmony St., Penn's Grove, N. J.

Such testimony should be accepted by all women as convincing evidence of the excellence of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a remedy for the distressing ills of women such as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, backache, painful periods, nervousness and kindred ailments.

"There's a Reason"

Kidney & Co.

(BY DR. J. H. WATSON)

The kidneys and the skin work in harmony. They're companions, the skin being the second partner. If we are anxious to keep well and preserve the vitality of the kidneys and, also, free the blood from noxious elements, we must pay special attention to a good action of the skin and to see that the kidneys are flushed so as to eliminate the poisons from the blood.

Sweating, by hard work or in a bath, at least once a week, helps to keep the skin and kidneys in good condition. Flush the kidneys by drinking plenty of pure water with meals and between meals. Occasionally obtain at the drug store Anuric, double strength, which will help flush the kidneys and the intestines. You will find that Anuric is many times more active than lithia and that it dissolves uric acid as hot water does sugar.

IOWA NEWS

Sioux City, Iowa.—"For some time I have been having kidney trouble. My kidneys seemed to be congested and my back would ache and be so sore that I could scarcely stand my clothes bearing on it. When I stooped over I could hardly straighten up again, and my bladder bothered me. Just about ten days ago I began taking the Anuric Tablets and my back has quit aching and this bladder weakness has left me. Anuric is the best kidney medicine I have ever used."—MRS. With the Fingers! Says Corns Lift Out Without Any Pain

Sore corns, hard corns, soft corns or any kind of a corn can shortly be lifted right out with the fingers if you will apply on the corn a few drops of freezone, says a Cincinnati authority.

At little cost one can get a small bottle of freezone at any drug store, which will positively rid one's feet of every corn or callus without pain or soreness or the danger of infection.

This new drug is an ether compound, and dries the moment it is applied and does not inflame or even irritate the surrounding skin. Just think! You can lift off your corns and calluses now without a bit of pain or soreness. If your druggist hasn't freezone he can easily get a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house.—adv.

Orange Blossom Farms.

A minor trade which has been badly hit is the orange blossom industry. Weddings are simple affairs nowadays and there is not much demand for the fragrant white flowers. Practically all the orange blossom that reaches London is grown in the south of France, a few miles back from the coast line, in the sheltered valleys of the Alpes Maritimes.

There is, in ordinary times, always a demand for the blooms, for the perfume manufacturers are ready buyers if the other market should fail. These plantations are handed on from one generation to another in the same family, and there would be small encouragement for rival planters as the trees do not yield much in the way of a floral crop until they are a fair age.—London Chronicle.

FIRST REGIMENT IS AT FULL STRENGTH

FIELD ARTILLERY AND INFANTRY DIVISIONS AWAIT ORDERS—SUSPEND RECRUITING.

FIGHT ON PLAGUES STARTED

Health Officials to Wage Aggressive War on Meningitis and Infantile Paralysis—Frequent Conferences Planned.

St. Paul.

The First Field artillery and First Infantry regiments, Minnesota National Guard, have attained full peace strength and suspended recruiting. Eight men from Pipestone brought the First Infantry up to its peace strength of 1,372 men and similar delegations from Virginia and other points brought the artillery up to its peace strength.

Both regiments expect orders to recruit to war strength and for that reason will accept and list applications for enlistment, and swear the men in later when the order arrives.

The Minneapolis batteries of the artillery are overloaded and many men will be transferred to St. Paul batteries, Col. George E. Leach of that branch said.

Twenty marine corps recruits including seven University of Minnesota students have left for the training quarters at Mare Island.

Plan War on Plagues.

A fight against the present epidemic of cerebro-spinal meningitis and toward prevention of a general recurrence of infantile paralysis will be features of enlargements of state health activities made possible by largely increased appropriations and outlined at a recent meeting of the Minnesota board of health.

The campaign is to start immediately, financed by a new appropriation of $25,000 now available for the coming year.

Frequent conferences are planned between Dr. H. M. Bracken, executive officer, Dr. A. J. Chesley, director of the communicable diseases branch, and members of the executive committee of the board.

The state health department has a fund totaling $102,000 for the coming year against $72,000 last year, exclusive of the special poliomyelitis fund of $25,000 compared with an emergency appropriation of $5,000 for the special epidemic work last year.

Taxes for 1918 Expenses 2.8 Mills.

New state tax rates will be 2.8 mills for 1918 expenses and 1.6 mills for 1919 expenses, according to figures based on the total appropriations granted by the recent legislature and made public by J. A. O. Preus, state auditor. Compared with these rates are 1 mill levied for 1917 and 1.4 mills for 1916 state expenses.

Estimated receipts of $8,223,100 and $7,323,200 leave the sums of $4,098,769 and $2,460,975 of expense funds for the respective years 1918 and 1919 to be raised by taxation.

What's Doing in Minnesota

St. Paul. — Former Governor Samuel R. Van Sant has written Governor Burnquist, tendering his services to the state and nation in war.

Red Wing.—The wets carried the city in the recent election by 183. Both sides increased their vote over last year but the wets added to their majority which was then 151.

Duluth.—At a meeting of the striking Duluth boilermakers and helpers a proposition submitted by seven of the contract shop owners was turned down by a unanimous vote.

St. Paul.—Local committees throughout the state are taking hold of the food problem with enthusiasm, reports received at the headquarters of the state food commission show.

St. Paul. — L. W. Hill, president of the Great Northern railroad, has left for Washington and will spend about a week in conference with government officials on the war situation.

Hastings. — Mrs. Thomas A. Brown of Hastings was elected president of the Third District Federation of Women's Clubs at the closing session here. Winthrop was voted the 1918 meeting.

Minneapolis. — About 100 members of the Tenth district group of the Minnesota Bankers' association were present when J. E. Vanstrom of Chisago City, group president, called the fourth annual session to order here.

Hibbing. — The Mesabi iron range is ready for the shipping season which has been officially opened and from present prospects, conditions look favorable for a record in output which will equal last year's banner season.

Stillwater. — The soldiers and sailors monument erected on the courthouse grounds here by the Washington County Monument association was unveiled at 3 p. m. Friday, April 27. A patriotic program was carried out.

Duluth. — Charles H. Hamilton walked 150 miles to get to the Duluth naval recruiting office to enlist, according to Officer F. L. McClure, who received the young man's application here. Hamilton was rejected on account of illness.

St. Paul. — The printing of 5,000 booklets outlining the plan for utilizing idle lands in Northern Minnesota and Wisconsin for grazing purposes has been authorized by the Northwest development subdivision of the St. Paul association.

Pipestone.—The meeting held here to discuss plans for having the route of the King of Trails highway from Winnipeg to the Gulf changed so as to come down through this section of the state resulted in an organization to take up the matter.

Minneapolis.—Jeanette Rankin, representative in Congress for Montana, and Dr. Marion L. Burton of Smith college, president-elect of the University of Minnesota, will be among the speakers of the 55th annual meeting of the Minnesota Educational association to be held in Minneapolis October 31 to November 3.

St. Paul. — More than 200 telegrams to state officials and men interested in live stock were sent out by the committee on arrangements for the Northwest live stock conference in St. Paul May 1. The call for the meeting was signed by Governor Burnquist. Governors of Montana, North Dakota and Wisconsin were invited.

Beroun, Minn.—Free use of 320 acres of excellent potato land twelve miles east of Beroun, Pine county, has been offered by the owner, Thomas C. Kohin, LaSalle, Ill., in a letter to Governor Burnquist, to any one who desires to crop it. "About one-third of the land is natural meadow and ready for the plow," Mr. Kohin wrote.

Winona. — Pleading that the discontinuance of the manufacture and sale of liquor will release a large number of men for productive service and the army and navy and will conserve for necessary purposes a vast amount of grain, three leading local churches have sent messages to congressmen and senators, urging support of the measure providing for national prohibition as a war necessity.

Minneapolis. — That the federal government guarantee every wheat raising farmer $1.50 a bushel for his 1917 crop is the suggestion of Reserve Agent John H. Rich of the Minneapolis federal reserve board before the authorities in Washington. Mr. Rich said he believes such a step would be wise. The question of a maximum price naturally arises, he said, as a corollary to a minimum price.

St. Paul.—Exercising his constitutional right to veto separate items in appropriations bills, Governor Burnquist has slashed $2,027,018 from the total of $23,867,329 voted by the Legislature. The veto of some of the items in the appropriation measure and in his pocket veto of at least one other bill, is considered an aftermath of the bitter fight over the public domain bill.

More than half the total reduction was effected by executive disapproval of single items of deficiency school aid. Other appropriations for educational purposes were cut more than $200,000 in addition.

Winona.—Farmers are plowing under their hay lands and large pastures in many cases to replace them with crops that will produce more dollars per acre. In a vast territory waste land along public highways is under plow and will be seeded to "nonperishable" crops.

St. Paul.—Every one of Minnesota's agricultural counties may have a county agent soon under the United States Department of Agriculture if Congress grants the $25,000,000 appropriation asked by Secretary of Agriculture Houston to promote the country's food production possibilities.

NOT ASKING FOR CHARITY

The Thief River Falls Times has a lengthy editorial in their last week's issue regarding bridges across Red Lake River in eastern Pennington County. The editorial is all right as far as it goes, but we have got used to the Thief River Falls papers talking about bonding for bridges in the eastern part of the county every two years at about the time the cash comes in to the county from the State Road and Bridge fund.

Now Mr. Times just leave out your bonding talk and say: "Look here gentlemen of the Board of County Commissioners, the eastern part of the county have been paying into the Road and Bridge funds of this county for six years with practically no money having been turned back to them, as we see by examining the records in the County Auditor's office. They have not received any of the state Road and Bridge funds paid into the county two years ago, or any paid in four years ago. Now we propose that we take enough of that $14,327 that we have just received from the state to build at least one bridge across Red Lake River in eastern Pennington County."

The people of the eastern part of the county after six years of sympathy extended for our lack of bridges, by the people of Thief River Falls, while they appropriated all the cash paid in for the purpose of building bridges, don't go any longer, and we don't propose to bond for cash that we have in our pocket.

But we will tell you what we will do. Give us the cash to build a bridge out of the cash you have got from the state, and we will favor and vote for a proposition to bond the County for the amount that the bridge costs for the purpose of building roads. But we do not propose to have this end of our County held up as an object of charity for the rest of the County to bond themselves to help us out. Just give us our just dues and we would have cash enough to not only build one but two bridges across this river.

A FEW FACTS AND FIGURES.

The Townships of Goodridge Rinner, Star, and Highlanding paid into the County road and bridge fund of Pennington County during the years of 1915 and 1916, the sum $2390,90. They got back $525,00, leaving them short $1865, and 90 cents short of getting the money back that they paid in.

The town of Star paid in the least, $453,3, and got back the most $250, while poor Goodridge paid in Six hundred and ninety two dollars and got a big-0-in return. These are only a few figures taken from the Auditors books, and they are all on file in our office, and we propose to have a record of the facts before making any publications. Go down and ask your County Auditor if the figures given you above are not correct.

Now comes the afraid farmer, don't like to pay the present high prices for seed and horse feed to put in any extra amount of a crop, for fear of low prices next fall. Do not fear low prices for next fall, wheat will be worth at least two dollars a bushel next fall, but you can't get the two bucks if you havent got the wheat. You are sure of fancy prices for

TREAT SEED POTATOES

The Prevalence of Scab on the High-Priced Seed Potatoes This Year Makes It Imperative That They Be Treated With Chemicals Before Planting.

[National Crop Improvement Service.]

While the operation of treating is comparatively simply, close attention must be given to the direction and details followed absolutely. Your carelessness may mean ruin of the potatoes or danger to children or stock. Simply—Be Careful.

According to your conditions and equipment, the seed potatoes may be treated in crates, loose in barrels or in sacks. Treatment must be done before the potatoes are cut or sprouted.

The commonest method is to mix one pint of formaldehyde (be sure it is full strength) with thirty gallons of water. Soak the seed stock in this solution for two hours, just before you are ready to start cutting. This solution may be re-used two or three times, if no time is lost between batches. One of the easiest ways is to place the solution in a barrel and place a sackful of potatoes in it at a time.

Corrosive sublimate is an excellent chemical to use, and will kill rhizictonia as well as scab, but it is a deadly poison and must be kept where children or stock will not get it. All vessels used with this material should be carefully cleaned afterwards. If you prefer this, use four ounces of corrosive sublimate to thirty gallons of water, and soak the potatoes for an hour and a half. The powdered chemical should first be dissolved in hot water and then added to the main solution. Do not use metal vessels. After treating, the potatoes should be promptly washed in clean water until all traces of the solution are gone, and they they should be carefully dried the sooner the better.

It only takes a little time and very little money to treat all your seed potatoes by either method, and it pays big in larger yields of better potatoes, free from disease.

Profit in First-Class Seed Corn.

[National Crop Improvement Service.]

I have been able to raise 30 bushels of choice seed corn on an acre seed plot. For this seed I received an average of $3.50 per bushel, which makes a return of $105 for this seed alone, in addition to 40 or 50-odd bushels left for feeding purposes.

I have black loam soil that has always been in the highest state of fertility. I apply a heavy coat of stable manure in the fall, plow the field early in the spring, disk four times and harrow until a firm seed bed is obtained. For seed, I used eighteen of the choicest, highest testing seed ears which I could secure.

On May 21st I planted, checking corn into hills forty-two inches each way. At this time I drilled in 450 pounds per acre of a high-grade fertilizer. The corn was given the very best of care, and as a result of this intensive cultivation and the balanced plant-food ration, it matured by the 15th of September, at which time I picked the seed corn and put it on drying racks in a heated drying house so as to be in first-classed condition for buyers.—Heiron J. Black, Burlington, Wis.

PROPER SEEDS

There Is Still a Fair Supply Quickly Available.

[National Crop Improvement Service.]

A great many of our farmers will not plant their full acreage this year on account of a supposed shortage of seeds. We are informed by the wholesale seedsman in the country and the various experiment stations in the states, that there is still a moderate supply of pedigreed barley and certain kinds of corn on hand for quick shipment.

Potato is going to be the hardest seed to obtain. However, in most instances, potatoes can go in last. The advantage of a state Potato Growers' Association was never more apparent than now.

OUR PLATFORM.

[National Crop Improvement Service.]

The four fundamentals following are being taught where grain is a factor:

First.—Establishment of one variety of each kind of seed best adapted to soil and climate.

Second.—The fanning and grading to obtain a uniform seed, free from trash, immature grain and weed seeds.

Third.—treatment of grain diseases by use of formaldehyde, etc.

Fourth.—Testing for vitality of all seeds with the assistance of the school children of the community.

WHISKERS ON BARLEY.

[National Crop Improvement Service.]

Considerable complaint has been made in the past on account of the obnoxious character of the beards of barley during harvesting and subsequent handling. This objection has been largely removed since the introduction of the binder, self feeder attachments to threshing machines and self straw stackers. There is little danger in using the straw for feeding or bedding for stock.

THE LOCAL NEWS

Next week will be potato and corn planting week.

The fair weather of this week, has been improved to the utmost by the farmers rushing the seed into the ground.

Elling Klemmetson sold fifteen tons of hay, which made him have to go over to Carl Klemmetsons and get a load for his own use yesterday.

The spring is very late this year,and we think that late sown grain will stand an equal chance with the grass, which is awful backward about growing.

This is the month that the farmers must prepare to pay the first half of their Realestate taxes which become due June 1st, at which time a 10 per cent penalty is added.

G. Swanson disposed of his personal property at auction on Tuesday, and left for his new home near Duluth, on Wednesday, where he has rented a small farm.

Walter McAndress will break and seed 30 acres of flax this season.He has had four men employed clearing the brush from the land for some time, and now has the work about completed.

We have one field of wheat that we seeded before that snow storm which is now green. The grain all must have grown, judging by the appearance of it.It was sown from last years Marcus wheat.

The weather this week has been ideal for seeding and if we are fortunate enough to get one more week of the same fair weather Pennington County will have a big crop growing this year.

After the Corn Speculators got about all of the last years corn crop out of the hands of the producer, they doubled the price on the Consumer, which is pretty hard on the farmers of this locality who have to buy feed for their horses.

Court does not set in this County this year, until the 4th Tuesday in June, which will give the peaceable people of the eastern part of the county an opportunity to finish their springs work,before the trouble makers can get action before the grand jury, to prosecute their neighbors.

We are sending out a number of notices to Delinquent subscribers this week. We ask those who receive them to please give them attention, as a 1.00 is a small matter to you, but it compels us to violate the rules of the Post Office department, to send Newspapers as second class matter, after the subscription is a year over due.

The Red Lake River bottoms are now dry up to the River banks, and all the land can be worked this year. It will be necessary to reseed a portion of the meadow lands to tame grass, as the continued floods of last season killed out a large part of this tame grass.

There is now no damage being done by the Red Lake River, as it is now down within its banks, and will remain so, unless that dam should go out at Thief River Falls again, as it is now evident that the overflooding of lands on the upper Red Lake River last summer was caused by the old dead head logs heading the water at Thief Rives Falls. The trouble was that the people did not discovered what caused the overflow, until the dam was completed, and the river went down within its banks.

An agent for Woolen Mills stopped us in the field, the other day and inquired if we wanted to buy any goods for next fall. We told him we had no time to stop work to order goods nowadays and if he found a farmer that had plenty of time to order goods nowadays, to be sure to ship the goods C.O.D. in the fall.

The Thief River Falls Newspapers always seem to be ready with flaming head lines to publish the Calamity howls of W.A. Swanson from Eastern Pennington County. Swanson has left this part now, and while he was not a bad sort of a duck, he always seemed to be behind with his work. He is now somewhere south of St. Paul, and we will bet that if the Thief River Falls Times man should visit him a year hence he would find machinery strung all over the farm,with his binder standing in the field where he finished cutting grain with the canvas on it, and a weeks manure in his stock barns, and Swanson sitting in the house writing calamity howls about the state and nations helping the poor people.

MAYFIELD DOINGS

Town of Mayfield all rushing seeding their springs crop of grain. No time to go visiting. No time to even write news. All the news is that everybody is busy n the fields.

A Fable For Pacifists

By Samuel Hopkins Adams of the Vigilantes.

IN time of General War among the Insect Tribes the Bees remained at Peace. That they might conduct their Pursuits unhampered, the Honey Bees chose as their leaders certain Sting Bees of Courage and Prowess to guard their Interests, their Lives and their Honor. To these Guardians came Slayers from among the Tribe of Ruthless Spiders, saying:

SAMUEL HOPKINS ADAMS.

"Henceforth the Air is forbidden to your Wings, for there are Spread our Webs for our Enemies."

"But the Air is our proper Province," protested the Chosen Leaders of the Bees. "Shut out from it how shall we continue to exist in Prosperity and Honor?"

"That is nothing to Us," replied the Ruthless Spiders. "Whoso disobeys our Orders we will destroy. Be warned."

"This thing we will not Endure," said the Bee Leaders, and they set about spreading their Wings and sharpening their Stings for Combat.

But as they prepared to fight there arose from among the Mass of Honey-Bees a clamor of Pacifist Buzzers, crying out in many voices (some of which echoed the Spider accent):

"It is not the will of the tribe that we go to war. Make no movement until opportunity is given for all to vote upon the question."

So the Chosen Leaders were bound to inaction, awaiting the vote of the Honey Bees, whose interest and lives and honor they guarded.

When in the course of tribal events the vote had been registered the Pacifist Buzzers were overthrown by the resentment of an angered tribe, and the Word went out to the Chosen Leaders: "Our honor has been assailed, our will is for war, go forth and fight."

But the Chosen Leaders did not fight.

They could not.

They were dead.

The Ruthless Spiders had killed them.

And when the Bee tribe, late and leaderless, took the air they were entangled in the webs of the Ruthless Spiders and utterly destroyed.

Moral—When honor is assailed the Initiative is Mightier than the Referendum.

Education.

Education is not merely the writing of facts on the mind as one writes on a blank slate. It resembles rather the placing of fresh color on canvas on which earlier colors are not dry. The new colors mix with the old. So the living mind mixes new information with what is already in it, and judges the new in the light of the old.

Kilted Troops.

The Greek kilted troops, the Evzones, bear a variant of a name which was given to troops in the days of ancient Greece. Euzonoi, meaning well girdled and so girt up for exercise as kilted men are, were light troops or even the heavily armed hoplitai, but without their weighty shields. At first, however, the term, as in Homer, was used only regarding women, the "zone" being the lower girdle worn by them about the waist, but by an easy and natural transition this came to mean a man's belt. Then, as the belt supported the short skirts, kilted men were called well belted.

Use of Gas.

It is now a hundred years since gas was first used for illumination in this country, and this is supposed to be "the age of electricity," yet the amount of gas consumed is still increasing. There has indeed been a falling off in the amount used for lighting, but a great gain in the amount used for fuel. This is not only the age of electricity, but also the age of the gas burning cook stove.

Government Issues Warning
Against Fly Poisons

Following is an extract from "The Transmission of Disease by Flies," Supplement No. 29 to the Public Health Reports, April, 1916.

"Of other fly poisons mentioned, mention should be made, merely for a purpose of condemnation, of those composed of arsenic. Fatal cases of poisoning of children through the use of such compounds are far too frequent, and owing to the resemblance of arsenical poisoning to summer diarrhea and cholera infantum, it is believed that the cases reported do not, by any means, comprise the total. Arsenical fly-destroying devices must be rated as extremely dangerous, and should never be used, even if other measures are not at hand."

106 fly poisoning cases have been reported by the press within the last three years. As stated above this number is but a fraction of the real number. Protect your children by using the safe, efficient, non-poisonous fly catcher

Plainly Evident That They Are Enjoying Their Trip—See at First Hand What Farmers Are Doing to Meet Demands for Additional Foodstuffs.

St. Louis, May 8. — France's war mission received from St. Louis a pledge of active participation as the ally of France in the fight for the freedom of humanity.

The pledge was given at a huge mass meeting at the Coliseum in which Marshal Joffre presented a standard of colors to the new Fifth Missouri infantry, and former Premier Viviani welcomed American soldiers into the fight for democracy.

In presenting the colors to the Fifth Missouri infantry Marshal Joffre said:

"In all probability that flag soon will be next to the French flag on French soil. When our soldiers see that flag it will be an inspiration to them, and it is the duty of every American soldier to defend that flag to the death."

Former Premier Viviani said it was a great honor for him and his colleagues to be guests of St. Louis, where years ago the French people settled and which once belonged to France.

Extends France's Thanks.

'I thank you very deeply, in behalf of the government of the French republic for the magnificent reception you have given us," said M. Viviani.

Saw Agriculturist Activity.

The spirit in which the farmers of the Middle West are responding to the call for intensive farming, was demonstrated to the members of the French commission on their journey from Kansas City. Their trip was through the heart of the fertile districts of Missouri's great agricultural belt, and everywhere there was evidence of increased activity to meet the demand of the nation for additional foodstuffs.

The Middle West has been a great surprise to the commissioners in the fervid patriotism shown at each place they have visited and it is plainly evident that they are thoroughly enjoying the trip.

HAITI AND CHINA MAY JOIN WORLD'S ALLIES

Entry of Both Nations Into War Seems Inevitable According to Dispatches.

London, May 7.—Haiti and China are on the verge of entering the worldwide alliance against Germany. President Artiguenave, of Haiti, has called on congress to declare war on Germany and a commission has been appointed to consider the question. A dispatch from Pekin passed by the censor, says that China's entry into the war at an early date seems inevitable.

The war party is said to be gaining the ascendency over the protests of the president and senate that China should not enter the war.

The Haitien president's action was taken in consequence of the fact among the victims of the torpedoed French steamer Montreal were five Haitien members of the crew and three Haitien passengers. The Montreal was plying between Bordeau and Haiti.

SWEDISH PEOPLE MAY REBEL

London, May 7.—An Amsterdam dispatch declares the danger of a revolution against the government and royal family of Sweden is so great that two warships have been placed in the anchorage opposite the royal palace to be available if the king and queen are compelled to flee.

The situation in Sweden is serious. Every day the attitude of the government and its sympathy with Germany are resented more vigorously by the people. Sweden also is influenced by Norway.

War Need Not Harm Trade.

New York, May 6.—There will be no difficulty in financing the government's requirements for the war with Germany and this can be done without disturbing the country's business, in the opinion of William G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury, expressed here after a conference with 70 of the city's leading bankers.

Aim Is Municipal Docks.

St. Louis, May 5.—Plans for merging all river improvement associations in the Mississippi valley into one central organization for river development will be proposed at the river conference which will be held here May 8 and 9. One of the principal objects of the new organization will be the promotion of municipally-owned docks at all cities of importance along the Mississippi and its tributaries. Another task will be the promotion of steamship lines and the creation of a greater volume of freight traffic.

547,197 MEN IN FIRST DRAFT

WAR DEPARTMENT PLANS FOR EIGHTEEN FULL DIVISIONS.

Sixteen Regiments of Heavy Field Artillery Also Provided—Regular Army Officers to Command.

Washington, May 7. — The full strength of the first war army organized under the selective draft bill will be 18,538 officers and 528,659 enlisted men, making up 18 war strength divisions complete in every arm and supplemented by 16 regiments of heavy field artillery, equipped with large caliber howitzers.

Virtually every detail of plans for raising, training, equipping and organizing this force has been carefully worked out by the War department. Selection of the men will begin as soon as the draft measure becomes law.

Conferees of the Senate and House hope to agree upon disputed features today so as to send the bill to the President for his signature early next week.

Northwest in Thirteenth Division.

The Thirteenth division will be recruited from Minnesota, Iowa, North and South Dakota and Nebraska.

In addition to the 16 infantry divisions there will be two separate cavalry divisions which probably will be situated in the Southwest, near the Mexican border.

Officers of the cavalry divisions will be trained at all of the 16 officers' training camps, which will open within a few days with 40,000 prospective officers.

In general the plan will be to provide a regular army officer to command each new regiment, with an adequate number of regular or national guard officers of experience to carry out efficiently the administrative duties and to supervise instruction.

CHEERS REPLACE JEERS IN THROATS OF RUSSIANS

Threatened Revolt of Soldiers and Workers Turned to Support by Speech of Milukoff.

Petrograd, via London, May 7.—The council of workmen's and soldiers' delegates has accepted the government's explanation of its May Day note by a vote of 34 to 19 and has decided that the incident is closed. The anti-government street demonstration was completely swamped by a gigantic pro-government demonstration. There were some clashes but no serious incidents.

Crowds paraded the streets all day, denouncing the ministers of the government and carrying placards demanding their removal. Great throngs gathered about the building where the ministers met in gigantic demonstration against Foreign Minister Milukoff. Two thousand soldiers were withdrawn from the Petrograd garrison, and with loaded rifles guarded the government building during the meeting.

"When I see your banners reading 'Down with Milukoff!' I fear not for myself but for Russia," he began. "I fear for what the outside world's interpretation of your demonstration will be."

Gradually the crowd quieted. Milukoff continued, telling them in simple words what dissension in the new republic meant for Russia's chances of an enduring democracy. At last he shouted:

"The provisional government will never consent to a separate peace. The provisional government cannot strike the name of Russia from the list of the allied nations because of German intrigue."

VIRTUAL ARMISTICE ON SLAV FRONT IS REPORTED

No Shot Fired on Austro-Russian Battle Line in More than Month, Soldiers Claim.

Petrograd, May 5.—A virtual armistice exists along the entire Russian front, according to soldiers returning here for the duma meeting. Not a shot has been fired on the Austro-Russian front in more than a month. At many places Russian and German soldiers are fraternizing, meeting unarmed in No Man's Land. General Gourka, commander of Russian forces on the Minsk front, has issued a formal statement warning his forces that the Germans' friendliness was part of their plan to obtain information of Russian conditions.

An official statement issued by the Russian war department reports intense German artillery fire near Kovel and small mine operations.

A total of 169 pictures was sold. The money will be sent to Paris to be distributed among the families of the soldier-artists of France, more than a thousand of whom had been killed, and to aid those who had been blinded or maimed by the war.

REFUGEES BRING NEWS OF PILLAGE BY CUBAN REBELS

INSURRECTION LEADERS ARE DEFIANT AND MASSACRE OF WHITE RESIDENTS IS PREDICTED.

GOVERNMENT UNABLE TO COPE WITH TROUBLE

Threaten to Follow Torch With Wholesale Murder If President Menocal Does Not Step Out—Appeal Made to Washington by Americans Remaining.

New York, May 8. — Charges that Cuban negro rebels are burning and pillaging homes and properties of Americans and other foreigners in the districts of Palmarita, Bayate and Miranda, Oriente province, are made by 24 American and British refugees who have arrived here. They predicted a massacre of the white residents unless the United States intervenes and asserted that the Cuban government is powerless to cope with the situation. Most of the refugees escaped with only the clothes they wore.

Appeal to U. S.

The accusations were substantiated by an appeal for aid signed by 116 Americans remaining in the territory occupied by the rebels. The appeal, the refugees said will be forwarded to Washington.

The threat of a massacre is contained in a statement included in the appeal, alleged to have been written by General Blaz Maso. The statement Maso is reputed to have made is:

"You will holler loudest and we will destroy until your hollering will be heard in Washington and force American intervention. For the time being we will not kill you unless you oppose us. We are only fighting now with the torch, terrorizing and organizing.

Demand That Menocal Quit.

"But if Menocal does not step out May 20 we will fight and kill. Your government can prevent this by intervention."

The statement concludes with the following message from the general's aide:

"You will notice that we rebels are negro to a man. You will remember the negro rebellion of 1912 when 5,000 negroes were killed in this province.

"We remember that, too, and now the death of 5,000 defenseless negroes in 1912 shall now be avenged in a horrible way, I assure you."

George Buxton of Norwalk, Conn., asserted that the rebels held full sway in Oriente province outside of Santiago and its environs.

FOOD RIOTS STARTED BY SWEDISH WOMEN

Potato Famine in Stockholm Causes Disorders in Which Policemen Are Stoned.

Stockholm, May 8. — Women who stood in line to buy potatoes in the southern part of Stockholm became unruly when informed that the stock was exhausted and began a demonstration which kept the police busy until after midnight. Several policemen were injured by stones thrown and a number of the rioters received scalp wounds from the police sabers. Sixteen were arrested.

Serious rioting also occurred in Gothenburg. It was begun by buyers who demanded bread from the bakers without presenting bread cards. When they were refused they began taking bread by force, often without paying for it. This procedure was eventually extended to the butcher shops which were plundered until a troop of hussars was summoned. Several soldiers were injured by missiles. Ten rioters were taken to hospitals. Many other persons were injured.

GERMAN PEOPLE SKEPTICAL

Taking News of "Victories" With a Grain of Salt.

Copenhagen, May 8.—All is apparently not easy sailing for the German military authorities in their efforts to convince the people at home that everything is going well on the Western front.

German critics occasionally refer in their articles to complaints from readers on this or that feature of the war reports, indicating not only an unwillingness to take the official bulletins and the dispatches of the war correspondents at their face value, but also that the number of doubting Thomases is large.

Rivers and Harbors Bill O. K.'d.

Washington, May 7. — An omnibus rivers and harbors bill appropriating $26,893,000 and carrying authorizations for many surveys and examinations with a view to future improvements has been agreed on by the House rivers and harbors committee. The bill is mainly for maintenance and continuance of existing improvements and is based on recommendations submitted by the war and navy departments in the interest of national defense. Chairman Small of the committee will bring up the bill in the House.

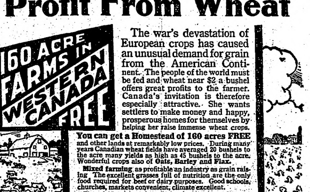
Canadian Farmers Profit From Wheat



160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

The war's devastation of European crops has caused an unusual demand for grain from the American Continent. She wants settlers to make money and happy, prosperous homes for themselves by helping her raise immense wheat crops.

You can get a Homestead of 160 acres FREE and other lands at remarkably low prices. During many years Canadian wheat fields have averaged 20 bushels to the acre many yields as high as 45 bushels to the acre. Wonderful crops also of Oats, Barley and Flax.

Louis Botha as a Fighter.

The Boer army organization would not be taken as a model for any modern military system, but its very weaknesses made easier the rise to high command of able subalterns. At least it gave a young officer his chance to show what was in him. Botha got his chance under Joubert. It was only a matter of weeks before this field cornet was in command of armies. At Colenso Botha with 6,000 men held off Buller with 18,000 and made such use of the deep trench as has become familiar in the great war during the past two years. European experts have studied with profit Botha's brilliant defenses. The shrewdness with which he divined the enemy's intentions was almost uncanny, and more than once it made him victor of a doubtful field. His only military training had been received years before in campaigns against the Zulus. He was never known to use a map. His accurate knowledge of the country made maps superfluous.—Review of Reviews.

EXPLAINS METHODS OF OPERATION OF ARMY DRAFT LAW

EXPLICIT INSTRUCTIONS FOR THE GUIDANCE OF THOSE HAVING MATTER IN CHARGE.

COUNTY OFFICIALS TO ACT

Their Duties Designated, With the Governors of Each State Placed at the Head of All Registration Machinery—Voting Places to Be Used as Centers of Gatherings.

Washington.—To facilitate the work of raising the military forces called for by the army draft law, now in effect, the war department has issued the following letter of instruction, by which all officials connected with the duty will be governed:

The approval of the new national army bill and the president's proclamation thereunder have been coincident. All persons within the age limits prescribed are required to present themselves for registration at the customary voting places in the voting precincts in which they have their permanent homes, on a day which the president will announce.

There was a time in the country's history when military enumerators, backed by bayonets, went out among the people to take a compulsory service census. Today, under the principle of universal liability to service, the execution of the law is put into the hands of the people.

The governor of each state is the chief of registration therein. The machinery of registration in each county is in charge of the sheriff, the county clerk, and the county physician, acting ex officio, unless a different board shall be announced by the governor. In cities containing populations of more than 30,000, the registration will be under the control of the mayor and selected boards of registration. In order that the disignated county and city officials, and the people generally, can get a clear understanding of the census methods the following brief outline is given:

The sheriffs, or other designated officials, immediately upon receiving notice from the governor, shall appoint registrars for each voting precinct.

Apportionment of Registrars.

The proportion of registrars shall be one for each 170 persons to be registered. Each age to be registered will comprise about 1 per cent of the population.

If, for instance, all men between nineteen and twenty-five years of age, inclusive, are to be registered, the registrar would have to enroll about 7 per cent of the precinct population.

It is desirable to accept the services of competent volunteer registrars to serve without compensation. All registrars must be sworn.

The voting place in each precinct must be prepared for registration. Full printed instructions covering every detail of registration will be in the hands of sheriffs and mayors on the fifth day after the president's proclamation.

Cities of Over 30,000 Population.

The mayor of a city containing more than 30,000 inhabitants, or the officials designated by the governor therein, shall, with approval of the governor, appoint for each ward or convenient minor subdivision containing about 30,000 people one registration board, and shall designate one officer of each board to perform duties similar to those imposed on the sheriff, as heretofore outlined. If the mayor desires, he may appoint a central board to coordinate the work of minor boards.

Duties of County Clerks, and of Clerks of Cities of Over 30,000 People.

On the fifth day after the president has issued his proclamation, clerks of counties and cities of over 30,000 must secure a supply of blanks and copies of the registration regulations from the sheriff or from the mayor. Absentees and the sick will apply to such clerks to have their registration cards filled out. In no case shall such persons be given registration certificates. They are to be instructed by the clerk that the burden is on them to see to it that the cards reach the registrars of their home precincts by registration day.

Absentees and the Sick.

Persons absent from their home counties may be registered by mail. If so absent, a man should go to the clerk of the county where he may be staying, on the sixth day after the date of the president's proclamation. If he is in a city of over 30,000 population, the city clerk is the official to whom to apply. The absentee will be told how to register, but he must mail his card in time to reach his precinct by registration day.

Persons too sick to present themselves for registration must send a competent person to the county or city clerk on the sixth day after the issuing of the proclamation. The clerk will give instructions for registration.

Colleges, Universities, Homes and Other Institutions.

Officials of educational, charitable and other institutions should apply for instructions to the county or city clerk on the sixth day after the date of the proclamation for instructions as to a convenient method of registration.

The wardens of jails, penitentiaries, and reformatories should apply to the county or city clerk for instructions on the sixth day.

Five days after the date of the president's proclamation complete regulations will be in the hands of all sheriffs and of the officials of cities of over 30,000 population.

The president is authorized to call upon all public officers to assist in the execution of the law. The plan is, however, to rely on the people for the proper execution of the law. It is expected that patriotic citizens will offer their services free as registrars. Such edged. Volunteers for this service should communicate immediately with the proper official.

BANKS ASKED TO CO-OPERATE

Secretary Authorizes Financial Institutions to Receive Subscriptions for the Bond Offerings.

Washington.—Secretary McAdoo telegraphed the entire list of 27,513 national and state banks and trust companies in the United States, authorizing them to receive subscriptions for the $2,000,000,000 bond offering, enlisting their co-operation, and requesting them to telegraph a rough estimate of the amount of bonds each would take for itself and its patrons.

"You can render an invaluable service to your country," Mr. McAdoo told the banks, "by receiving subscriptions and co-operating with the federal reserve bank in your district."

Loan Subscriptions Pour In.

To all clearing house associations in the country Mr. McAdoo sent a telegram in which he said:

"The amount of the initial loan has been determined by the needs of the government and not arbitrarily. The enthusiastic and patriotic co-operation of the banks and bankers of the country will guarantee the success of the undertaking."

The result of the first announcement of the loan has been a deluge of subscriptions, aggregating many millions. Most of these came in by wire to the treasury. Virtually every large city and every state in the Union was represented.

Lend $100,000,000 to Italy.

Negotiations continued today with representatives of the nations to which the United States is extending credit. Count di Cellere, the Italian ambassador, received the full amount of the first $100,000,000 loan made by this government to Italy.

Subscriptions to the second offering of treasury certificates were received during the day by the federal reserve banks. Indications are that the secretary will call for the proceeds within a week, possibly a few days.

The $100,000,000 loan to France will be turned over to Ambassador Jusserand, in whole or part, within a day or so.

MAY CENTER IN WASHINGTON

Probability That One Committee Will Purchase All Supplies Needed by the Allied Countries.

Washington.—Creation of a central purchasing committee in Washington for all supplies bought in the United States for the allied governments was forecast here by Sir Hardman Lever, financial expert of the British war mission. The committee will supplant J. P. Morgan & Co.

Discussing the world financial situation, the British expert expressed the opinion that Germany will be practically bankrupt in the credit markets after the war.

"Our enemies," he said, "for all their boasted efficiency, have never had the courage to face their financial problems, with the result that when the war is over they will be hard put to it."

The Teutonic governments having pyramided one internal loan upon another, he explained, their interest charges would be so great that he believed they would either have to repudiate a large part of their debt or face inability to buy the enormous quantities of material they would need for reconstruction.

The allies, he added, had paid their way in the war "by the straightforward and natural means, by pouring out their gold, by selling enormous masses of American securities, by raising loans." As a result, he predicted that the end of the war would find the allies in good shape financially, despite their enormous permanent debts.

Another U. S. Ship Sunk.

Washington, May 4.—The American sailing vessel Willard Abrahams was sunk off the Irish coast, the crew of six being rescued, according to a message received by the state department.

CONTROL OF FOOD SUPPLIES

Measure Introduced in Congress to Give President Full Authority in the Matter.

Washington.—Governmental control of food, fuel, clothing and other necessaries of life is contemplated in a bill which Representative Lever introduced. The measure has administration [illegible] every agency [illegible] supply under control of the president. This will include stimulation of production, prevention of waste, regulation of distribution, prohibition of hoarding and elimination of speculation.

The president would have authority to direct shipments of foodstuffs into markets where needed most. He would also have power to requisition factories, mines and other establishments.

The bill contains a clause to prevent flooding of the American market by importations, so these articles will not compete with American products.

St. Paul. — Andrew E. Fritz, state public examiner has certified to the Minnesota Tax commission a list of more than 100 freight line and private car companies failing to report for the last year as required by the gross earnings tax law and 35 companies found to have omitted earnings from reports.

Fort Snelling. — The opening date for the Fort Snelling training camp for reserve corps officers was postponed from May 8 to May 14. This action was taken by the War department, "in order to enable a more careful selection to be made of the limited number that can be accommodated."

St. Paul.—The officers of the Public Safety commission are being flooded with letters from towns all over the state, asking how the people shall go about organizing a home guard. In reply the commission is sending out a letter and a blank, containing the form of enlistment and space for the signatures of those who enlist.

Brainerd.—The body of Selwyn P. Coffrain, Brainerd business man, drowned last October while hunting, was found in Lake George by a homesteader living near the lake. An extensive search has been made for the body by men who accompanied Coffrain on his trip.

Duluth. — Precautions adopted by authorities in guarding the ore docks here have been doubled in the past twenty-four hours, since the loading of vessels started. Strict orders have been given to shoot to kill any suspicious persons refusing to halt after being challenged, guards say.

IF YOU have a constant, dull ache, or sharp pains whenever you bend or twist your back, and the kidney secretions seem disordered, too, don't waste time plastering or rubbing the bad back. It's likely that the cause is kidney weakness, and delay in treating the kidneys may invite uric acid poisoning, gravel, dropsy or fatal Bright's disease.

HER HEALTH RESTORED.

Mrs. Henry Zumach, Hutchinson, Minn., says: "A sharp pain caught me one day when I was working and from then on, I suffered awfully from backache. Nights I had to place a pillow under by back to ease the pain. I had awful dizzy spells and got so weak and rundown that I was discouraged. Doctors said my only hope was an operation. Nothing helped me until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. They restored me to good health and removed all the lameness that had made my life miserable."

THE CURE LASTED.

Emery Newkirk, State St., Mauston, Wis., says: "I know that Doan's Kidney Pills are good, for I have used them with fine results. I had weak kidneys and bad pains across my back. The kidney secretions were highly colored and filled with sediment. When I read about Doan's Kidney Pills I began taking them and was soon rid of the sharp pains. The kidney secretions cleared up and I felt better in every way. I am glad to say that I have had no sign of kidney complaint since."

ANY CORN LIFTS OUT, DOESN'T HURT A BIT!

No foolishness! Lift your corns and calluses off with fingers—It's like magic!

Sore corns, hard corns, soft corns or any kind of a corn, can harmlessly be lifted right out with the fingers if you apply upon the corn a few drops of freezone, says a Cincinnati authority.

For little cost one can get a small bottle of freezone at any drug store, which will positively rid one's feet of every corn or callus without pain.

This simple drug dries the moment it is applied and does not even irritate the surrounding skin while applying it or afterwards.

This announcement will interest many of our readers. If your druggist hasn't any freezone tell him to surely get a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house.—adv.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3,1879

Sympathetic talk for Kaiser Wilhelm don't go in America, at the present time, but it is right to sympathize with the German people, who are ruled by such a beast that would slaughter their entire nation to gratify his personal ambition. Any talk to the effect that Germany should win this war, or any of your wise advice as to how Wilson should conduct the war, is not wanted at this time. All true Americans Republicans and Democrats are now united and stand solidly behind our President, of this United States. Do not expect to get indorsement for treasonable utterances against this Country, by Republicans who were opposed to Wilson last fall as that was a difference of opinion among ourselves, but this is a fight between Kaiser Wilhelm and Woodrow Wilson, and all true Republicans, who love and honor their Country are solid behind Wilson.

W. A. Swanson, formerly of Rhoda, but now located in the southern part of the state, sends another knife thrust at Pennington County, for Publication in the last weeks Thief River Falls Times. He starts in with his old howl about the calamities of Red Lake River Floods. Swanson never lived nearer than three miles of Red Lake River. He was located on swamp land taken by his wife before he married her that had been passed up by the early settlers, and the state of Minnesota could have appropriated ten million dollars for the improvement of Red Lake River and it would not have been a dollars benefit, to Swanson. He is now out of the Country, and it is a good thing for the Country, that he is. The Times Editor had better take a little trip up Red Lake River and see the farmers all hustling in a big crop, before publishing any more of Swansons "Rot." Because some rube has made a business failure in Thief River Falls, is it an indication that that City should receive aid from the state to exist? Thief River Falls Newspaper Editors should take interest enough in their home Country to let Swanson remain in peace, where he is now located, and promptly cast his calamity howls into the waste basket.

There is some Criticism being made of Congressman Steenersons attitude on the war question. But we supposed it is difficult to please everybody. However our Representatives in Congress should consider that about all the protests they receive from Constituents against war comes from Kaiser sympathizer, who should be over there in Germany in trenches, instead of writing letters in America. Our two Senators from Minnesota represent the true sentiment of Minnesota on the War Issue.

The Bemidji boys who went in to the U. S. Navy, and are now on the Battle Ship Kansas, are well pleased with the treatment they receive, and are delighted at the opportunity they will have for seeing other parts of the great world. Enlistments for the navy can now be made for the Period of the war, or for 5 years. If two or three young men desire to enlist from this locality, arrangements will be made for a recruiting officer to come to Sunbeam and enlist them and their fare will be paid to Minneapolis from here, and in case they are not accepted return fare will be paid to their homes.

A Kansas editor has noticed that when a man finds fault with his local paper the chances are ten to one that he hasn't an advertisement in it; five to one he never gave it a job of work; three to one that he is a delinquent in his subscription; even money that he never did anything to assist the publisher to make it a good paper, and four to one that he is most eager to see it when it comes out.—Ex.

DEMOCRACY AND MILITARY SERVICE

A Wise Nation Demands Universal Training of Its Citizens.

By Hermann Hagedorn of Vigilantes.

DEMOCRACY is based on service. Democratic institutions depend for their very existence on the willingness and ability of each and every man, woman and child in the land in some fashion to serve the common good.

Democracy is based on universal service.

What kind of service is demanded of men and women who live under democratic institutions? In time of peace democracy demands on the part of each individual an intelligent interest in civic and national affairs and a conscientious attention to the conduct of the people's representatives who constitute the government; it demands knowledge of conditions, understanding of the nation's institutions and patriotic devotion in the conservation of those institutions. It demands these qualities not merely of our high minded and high spirited men and women who volunteer to protect democracy from foes within, but of all! Inasmuch as only a few respond to this demand, inasmuch as the majority remain selfish and uninformed slackers, democracy again and again goes down to defeat before special privilege and corrupt politicians. In peace democracy to be even remotely successful demands universal service in citizenship. A wise nation demands more. It demands universal training and service in citizenship.

HERMANN HAGEDORN.

A democracy that is a true democracy, self respecting, vigorous and pledged to high principles, will at times inevitably find itself in a position in regard to a foreign nation when it must either fight or lose its self respect. Now and again, as at the present hour, the nation's very existence as a democracy may be threatened. Democracy has its foes within and its foes without. Democracy meets and defeats its foes from within by means of an alert and conscientious army of citizens whose weapons are the tongue, the pen and the ballot. Democracy meets and defeats its foes from without by means of an army made up of those same citizens armed with guns. We know what happens in democracy's battles against corruption within when a minority only takes an interest in good government and the rest remain indifferent. Corruption wins. In the case of war against a foreign power, is the result likely to be different if we depend only on the high spirited but untrained few who volunteer?

In our hearts we know, though in our minds we may not admit, that if government shall be by all the people then the defense of that government must be by all the people likewise.

In a democracy logic and consistency demand universal military service. Intelligence, prudence and a study of the experience not only of our own nation, but of all other nations which have been forced to plunge into war unprepared, demand furthermore that that service be preceded by thorough training in time of peace. An untrained soldier under modern conditions of war is nothing more useful than a carnivorous target, and he is less expensive dead than alive.

The logic is clear—if we believe in democracy, if we believe in government by the people and believe sufficiently in government by the people to be willing to fight for it against the imposition of a foreign will, then we must believe, likewise, in "a citizenry trained and accustomed to arms." But "citizenry" does not mean only Jack and Dave and Isidor. "Citizenry" means everybody. And since there are slackers even in the U. S. A. that means a friendly but resolute "You must." It means universal military service compulsory on all who are physically fit to be their country's defenders.

The Land of My Three Daughters

By Ellis Parker Butler of the Vigilantes

I HAVE one son and three daughters. They will be part of the America that will exist when I am dead. They are what I have given to that America of the near future.

I have three brothers and four sisters and a wife and four children. Not one of us four brothers has had military training. I have never fired a gun larger than a 22 caliber target rifle. In case of war—sudden war—we would be about as able to do our share in protecting our sisters and wives and children and property and rights as a pink eyed white rabbit would be able to protect its brood against a fox. As we approach war today I feel as helpless as a jellyfish. I am ashamed.

ELLIS PARKER BUTLER.

I want to save my son that shame. I want him to be trained to do his part in protecting his sisters and himself, so that when any nation thinks again of insulting and abusing America it will see an America with every ablebodied man an able soldier. Then that insulting and abusive nation will think again and go and insult and abuse Lapland or Patagonia and not the land of my three daughters.

He Got the Raise.

"You want more money? Why, my boy, I worked three years for $11 a month right in this establishment and now I'm owner of it."

"Well, you see what happened to your boss. No man who treats his help that way can hang on to his business."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Nice Selection.

She—Now that you have looked over my music, what would you like to have me play?

He—Whist or dominos.—Boston Transcript.

THE LOCAL NEWS

Don't forget the garden.

We have certainly had two weeks of fine weather.

We are too busy seeding to do much newspaper work this week.

Potatoes took a sudden drop to 1.75, a bushel, this week.

We are trying to do our part in the war, by getting as much grain growing as possible.

Fish has been very plentiful in the Red Lake River this spring and fish lovers have had their fill.

The stock can now get plenty of green grass, and the size of the Creamery checks will soon begin to increase.

H. P, King has now taken charge of the McIntosh Times, and is getting out a pretty good paper.

Sherriff J. W. Labree was up here Wednesday, serving papers for some more lawsuits that the Singers have started.

The past two weeks have been ideal weather for seeding, and this week will about complete seeding, except flax and barley.

All wild fruit promises to be a big crop this year, as the trees are so late in blooming that they will escape the spring frosts, and blight.

The ground froze very deep last winter, and as there has not been any spring thunder showers, the frost is not yet out of lots of the low lands.

This is the season of the year that Singers start out with their auto to drum up lawsuits, so as to make big court expenses for the tax payers of Pennington County.

The latest prices for ground corn at Goodridge was $3.15 cents a hundred. The corn speculators caught Northern Minnesota right this year, but the barley and oat crop will put a stop to speculation on corn this fall.

If they prohibit the use of barley for the manufacture of Beer, there will be a big falling off in the price of that grain this fall, if the ones responsible for prohibiting its use for beer don't eat barley malt.

Register of Deeds Nels Anderson T. P. Anderson, County Auditor, and Sheriff Labree were up in this territory last Saturday interviewing town Clerks so as to establish army Registration boards.

A large part of the farmers will finish wheat and oat seeding this week. Barley and flax seeding will be the order for next week and for two more weeks, we expect to sow flax until June 15th this year.

We got our information about Elling Klemmetson selling hay last week a little mixed, as he did not have any hay for sale, although he had plenty for his own stock. We got our information from holloing across a ditch and the wind must have been blowing in the wrong direction.

The wheat Speculators, are beginning to reduce the price of wheat so as to get it down to about 1.00 a bushel by the time the winter wheat harvest starts in Oklahoma and other southern states, as it would never do to allow the farmers to get even $2.00 a bushel for their wheat. But if the present war continues for another year, and the government does not protect the farmers from the wheat gamblers they will not have so much wheat to gamble on next year as they have this year.

SINGERS STARTS MORE LAWSUITS

DID NOT WANT TO MISS A TERM OF COURT WITHOUT A LAWSUIT

Edward and Stephen Singer started two civil actions in District Court this week for damages against W. G. Hunt for the publication of the articles that we were tried for on a Criminal Indictment last winter and acquitted. Of course there is not much to the case to have a lawsuit about, but as Edward has not traded horses lately to have a lawsuit about and Stephen has not hired any laboring men and refused to pay them to have a lawsuit about, they really got alarmed for fear the Singers might miss one term of Court in this County without being on the Court calender, so they brought suit against us, for publishing articles that might injure their business reputation. Any one that wants to find out the reputation of the Singers only need to make inquiries of their neighbors, and they will discover that it would be impossible for an obscure publication like THE SUNBEAM to injure the reputation of the Singers.

As a favor to the tax payers of this county them Singers should be brought up before the next Grand Jury and instructed to cultivate a more friendly feeling with their neighbors, and do an honorable business with their customers, so as to get off of the court calendar of this county for at least one term of court. If something of that kind is not done they will bankrupt the county with their frivolous lawsuits, as they are always on the calendar for a law suit at every term of court. Of course we have got to defend the same as the other people have, that they have been lawing for the past six years.

Universal Service

By Robert W. Chambers of the Vigilantes.

UNIVERSAL military service is a natural part of every citizen's education. Instruction in reading, writing and arithmetic is no more important than instruction in how to take care of one's self and one's birthright in the face of unprovoked and brutal aggression.

The art and service involved in this can no more be learned overnight than can any art or service. It is purely a matter of instruction, of study, of practice, and should be considered such in the general plans for the symmetrical education of American youth.

ROBERT W. CHAMBERS.

It is trite to repeat that a year of service is little enough to give to our common country; that the least a young man could do is to learn how to keep what he has inherited, defend what he holds in trust.

But to defend anything one must first learn the science of self protection and afterward acquire the art of protecting others.

Any American with any real love for the motherland—with any real love for the helpless ones dependent upon his ability to stand between them and the ruthless fury of barbarism—knows in his mind—if he has any—in his heart—if he has any—that the only safety for his native land, his family, himself, lies in the democratic solution of the problem—universal service.

Reciprocity.

"Dear Harold," with sadness she wrote to her former fiance, "as you are probably aware, I am to be married to Mr. Anthony the coming month. I shall therefore appreciate it if you will burn all the little notes I sent you, assuring you of reciprocity in regard to those you sent me."

She immediately received this reply: "Dear Dorothy—I shall certainly comply with your request at once. And, incidentally, as your new fiance holds a few notes of mine I shall deem it a [illegible] induce him to [illegible] rest."—National [illegible]

The United States Navy has continued its appeal to the Northwest for men to man the fleet by addressing the following appeal to societies and individuals:

The Nation has called for its sons. It is up to the Northwest to answer. Young men have been coming forward at a fair rate, but more must come. Part of the fleet is idle and will be until America wakes up. Another 40 men a day would put four more big guns in action.

When "Old Women" Abounded.

In the eighteenth century women soon grew old, says an English writer. At the age of twenty-nine Marie Antoinette, the wife of Louis XVI., gravely discussed the question with her modiste, Rose Bertin. She would soon be thirty. Her idea was to change her manner of dress, which inclined too much to that of extreme youth. In consequence she should wear no more flowers or feathers. The glorious Georgiana, the duchess of Devonshire, complained to the French ambassador that she was already seven and twenty years old. "Consider," said the glorious one, "what an age that is!" to which the ungallant ambassador replied that "in France at seven, and twenty a woman was considered elderly."

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Restrain a Cough.

A patient German statistician has calculated that a patient who coughs once every quarter of an hour for ten hours expends energy equivalent to 250 units of heat, which may be translated as equivalent to the nourishment contained in three eggs or two glasses of milk. In normal respiration the air is expelled from the chest at the rate of four feet per second, whereas in violent coughing it may attain a velocity of 300 feet. This waste of energy is especially important because it occurs for the most part in persons whose assimilative functions are already working under difficulties; consequently the ingestion of the corresponding quantity of nourishment by no means compensates for the exertion. It follows that persistent cough is per se a cause of emaciation, though there are many other factors which tend in the same direction; hence the desirability of restraining cough within safe limits, especially when it is due to irritative reflexes, such as are excited by laryngitis and pharyngitis.—Medical Critic and Guide.

French Officers Made Thrifty.

The French army officer has to be a thrifty man to make ends meet on his salary of a very few francs a day, and borrowing or running into debt is an offense against military law. An officer convicted of debt is suspended by the war office for three years, and at the end of that time his reinstatement or dismissal from the service is decided by a kind of court martial, comprising five officers of his corps, one of them of his own rank.

Doing It the Right Way.

For every right way to do a thing there are ninety-nine wrong ways.

Take the apparently single matter of loading sugar in cars or putting it in storage houses. The difference between any one of the ninety-nine wrong ways and the one right way is a sufficient reason for the world's biggest sugar company to issue a book about it.

An amateur wouldn't dream there could be so much science in rolling 150 barrels of sugar in a box car. But this little book, filled with diagrams, is a school of instruction for all employees. There they learn to do it the right way and to avoid the ninety-nine wrong ones.

The fellow who learns to load sugar the right way soon finds out that the thing contains higher mathematics, chemistry and finance.

The American people eat just about their own weight in sugar in a year and even the tiniest saving on each pound achieved by this scientific handling is quite enough to pay all salaried and leave a snug margin to [illegible].—Philadelphia Ledger.

PREPARE MORE LAND -GROW MORE FOOD

"Seed and Feed" the Slogan of the Year.

The papers are filled with the appeal for soldiers, sailors and farmers, and all are timely, all are necessary. The sailor is needed to man the ships that protect the shores, police the seas and clear the ocean of tormenting and meddlesome masked buccaneers, to give help to the allies, to make more efficient the present fighting units that are keeping free the sea lanes and ocean routes. The soldier is required to keep alive and intact the unity of the nation and the freedom of the world, to protect the lives of its citizens from incursions without and raids within, to guard the honor and preserve the dignity of the great United States, to render not only sentimental but practical assistance to those who for two and a half years on the battlefields of Flanders and the steppes of the East have been fighting for the freedom of the world against a dominant autocratic and militarist Prussianism, which, were it to become successful, would mean autocratism, militarism and Prussianism, and a "get-off-the-sidewalkism" over the entire world. The allies are proud to welcome these new accessions to the fighting forces, which mean an earlier termination of the war and the dawn of an era that will be historic, one that we will all be proud that we lived in. Throughout all Canada, Great Britain, France, and all the allied countries, when the news was received that the United States had entered the war, a thrill went up and down the nation's sides, and the pulses throbbed with a new life, keenly appreciative of the practical sentiment that had brought to their sides an ally of the strength and virility of the United States.

But the soldier and the sailor need to be fed, and therefore the cry for agricultural enlistment. The strength of the fighting man must be maintained. In his absence from the field there comes the necessity for provision to take his place. The appeal for farm help is well timed, opportune and important. There are vacant lands aplenty in the United States that, given a fair opportunity under competent advisement and reasonable help, will produce abundantly. Western Canada also provides an excellent field for the prosecution of work in growing wheat and other grains, and while it is not the desire of the Canadian Government to draw from the resources of the United States, believing that it is the duty of every patriotic citizen to do all he possibly can to build up the stores of depleted foods and making use of every energy at home, the wish is to lay before the public the fact that Canada has millions of acres of excellent land capable of producing wonderful crops. If for any reason the reader, having patriotism and a love of his country in his heart, and a desire to forward the cause of the allies, cannot avail himself of the opportunities afforded in the United States, Western Canada will be glad to render him any assistance it can in locating him on its vacant areas, where large crops can be grown at minimum of cost. Let us grow the grain, raise the cattle, produce the food to feed our soldiers, our sailors and provide food for our allies, no matter whether it is done to the North or to the South of the boundary line that in the object in view should not be known as a boundary. Let us keep up the spirit of patriotism, whether it be growing grain in the United States or in Canada, but Canada, fully alive to the necessity, joins in the appeal of its allies—the United States—for more food and more food.—Advertisement.

CONGRESS TO RUSH PASSAGE OF BILLS ESSENTIAL TO WAR

MUCH LEGISLATION NECESSARY TO SUCCESSFUL CONDUCT OF CONFLICT WITH GERMANY STILL REMAINS.

BOTH HOUSES' CALENDARS STILL FILLED WITH BILLS

Passage of Espionage Bill by Senate After Two Weeks' Debate, Expected at Once—War Revenue Bill to Be Finished by the House Without Delay.

Washington, May 15.—Congress begins the sixth week of war with the calendars of both houses still filled with legislation which the administration feels is essential to the successful conduct of the conflict with Germany.

The Senate after two weeks debate on the espionage bill drawn by the Department of Justice is expected to pass that measure at once.

The House probably will conclude discussion of the $1,800,000,000 war revenue bill early in the week and send it to the Senate where two days of committee hearing have indicated that many changes are to be made in its structure.

The espionage bill has been stripped of the press censorship section which caused much of the opposition to its passage. The injection of an amendment prohibiting use of cereals or grain during the war, probably will not greatly delay ultimate passage of the entire measure.

War Army Bill.

Conferees on the war army bill called to meet again because the House, after once rejecting the so-called Roosevelt amendment, now wants to put it in, are not expected to take long at their task and the bill may reach the Senate floor at once. Since the Roosevelt amendment originated in that body, it is possible that the army measure can be disposed of without much debate to the President.

In both houses the food legislation is expected to cause much debate. It is almost certain a measure will be passed giving the Department of Agriculture money and authority to make a food survey and to curb food speculations.

CONNERY MURDER IS CONFESSED BY McCOOL

Accused Man Tells His Story to Minneapolis Police Head and Repeats It to Governor Burnquist.

Minneapolis, May 15.—Chief of Police Harthill has announced that Frank J. McCool had confessed to the murder of Patrolman George Connery. The confession, he said, was made in the presence of himself, Captain John Galvin and Detectives Melvin Passolt, J. A. Weare and Frank W. Brunskill.

McCool repeated his story to Governor Burnquist. The Minneapolis police relied upon this recital to obtain requisition papers for custody of Edward Hamilton who is under arrest in San Francisco and who is said to have been named by McCool as the man who was with him in the automobile that bore Connery to his death.

McCool told the governor neither he nor Hamilton had anything to do with the murder of Mrs. Alice McQuillan Dunn in St. Paul and denied that Hamilton is Joe Redenbaugh who is accused by Chief of Police O'Connor of St. Paul as Mrs. Dunn's murderer.

40,000 FOR OFFICERS OBTAINED IN 20 DAYS

Second Series of Camps May Be Arranged for to Be Held Probably in August.

New York, May 15.—The full quota of 40,000 men which the War department requested for the officers' training camps throughout the country, was recruited within 20 days after the issuance of the call, Captain Arthur F. Cosby of the Military Training Camps association has announced.

After the completion of the first camps, Captain Cosby says it is expected another series of camps will be held, probably in August.

"Men eligible but not selected for the first camp will have an opportunity to make application for this new camp," said Captain Cosby. "We will urge the War department to announce at as early a date as possible the opening of the next camp."

British Women to Hold Vote Power.

London, May 14.—Under the plans now contemplated for the increase in suffrage in England, Scotland and Wales the number of persons enjoying suffrage will be increased from 7,656,173 to 22,848,901. About 13,000,000 more men would be enfranchised and the remainder would be women. Even at the present figures women would hold the balance of power for there would be 12,044,334 men. Ireland is not included in these figures because of the likelihood of some form of home rule being granted the Irish soon.

Washington.—The administration war revenue bill as unanimously agreed upon by the house committee on ways and means and reported to the house Wednesday, is estimated to produce $1,800,000,000 a year.

If the framers overlooked any tangible article upon which it is possible to levy a tax, it was not because of any desire to do so.

Incomes, inheritances, business profits, amusements, liquors, tobacco, automobiles, moving pictures, baseball games, medicines, letter postage, transportation and jewelry are among some of the things which will feel the burden of taxation.

Tariff Will Yield $200,000,000.

The committee found it necessary to go to the tariff to make up a deficit of something like $200,000,000. This was done by an agreement to a tax of 10 per cent upon all articles now on the free list and 10 per cent additional upon all articles now upon the dutiable list.

Income-tax increases as made public by Chairman Kitchin follow:

Taxes for the year ending December 31, 1916, have been increased exactly one-third. These taxes are due in June.

Exemption limits have been reduced to $1,000 for single men and $2,000 for married men.

The normal tax on new classes of incomes to be taxed, those between $1,000 and $3,000 for single men and between $2,000 and $4,000 for married men, has been fixed at 2 per cent.

Normal taxes on all incomes formerly taxed, those above $3,000 for single men and $4,000 for married men, have been increased from 2 to 4 per cent.

Increases in All Surtaxes.

The increased surtaxes are as follows:

$ 5,000 to $ 7,500	1 per cent
7,500 to 10,000	2 per cent
10,000 to 12,500	3 per cent
12,500 to 15,000	4 per cent
15,000 to 20,000	5 per cent
20,000 to 40,000	6 per cent
40,000 to 60,000	8 per cent
60,000 to 80,000	11 per cent
80,000 to 100,000	14 per cent
100,000 to 150,000	17 per cent
150,000 to 200,000	20 per cent
200,000 to 250,000	24 per cent
250,000 to 300,000	27 per cent
300,000 to 500,000	30 per cent
500,000 and upwards	37 per cent

The inheritance tax starts with one-half of 1 per cent as the basic tax on all estates of $50,000 or less. The remainder of the schedule is applied to the various excesses in graduation as follows:

Inheritance Tax Scale.

On excess of more than $50,000, but not exceeding $150,000, 1 per cent.

On excess of more than $150,000, but not exceeding $250,000, 1½ per cent.

On excess of more than $250,000, but not exceeding $450,000, 2 per cent.

On excess of more than $450,000, but not exceeding $1,000,000, 2½ per cent.

On excess of more than $1,000,000, but not exceeding $2,000,000, 3 per cent.

On excess of more than $2,000,000, but not exceeding $3,000,000, 3½ per cent.

On excess of more than $3,000,000, but not exceeding $4,000,000, 4 per cent.

On excess of more than $4,000,000, but not exceeding $5,000,000, 4½ per cent.

On excess of more than $5,000,000, but not exceeding $8,000,000, 5 per cent.

On excess of more than $8,000,000, but not exceeding $11,000,000 7 per cent.

On excess of more than $11,000,000, but not exceeding $15,000,000, 10 per cent.

On excess of more than $15,000,000, 15 per cent.

The income tax schedules were not changed except for the determination to place an added tax of one-third on individual income taxes which are due in June of this year. Under this provision those who already have paid their income taxes for the year ending December 31, 1916, will have to pay another one-third of their taxes again, and those who have not paid will have to pay one-third more when they do pay.

The tax on excess profits was not changed and stands as printed previously at 16 per cent on profits over 8 per cent and $5,000.

Liquor Touched Up.

The tax on spirits, whisky and similar beverages, has been increased to $2.20 per gallon.

The tax on beer is $2.75 per barrel.

The tax on rectifiers is 15 cents per gallon.

The tax on tobacco has been doubled.

The taxes on cigars have been advanced to a new schedule ranging from 50 cents to $10 per thousand, retail value.

The bill specifies that purchasers shall pay the 10 per cent tax on amusement, theater, and baseball tickets.

A new tax of 5 per cent on heat, light, and telephone bills was inserted in the bill. Under this section when the householder goes to pay his monthly bills for these articles he will have to pay an additional 5 per cent of the amount of the bills for the support of the government.

The stamp tax on telephone and telegraph messages was fixed at 5 cents on each message the toll of which is more than 15 cents.

Commuters' tickets were exempt from the passenger ticket tax of 10 per cent tax where the one way fare is less than 25 cents.

Mail Rate Increases.

The second-class mail rate increase was decided on according to the zone system. On motion of Representative Dixon of Indiana, this was reduced to the following:

Two cents a pound on second-class mail in first and second zones.

Three cents a pound on second-class mail in the third and fourth zones.

Five cents a pound on second-class mail in the fifth and sixth zones.

Six cents a pound on second-class mail in the seventh and eighth zones.

Religious, fraternal, labor and agricultural papers not operated for profit were put on a straight one and one-half-cent-a-pound basis.

The old regulations concerning the free distribution of small papers within the county were unchanged.

A tax of 5 per cent was inserted in the bill on pleasure boats.

Musical instruments costing less than $10 each, were exempted from the provisions of the 5 per cent tax on these articles.

A motion was made in committee to reduce the automobile tax to 3 per cent, but failed by a large margin.

Lodging-House Geometry.

Learning is one thing and wit is another, but that does not prevent them from meeting at times in the same brain. One of the most amusing of those jests, which it takes a certain amount of scholarship to make or enjoy, was the collection of Euclidean axioms that Prof. Stephen Leacock of McGill university wrote some years ago for Truth. Here is one of the cleverest of them: If there be two boarders on the same flat, and the amount of side of the one be equal to the amount of side of the other, each to each, and the wrangle between one boarder and the landlady be equal to the wrangle between the landlady and the other boarder, then shall the weekly bills of the two boarders be equal, each to each. For, if not, let one bill be the greater. Then the other bill is less than it might have been, which is absurd.—Youth's Companion.

BUYING POWER TO SPEND WAR LOANS IN DICTATOR'S HAND

PLANS TO CONCENTRATE ALL EXPENDITURES FOR ALLIES OF AMERICAN LOANS IN COMMISSION BEING FORMED.

PURCHASES IN U. S. TO YIELD MAXIMUM VALUE

Would Eliminate Competition Between Allies in Purchases Made, Being Virtually a Buying Medium for All Christendom—Buyer Would Be Big Factor.

Washington, May 14.—An international agreement under which there will be placed in the hands of a small commission, probably of one man, the purchasing power of virtually every dollar of the billions to be lent to the Allies by this government and the additional billions which they will spend in this country out of their own income, is at present in process of formulation.

Draft of the proposed agreement has been left to Secretary McAdoo who already has held a number of conferences with foreign envoys on the subject.

Competition Done Away With.

The chief beneficiaries of the huge American loan have agreed that it would be to the interest of all concerned to eliminate absolutely competition among themselves for American products and have signified their readiness to pledge themselves to do so. The agreement, when drafted, would have for its aim the attainment of maximum efficiency for every dollar spent in this country for war purposes.

Wide Purchasing Power.

The commission would have the widest purchasing powers ever entrusted to any one body of men in the history of the world. It virtually would be a purchasing agency for all Christendom, with the exception of the few remaining neutrals, and the Teutonic powers. It would eliminate entirely competitive bidding among the Allies and this government for American products and would seek to insure 100 cents worth of value for every dollar spent.

Buyer Would Dominate.

By its creation, conditions in this country under which the big producer gradually, by combinations and normal growth, assumed the dominance in all markets would be almost completely reversed. Not the producer but the buyer would be the dominant factor.

ITALY MASSES 3,000,000 FOR GREAT OFFENSIVE

Preparations Being Rushed by Allies for Big Blow at Austrians Within Next Two Weeks.

Washington, May 14.—Italy has massed more than 3,000,000 soldiers on the fighting front, according to advices received here from Rome. It is believed that Italy's greatest offensive of the war is being prepared and will be launched at the Austrians within the next two weeks.

The preparations were rushed in anticipation of a great offensive expected to be launched by the Austro-German forces. In preparing to meet such an attack Italy gathered its army at vital points where it can strike at the foe if the expected attack does not materialize.

DECLINES TO DECLARE WAR

Chinese Parliament Rejects Resolution in Riotous Session.

Peking, May 12.—After a riotous secret session, lasting throughout the night, the house of representatives has refused to pass a resolution declaring war on Germany.

The house of parliament was surrounded by a mob which demanded war, making threats of violence. Under the orders of Premier Tuan Chi Jui troops finally dispersed the mob.

The premier addressed the house urging a declaration of war. He was denounced by members who said he was attempting to coerce parliament.

Three Norse Ships Sunk.

London, May 14.—The Norwegian foreign office reports the sinking by German submarines of three Norwegian steamships, says a dispatch from Christiania to the Central News agency. The vessels were the Tore Jarl, of 1,094 tons gross; the Voss, of 2,422 tons gross, and the Nydal, a vessel of 3,080 tons gross.

New Altitude Mark Set.

San Diego, Cal., May 14.—Official figures given out by Lieut. P. Lahm, secretary of the North Army Aviation school, established the fact that a new American altitude airplane record was established a few days ago by Capt. W. A. Robertson, Jr., Lieutenant Lahm announced that Captain Robertson attained a height of 17,230 feet, exceeding by more than 1,000 feet the best previous American record, established by Victor Carlstrom, killed last week at Newport News. Robertson has been an apt pupil.

AN OPERATION AVERTED

Philadelphia, Pa.—"One year ago I was very sick and I suffered with pains in my side and back until I nearly went crazy. I went to different doctors and they all said I had female trouble and would not get any relief until I would be operated on. I had suffered for four years before this time, but I kept getting worse the more medicine I took. Every month since I was a young girl I had suffered with cramps in my sides at periods and was never regular. I saw your advertisement in the newspaper and the picture of a woman who had been saved from an operation and this picture was impressed on my mind. The doctor had given me only two more days to make up my mind so I sent my husband to the drug store at once for a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and believe me, I soon noticed a change and when I had finished the third bottle I was cured and never felt better. I grant you the privilege to publish my letter and am only too glad to let other women know of my cure."—Mrs. Thos. McGonigal, 3432 Hartville Street, Phila., Pa.

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as the prescription othine — double strength — is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of othine—double strength—from your druggist, and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than one ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.—Adv.

Camouflage.

A remarkable interpretation of the British national characteristic reserve, appears in the Century, entitled Camouflage. It is the story of two young people on the eve of the husband's going to battle.

"For the benefit of those who may not be acquainted with what camouflage means, it might be truthfully described as a thin veil drawn over great events.

"There are endless varieties of camouflage, and endless uses to which it may be put. A great white road is concealed from the enemy's lines by a hedge of thinly plaited twigs—camouflage. An observation point hidden in the heart of a haystack—camouflage. A mighty gun, masked by an awning of fishermen's nets, sprinkled with dead leaves—camouflage. A corpse brought in from no-man's land and replaced by a live man, who watches what is toward in the Huntrenches—again camouflage. But, perhaps, the subtlest variety of all is the kind that men and women devise to screen their real emotions from one another and the world."

What Gallon of Gasoline Will Do.

A single gallon of gasoline will do wonders almost anywhere, but nowhere it has been applied to better purpose than on the farm. Here are some of its stunts: It will milk 30 cows, bale four tons of hay, mix 35 yards of cement, move a ton truck 14 miles, plow three-fifths of an acre of land and make enough electricity to keep eight lights going in a farmhouse for 30 hours.

Some people appreciate beautiful things, but most people merely care for ornaments.

Some people learn enough in six weeks' travel to bore their friends for a lifetime.

Helpful Conservation.

As for the food problem now confronting the nation, we favor the elimination from the household economy of all waste, such as boiled cabbage, but at the same time the careful avoidance of anything in the nature of hysteria, which would involve the needless sacrifice of such food products as strawberries or maple sirup, for instance.—Columbus (O.) THE 3 D'S IN DODD'S

Mr. Robert W. Ferguson, Hingham, Mass., writes: I suffered from kidney disorder for years. Had incessant backache and trouble. Nearly died from it at one time while in Vancouver, but overcame it by a persistent use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Finally I was completely cured. I occasionally use the remedy now in order to keep the kidneys regulated. I have the highest praise for Dodd's. Be sure to get "DODD'S," the name with the three D's for deranged, disordered, diseased kidneys, just as Mr. Ferguson did. No similar named article will do.—Adv.

SAXON Strength Economy Service

The Purchase of a Saxon Insures Riding Satisfaction

Saxon cars are today generally recognized as the best cars in their price classes.

Their greater value has been definitely and decisively established by their performance records in the hands of thousands of owners in all parts of the country.

The Saxon Motor Car Corporation has earned one of the biggest successes in the automobile industry. It owes its success to the policy of building good cars and building them in quantities. Its cars have won the respect of the motor buying public.

Such absolute satisfaction as is represented in the following testimonial is the big reason back of Saxon success:

"I want to say that Saxon 'Six' is an automobile that will do all the Saxon Motor Car Corporation claims it will do—and more. "We have driven our car many thousand miles and can honestly say it is the easiest riding car we ever rode in."

PLANS FOR RAISING NEW UNITED STATES ARMIES BY DRAFT

DETAILS OF THE UNIVERSAL SERVICE LAW AS DECIDED UPON BY CONGRESS.

CALLS MEN FROM 21 TO 30

Provisions Also Made for Volunteers Who Wish to Join the Military Forces of the Country—Prohibition Clause Is Made Drastic—Army Medical Officers Assigned to Duty in France.

Approximately ten million men between the ages of twenty-one and thirty inclusive will be required to register as available for military service in the war with Germany under the terms of the new national army bill perfected by the conference committee of the house and senate.

From these ten million men there will be selected the first 500,000 recruits to the selective conscription army, the second 500,000 when the president decides to call for them, and recruits to bring the regular army and National Guard up to maximum war strength in the event that volunteers to these forces fail to come forward in sufficient numbers and the president exercises his power to draft.

But in order that men under twenty-one and over thirty may serve their country if they so desire, the measure provides for the acceptance of volunteers over eighteen years and under forty years.

The gigantic number of men subject to draft will not all be called to the colors by any means. The proposed law gives authority to the president to draft as many men as he deems necessary to fill up the regular army, the National Guard and the conscription force of 1,000,000 men.

2,001,000 Armed Men.

It is estimated by the war department that as a result of the authority conferred and the action to be taken 2,001,000 officers and men will comprise the military establishment of the United States.

Under the new bill agreed to authority is given to fill up by draft the regular army and the National Guard to war strength, and to raise outside this 1,000,000 men, 500,000 to come as the first quota.

The war strength of the regular army is about 290,000 men. It has now about 135,000 men and is short about 155,000. The National Guard has a war strength of 625,000 men. It has now about 125,000 and is short about 500,000 men.

Therefore, on the first call there can be taken for war service about 655,000 men to fill up gaps in the regular army and National Guard and in addition 500,000 as the first quota of the conscript army of 1,000,000 men.

In the first draft it is possible about 1,155,000 men will be taken for active service, leaving authorization under the present bill to call out immediately 500,000 more for another conscript army.

No Place for Roosevelt.

The action allowing Col. Theodore Roosevelt to enlist volunteers for foreign service has been eliminated.

What the colonel will do now that his pet project is incapable of realization is a question. It is generally understood that President Wilson is absolutely opposed to the idea of a volunteer organization under command of the colonel.

Pay for enlisted men and noncommissioned officers was agreed upon as follows:

Men now receiving less than $21 per month are increased to $31 per month; those who received $24 are increased to $32; men who receive $30, $36 or $40 are increased $6 each; men who receive $45 are increased to $50.

Army Officers Pleased.

Army officers received notice of the age limit with pleasure. They had expected a higher maximum, though they would rather have had the original ages of nineteen to twenty-five.

A new section in the bill authorizes the president to organize and equip three machine-gun companies for each infantry and cavalry brigade and four machine-gun companies and an armored motorcar for each infantry and cavalry division. These will be additional to those already provided.

An interesting change is that the draft will not be based upon the number of persons "available for service," as first proposed, but upon the population.

A man may register by mail, if necessary. Fraud in registration, examination, etc., is punishable by the same imprisonment, "or, if subject to military law, the individual shall be tried by court-martial and suffer such punishment as a court-martial may direct."

Dry Clause Drastic.

The prohibition provision is exceedingly drastic. The president is authorized to make regulations governing the prohibition of alcoholic liquors "in or near" military camps. Not only can liquor not be sold or supplied but it will be illegal for any person to have in his possession any intoxicating or spirituous liquors at any military station, cantonment, camp, fort, post or officers' or enlisted men's club.

It will be unlawful for anyone to sell intoxicating liquor, including beer, to any officer or member of the military forces while in uniform.

Likewise, the social evil is guarded against through the suppression and prevention of the setting up of any houses used for immoral purposes.

The fact that under the authority of congress the president is authorized to call 11,000,000 men to the colors is expected to have a great moral effect in Germany. It is quite true that the entire force he can commandeer at this time will number two and a quarter million. But even this number would constitute a re-enforcement which British and French officers say would assure victory if employed in France.

Could Relieve British.

England to date has raised some 6,000,000 men. With the exception of a couple of million these men are at the front in France, Belgium, Egypt, the Balkans and Mesopotamia.

What the president and Secretary Baker desire first and above all is to train the officers and men. When they are ready to fight the drilled troops of Germany, then probably they will be sent abroad, and not before.

But Germany doubtless will watch with increasing anxiety the preparedness of the American people and will realize that peace will be most desirable and necessary, before they are ready for service in France.

Officers Go to France.

Three army medical officers—Maj. William L. Keller and Capts. Daniel P. Card and George M. Edwards—were assigned to duty at the French military hospital at Ris Orangis, France.

Organization of two reserve air squadrons for the army was authorized by Major General Scott, chief of staff.

The first class at West Point will be graduated August 30, the war department announced, and immediately commissioned to supply 154 highly trained officers to aid in the instruction of the first 500,000 selective draft army to be called to the colors some time in September. Under normal conditions the cadets would have completed their course in June, 1918.

Women Form Committee.

The woman's liberty loan committee has been formed. Announcement to this effect is made by the treasury department.

The committee met in the office of the secretary of the treasury. The members present were Mrs. George Bass, Mrs. Antoinette Funk and Mrs. Kellogg Fairbanks of Chicago, Mrs. Gilford Dudley of Tennessee, Miss Pierce of Kansas City, representing Mrs. Guernsey, and Mrs. John O. Miller of Pittsburgh.

His Wish.

Three men went out for a day's fishing. They took a bottle with "bait." They drank too much.

A storm came up, and two of them thought they were going to be drowned. The third was asleep in the bottom of the boat. The two talked over what they wished done with their bodies in the event of either being saved. One wished to be cremated; the other to be sent home to his wife.

Then they asked the one in the bottom of the boat what his wish was, and when he "came to" enough to talk he said:

"You can just pour me back in the bottle."

YES! MAGICALLY! CORNS LIFT OUT WITH FINGERS

You say to the drug store man, "Give me a small bottle of freezone." This will cost very little but will positively remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet.

A few drops of this new ether compound applied directly upon a tender, aching corn relieves the soreness instantly, and soon the entire corn or callus, root and all, dries up and can be lifted off with the fingers.

This new way to rid one's feet of corns was introduced by a Cincinnati man, who says that freezone dries in a moment, and simply shrivels up the corn or callus without irritating the surrounding skin.

If your druggist hasn't any freezone tell him to order a small bottle from his wholesale drug house for you.—adv.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3,1879

When America gets warmed up and gets into that war Kaiser Wilhelm will soon discover that he is not fighting England, or Russia, but a nation that will meet and defeat his best and most improved methods of morden warfare.

This promises to be a banner year for Northern Minnesota in the way of crop production. Our farmers have had a hard row to hoe for the past two years, owing to unfavorable weather conditions, and low prices for their produce, but prosperity will again shine on them this year, as it is now breaking through the clouds that has obscured it for the past two years.

We understand that A. H. Fazel will be a candidate for County Auditor next year. He will undoubtedly receive the enthusiastic support of "de Singer gang," as they would like to have him handy to subpoena as an expert witness, in their numerous lawsuits. Him and P. C. Wold are the official interpreters of the meaning of articles published in THE SUNBEAM. Any time you do not understand the meaning of any article we publish call on them and they will explain it for you.

One half of the Principal on the bond issue on Ditches 42 and 47 comes due for payment next year, and when Mr. farmer goes down to pay his taxes he will find one half of his assessment on these ditches added to his other taxes. Senator O'Neil passed a bill through the Senate for an extension of time of payment on the principal of these ditch bonds, and we promptly wrote Representative Stenvick to look after the passage of it in the house, and he promised he would. All he need to have done was to have called the bill up for passage and it would have been passed without any oppositions, but he never called it up. Ditch 42 runs through Mayfield and Kratka Townships, and the farmers of them townships rushed to the polls in flocks, to vote for Stenvick, and now they can pay the penalty next year, by borrowing money of the Banks to pay their taxes, when they might have had an extension of time, if Stenvick had asked for it.

How a Bullet Falls.

In order to solve the problem a special stand was erected in Germany, and experiments were carried on along the shores of a lake the surface of which was frozen. The ice was covered with strong planks. It was shown that an infantry bullet shot upward in a vertical direction passes downward in the same position in which it passed upward. In other words, it came back to the earth with its bottom first. Why was it not upset at its culmination point? The answer is that the propelling force ceases to act at the culmination point, but the twist has as yet not stopped, and therefore it starts its fall with a twist. Even on impact the twist has not stopped, as was indicated by the warping of the wood fibers in the planking on the ice.—Popular Science Monthly.

Where the Five Points Was.

The Five Points, once a most dangerous part of the New York slums, is now the site of Paradise park. It is at the crossing of Worth, Baxter and Park streets, near the junction of Park row and the New Bowery and Chatham square and practically adjoining Mulberry bend. In 1740 fourteen negroes were burned here during the negro insurrection. Here the Dead Rabbits had their headquarters and fought the Bowery Boys. The Seventh regiment was called out July 4, 1857, to quell a riot here. The Five Points mission was incorporated in 1850.

America Unafraid

By Charles Hanson Towne of the Vigilantes.

AMERICA will wake
To the stern task before her. She will break
The bonds of Sloth and dull Indifference,
And, with the soul of Lincoln in her eyes,
Dare to be great and wise;
Dare to be valiant with the valor still
That echoes from the crest of Bunker Hill;
The valor that gave Grant and Lee their fame
After the battle flame;
The valor that has kept our country whole
While the clean years unroll;
The valor that has giv'n us all body and heart and soul!

CHARLES HANSON TOWNE.

America will be
As one in her old love of Liberty.
She will remember naught of party and creed
In her great hour of need;
But one in spirit, one in high accord,
Her people will await the final word
That bids them strike for Justice. Her keen sword
Will never be unsheathed, save in the name of Christ, our Lord!

There is a fear
Rushing through our broad country, far and near;
A rumor that foul traitors at our gate
Whisper, and plan, and wait;
A rumor that beneath us crawls the hostile worm of hate. * * *
It may be so! But I believe that now
Each man can disavow
Old enmities and, loyal to the end,
Count it his privilege to be his country's friend;
Count it his right to suffer for the land
That hailed him and stretched forth a welcoming hand
When he, heartbroken, from an alien shore,
Came as a stranger to our open door.

America, beware!
Lest, knowing the red burden you must bear,
You falter now! We pray for Peace,
White Peace;
Yet if soft days must cease,
We shall go forth, fearless and as one,
Until our task for Liberty is done.

Here is the recipe for a homemade cold cream, the kind always used by the famous Lillian Russell:

Pure lanolin, four ounces; sweet almond oil, four ounces; spermaceti, one-half ounce; white wax, one-half ounce; orange flower water, two ounces; tincture of benzoin, forty drops. Melt spermaceti, add white wax in an enamel vessel, add almond oil, then lanolin. Beat constantly and add orange flower water little at a time, lastly the benzoin drop at a time. Far be it from us to urge the farmers to do anything more than they are already doing, but in case any of our farmers are prevented from planting their maximum acreage through the lack of money, labor, power or seeds, it is a public question and we ought to help them solve it immediately.

Plant For a Hanging Basket.

Indoor gardeners will be interested in watching this plant grow. It follows the plan of the strawberry in sending out runners and starting new growths at the end of the stem. The strawberry, however, has the earth to establish its new growths. This indoor plant sends out the runners groping for earth where there is none. It's called the saxifrage.

It is a favorite plant for hanging baskets. A small tuft of leaves develops at the end of each vine. From this tuft other runners are sent out, and these in turn develop more tufts. By this method the saxifrage keeps on expanding until the basket is covered with a network of vines and a blanket of leaves.

The leaves, shaped like those of the geranium, are a reddish olive color, veined in white. It requires ordinary soil and a moderate amount of water and shade.—Philadelphia North American.

Real Democracy.

Before Denmark consented to sell the Danish West Indies to the United States a plebiscite was held, and the electorate voted upon the question. The people of the United States, however, were never consulted as to whether they desired to make the purchase.

The people of England vote directly on national questions whenever parliament is dissolved, and the government "goes to the country" on nearly every matter of really vital import.

Many Americans fondly imagine that the United States is the only real democracy in the world. As a matter of fact, in Switzerland, Australia and New Zealand government is more directly responsible to the people than in the United States; Canada's government is at least equally representative as ours, while England, although nominally a constitutional monarchy, probably is more democratic than the United States.—St. Paul Dispatch.

Art and Nature.

Art is the revelation of man, and not merely that, but likewise the revelation of nature speaking through man. Art pre-exists in nature, and nature is reproduced in art. As vapors from the ocean floating landward and dissolved in rain are carried back in rivers to the ocean, so thoughts and the semblances of things that fall upon the soul of man in showers flow out again in living streams of art and lose themselves in the great ocean, which is nature. Art and nature are not, then, discordant, but ever harmoniously working in each other.—Longfellow's "Hyperion."

THE LOCAL NEWS

There will be a public ball at the new barn of Edon Davis, one mile east of Highlandig on Saturday evening June 2nd. First class music. All are invited.

The early sown wheat looks fine, for this time of year. We have one field of wheat that was sown before the spring snow storm, that looks extra fine.

About all the oats and barley will be completed this week, and next week the flax seeding will be rushed. The land has been in fine condition for seeding the past two weeks.

Carl Magnell and R.O. Gorder, of Mayfield were over to Sunbeam on a fishing trip Wednesday evening, and each got a nice fish fry. They made this office a pleasant call and Mr. Magnell gave his subscription a boost.

Usually at this season of the year we have rain storms enough so we can devote part of our time to our Office work, but this spring the weather has been so fine that we have been continually in the fields. we employ no farm help, and the growing crops on THE SUNBEAM farm will prove to anyone that we have not been idle since seeding work started.

Mrs. Ole Nelson of Highlanding lost her life in the fire which burned their home on last Friday afternoon. She was out in the field planting potatoes when the building caught on fire, and lost her life by going into the burning building to rescue her baby. The sympathy of the entire community is extended to the bereaved husband.

"Lawzy, chile, I knows all about dem hope boxes. I got one of my own, chile."

SINGERS WANT LAWSUITS

We do not know as Stephen Singer is really to blame for being continually in lawsuits. We sometimes think that he should be taken before the judge of probate and examined as to his sanity, for he certainly is insane on the subject of wanting to be in lawsuits. He used to have a man by the name of Schnider that lived in the edge of Clearwater county that he used to be in continual lawsuits with before he moved over here, and he went back to Clearwater county to attend several terms of court, before he got his litigation closed up in that County, so as to get ready for business in Pennington county.

He has no particular greivance against THE SUNBEAM, as he had ought to know that this paper never injured him in the least, and if him and Edward will carefully listen to the evidence produced on the part of the defense in that case, they can find out why responsible farmers of this part of the County will not do business with the Singers and that they could raise an onion bed in front of their stores, without having it tramped upon, if they did not have Post Offices.

Easy Jail Methods.

The greatest leniency is shown to criminals in New Zealand. Thus in one jail at the end of the South island a prisoner may keep a race horse and is permitted to transact business concerning it. In the same jail well behaved prisoners are allowed an afternoon out occasionally.

Prison authorities in New Zealand are believers in the moral effects of open air. In one of their institutions the newly arrived misdemeanant is allowed the choice of living in jail or outside it, tents being erected at the back. This system of sending people to jail by letting them live outside has, however, its disadvantages. In one case the "prisoners," resenting harsh treatment in the way of a "lockout," lifted up the "jail" and deposited it far away in the bush.

THE NAVY NEEDS MEN! IT NEEDS THEM NOW

The United States Navy has continued its appeal to the Northwest for men to man the fleet by addressing the following appeal to societies and individuals:

CONGRESS GIVES MONEY AND MATERIAL;

THE NORTHWEST MUST GIVE THE MEN!

The Nation has called for its sons. It is up to the Northwest to answer. Young men have been coming forward at a fair rate, but more must come. Part of the fleet is idle and will be until America wakes up. Another 40 men a day would put four more big guns in action.

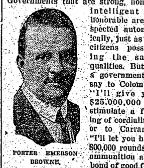
The Futility of Trying To Purchase Friendship

By Porter Emerson Browne of the Vigilantes.

AMONG the mistakes natural to a government that has been committed to peace as long as the United States has maintained it none is more fatal toward world respect than the effort to purchase the friendship of other nations by a cash or equivalent consideration.

Governments, like individuals, are respected not because of what they have, but because of what they are. Governments that are strong, honest, intelligent and honorable are respected automatically, just as are citizens possessing the same qualities. But for a government to say to Colombia, "I'll give you $25,000,000 to stimulate a feeling of cordiality," or to Carranza, "I'll let you have 800,000 rounds of ammunition as a bond of good feeling," both of which actions we have taken, is precisely like going to a man you don't like and who doesn't like you and saying to him, "If you'll like me I'll give you $4." If friendship could be bought like that, why not give him $8 and have him like you twice as much?



PORTER EMERSON BROWNE.

Friendship and respect are not purchasable commodities. If they were, they'd be on sale; like eggs or buttonhooks or small pea beans, and a man could drop into the nearest department store and say, "Send me up sixteen friends and a couple of yards of respect that won't ravel or crock."

We of the United States must learn that we can't buy the friendship and respect of other nations. We must earn them. And we can't earn them vicariously. We must earn them by the strength of our characters, the loftiness of our aims, the cleanness of our souls and the fineness of our national honor.

To do otherwise is to emulate the sapheaded son of wealth who thinks by buying wine for everybody he is accumulating friends. People may drink the wine, but they do so while saying to themselves: "The poor sucker! I wonder what asinine trick he'll try next."

Men and women are liked and respected because they are honest, honorable, fearless and clean. Nations are liked for the same qualities.

Whereby, if the United States wants the friendship and respect of other nations, let it appeal to those other nations on the basis, and the only basis, that makes friendship and respect possible.

Madrid Is Not So Ancient.

Madrid is not a city of great antiquity. Many efforts, it is true, have been made to trace its history back into classical times and even beyond, but the first authentic mention of the town occurs in the Arab chronicles, and this does not carry one back farther than the first half of the tenth century. The place was, of course, occupied by the Moors when they were the dominant power of Spain, but was finally taken from them by Alfonso VI. in 1083. Henry IV. used it as a hunting seat, but it did not attain any importance until the reign of Charles V., who made it a place of residence and was wont to visit it occasionally. It was in the reign of Philip II. that at last it attained to the dignity of a capital city. He created it his capital and unica corte, or only court, in 1560, and it has remained the capital of Spain ever since in spite of occasional efforts on the part of sundry kings to transfer the government to Valladolid and Seville.—National Geographic Society Bulletin.

YES! LIFT A CORN OFF WITHOUT PAIN!

Cincinnati man tells how to dry up a corn or callus so it lifts off with fingers.

You corn-pestered men and women need suffer no longer. Wear the shoes that nearly killed you before, says this Cincinnati authority, because a few drops of freezone applied directly on a tender, aching corn or callus, stops soreness at once and soon the corn or hardened callus loosens so it can be lifted off, root and all, without pain.

A small bottle of freezone costs very little at any drug store, but will positively take off every hard or soft corn or callus. This should be tried, as it is inexpensive and is said not to irritate the surrounding skin.

If your druggist hasn't any freezone tell him to get a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house.—adv.

Now, therefore, I Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States, do call upon the governor of each of the several states and territories, the board of commissioners of the District of Columbia and all officers and agents of the several states and territories of the District of Columbia and of the counties and municipalities therein to perform certain duties in the execution of the foregoing law, which duties will be communicated to them directly in regulations of even date herewith.

And I do further proclaim and give notice to all persons subject to registration in the several states and in the District of Columbia in accordance with the above law that the time and place of such registration shall be between 7 a. m. and 9 p. m. on the fifth day of June, 1917, at the registration place in the precinct wherein they have their permanent homes. In the territories of Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico, a day for registration will be named in a later proclamation.

And, I do charge those who through sickness shall be unable to present themselves for registration that they apply on or before the day of registration to the county clerk of the county clerk of the county where they may be for instructions as to how they may be registered by agent. They should apply as soon as practicable to the county clerk of the county wherein they may be in for instructions as to how they may accomplish their registration by mail. In case such persons as, through sickness or absence may be unable to present themselves personally for registration shall be sojourning in cities of over 30,000 population, they shall apply to the city clerk of the city wherein they may be sojourning rather than to the clerk of the county. Must Train Whole Nation.

The power against which we are arrayed has sought to impose its will upon the world by force. To this end it has increased armament until it has changed the face of the war. In the sense in which we have been wont to think of armies there are no armies in this struggle. There are entire nations armed. Thus, the men who remain to till the soil and man the factories are no less a part of the army that is France than the men beneath the battle flags. It must be so with us. It is not an army that we must shape and train for war; it is a nation. To this end our people must draw close in one compact front against a common foe. But this cannot be if each man pursue a private purpose. All must pursue one purpose. The nation needs all men but it needs each man, not in the field that will most please him, but in the endeavor that will best serve the common good. Thus, though a sharp-shooter pleases to operate a trip hammer for the forging of great guns and an expert machinist desires to march with the flag, the nation is being served only when the sharp-shooters marches and the machinist remains at his levers. The whole nation must be a team in which each man shall play the part for which he is best fitted. To this end Congress has provided that the nation shall be organized for war by selection and that each man shall be classified for service in the place to which it shall best serve the general good to call him. The significance of this cannot be overstated. It is a new thing in our history and a landmark in our progress. It is a new manner of accepting and vitalizing our duty to give ourselves with thoughtful devotion to the common purpose of us all. It is in no sense a conscription of the unwilling; it is rather, selection from a nation which has volunteered in mass. It is no more a choosing of those who shall march with the colors than it is a selection of those who shall serve an equally necessary and devoted purpose in the industries that lie behind the battle line.

Nation's Ideals at Stake.

The day here named is the time upon which all shall present themselves for assignment to their task. It is for that reason destined to be remembered as one of the most conspicuous moments in our history. It is nothing less than the day upon which the manhood of the country shall step forward in one solid rank in defense of the ideals to which this nation is consecrated. It is important to those ideals no less than to the pride of this generation in manifesting its devotion to them, that there be no gaps in the ranks. It is essential that the day be approached in thoughtful apprehension of its significance and that we accord to it the honor and the meaning that it deserves. Our industrial needs prescribes that it be not made a technical holiday, but the stern sacrifice that is before us urges that it be carried in all our hearts as a great day of patriotic devotion and obligation when the duty shall lie upon every man whether he is himself to be registered or not, to see to it that the name of every male person of the designated ages is written on these list of honor.

In witness whereof I hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this 18th of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and forty-first.

By the President:
ROBERT LANSING,
Secretary of State.

Selective Service Act Is Specific and Allows No Latitude to Registration Officials.

Washington.—A statement has been issued from the office of the provost marshal general of the United States army as follows:

The attention of the war department has been called to the fact that fear exists in some parts of the country that some members of the county and city registration boards may be influenced by personal considerations to discriminate between young men who are liable for service, and to make friendship or some other consideration a moving factor in the selection of soldiers for the new army.

There is no ground for such a fear. The law is specific and allows no latitude to the officials either in the matter of registration or in the later matter of exemption from service. In fact, the law is self-executing. Every man within the age limits fixed by the selective-service act must register, and the penalty of the law for evasion of registration will fall, not only on the man who fails to appear, but on any member of a registration board who may be shown to be in collusion with the person who attempts to escape his duty.

Further than this, the registration boards never will act as exemption boards except in certain specific cases as where a young man who has registered shall claim to be employed in a federal, state or local office, and thereby does come within the exemption clause of the statute. In a case like this the facts must be entered officially and attested.

The law provides the penalty of imprisonment with no alternative of a fine for any official or any registered man who shall make a false return or connive at such a practice. The safeguards against favoritism or evasion are ample.

The response to the government's appeal for volunteer service has been so prompt and general in its distribution that it is assured that in virtually all the districts there will be officials whose sole moving purpose is the patriotic one of seeing to it that the duties of the office are performed in strict accordance with the requirements of the law.

So far as the other reasons for exemptions under the law are concerned, exemptions for men engaged in pursuits in which their work is more valuable at home than in the service, the authority will lie with a board of higher jurisdiction. Those who fear that discriminations will be made on grounds of personal friendship or on other grounds may be assured that every precaution will be taken to make it certain that the registration will be conducted with exact justice and that the democracy of the law will dwell in its spirit as in its letter.

PREMATURE PEACE ADVANTAGE ONLY TO GERMAN PLANS

WASHINGTON CONVINCED BERLIN TRUCE MOVE IS SOLELY TO GIVE TEUTONS RESTING PERIOD.

PROGRAM OF KAISER IS TO GERMANIZE WORLD

Would Create Military and Economic Unit From North Sea to Mediterranean Cutting Europe Permanently in Half and Forming Prussian World Empire.

Washington, May 22. — Germany's next peace declaration, expected to suggest a program of territorial renunciation on the east and the west, is regarded here as largely answered beforehand by information revealing for the first time the full scope of the imperial government's aspirations for conquest in the south.

This information discloses as one of the primary aims of the war a plan for consolidation of an impregnable military and economic unit stretching from the North sea to the Mediterranean, cutting Europe permanently in half, controlling the Dardanelles, the Aegean and the Baltic, and eventually forming the backbone of a Prussian world empire.

Is Bismarck Policy.

In the light of German history the plan shows how implicitly the kaiser has followed out the blood and iron policy of Bismarck for development of Prussian power. Considered in view of the present war map it shows that the major portion of the kaiser's war program has been accomplished, regardless of what disposition is made of conquered territory in France, Belgium and Russia.

Truce Would Be Peril.

A full realization of this situation which will form a sinister background for consideration of whatever renunciation proposals the imperial chancellor may make, adds a new force to the repeated declarations of Allied statesmen that the German peace maneuvers are in reality war moves and that a premature truce only would give Germany a resting period in which to further Prussianize and prepare for a greater world war the territory to the southeast, which she has conquered under the guise of a friendly alliance.

Hard Fighting Ahead.

Although officials have refrained from definite public expressions of what the United States might demand as a peace guarantee, these possibilities recall with recurring emphasis President Wilson's declaration that America might fight until "the world is made safe for democracy." They bring into relief Foreign Minister Balfour's warning that hard fighting still must win the war, the conviction of the American army general staff that the country must prepare for at least three years of war and the fact that predictions of an early peace have been discredited as visionary in virtually every Allied capital.

FOOD AND REVENUE BILLS NEXT BEFORE CONGRESS

Attention Concentrated on Raising Necessary Money and Regulating Food Supply.

Washington, May 22.—Having provided for fighting forces in the war by passing the army draft bill and the measure increasing the navy and marine corps, Congress now concentrates attention on the problems of raising money to keep fighting forces in the field and regulating the food supply America must furnish for herself and her Allies.

The Senate will begin the consideration of food legislation while the House proceeds with the $1,800,000,000 war tax measure. During the week final enactment of the $3,342,000,000 war budget bill with its authorization of $750,000,000 for American merchant ships is expected and possibly the administration espionage measure also will be passed.

Power Plants Explodes; 4 Killed.

Youngstown, Ohio, May 22.—A mysterious explosion in the power plant of the Republic Iron and Steel company brought instant death to four men and injuries to 11 others. Five of the latter were seriously hurt and it is believed one may succumb. Officials were inclined to scout the idea that the explosion was caused by war plotters. Heavy machinery was blown to pieces, crushing out the lives of the four victims and pinning others to the floor. Many were burned in the steam which enveloped the place.

Roosevelt Glad Pershing Is Going.

New York, May 22.—Although deeply disappointed because President Wilson would not permit him to take two divisions of troops to France, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt declared that he was delighted that Maj. Gen. John J. Pershing and a division are going over. "I am very pleased," he said, "that we are soon to have men on the fighting line and like every good citizen I am delighted to do all that I possibly can to help recruiting and also to appeal to everyone to help the success of the Liberty Loan."

What Bird?

Her older sister is a student of zoology in high school, and therefore must keep her eyes and ears open for early spring bird arrivals. Little Peggy also helps.

They were out tramping recently and their course took them through a strip of swamp and marsh in the woods. Only a few birds had been spotted up to that time, so they were on the alert for any call.

"What kind of a bird is that, Margaret?" asked Peggy.

Margaret investigated.

They listened for a long time with no results. Then Peggy cried:

"There it goes," and they all heard an early bullfrog give a big, deep croak.—Indianapolis News.

A Judge's Humor.

As the result of Judge Landis' peculiar sense of humor many "stories" have gone the rounds.

While practicing law he was engaged in a case before Federal Judge Christian Kohlsaat. There were two other federal judges in Chicago. They were Judge James Henley and Judge Peter Grosscup.

Judge Kohlsaat called young Landis to the bench.

"Say," he said to the young attorney in a severe tone. "I understand you have been referring to me as 'Chris' Kohlsaat?"

Young Landis grinned and said:

"I'll bet I know who told you that. It was either 'Jim' Henley or 'Pete' Grosscup."

His sense of humor has never deserted him.—Case and Comment.

The Question.

"I'm trying to figure him out."

Seeds Used as Fuel.

Hundreds of tons of peach and apricot seeds, which have been thrown away every season heretofore by the canning factories in the great fruit districts of California, are now sold as fuel and bring $2.50 a ton retail. Formerly the seeds were considered too hard for fuel, but recently it was found that when heated in a stove burning hard coal they soon pop open and ignite, after which they burn with an intense glow like that of anthracite, and are practically smokeless, besides holding a fire well.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

SAXON

Strength-Economy-Service

You Take No Chances in Buying a Saxon

You may buy a Saxon believing it to be the best car in its class and you will get what you pay for.

You may look for longer service, better performance and lower up-keep bills from your Saxon than from any other car of like price. And you will not be disappointed.

If there was any doubt that Saxon cars are the best in their respective divisions it has long since disappeared.

And the proof of this you will find, a thousand-fold over, in the records of Saxon owners—and in the opinion of motor-car buyers in general. Saxon cars have definitely established their superiority in every phase of motor car performance.

And just as surely and decisively as they have proved themselves abler acting cars, have they proved themselves cheaper cars to keep up.

To build cars of such quality and such value clearly reflects the strength and soundness and ability of the Saxon organization.

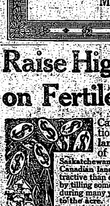
Raise High Priced Wheat on Fertile Canadian Soil



160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA

Canada extends to you a hearty invitation to settle on her FREE Homestead lands of 160 acres each or secure some of the low priced lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. This year wheat is higher but Canadian land just as cheap, so the opportunity is more attractive than ever. Canada wants you to help feed the world by tilling some of her fertile soil—land similar to that which during many years has averaged 20 to 45 bushels of wheat to the acre. Think of the money you can make with wheat around $2 a bushel and land so easy to get. Wonderful yields also of Oats, Barley and Flax. Mixed farming in Western Canada is as profitable an industry as grain growing.

The Government this year is asking farmers to put increased acreage into grain. There is a great demand for farm labor to replace the many young men who have volunteered for service. The climate is healthful and agreeable, railway facilities excellent, good schools and churches convenient. CANADA'S IMMIGRATION

Increased by About Sixty Per Cent in Past Six Months.

That Canada is at war is now more fully appreciated on this side of the boundary line, now that the United States has stepped alongside its northern neighbor and linked hands in the great struggle for a freer democracy throughout the civilized world. As a result of this a greater interest than ever is seen in the mutual effort to develop both the United States and Canada. Recently, just before the time that the United States declared its intention to enter the contest and contribute of its resources to the defeat of the autocracy, whose design was to permeate the world, Western Canada made an appeal for farm labor to till the fields and prepare the soil for the crops of grain that were necessary to feed the fighting forces and keep up the requirements necessary for the Allies. The responses were so great that before half the time limit expired, over six thousand laborers were secured. This was not sufficient, but once the United States was declared to be in a condition of war, and farm labor required here to meet any exigency as to short rations that might arise, the sister to the north, withdrew from attempts, which might mean a restriction of the farm labor supply in the United States. But even with this it is thought Canada will now be fairly well supplied.

Apart, however, from the farm labor proposition, it is gratifying from both a United States and Canadian point of view that the immigration of farmers to take up homestead lands and to purchase improved and unimproved land in Canada, has shown such a wonderful increase in the past three months. The great struggle for increasing the food supply has a broader and greater significance than ever. The food must come into existence, whether the rich soils of the United States or those of Canada be the factor.

It is altogether probable that the action of the Canadian Government in taking the duty off wheat going into Canada, thus automatically lifting the duty off that coming into the United States, may not be responsible for an increased immigration to Canada. Canada's reputation for growing larger average yields and a better quality of grain, and on lands, many of which are free, as well as those that range from $15 to $35 an acre, is an appeal that is being responded to by farmers who are now renting high-priced lands, is another reason for expecting an increasing number of farmers from the United States.

Mr. W. D. Scott, Superintendent of Immigration at Ottawa, Canada, recently gave out figures concerning immigration from the United States, which shows that the increase in the past three or four months was 60 per cent over the same period last year, and Mr. Scott forecasts that during the calendar year of 1917 there will be over one hundred per cent increase and be much heavier than for many years past. Mr. Scott declares that already this spring more settlers' effects have entered Canada than crossed during the whole of last year, and the movement has just merely started.

The new settlers are coming from numerous states through the ports of Emerson, North Portal and Coutts, as well as from Oregon and Washington, through Kingsgate and Vancouver.

There arrived in Saskatchewan during the year ending December 31, 1916, a total of 8,136 persons as compared with 5,812 during the twelve months previous. At the same time nearly twice as many immigrants passed through the immigration department at Edmonton, Alberta, in the last twelve months as for the same period of the year before.

The number of settlers from Eastern Canada migrating to the west also increased. From January 1 to March 31, 1917, the number of cars of stock that passed through the Winnipeg yards was 750, as compared with 361 last year. A fair estimate of the value of each car would be about $2,000, which means that the west has secured additional live stock to the value of $150,000 or more, during the first three months of 1917, not taking into account that brought in by immigrants from the United States.—Advertisement.

The city lot garden fever seems to be very contagious this year. It is always so in the spring but when the weeds begin to get their inning next month, the city gardeners will be found at the usual market places buying their vegetables.

Congressman Halvor Steenerson advises people to use corn meal, as a substitute for potatoes. That is where we are up against it, for following his advice, as we have plenty of potatoes, that we raised ourselves, but haven't got the corn meal.

The County Commissioners of Clearwater County found out, that they were not the "Dads" of the County to spend the tax payers money as they see fit, when they get into Court. The famous case of Edwin D Rydeen V.S. the Board of County Commissioners of Clearwater County was decided in favor of Mr. Rydeen by the supreme court last week, and there will be no bonds issued for a new Court house at Bagley until the people vote on the question.

To prohibit the use of barley for the manufacture of beer during the war would be a serious blow to the farmers, as it would certainly lower the price of barley by the restriction of one of its principal users. As a temperence measure, it would certainly be failure as it would promptly increase the consumption of whiskey and alcohol, and if they stop the use of grain for their manufacture, there is enough whiskey and alcohol in stock manufactured to last for ten years, war or no war.

It is getting to be about the time of year to talk about the government controlling the price of wheat, as the winter wheat harvest will be on in the south next month, and the producers might get a little benefit of the present high prices for wheat. There will be more or less talk of lower prices, and prices will be lowered, until about next November when the wheat Gamblers get nearly all the grain out of the producers possession then they will again lace it to the consumers, until next May or June, and there will be no interference by the Government, until it is about time for the producers to market the next crop. It now has the appearance to the producers and consumers, that Congress and the food speculators were partners.

The Corn Speculator hogs, are certainly bleeding the farmers of Northern Minnesota to the limit, by boosting prices for corn up to the limit when they found that the farmers did not raise oats and barley enough for feed last year. But their day will soon be over, as the farmers will turn their horses out to pasture as soon as they have finished seeding; and the high price of feed has caused all the farmers to sow an increased acreage of oats and barley this year, so as to let them keep their corn next year, or eat it themselves.

BRITISH EXPERT LAUDS RAILROADS OF UNITED STATES

Tells Congress Committee That They Lead World.

NO GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP

It Would Mean Political Control and Loss of Efficiency—Declares That Crisis Confronts Country on Account of Transportation Situation—Lowest Freight Rates to Be Found in United States.

Washington, May 14.—That the United States is face to face with a serious crisis in its commercial affairs, due to the conditions by which its transportation system is confronted, was the opinion expressed by W. M. Acworth, England's leading authority on railways, before the Newlands joint committee on interstate commerce at a special session held here to enable the committee to hear his views before his departure for London this week. Two steps are necessary, according to Mr. Acworth, to avert this crisis and to solve the threatening railroad problem confronting the country.

The first is to allow the railroads to charge freight rates sufficient to meet the great advance in operating expenses which is taking place and to enable them to command the credit necessary to provide the extensions and improvements needed to meet the growing demands of business. The second is to do away with the multiple and conflicting systems of regulation that now hamper railway operation and to provide one centralized regulatory agency with such local subdivisions as may be necessary.

Higher Rates a Public Necessity.

Mr. Acworth's views on the transportation situation in the United States were expressed in answer to questions by members of the committee, who asked him to apply his knowledge of railway conditions throughout the world and of the experience of other countries with government ownership to the present problem before the United States.

"The fundamental factor in the situation is very simple," said Mr. Acworth. "It lies in the fact that you cannot get three-quarters of a cent's worth of work done for less than three-quarters of a cent, no matter whether the agency performing it is a government or private enterprise. Freight rates must advance when the cost of performing the service advances as it is doing at present, just as the price of bread or meat or any other commodity increases with increased cost of production."

In answer to a question Mr. Acworth said that he thought American freight rates had been at much too low a level for several years past, that they had reached this low point during the period of cutthroat competition among the roads and had since been held there by regulating bodies. Unless relief were afforded to the carriers very promptly, he said, the result would be a tremendous loss to the people of the whole country through insufficiency of transportation facilities.

Weakness of Government Ownership.

On the subject of government ownership of railways Mr. Acworth said:

"It is impossible to obtain satisfactory results on government railways in a democratic state unless the management is cut loose from direct political control. Neither Australia nor any other country with a democratic constitution—perhaps an exception ought to be made of Switzerland—has succeeded in maintaining a permanent severance. In France, in Belgium, in Italy, parliamentary interference never has been abandoned for a moment. The facts show that government interference has meant running the railways not for the benefit of the people at large, but to satisfy local and sectional and even personal interests.

Prussia, Mr. Acworth said, was the best example of an efficient government railway system, and he pointed out that military considerations were treated as of paramount importance in the Prussian railway system. While American freight rates had been reduced nearly 40 per cent in thirty years, rates in Prussia were nearly as high as at the beginning of the period. While the charge for moving a ton of freight one mile in the United States was a trifle over three-quarters of a cent, the rate in Prussia was 1.41 cents.

As illustrating the difference in rates between government and private roads Mr. Acworth compared the railways of New South Wales, Australia, with those of Texas. While the amount of traffic to each mile of line was about the same in both cases, he pointed out, the Texas railways performed for the public four times as much service as the government owned roads of New South Wales. The charge in Texas for hauling a ton of freight one mile was less than 1 cent, while in the Australian state it was well over 2 cents.

"American railways lead the world," said Mr. Acworth. "Nowadays when men in any other part of the world want to know how to run a railway they come to the United States and study your railways here. The American railways are entirely the result of private enterprise, and I think they go a long way toward proving the case against government ownership."

Mark Twain as "Attraction."

A girl who was a stranger to Mark Twain once found her way into his Bermuda home with the hope of getting a sight of the author. She came suddenly in contact with him and frankly explained her errand.

"Have you seen the crystal cave yet," he asked, "or the aquarium?"

"No. I came to see you first," she answered.

"Well, you shouldn't have seen me first," he answered. "I run in opposition to the crystal and the aquarium. But they've [illegible] I'm lots better. I give them their money's worth. But you should see them. Then you'll appreciate me."

This was said in his most earnest drawl and with only a sparkle of humor in his keen blue eyes.

The Transformation.

After the hero of seventeen looks at the heroine of fifteen she is a different person. Before he looks at her she likes the fine brick houses in the neighborhood. In fact, she sees many elegant houses in town that she thinks would make ideal homes. Unlike her mother, she even likes the house in which the family lives. But after the hero looks at her you couldn't give her a big brick house. To her such places look cold, and she hardly would take one of them as a gift. But she just worships every little four and five room cottage she sees. They look so cute and neat and dear and sweet and cozy and snug. Oh, if she could just have a house like that and a hero like him—he is the only one there is of his kind—she would be just too happy for anything! And she would make fudge and have a regular home, only it would be far happier than other homes.—Claude Callan in Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Tragedy of Being Dull.

In the Woman's Home Companion Arnold Bennett describes the tragedy of being dull:

"The man lacking imagination is the utterly matter of fact man. He is necessarily the man who never has and cannot have any point of view except his own. He is the Wordsworthian man to whom a primrose by the river's brim was strictly a yellow primrose instead of being a miracle. He is imprisoned in what to him is the actual, and he is always the exact center of the prison, which is of thickest iron. His tragedy is that he does not suspect and is incapable of suspecting that he is in prison at all and that the prison walls and floor and roof entirely prevent him from really 'getting at' any other human being whatsoever. He is always in his own place. This is the deep meaning of dullness, and is the dull man's doom."

THE LOCAL NEWS

St. Paul will furnish 15,000 men for the army, the call of President Wilson.

We have been so busy breaking for flax this week that we have not had time to write many locals.

Martin McAndress who has been assisting his brother Walter breaking for the last ten days left for his home Wednesday.

Knute Dahle took a sack of flax to Goodridge this week, and received a little over seven dollars for it.

A number of our farmers are planting a lot of beans this year, as the present prices looks good to them.

We were never on salt water in our life, but if we were going to take any part in the present war, we would get into the Navy.

We understand that there is one man in the town of Garnes, or Equality who is advising young men not to Register on June 5th. Twenty years imprisonment is the penalty for this offense.

The ground is beginning to get very dry for the late sown grain and we would like to see just one of them good old soaking rains that used to come twice a week last spring.

We are somewhat crowded to finish our work, of seeding flax and building additional pasture for our stock so as to get ready for the lawsuits that the Singers have brought against us in the next term of court, which sets the last of this month.

We advise all young men between the age of 21 and 35 years to be sure to go and register next Tuesday. It would not be pleasant news for us to hear that any of our subscribers or their friends, had been arrested and taken to a prison training camp because they failed to register on June 5th.

We understand that an additional "branch" feed store has been put in at Goodridge by Skinner bro Soakum & Co., who wanted to get into a territory where people did not know them, to try and do a little business. It seems as if feed was high enough now, without Soakum taking a hand in the deal.

Of course the Singers have a big advantage of us in a lawsuit, as there are four Singers to one Hunt. They also have the advantage of superior training in the art of law, as the records of the court shows that they have had a lot of lawsits; while our first experience in court was when the Singers selected us as a likely subject for a first class law suit. But while they are four to one, we have THE SUNBEAM, on our side, and while they speak to one person, it speaks to hundreds.

A Nation With No Language.

The Swiss alone, of all the peoples of the world, may in a sense be said to possess no language, a fact that is the more surprising when we consider that there is no people showing a more intense patriotism.

The official languages of the little republic are French and German. The public documents are published in these tongues, both of which are spoken by many Swiss. Roughly speaking, however, about 75 per cent of the population speak German, while the remainder divide four other languages among them, mainly French and Italian. These tongues vary, as a rule, according to the proximity of the people to the country whose language they speak. In the Swiss parliament members deliver their speeches either in French or German, for nearly all the members understand both tongues.

ROTATION LEASES.

[National Crop Improvement Service.]

There is nothing which endangers America so much today as our very much abused farm tenant system. We ought to have something in every lease which will protect land and protect the people as well as posterity. Year to year tenants who scratch a little and move away, should be compelled to settle down and landlords should be be compelled to make a time rotation lease. It is easy to talk about compelling this and compelling that, but we mostly are a very sloppy people whose motto is "the easiest way is the best."

If we let our soil run down, our whole structure will fall. In order to obtain a larger yield of grain, this soil must be fed. The colleges and experiment stations beyond the Mississippi river are entirely too timid about preaching soil conservation. In fact, all of us are rather prone to tell our audience what we think they would rather hear.

KILL THE WEEDS.

[National Crop Improvement Service.]

"Spring plowing, or disking, as soon as the weed seeds have germinated, is usually a profitable practice. Where small grain is to be sown, the sowing should be done soon after plowing; but where corn, potatoes, or the sorghums are to be grown, there is often a period of several weeks between the time of the germination of the weed seeds and the time when the season is sufficiently advanced to plant the crop. This period should be utilized as far as possible for the destruction of weeds before the crop is planted. Much labor in keeping the crop free from weeds during its growing period can thus be saved."—E. C. Chilcott, Agriculturist in charge, Washington [illegible]

THE NAVY NEEDS MEN! IT NEEDS THEM NOW

The United States Navy has continued its appeal to the Northwest for men to man the fleet by addressing the following appeal to societies and individuals:

CONGRESS GIVES MONEY AND MATERIAL;

THE NORTHWEST MUST GIVE THE MEN!

The Nation has called for its sons. It is up to the Northwest to answer. Young men have been coming forward at a fair rate, but more must come. Part of the fleet is idle and will be until America wakes up. Another 40 men a day would put four more big guns in action.

Teeth of the Ancients.

The silence of the classics certainly seems to indicate that the Greeks and Romans suffered very little from their teeth. Words for toothache and for tooth extracting instruments can, indeed, be found in the Greek and Latin dictionaries, but the authors quoted for them are generally late and always uninteresting. We can hardly believe that if toothache had been common in Athens Aristophanes would have made no jokes about it. But a classical scholar may pretty safely be defied to cite a single Greek or Latin passage about it. Even Lucretius, when he gets on the subject of teeth in a passage where a reference to toothache might be expected, merely refers to the jar given to the teeth by every cold water or by biting a stone in one's bread.—London Chronicle.

INSURE YOUR CORN

Don't Gamble With Your Corn Crop. Test Every Ear Before Planting. Every Weak or Dead Ear Means Dollars Less at Harvest.

[National Crop Improvement Service.]

It is a known fact that the simple little act of testing all seed corn before planting will add many bushels to the corn crop and will pay the farmer about five times as much per hour for his labor as will any other farm labor.

There is nothing hard about it, all methods of testing seed corn are easy and inexpensive. You can test the kernels in blotters or "rag-doll" testers at home, making them yourself, or you can invest in a commercial tester that will last for years. Your agricultural college, county agent, or the U. S. Department of Agriculture at Washington will be glad to give you full particulars.

Seed testing will stop one of these leaks in farm practice that change gain into loss. Figure out for yourself how many hills the six or seven hundred kernels of corn from a dead or weak ear will plant, and figure out how your corn yield will drop if two or three, or a dozen, or maybe fifty such ears should get planted.

BY-PRODUCT STOCK FEEDS.

[National Crop Improvement Service.]

A lot of well-meaning folks think that just because certain materials are left-overs from the manufacture of food for humans, that it is "waste" and of no value for stock feed. Nothing is further from the truth. In very many cases, the so-called "offal" left after the manufacture of flour, malting, corn products, breakfast foods, etc., are the best of stock feeds, and can be bought economically and fed to bring a profit to the farmer. The man who turns up his nose at the thought of combining by-products with silage and other low-priced meat producing foods, is behind the times and usually fails to show even interest on his money at the end of the year. Feeding whole grain, whether it be corn, wheat, rye or oats, is wasteful and is robbing man of his rightful prerogative—that of taking that part of all grain adapted to his needs. It is easy to find out the protein content of any article, or mixture, of stock foodstuffs now on the market, and it is merely a matter of the farmer figuring out the worth of the foods on their nourishing power, and then to purchase that which will give him the most economical feed. In practically all states, all feedstuffs must be labeled with their food content—for those who wish to see, the facts are printed.

Fanning and Grading Seed Barley.

[National Crop Improvement Service.]

Not nearly enough attention is given to getting the uniform size of seed grain, especially is this true in barley, where it is important that the germination should all take place on the same day. Therefore, the kernels should be of the same size and weight. The very largest should perhaps be removed as well as the smaller ones, leaving the seed plump and uniform. It is true that small seeds and giant seeds will germinate, but the plant food contained therein will undoubtedly make an unevenness in the maturity at harvest.

U. S. DESTROYERS ESCAPE TRAPS OF GERMAN U-BOATS

SPIES IN THIS COUNTRY GAVE ADVANCE INFORMATION OF COMING OF THE AMERICAN FLEET.

NEW HUNT FOR SPIES ON; ROPE AWAITS OFFENDERS.

Admiral Sims Cables Startling News of Activity and Efficient Work of German Spies Operating on This Side—Censors to Redouble Vigilance.

Washington, May 28. — Four days before the American destroyer flotilla arrived abroad Berlin knew it was on the way and to what port it was going, and the day before the vessels steamed into Queenstown German submarines had strewn mines about the harbor entrance. This startling information, revealing that German spies not only still at at their work in this country, but that they have a swift and sure means of communicating America's war secrets to the fatherland came to the navy department in a cablegram from Rear Admiral Sims at London.

Asserts Information is Positive.

The admiral said his information was positive. His dispatch was not made public and for obvious reasons nothing will be given out concerning how the news came into his possession nor about the precautions which defeated the German plans and enabled the flotilla to speed safely through the mine fields.

Immediate publicity was given the salient fact, however, the department making clear that its purpose was to let the people know of the activity and success of Teutonic spies and to emphasize the necessity for absolute secrecy about American naval operations and shipping movements.

The destroyers now in European waters under Admiral Sims put into port at Queenstown May 16. How long they were in crossing the Atlantic, nor from what port they sailed never has been announced and until word of their arrival came by cable only a few people in the United States even knew of the government's decision to send warships to Europe.

Hanging of Spies Likely.

The result will redouble the vigilance of the censors and of every agency of the government engaged in rooting out the spy system. Now that the country is at war and the revelation of its secrets may mean death to its sailors, swift punishment undoubtedly would be meted out to any convicted spy. Spying now is likely to lead to the gallows.

DESPAIRS OF BUILDING FLEET OF WOOD SHIPS

Goethals Declares Plan Is "Simply Hopeless" For Present Lack of Timber.

New York, May 28.—Major General George W. Goethals, speaking informally at the annual dinner here of the iron and steel institute, declared the proposal to build 1,000 3,000-ton wooden ships in 18 months "is simply hopeless."

For that reason he said it had become necessary to turn to steel as well as wood.

"I found that contracts for wooden vessels had been let in all directions, but was unable to find plans or specifications. When you consider that birds are now nesting in the trees that will go to build those ships—ships that must attain a speed of 10½ knots and several additional knots to escape submarines—why the proposition is simply hopeless," said General Goethals.

CAN WHIP TEUTONS THIS YEAR

Belief of Former Commander of Northern Russian Army.

Petrograd, May 28. — Nicholas V. Bussky, who has arrived here, after relinquishing the command of the Russian army on the Northern front, spoke hopefully of the improvement in the morale of the troops on that front.

He said that there was no fraternizing with the enemy and no deficiency in the shell supply, but that owing to local conditions an offensive on a large scale was impossible.

If the improvement continues and the Russian armies fulfill their duty toward their own country and their allies, General Bussky believes the Germans can be beaten by autumn and forced to accept the Allies' peace

Rome Joyous Over Victories.

Rome, May 26.—Rome is delirious with joy over success of her troops in the nation's greatest blow of the war. Special editions of the newspapers which told of 9,000 prisoners taken in the brillant advance were issued just as great crowds assembled in the streets to celebrate the second anniversary of Italy's entrance into the war. They touched off a popular demstration that surpassed anything of the kind in Rome since Italy first cast her lot with the Allies. Crowds paraded singing, shouting and cheering.

LIST OF QUESTIONS THAT WILL BE PUT TO MEN ON JUNE 5

Government Has Issued Circulars Tending to Make Registration Work Easy.

ONLY SICK AND ABSENTEES EXEMPT FROM ANSWERING

Prison Is the Penalty of Failing to Appear Unless One Is Unable, and Then Arrangements Must Be Made—How Interrogations Should Be Answered.

The government has adopted a plan to facilitate and simplify the filling in of conscription registration cards June 5. Circulars containing the twelve questions to be asked and advice as to how they should be answered have been prepared for distribution.

How to Answer Questions.

The circular, which bears the heading, "How to Answer Questions on Registration Cards," reads as follows:

"Questions will be asked for you to answer in the order in which they appear on this paper. These questions are set out below with detailed information to help you answer them.

"Do not write on, mark or otherwise mutilate these instructions. Do not remove them. They should be carefully read so that you will have your answers ready when you go before the registrar.

"All answers will be written on the registration card in ink by the registrar, who should be careful to spell all names correctly and to write legibly.

"1. Name in full. Age in years, ——

"This means all your names spelled out in full.

"State your age today in years only. Disregard additional months or days. Be prepared to say 'nineteen' or 'twenty-five,' not 'nineteen years three months' or the like.

"2. Home address.

"This means the place where you have your permanent home, not the place where you work. Be prepared to give the address in this way: '232 Main street, Chicago, Cook county, Illinois;' that is, give number and name of street first, then town, then county and state.

Write Birth Date in Advance.

'Date of birth.

"Write your birthday (month, day and year) on a piece of paper before going to the registrar and give the paper to him the first thing. Example: 'August 5, 1894.'

"If you do not remember the year, start to answer as you would if someone asked you your birthday, as 'August 5.' Then say, 'on my birthday this year I will be (or was) —— years old.' The registrar will then fill in the year of birth. Many people do not carry in mind the year they were born. This may be obtained by the registrar by subtracting the age in years on this year's birthday from 1917.

"4. Are you (1) a natural born citizen; (2) a naturalized citizen; (3) an alien; (4) or have you declared your intention to become a citizen (specify which)?

"(1) If you were born in the United States, including Alaska and Hawaii, you are a natural born citizen, no matter what may have been the citizenship or nationality of your parents. If you were born in Porto Rico you are a citizen of the United States, unless you were born of alien parentage. If you were born abroad, you are still a citizen of the United States, if your father was a citizen of the United States at the time you were born, unless you have expatriated yourself.

"(2) You are a naturalized citizen if you have completed your naturalization; that is, if you have 'taken final papers.' But you are not a citizen if you have only declared your intention to become a citizen (that is, if you have only 'taken out first papers'); in the latter case you are only a 'declarant.'

"You are also a naturalized citizen if, although foreign born, your father or surviving parent became fully naturalized while you were under twenty-one years of age, and if you came to the United States under twenty-one.

"(3) You are a declarant if, although a citizen or subject of some foreign country, you have declared on oath before a naturalization court your intention to become a citizen of the United States. Receipt from the clerk of the court of the certified copy of such declaration is often called 'taking out first papers.' You are not a declarant if your first paper was taken out after September 26, 1906, and is more than seven years old.

"(4) You are an alien if you do not fall within one of the three classes above mentioned.

5. Where were you born?

"First name the town, then the state, then the country, as 'Columbus, O.' 'Vienna, Austria,' 'Paris, France' 'Sofia, Bulgaria.'

"6. If not a citizen, of what country are you a citizen or subject?

"This need be answered only by aliens and declarants. Remember that a 'declarant' is not yet a citizen of the United States. If an alien or declarant, state the name of your country, as 'France,' 'Japan,' 'China,' etc.

What Is Your Job Right Now?

"7. What is your present trade, occupation or office?

"This does not ask what you once did, nor what you have done most of the time, nor what you are best fitted to do. It asks what your job is right now. State briefly, as farmer, miner, student, laborer (on farm, in rolling mill, in automobile, wagon or other factory, etc. If you hold an office under state or federal government, name the office you hold.

"If you are in one of the following offices or employments, use one of the names hereafter mentioned: 'Custom house clerk,' 'employed in the transmission of the mails,' or 'employed in an armory, arsenal or navy yard,' 'mariner actually employed in the sea service of citizen or merchant within the United States.'

"8. By whom employed? Where employed?

"If you are working for an individual, firm, corporation or association state its name. If in business, trade, profession or employment for yourself, so state. If you are an officer of the state or federal government say whether your office is under the United States, the state, the county or a municipality. In answer to the question as to where you are employed give the town, county and state where you work.

"9. Have you a father, mother, wife, child under twelve or a sister or brother under twelve solely dependent upon you for support (specify which):

"Consider your answer thoughtfully. If it is true that there is another mouth than your own which you alone have a duty to feed do not let your military ardor interfere with the wish of the nation to reduce war's misery to a minimum. On the other hand, unless the person you have in mind is solely dependent on you do not hide behind petticoats or children.

"10. Married or single (which)? Race (specify which)?

"This does not ask whether you were once married; but whether you are married now. In answer to the question as to your race state briefly whether Caucasian, Mongolian, negro, Malayan or Indian.

As to Past Military Service.

"11. What military service have you had? Rank? Branch? Years? Nation or state?

"No matter what country you served, you must give complete information. In answering these questions first name your rank, using one of the following words: 'Commissioned officer,' 'noncommissioned officer,' 'private.' Next, state branch in which you served in one of the following words: 'Infantry,' 'cavalry,' 'artillery,' 'medical,' 'signal,' 'aviation,' 'supply,' 'marine,' 'navy.' Next, state the number of years' service, not counting time spent in the reserve. Finally, name the nation or state you served. If you served under the United States or one of the states of the United States, name your service in one of the following terms: 'National Guard' (of such and such a state), 'militia' (of such and such a state), 'volunteers of United States' or 'regular army (navy) of United States.'

"12. Do you claim exemption from draft? Specify grounds.

'Because you claim exemption from draft, it by no means follows that you are exempt. For the information of the war department you should make a claim now if you intend to prosecute it. Some persons will be exempted on account of their occupations or offices, some on account of the fact that they have relatives dependent upon them for support. Your answer touching these things will be important in supporting the claim you now intend to make in your answer to the present questions. Be sure, therefore, that the grounds you now state are in conformity with your answers to questions 7 and 8.

"In stating grounds you claim as exempting you use one of the following terms: If you claim to be an executive, legislative or judicial officer of the state or nation, name your office and say whether it is an office of the state or nation. If you claim to be a member of a religious sect whose creed forbids its members to participate in war in any form, simply name the sect. If you are employed in the transmission of the United States mails or as an artificer or workman in an armory, arsenal or navy yard of the United States, or if you are a mariner employed in the sea service of any citizen or merchant within the United States, so state. If you are a felon or otherwise morally deficient and desire to claim exemption on that ground, state your ground briefly. If you claim physical disability, state that briefly. If you claim exemption on any other ground, state your ground briefly."

WHERE AIRMEN WILL TRAIN

Six Colleges Designated by the War Department as Points for the Instruction of Aviators.

The work of turning out army aviators will be quickened 50 per cent as the result of an order issued by the war department.

In the future the groundwork and elementals of aerodynamics will be taught to army aviator students at six of the larger universities throughout the country under the direction of army officers. This will enable those in charge of operations to devote their entire energy to turning out competent aviators, who will take their place as reserve lieutenants in the signal corps.

The schools which have been designated to do the elementary work are the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cornell university, Ohio State university, University of Illinois, University of Texas and the University of California.

EFFECTIVE BLOWS DEALT U-BOATS BY U.S. WAR FLOTILLA

BRITISH PREMIER SAYS SUCCESSES AGAINST SUBMARINES HAVE RESULTED IN IMPROVEMENT IN FOOD SITUATION.

28 SUBMARINES TAKEN OR DESTROYED IN WEEK

Americans Known to Have Taken Active Part in Work—Lloyd-George Says Germans are Doomed to Disappointment— Merchant Shipping Losses Decrease.

London, May 26.—"The successes against submarines have resulted in a distinct improvement in our food situation," said Premier Lloyd George in the house of commons.

The premier said more effective blows had been dealt the submarines during the last three weeks than in any corresponding period of the war.

Grateful to America.

The shipping losses for May, the premier said, probably would show a reduction from the April figures. In speaking of the success of anti-submarine methods, he said:

"We owe a very considerable debt of gratitude to the great American people for the effective assistance they have rendered and the craft they have placed at our disposal. Now that the American nation is in the war, it is easier to make arrangements for the protection of our mercantile marine than it was before.

Premier Confident.

"The submarine menace need cause no fear that the war is going to be lost for that reason," he declared.

"If it is true that the Germans are depending mainly upon submarine warfare for success, I am able to say they are doomed to disappointment," Mr. Lloyd George continued.

"The German submarine warfare is destined to be the greatest miscalculation in the whole series of miscalculations of that hated empire."

28 U-Boats Sunk in Week.

Washington, May 26.—Information has reached the Navy department that more submarines are being run down, captured and destroyed than ever before. Although the exact details cannot be divulged, it is known the American destroyer flotilla has played an active part in the work.

One report today said that during the last week 28 German submarines were captured or destroyed.

Reports from Admiral Sims indicate there has been a marked improvement in the anti-submarine system. Submarines are being both captured and destroyed.

With the Navy department apparently in possession of a valuable anti-submarine idea, it is anticipated here that before long Germany's dream of an England crushed by U-boats will be blasted.

FAMINE AND PESTILENCE SWEEP TURKEY REPORT

People Panic Stricken and Army's Morale Gone—100,000 Are Said to Have Deserted.

Paris, May 26.—Turkey is swept with famine and pestilence, her people are panic stricken and her army's morale is utterly gone, according to information received here via Berne. One hundred thousand deserters from the army were reported.

Realizing the loss of all of Turkey's fighting power, 8,000 Austrian troops have recently been sent to Palestine to attempt bolstering up the army in front of the British expeditionary forces.

Four thousand German troops are said to be guarding the government buildings, factories and bridges in Constantinople, while hundreds in the city are dying each day.

AMERICANS GO TO WAR FRONT

First Combatant Corps Cheered by Other Contingents.

Grand Headquarters, French Army in France, May 26.—America's first combatant corps has gone to the front under Captain E. I. Tinkham and Lieutenant Scully of Princeton. Captain Tinkham won the war cross at Verdun. The Americans were armed with carbines, attired in khaki uniforms and drove American five-ton motorcars. As they left, the Stars and Stripes, floating over the cantonment in an historic French forest, spread out in the breeze and other contingents cheered them on their way. Clarence Mackay presented the camp with the American flag which now flies beside the tricolor.

Atlanta Declines Outside Aid.

Atlanta, May 24.—Atlanta has gone actively to work to care for thousands made homeless by the fire that destroyed 3,000 homes in 75 blocks and was stopped only after the dynamiting of the beautiful residences on Ponce De Leon avenue. The property loss was estimated at $3,000,000 by Mayor Asa Candler. Other estimates ran as high as $5,000,000. It was the greatest fire in Atlanta's history since General Sherman, terming this city the backbone of the Confederacy, decreed it must be burned.

SAXON

Strength · Economy · Service

This Car Is Worthy of Your Confidence

You can buy a Saxon car secure in the knowledge that you are getting full value in tried and proven motor car mechanism.

Saxon cars are built to win the confidence of their owner—and they do. But first they must win the confidence of their builders—and this they could not if they embodied any feature or any part of unproved worth.

So no Saxon principle of construction has ever been changed until a better principle has fully proved its greater value. And so no Saxon car has ever embodied features of doubtful worth.

Saxon cars have simply been in a state of transition, passing thru phase after phase of gradual improvement without a break in production. They are refined from time to time, not radically changed.

They are in the fullest sense of the phrase, products of evolution. They are developed rather than built.

Isn't that the kind of a car you want—one that you can feel confident is right before you put down your good money for it? If it is, then you want a Saxon.

There is still some good territory open for Saxon Dealers. For information you should apply to

FARMING NOW A BUSINESS

The Modern Day Farmer Applies Business Methods and Seeks More Than a Living on the Farm.

A nation-wide cry is being made for more economy and greater production, and probably never was the need of foodstuffs equal to that of the present. Grain prices are the highest in the nation's history and today the agricultural fields of America offer inducements that are unequaled in any other line of commerce or business. The ideal life is that close to nature, enjoying the freedom of God's great outdoors and fulfilling a duty to humanity by producing from a fertile soil that which is essential to the very existence of a less fortunate people who are actually starving to death for foodstuffs that can be produced so economically in the United States and Canada.

High prices for all grains, undoubtedly, will be maintained for a number of years, and it appears a certainty that the agriculturist will reap a bounteous return for his labor and at the same time carry out the demands of patriotic citizenship. A wrong conception has been generally noticed as to "Life on the Farm." It has been, to a large extent, considered as only a place to live peacefully and afford a living for those who are satisfied with merely a comfortable existence. Such a wrong impression has been created, in a measure, by the lack of systematic business principles to farming in general. But today farming and agriculture have been given a supremacy in the business world and require the same advanced methods as any other line of commerce. In no other business does a system adoption pay better than on the farm, and it is certain that there is no other line of work, that, generally speaking, needs it as much. The old idea of getting a living off the farm and not knowing how it was made and following up the details of each branch of farming to get the maximum of profit, at the least expense, is fast being done away with.

Farming is now being considered as a business and a living is not sufficient for the modern agriculturist; a small per cent on the investment is not enough, the present-day farmer must have a percentage return equal to that of other lines of business. The prices for produce are high enough, but the cost of producing has been the factor, in many places, that has reduced the profit. It is the application of a system to the cost of various work on the farm that it is possible to give figures on profits made in grain-growing in Western Canada.

Mr. C. A. Wright of Milo, Iowa, bought a hundred and sixty acres of land in Western Canada for $3,300 in December, 1915, and took his first crop from it in 1916. After paying for the land in full and the cost of cultivating it and marketing the grain, he sold his grain at $1.55 a bushel (a low price compared with the present market), had a surplus of $2,472.67. His figures are as follows:

4,487 bushels worth $1.55 at Champion	$6,954.85—	$6,954.85
Threshing bill 11c per bushel	493.57
Seed at 95c	144.00
Drilling	160.00
Cutting	160.00
Twine	50.00
Shocking	40.00
Hauling to town 3c	134.61
Total cost	1,182.18
Cost of land	3,300.00
	$4,482.18—	$4,482.18
Net profit after paying for farm and all cost		$2,472.67

S. Joseph and Sons of Des Moines, Ia., are looked upon as being shrewd, careful business men. Having some spare money on hand, and looking for a suitable investment, they decided to purchase Canadian lands, and farm them.

With the assistance of the Canadian Government Agent, at Des Moines, Ia., they made selection near Champion, Alberta. They put 240 acres of land in wheat, and in writing to Mr. Hewitt, The Canadian Government Agent at Des Moines, one of the members of the firm says: "I have much pleasure in advising you that on our farm five miles east of Champion, in the Province of Alberta, Canada, this year (1916) we harvested and threshed 10,600 bushels of wheat from 240 acres, this being an average of 44 bushels and 10 pounds to the acre. A considerable portion of the wheat was No. 1 Northern, worth at Champion, approximately $1.85 per bushel, making a total return of $19,610, or an average of $81.70 per acre gross yields. And by aid of a thorough system were able to keep the cost of growing wheat at about 25 cents a bushel."

Messrs. Smith & Sons of Vulcan, Alberta, are growers of wheat on a large scale and have demonstrated that there is greater profit in Western Canada wheat-raising than probably in any other business anywhere. Speaking of their experience Mr. Smith says:

"I have three sections of land at the present time and am farming yearly 1,200 to 1,400 acres of land. My returns from the farm for the past two years have been around 200%, that is for every dollar I have spent I have received three, now I do not know where you can do that well.

"This is surely the country for the man with the small capital as the land is still reasonable in price, payments in long term and work of all kinds for every man to do. I feel that if I was turned out here without a dollar that in less than ten years I could own a section of land and have it well equipped."

Western Canada's soil and climate is suitable to graining large and profitable yields of wheat. Many so large that those not acquainted with the facts hesitate to believe the reports sent out by the farmers in that country. As an evidence of their sincerity in reporting correct yields affidavits of a couple of grain growers are reproduced.

"I, Newell J. Noble, of the town of Nobleford, Province of Alberta, do solemnly declare that from 1,000 acres of wheat on the said farm there was, in the season of 1916, threshed 54,395 bushels of wheat, being at the average of 54 bushels and 23 pounds per acre. And that from 394.69 acres of oats on the said farm, there was threshed in the said season of 1916, 48,506 bushels of oats, being at the average of 122 bushels and 30 pounds per acre.

"And I make this solemn declaration conscientiously, believing it to be true and knowing that it is of the same force and effect as if made under oath and by virtue of The Canada Evidence Act." NEWELL J. NOBLE.

A Woman Takes Affidavit as to Yields.—On January 4, 1917, Mrs. Nancy Coe of Nobleford made oath as follows:

In the matter of yield of wheat, oats and flax on my farm for harvest of 1916, I, Nancy Coe, of the town of Nobleford, Province of Alberta, do solemnly declare that I threshed from 115 acres on my farm 6,110 bushels of wheat (machine measure, which it is believed will hold out in weights fully—about three-fourths of the crop already having been weighed), being at the average of 53 bushels and 8 pounds per acre, and that from 48 acres of flax on stubble ground, I threshed 993 bushels of flax, being at an average of 20 bushels and 38 pounds per acre, and that from 5.06 acres of oats I threshed 586 bushels, machine measure, being at an average of 115 bushels and 27 pounds per acre. —Advertisement.

Sir Beerbohm Tree's Tact.

As most people who have the pleasure of his acquaintance know perfectly well, Sir Beerbohm Tree is a very tactful man. He is also an exceedingly critical judge of a good cigar, and heartily detests the smell even of a bad one.

He was alone in a railway carriage when a young man entered, and, sitting down opposite to him, puffed away heartily at a "weed" too awful for words.

"Are you aware, sir," inquired Sir Beerbohm in his most impressive manner, "that this is not a smoking carriage?"

With an apologetic remark, the youth flung his humble smoke out of the window. A minute later he observed incredulously: 'But—but you are smoking yourself."

"Quite so," replied Sir Beerbohm blandly, "but I thought you might have conscientious scruples. Er—have one of mine?"

The youth selected with alacrity a prime imported Havana from the proffered case, lit up, and soon the pleasing aroma from two excellent cigars pervaded every corner of the carriage.

For Home Consumption.

Back-yard farms should be conducted solely for the purpose of supplying vegetables for home consumption. There should be no thought given to selling to your neighbors; plan the entire "farm" for your personal use. Your neighbor has an equal opportunity to produce vegetables, and if he has not availed himself of his opportunity, the loss is his.—A. T. Hastings, in Collier's Weekly.

What's Doing in Minnesota

Garry. — Seventeen buildings in the business section of Garry, Minn., have been destroyed by a fire and only two business buildings in the entire town are standing.

Winona. — The busiest year for operators of short lines on the Mississippi river is looming, according to M. H. Newcombs, master of the steamboat Red Wing of St. Paul.

Duluth. — Andreas M. Miller, 75 years old, one of the men who played a large part in the industrial development of Duluth and Northern Minnesota, is dead in New York.

St. Paul. — Employment agencies may be opened by Minnesota's $1,000,000 war board in the large labor circles of the state, it is reported, in connection with the make and save the crop movement.

Akeley.—Charles F. Scheers, editor of the Akeley Herald-Tribune, who has been doing more fire fighting than editing in the last few days, declares that the fires are due to carelessness on the part of settlers.

Brainerd. — Initial steps in organizing the campaign whereby the $400,000 quota of Liberty bonds Crow Wing county is expected to purchase as its part in the government's plan of war finance, have been taken.

Winona. — The Winona police and fire board has drafted resolutions to be presented to Governor Burnquist, requesting that he reconsider his decision to dispense with the state fire marshal's office in Minnesota.

St. Paul. — Wolf bounties must be paid as usual, despite Governor Burnquist's veto of large appropriations to reimburse the counties, according to advices given county auditors by Ray P. Chase, deputy state auditor.

Duluth. — Forest fires to the north continue burning. An investigation is being made at Buhl of a fire that destroyed 15 carloads of mine timber. The fire originated in a tract which was already partly burned over to some extent.

Graceville. — Bankers from every town in Big Stone county met here and organized the Liberty Loan Association of Big Stone county. The bankers were unanimous in pledging their aid in disposing of the county's quota of bonds.

St. Paul.—Showing few if any signs of abatement, the epidemic of spinal-meningitis has attacked 243 victims and caused 102 deaths in Minnesota to date this year, Dr. A. J. Chesley, director of the state division of communicable diseases, announces.

Washington, D. C. — What every section of the country is expected to do in unloosening its purse strings for the Liberty loan has been officially announced by the Treasury department. Minimum tentative allotments by states, estimated on the same basis, show the approximately proportionate share for Minnesota as $43,000,000.

Crookston. — Polk county bankers met in Crookston and made plans to take care of Polk county's share of the Liberty loan, $720,000. Bankers were of the opinion that they will be able to raise more than $200,000 of the bond issue at this time and that farmers, following the crop in the fall will be able to take care of the balance.

Anoka. — Extensive preparations are being made for the annual camp meeting and conference of Minnesota Seventh-Day Adventists, which will be held in Anoka June 7-17. This convention brings together over a thousand people each year, and is of great interest from the fact that a number of leading clergymen from this country and abroad will be present.

Northfield. — Important chemical discoveries which may be of use in the war and which in some instances have gone beyond the discoveries of the British, have been made by a group of Carleton students working under the direction of Dr. Lee of the chemistry department. Official congratulations have been received from the government telling of the success of their work.

Mora.—The Mora Booster and Commercial club has turned to bean growing on a large scale, and the crop will be donated to Uncle Sam. School boys of that town are doing the work and have planted twenty-five acres. Eight other scattered counties sent in similar reports of encouraging conditions. The other reports are from the following counties: Benton, Olmsted, Lake, Washington, Crow Wing, Wabasha, St. Louis and Dakota.

St. Paul. — Minnesota's national guard contribution to the world war will be virtually doubled, according to Washington reports, which Captain W. F. Rhinow, military secretary to Governor Burnquist has just confirmed. The announcement, based on War department orders, comes on the heels of the resumption of recruiting by the First Minnesota Infantry and First artillery regiments, and means, Captain Rhinow said, a big addition to Minnesota's part in the war.

Bemidji. — Two representatives of Bemidji, designated by the Commercial club, have left for St. Paul, to appear before the army board considering the availability of various tracts for the Northwest training camp for the first conscribed army.

St. Paul. — The fellow who gets the $3,000 job as secretary of the "Blue Sky" commission will have to look to the blue sky for his first month's salary, if he takes the job July 1, when the law goes into effect, and when the commission is supposed to begin doing business. The appropriation is not available until August 1.

MINNESOTA STATE FAIR IS TO BE HELD

CANFIELD SAYS ASSUMPTION THAT EXPOSITION IS TO BE CALLED OFF IS FOOLISH.

KINDLING OF FIRES IS BARRED

Safety Commission Takes Steps to Enforce New Regulations in 11 Counties—Three Alleged Incendiaries Arrested.

St. Paul.

Thomas H. Canfield, secretary of the Minnesota State Agricultural society, says the State Fair will be held as usual, September 3 to 8, inclusive. He also intimated that it is to be Minnesota's greatest exposition from an educational and amusement standpoint.

"The assumption that the fair would be called off this year because of the war is foolish," Mr. Canfield says. "There has never been a time in the history of our state when we needed it as much.

"We are now co-operating with the War department, the Governor of Minnesota and other officials."

Many improvements are to be made on the grounds this summer and on several buildings. One of the largest will be the entire refacing of the grand stand, for which approximately $20,000 was appropriated by the last Legislature.

New Rules to Check Forest Fires.

Steps to enforce new regulations to govern in the forest fire districts of Northern Minnesota have been taken by the Minnesota Public Safety Commission.

The commission order followed an exhaustive report read at the executive session.

Incendiary fires of various kinds were referred to and it was announced that three arrests, two in a single district, have resulted, although no details are obtainable.

Fifty thousand posters bearing a warning based on the commission's latest order prohibiting kindling of fires in forest areas were ordered printed to be displayed in the eleven counties in which it is effective.

Motorists who carelessly throw lighted matches or cigars into weeds or brush along roads and start running fires are held guilty of violation of this order.

War Board Takes Over Labor Bureau.

The handling of farm labor as in past carried on by the state free employment bureaus has been taken over by the State Public Safety commission through new headquarters established in Minneapolis according to a commission announcement made after another extended meeting behind closed doors at the capitol. The statement follows its pledges to the farmers in the "make and save the crop" movement that labor will be furnished.

Four appointments of county directors to fill vacancies were announced as follows:

Manomen county, A. L. Thompson; Martin county, Clifford Jones; Wabasha county, Linn Whitmore; Waseca county, Dr. F. W. Prahl.

No other business that could be made public was considered, the secretary said.

Food Experts Plan to Tour State.

Tentative plans for tours of the state next month by experts and other moves toward conservation and increased production of food were discussed by chairmen of the state committees on such undertakings. Chairman Wilson of the Food Conservation Commission presided and the committeemen reported on plans to be announced later in detail. The general purpose is to aid the people of Minnesota in conservation of all foods including those for live stock.

Offensive Posters Destroyed.

The St. Paul trouble over the wording of enlistment posters was ended when Colonel Luce ordered the offending circulars destroyed as Governor Burnquist has declared that a man selected in the draft will have equal military footing with volunteers in transfers and military courtesies. Officers who used the posters did so of their own initiative said Colonel Luce.

Leads in Marine Recruiting.

Minnesota is at the top of the list not only in navy recruiting, but in the number of recruits for the marine corps also, official government figures show. For the month ending May 19, recruits in the St. Paul district numbered 554, or fifty-one more than Chicago, its nearest competitor. New York ranked third, with only a few men less than Chicago.

Minnesota Organization Complete.

Adjutant General Fred B. Wood, in charge of Minnesota registration preparations, has sent a telegram signed by Governor Burnquist to the Provost Marshal General at Washington, informing him "the organization in Minnesota is complete."

"That means 'finis' for Minnesota preparations for the draft registration and marks the end of a lot of work by the sheriffs and other county officials and those of the three largest cities of the state," General Wood said.

NERVOUSNESS AND BLUES

Symptoms of More Serious Sickness.

Washington Park, Ill.—"I am the mother of four children and have suffered with female trouble, backache, nervous spells and the blues. My children's loud talking and romping would make me so nervous I could just tear everything to pieces and I would ache all over and feel so sick that I would not want anyone to talk to me at times. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills restored me to health and I want to thank you for the good they have done me. I have had quite a bit of trouble and worry but it does not affect my youthful looks. My friends say 'Why do you look so young and well?' I owe it all to the Lydia E. Pinkham remedies."—Mrs. Robt. Stopiel, Sage Avenue, Washington Park, Illinois.

WOMEN! IT IS MAGIC! LIFT OUT ANY CORN

Apply a few drops then lift corns or calluses off with fingers—no pain.

Just think! You can lift off any corn or callus without pain or soreness.

A Cincinnati man discovered this ether compound and named it freezone. Any druggist will sell a tiny bottle of freezone, like here shown, for very little cost. You apply a few drops directly upon a tender corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears, then shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you can lift it right off.

Freezone is wonderful. It dries instantly. It doesn't eat away the corn or callus, but shrivels it up without even irritating the surrounding skin.

Hard, soft or corns between the toes, as well as painful calluses, lift right off. There is no pain before or afterwards. If your druggist hasn't freezone, tell him to order a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house.—adv.

ALL MUST REGISTER.

"I am exempt from conscription, so I don't have to register."

That's a bad mistake, likely to lead to disagreeable consequences.

You may be exempt from conscription—though that is for the authorities, not you, to decide—but you are NOT exempt from registration.

Every man who stands between his twenty-first birthday and his thirty-first MUST register.
